The Phillies walked away with the poor crippled Pittsburgs (P. L.) team | yesterday at Exposition Park. The game was uninteresting after the second inning, when the poor work in the infield gave the visiting brethren four runs and lost the game. The only time the 1282 spectators felt like making a noise was when Beckley sent up the balloon for a homer in the tourth inning. Beck got the ball "on the nose" as the saying is and in its dignity it arose like a beautiful rainbow and sailed majestically out beyond the reach of the fielders and landed safely against the fence in left center. The old man did not wait to admire the beauty of the hit, but showed a clean pair of heels en route on a circuit of the bases. Before the ball was returned Jake's foot had patted the rubber and he was walking with a kingly stride toward the bench, amid the cheering of a thousand men who were glad that he had at least saved a shutout. NO MORE HOMERS.

But there Pittsburg's glory ended, although three beautiful double plays were made during the game. Nothing could save the day but a few home runs, and the supply had run out. The infield work of the local men was miserable, Keuhne, Fields and Beckley getting in errors. Of course Fields cannot be charged with his poor work, as he is not an infielder. He's far from a success at short, but just turn him loose in left! wisiting Friends played a magnificent ame all around. Fogarty especially was a errible stambling block for long hitters. He suils down all manner of long drives, little aring from whence they come or whither they are going.

The pitching of both Staley and Sanders was good, but Sanders' great support gave him the advantage, and his team won the game. TALE OF THE DEFEAT.

The Philadeiphias falled to score in the first inning, but made up for their work in the second, when they made four runs, or, rather, the local infield made them. Mulvey got a two bagger and went to third on a passed ball. ood went out at first, Fogarty's single scored Mulvey. Fogarty stole second and scored on Mulvey. Fogarty stole second and scored on Carroll's miss of Farrar's third strike, which also sent the latter to second base. Then Milli-gae hit to Fields, who made a beautiful stop, but threw it wild to first, giving him two bases and scoring Farrar. Beckley, in return, threw wild to Kuehne and Milligan went to third. He scored on Sanders' single. A double play by Bobinson and Beckley stopped further pro-ceedings.

Another run was made in the sixth on Fields' mulf of Woods' fly and hira by must of Woods sy and hits by Fogarty and Milligan. In the eighth Mulvey opened for a three-baser, and after Wood weent out at first Fogarty singled and Mulvey scored.

ball themes. No club has ever had a harder row to hoe than the Pittsburgs and still kept up such a dogged persistency in the endeavor to win games. I have watched the team closely on its several visits here, and it mattered not how big a lead their opponents had, the boys played just as hard and with as much vim and life as if they had held, the advantage. They made their errors and plenty of them, but that seemed never to discourage them. And that is the reason why the Smoky City lads have maintained a large degree of popularity in the League circuit. Over in Brocklyn, for instance, the Pittsburgs have the sympathies of the speciators to such an extent that in every game they play there they are encouraged far more liberally than the home team is. When they won the first game of the series at Washington Park last Thursday, a stranger might have supposed that the home team and not the visitors had been successful, by the hearty cheera that went up at the conclusion of the context. Such pluck and grit as is displayed by these men is truly wonderful.

"Acting President O'Neill, of the Pittsburg club, is not at all discouraged and seems to be the ruling spirit in the courageous stand made by the team. In speaking of the Situation the other day he said: "One reason for the boys' good showing is the fact that they thoroughly understand the club's position in the present fight and are in perfect accord with the management, You will remember that carry in the season we were assailed right and left by all sorts of rumors and incorrect statements, and it was then that the men were taken into our confidence and were given the practical assurance toat they were just as sure of their pay as any other body of men in the contary, and that the Pittsburg club was bound to remain in the Loague. They all know this to be true, and every one of tuem feels that his own welfare is bound up with that of the club. HIRED TO DO MURDER. An Aged Physician and Two Others Charged With Homicide.

A BEAUTIFUL GIRL THE VICTIM.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 23, 1890.

The Aged Assassin Bears the Corpse Through New York Streets.

HELD BY HIS SIDE IN A BUGGY

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH 1 NEW YORK, July 22 .- A strange tale of crime came to light here to-day, and as a result three persons have been arrested on a charge of homicide. The police say Annie Goodwin, of Harlem, a girl employed in Hall's cigarette factory, was tortured to death within the past two weeks; that her lover paid for killing her; that she was buried in St. Michael's Cemetery Jersey City, under the name of Jane Wilson, and, strange to say, although the death certificate was dated July 11, the girl died July 12.

