... 2,404 Toals...... 2,190 The fact that baseball is not a paying business is becoming more apparent daily. First the Texas League disbanded and the International Association soon followed suit, white two clubs dropped out of the Tri-State, and teams left the race in other minor organizations because they could not draw money enough to pay salaries and run-

That which is true of the minor leagues is equally true of the major organizations. Searcely one of the Association teams is drawing money enough to pay expenses, and in the National and Players' Leagues it is probable that if the expenses had to be taken in at the gate not a club would be able to stand the pressure. Buffalo, of the Piayers', and Pittsburg, of the National League, when at home are not drawing the guarantee, and it is only the trips abroad that save them.

THE MEETING HELD.

Taking all these things into consideration, the atement appearing in THE DISPATCH yeste day regarding an assessment being necessary in the local Players' League team, did not cause great deal of surprise, though it was the chief topic of conversation in baseball circles all over the city. A meeting was held at W. P. Potter's office, and a committee appointed to settle up the business and dissolve the old limited co-partnership, as a charter had been obtained for a stock company. According to the statement of gentlemen present this was the only busi-ness transacted, and no assessment was made. Manager Hanion made the statement that on the last trip $1,600 had been sent to President McCallin, and the $80 a day story was wrong. SOME FIGURES.

According to figures given the press, the stree games at Philadelphia drew 2,687 people at 25 cents a ticket. At Boston 4,134 people atat 25 cents a ticket. At Boston 4,134 people attended the three games. At Brooklyn 850 persons were present on the three days. At New York the three days' attendance was 3,711. This makes a total of 8,797 admissions at 50 cents and 2,667 admissions at 25 cents each. This would amount to 85,068-25, and the local team's percentage would be $2,532 1236. An average of one-third of the attendance usually goes in the grand stand, and this would add $548 to the amount received by Pittsburg. If they sent home $1,600 that would leave $1,776 for running expenses for two weeks, or $120 a day. The above figures are compiled from the attendance as given to the press, and there is no doubt but that both National and Players' League swell their attendance.

WHAT MEANS THIS? As to the truth of the statements printed b

THE DISPATCH yesterday morning nothin more need be given than the interviews thi were secured. Manager Hanlon said that Colo nel W. A. Stone and W. P. Potter had charge of the matter, and that he had received h notice of a meeting from them on Wednesday He referred the reporter to these gentlemen for information. The reporter to these gouldemen for information. The reporter had already been to the residences of these gouldemen, and did not find them at home. It was learned yesterday that both had gone East the fore part of the week, and consequently could not have been at home to send out the notices or to give out any information. Why did Manager Hanion want to send THE DISPATCH on a "wild goose chase" into Allegheny to find men who were several hundred miles East and not expected back for a week?

ANOTHER STATEMENT. Yesterday afternoon a reporter called on result of the meeting. Mr. Baer replied that the meeting had been held in Mr. Potter's office, and that he (Mr. Potter) could give out any information necessary. As before stated, Mr. Potter was not at the meeting. The above

Mr. Potter was not at the meeting. The above statements are given without comment, and indeed none is necessary.

The local National League team is also on the down grade, so far as the financial part of the affair is concerved, and the moneyed men make no show of denying it. They are able to stand a loss and for that matter so are the Players' League men. There is pienty of room for a good fight, even yet.

A DAY'S TURF EVENTS.

Walter E. Wins the Big Stake Race at Detroit-Results of Other Trotting, Pacing and Running Roces.

DETROIT, July 24.-Early this morning heavy rain fell, making the track at the Detroit Driving Club Park somewhat slower than it was the two previous days of the meeting. But about 11 o'clock the sun came out and brought with it an attendance of about 10,000. Three hotly contested beats were necessary to determine the unfinished $10,000 Merchants and Manufacturers' stake—2.24 class—four heats of which were trotted yesterday. Walter E. won the fifth and seventh heats and the race.

