the English, and that was in regard to municipal government, which in America he said was in a bad way.

ONE DAMAGING ADMISSION.

"Men who run our city affairs," continued Mr. Depew, "generally have no stake in the city. All the better class of people take no interest in municipal affairs. They do not know who the aldermen are. They know the name of the Mayor, but that is all. The professional classes, business men aud artisans never take the trouble to vote at all. They are so engrossed with their own private affairs and with getting on themselves that they neglect city government."

This was very gratifying to the reporter as confirming one of the most cherishing beliefs of the average Englishman, and he would have gone away comparatively happy had it not been for the brilliant American's awful heresy in the matter of free trade. Speaking of free trade, there are at least some evils for which it is not an intallable panaces, as the West has seen further ravages by the potato blight in Ireland.

COMPLETE FAILURE OF THE CROP. The Rev. Dr. Lyons, administrator of Castle Haven in the diocese of Ross, County Cork, writing under Thursday's date, says that in all the town lands of his parish that border on the sea the failure of the potato crop is complete. Continuing, Father Lyone says: "In places situated more inland the state of affairs is not altogether so had, but a continuance of dry weather will be absolutely necessary to save any of the crop even in the latter districts. The blight appeared before any of the tubers were formed, so that as far as those parishes of Castle Haven and Movross are concerned, and I may add all other parishes bordering on the sea, the prospect for the poor people is indeed alarming in the extreme. I feel quite bewildered, as I apextreme. I feel quite bewildered, as I ap-prehend the consequences that are likely to for its by no means inconsiderable bill of ensue from this failure of the potato crop here. 1 see nothing less than starvation staring those unbappy families in the face. The high price of stock does not count the least in their regard. In their small, miserable holdings most of them can only feed a cow or two to give milk to their children and their pointoes is

THEIR ONLY MEANS OF SUPPORT. their only article of dietary. When I see those pointo gardens which had been cultiwated with such care and anxiety utterly blasted and gone, and when I consider at the same time that those people will get no further credit for provisions from the shopkeeper, the issue seems to me appalling.

Distressing reports have also been received from other districts of Cork, Limerick, Kerry, and Waterford. Since they were written the weather has been wetter than ever, and the blight must have spread to a frightful extent during the last few dAYE.

ONE WAY FOR RELIEF

There was one sure way in which the people of Kansas and Iowa could get rid of the original package stores, and that was not to patronize them. Let the people do that. If the sentiment of the community was France will have regained her eco against these stores, it would not be a week before the shutters would be put up and the front door closed.

Mr. Hayes, of Iowa, opposed the legisla tion, preferring a little personal liberty to a good deal of sentimental State's rights. He contended that the prohibitory law of Iowa was not enforced, and he denied (from observations made on a recent visit to his State) that there were any original package saloons in Iowa. At least he had not seen one, nor had he heard of one being there until he had returned to Washingto

Mr. Perkins, of Kansas, believed in the constitutionality and propriety of the pro-posed legislation. That it was appropriate and necessary ought to be apparent to all. In his judgment no decision rendered in the history of the Supreme Court had been so unfortunate to the people of the country as what was known as the original package decision. The Dred Scott decision had not been so unfortunate for the people as this recent decision, particularly if Congress was left powerless in the premises.

NOT A PROHIBITION OURSTION This was not a question of prohibition of of high or low license. It was a question whether the people in their State organizations had a right to protect their homes, fire-sides and families from unlicensed, unre-

Republican Senators Are Displaying an Unusual Devotion to Business

WASHINGTON, July 19 .- The Republican members of the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections to-day resumed consideration of the Federal election bill They were also in session last night. The reason for this somewhat unusual devotion to business is said to be a desire to complete the preparation of a measure to be submitted to a caucus early next week.