It was last Friday that a person, whose identity the police will not reveal, overheard in an elevated train part of a conversation between two passengers sitting in the next seat ahead. From the snatches of talk that reached him, he gathered that a girl of the name of Annie Goodwin had disappeared from her home at 227 East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street. She had been in trouble and an operation had been performed, after which she had not been heard

THERE PERSONS ARRESTED. The listner thought the matter important nough to require investigation, and, knowng Detective Price, in the One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street police station, went around and told him of it upon reaching Harlem, It was Saturday night before the detectives got a fair start and early morning to-day before they began to see the end of it. At that hour the One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street police station held the following prisoners charged with homicide: Gus Harrison, 26 years, 23 West One Hundred and Twentieth street, gentleman of leisure; Dr. Henry G. McGonigal, 70 years, 217 West One Hun-dred and Twenty-third street, Fannie Shaw, vasherwoman, 117 East One Hundred and Fifth street. These witnesses were also "detained:" Sadie Traphagen, J. E. McCrady and Albert Harrison, a young boy who lives with the prisoner, Fannie Shaw. Each of the six had admitted more or less of what he or she knew of the affair except Dr. McGonigal, who denied everything.

Mrs. Shaw is a repulsive-looking woman and, by her own confession, worked cheap. The doctor paid her $10 for the job in in-stallments. The diamond *earrings, gold watch and other jewelry of the victim which she wore when she entered her den have, lowever, yet to be accounted for.

THE DEAD GIRL'S PAST. Annie's lover was rich-at all events he had money to spend on the girl. He is said by the police to be well connected in Har-lem. If the picture of the young woman does not lie—and, on the contrary, every-body says that it does not do her justice she must have been very beautiful. The face is sweet and crowned by raven curls, the figure perfect, her dress simple but

Very little more is known about Annie's past than about her present, but the detec-tives hope soon to throw light both ways on her career. She lived with her sister in Harlem when young Harrison crossed her path. Thenceforth their paths were one, Soon after her sister turned her out of the house on account of Harrison's visits, and Annie went to live at Mrs. Traphagen's, 227 East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, where her lover's visits were con-tinued. On July 2 she left her room and did not return. She was

NEVER SEEN AFTERWARD by the Traphagens. It was at this point Louis Berg, leader of a gang of toughs in narrative. They followed it through a tangle to a boarding house kept by a Mrs. Col-lins, at 152 East One Hundred and Twentyseventh street. Annie remained there only till the night of July 4, confined to her roo and in bed all the time. At 10 o'clock that evening, Dr. McGonigal, who had visited her there, came to the house and took her away in his gig. He did not tell anyone in the house where he was going, and all trace ot him and of the girl was lost again for more than a whole day.

The detective then came upon a clew which led to the den of the washerwoman, Fannie Shaw, at 117 East One Hundred and Fifth street. She was taken directly there by the dector and there she died to the by the doctor, and there she died on the evening of July 12. On the day she died she completed her twenty-first year, and her sister, at her home, was hoping that at last she would hear from Annie. When she did it was to be told that she had been foully murdered.

RODE WITH THE CORPSE. At 2 o'clock on the following morning the two-wheeled gig that had brought the girl to the house halted in front of 119 East One Hundred and Fifth street, next door to Mrs. Shaw's house, and an old man got out.

It was Dr. McGonigal.

Before he had time to pull the bell her door was opened and he went up to the Shaw flat on the fourth floor. Half an hour Shaw flat on the fourth floor. Hair an hour later the door was opened and a head was thrust forth, looking sharply up and down the street. Everything was quiet. The head was withdrawn and the door opened wider. The old doctor came out, staggering under a heavy burden wrapped in a bed quilt. He carried it to the gig, thrust it into the seat, an unwieldy thing, and getting in beside it, whipped up his horse and drove

The something that sat beside him wrapped in the bed quilt on the seat, as he drove through the silent streets in the glim-mering gray of that early dawn, past policemen on their beats, past a thousand sleepers in their beds, that something was a corpse, the body of the murdered Annie Goodwin, if the story told by the witnesses is true. NO FURTHER CLEWS.

The detectives searched a trunk which had belonged to the missing girl, but it re-vealed no clew. Detectives Mott and Price made no further advance until they arrested Sadie Traphagen, who for two years had been a companion of the missing girl. Questioning brought out, little by little, the rest of the story. She told the officers about Mrs. Shaw. This was all the clew disclosed. Detective Price, by shrewd questioning and with a display of a roll of money elicited from the woman Shaw that Annie Good-win had died right in her rooms with no one present but herself, also implicating Dr. McGonigal.

