OFFICE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCH, A TUESDAY, July 22, 1890.

One of our leading dealers in slate roofing and mantels said to-day: "I have never known the midsummer trade in our line as good as it is at this time. July and August are always our quiet months, but we have seen few signs of quietness so far. Our harvest time is in the fall and early winter when contractors are finishing up houses. We expect little at this time of the year, and have, therefore, been agreeably disappointed. The outlook for a big building trade was never better at this season of the year. So far our volume of business for 1890 has exceeded that for 1889 or any previous year, and, unless all signs fail, the gain over ormer years will be much greater the comformer years will be much greater the com-ing months than it has been the first half of the year. Prices of roofing materials are stiff but unchanged. There is a strong drift of late toward artistic mantels, even in ordinary dwellings, and our trade in this de-partment has very much increased in the past year or two. Orders already on our books in-pare a dwelled increase this season over last." pertment has very much increased in the past year or two. Orders already on our books in-sure a decided increase this season over last." The statement of this dealer in materials with which to cover buildings is in accord with reports from lumber dealers and contractors whose faith is firm that this will be one of the best years on record as to volume of business.

Crop Prospects.

One of our foremost dealers in grain and hay has had a representative looking after his in-terests in Ohio and Illinois the past few weeks. In an interview to day he said: "Advices from our traveling man are that the oats crop in the near West is not one half the average. This is certainly the case in large sections of Ohio and Western Pennsylvania. Wheat in some sec-tions is fair, but taking Ohio through is con-

It is reported that one of our leading jobbers this week re-turned a car load of Eigin creamery to this shipper because it lacked the sweet, fresh taste which belongs to fresh butter. Said a jobber today: '1 find that much of the creamery butter on the market of late is acidy, even when it is but a week or two old. For the rousen that there is so much of this grade on the market, prices are off for all but scarce.'' LIVE STOCK MARKETS

"To the conservatism of Pittsburg bankers is largely due the exalted position which the city has attained in the financial and commercial world. It has worked successfully in the past, and there is no reason to doubt its efficacy in the future. Our financiers are always ready to help along any legitimate enterprise. Speculation amounts to very little as compared with