A search through the records at the Board of Health show that a death certificate was issued to C. Merrit on July 11. It said that Jane Wilbur, aged 29 years, had died of consumption at 239 East One Hundred and Eighth street. The interment was at St. Michael's Cemetery. It was signed by Dr. McGonigal.

Jane Wilbur was Annie Goodwin, and when these facts were brought to the dector's notice he admitted the deceit and said the certificate had been dated a day ahead and the name and age changed as a means of precaution. "But," he said, apologetically, "I did not know what I was doing at the time." Just before noon the prisoners were taken efore Justice Power, at the Harlem Police Court. The witnesses made their sworn depositions. The judge held Mrs. Shaw and Dr. McGonigal in $10,000 bail each. and Dr. McGonigal in $10,000 bail each.

Gus Harrison's bail was fixed at $2,500, which was furnished by Rowland W. Ridley, a druggist at 1880 Fourth avenue. The 16-year-old boy, Albert Harrison, was sent to the House of Detention, while Sadie Traphagen was locked up in the station house until bail could be furnished. The examination will be held Friday morning. FOUR AGAINST ONE.

Central American States Form an Alliance With the Object of

RESTORING ORDER IN SALVADOR.

An Uprising Against an Unpopular President in Bolivia and

THE COUNTRY UNDER MARTIAL LAW

CITY OF MEXICO, July 22.—Specials from Guatemala say that the Ministers of Costa Rica and Nicaragua yesterday signed with Guatemala a treaty of alliance. They demand of General Ezeta, in the name of United Central America, first, that he leave the supreme command in San Salvador; second, that a legal regime be established in accordance with the San Salvador Constitution, as before June 22, the date of the assassination of President Menendez; and, third, that general amnesty be granted to all who participated in the revolutionary movement in San Salvador. Honduras bound herself to this alliance by a previous treaty with Guatemala.

Guatemala is daily increasing her forces on the San Salvador frontier. The commanders are ordered to remain on the de-lensive. One General disobeyed this order and has been subjected to court-martial.

The report of the defeat of Guatemalans by Salvadorans is declared to be untrue. It was only a defeat of Salvadoran insurgents, it is said.

A special from Chiapas, near the Guate-malan frontier, says that the revolutionary movement against President Barrillos, of Guatemala, has obtained considerable headway, and that Barrillos is preparing for it. The representative of San Salvador here has shown to the correspondent telegrams from General Ezets, claiming that the report of a battle sent on Saturday was accurate

A BATTLE IN BOLIVIA. THE ENTIRE COUNTRY PLACED UNDER

MILITARY RULE. Rebels Make Attacks at the South and North

Simultaneously-A President's Unpopularity One Cause of a Serious State of Affairs. In a letter dated La Paz, Bolivia, received at this office yesterday, from Fannie B. Ward, a correspondent of THE DISPATCH now in South America, the following occurs: "As the President still maintains firm hold of the telegraph wires and newspapers, it is impossible to get any accurate news of the revolutionary movements. That the situation is not growing less grave, may be inferred from the fact that La Paz, as well as the rest of Bolivia, is now placed under military rule-a rather unpleasant state of BROWNSVILLE-River 4 feet 1 inch and staaffairs for travelers and strangers, to say nothing of peaceful citizens. A battle is known to have occurred within the week near the southern border of the republic. instead of in the north, as expected, the rebels carrying on operations in both ends of the country at once."

This was attached to the end of the letter, which was on another subject, and evidently escaped the eye of the official whose duty it is to scrutinize all outgoing mail matter. It shows that a very serious state of affairs has existed for some time in Bolivis, of which the outside world has learned scarcely anything. President Arce is immensely wealthy, a perfect example of the money power in politics, and unpopular for a variety of other reasons, the chief of which is his friendliness for Chili, to which State he recently turned over the only strip of seacoast Bolivia had.

The rebels are led by General Comancho, THE C. W. Batchellor is still on the dock at an impecunious but ambitious spirit, who has caused trouble in Bolivia before. Taking advantage of President Arce's unpopularity he had, at last accounts, organized a very considerable force. His agents all over Bolivia had been secretly supplying him with arms and funds, and to stop this, President Arce has placed the whole country under martial law. BADLY CUT ABOUT THE HEAD AND FACE.

A Match Race at McKeesport. McKEESPORT, July 22.-The blooded pacer Dick Turpin, owned by A. C. Carver, and the Lanning pacer were matched to-day for $200 a side, the race to take place here Saturday af-ternoon. A local pace with 12 entries, for a purse, will also take place on that day, and will be followed by a $100 foot race of 100 yards, between James Mock, of Suter, and Joseph Peck, of this place.

Yesterday at the Daluth Regatta and Their Winners-One Race Rowed Over. was rowed at 10:30 this morning, the Minnesotas winning hard in 10:20, Duluth following close in 10:35 and the St. Pauls third.

All the races this afternoon took-place on the West Superior course. The first event was the senior double scull races. The contestants were ranked in the following order from the shore, according to choice: Minnesotas, Lurlines, Winnipegs, Cedar Rapids and Catlins. At the half mile the Winnipegs were in the lead, with the Minnesotas and Lurlines close behind. Soon the Winnipegs yielded first place to the Lurlines but only for a short time. The Minnesotas were the first 60 make the turn, the Lurlines second and Winnipegs hird. On the homestretch, boats preserved the same order as at the turn, the Minnesota coming in at the finish one length ahead of the Lurlines, who were three lengths ahead of Winnipegs, Time-Minnesotas, 10:55½; Lurlines, 11:27; Winnipegs, 11:28½.

The senior singles had but two starters, Cor-and D. E. Murphy; the West Ends, of Buffalo, Gaudaur's crew consisting of McKay, stroke; Hamm, Gaudaur and Ten Byck, and the Eries, of Buffalo, After the first half of the down stretch Hanlan's and Gaudaur's crews were the only ones really in the race. The others were merely followers in the procession. The Eries caught the water first, but the Hanlan crew soon forged ahead followed closely by the Gaudaur crew. There never was seen a more exciting strungle than between the two crews. It was a race for blood and both crews were straining every nerve to win. They neared their turning buoys almost the same time, but the Hanlan's turned first and pulled away on the west side with a stroke which left the Gaudaur crew behind a couple of lengths, but the latter were only reserving their strength, and when the half mile buoy was reached the Gaudaur spurted and recovered the distance between them and Hanlan. Then came the tooth-and-nail pull at the finish. Every muscle was brought into play as the Gaudaur crept slowly ahead of the Hanlan crew until they reached the finish, about a length and a half ahead of the Hanlan crew. Erie and Ross came in a length distant behind, but Ross' crew was several boat lengths behind Erie. The West Ends gave up the race half way back. The time for the winners who captured the first prize, $1,200, was 18:20; for Hanlan's crew, 18:25, who took second money, $500. The Eries made the three mile course in 18:31, and took third money. $500. A heavy rain storm late in the evening pre-vented the amateur senior four-oared races rented the amaseu.

The four-oared junior race, which was rowed The four-oared junior race, which was rowed this morning again on account of the Lurlines' foul, will have to be rowed over once more because the St. Pauls fouled the Winnipegs by rounding the latter's buoy, with the St. Pauls barred from the race.

RIVER INTELLIGENCE. Monongahein River Packets Do a Sinshing Business-River Five Feet Ten.

Yesterday was like the previous day at the wharf. Business was confined to the Monongabela packets, which continue to enjoy a tramendous large business. Both up river boats had a full complement of passengers. The business is of such magnitude that a reinforcement of the shipping clerks had to be made in order to meet the heavily increasing business. There is enough freight and passengers going to up river points at present that it would justify the running of two additional boats. There is some talk about putting another boat on this line, and if there is no let up in the on this line, and if there is no let up in the rush this will be done eventually. Towboats were all laid up along the wharf and the cress had deserted them. Many of the steamboat captains attended the races yesterday. This will keep them away from their boats during the rest of the week. Horse-racing seems to have more fascination about it than boating. The river remains at a stand. A MILLION SPIRITUALISTS

To Oppose Harrison if He Dees Not Pardon One of Their Number. NEWBURYPORT, MASS., July 22.-The Herald to-day prints an interview with a Spiritualist, in which he says: A short time ago Walter E Reid of Grand Rapids, Mich., was arrested on the charge of falsely using the mails. Reid is known as a medium for reading scaled letters—that is, he professes to be able to obtain from spirits answers to sealed inquiries addressed to the latter. The prosecutor was the Postmaster General. Judge Jackson instructed fraud. Reid protested his innocence, and of-fraud. Reid protested his innocence, and offered to prove that he was innocent by reading scaled letters then and there in open court. Judge Jackson said that Reid's offer to do what he (Jackson) knew he could not do proved to his mind that Reid must be a swindler. He accordingly sentenced him to prison. Spiritualists think, waiving altogether the queetion of whether Reid is a fraud or not, that Jackson's action will be construed to establish a precedent against mediumship, and that it is a blow against personal liberty. President Harrison will be asked to pardon Reid, and if he refuses to do so, as it is intimated he will, the 1,000,000 Spiritualist voters of America will vote against Harrison and his party.