In the first heat of "The Horsenan Great Expectation stake" for four-year-olds worth $9,500, Margaret S distanced all competitors with the exception of Allerton, and came within an ace of shutting him out. The second heat was a magnificent race all the way around, Allerton winning by a length.

Only one heat was paced in the free-for-all pace, Adonis winning easily, A very heavy rain set in about 6 o clock, necessitating the postponement of the unfinished races.

A Fight Between the Race Tracks and City Places at Chicago.

INPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 CHICAGO, July 24 .- When the Washington Park races begun, last June, the pool rooms in the city agreed to shut down until the race were over, providing the Washington Park Association would leave them alone the rest of the year. Both sides observed the agreement. When the Westaide races began this week all began war on the poolrooms. He retained the Boland and Pinkerton detec He retained the Boland and Pinkerton detective agencies to assist him in the fight, and for nearly a week now every room is "pulled" on an average of 15 times a day. It costs Corrigon $2 for every raid, and it costs gamblers $1 for bail. To-day detectives and constables who attempted to raid Hankin's place were assaulted by a lot of plug-uglies, who had been kept in a closet for that purpose. The officers left the room badly beaten. The raids will be resumed to morrow.

BOUND TO KEEP IN THE FAMILY. A Fickle Finding Youth Elepes With His Affinnced's Mother.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH, ) FINDLAY, July 24 .- A romance in real life was eveloped here this morning, by the announcement that Charles Russell, a young man of 24 years, had eloped with Mrs. Henry Freed, a portly matron nearing the half century mark and the mother of an interesting family, the youngest of which is 16 years old. Behind the fact of the elopement, is a story illustrating the strange pranks love often plays with its the strange pranks love often plays with its victims. A year or more ago young Russell met, and immediatey feil in love with Miss Anna Freed, a daughter of the woman with whom he left the city this morning. Russell and Miss Freed became engaged, and as the lady was deservedly a favorite, and the man considered worthy, the engagement was looked upon as a happy one.

The courtship progressed rapidly and the day for the wedding was fixed: the bride's trosseau being in course of preparation when she was for the wedding was fixed; the bride's trosseau being in course of preparation when she was suddenly taken sick with a malignant fever, and after a month of struggle death became the bridegroom and claimed and took his own. The grief of the young man over the loss of his promised wife was seemingly full and genuine, and for weeks he mourned the beautiful girl who had been taken from him.

Time, however, appears to have gotten in its usual healing treatment, for this morning Mr. Russell ran away with the mother of the young lady who died one short year ago. The announcement of the flight of the young man with Mrs. Freed was a terrible shock to her husband and children, as well as the friends of the pair, who had not suspected the infatuation they apparently had for each ather. No one has an idea as to whither they have gone, and it is understood they will not be pursued. Mrs. Freed carried away quite a sum of money belonging to her husband.

TRYING TO EFFECT A SETTLEMENT. Conference to Adjust Miners' Wages in the Eastern Obio District. ESPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.) COLUMBUS, July 24.-Patrick McBride, of the Executive Board of the United Mine Workers, will leave for Pittsburg to-night, and on Monday he goes to Cleveland for a conference with Mr. Townsend and his manager, with a view of settling the differences between the operators and miners in what was known as the old Sixth district of Ohio, comprising the counties of Belmont, Coshocton and Tus-carawas. Mr. Townsond is the principal operator in the district and has invited the conference.

About 2,000 miners, mostly along the Cleve-land, Lorain and Wheeling, and Wheeling and Lake Erie roads, are affected. The men want an increase in pay for day labor, to the State scale and the other conditions, which have scale and the other conditions, which have been presented, which if not acceded to, are liable to result in a strike. The officers will make every effort to avert a strike.

THAT BEHRING SEA TROUBLE.

It Can be Settled by Arbitration Even if Diplomacy Fails.

NEITHER COUNTRY ANXIOUS TO FIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 24 .- The publication of the correspondence between this Government and that of Great Britain relative to the Behring Sea dispute has aroused much interest here. Considerable commen was occasioned by the apparently belligerent attitude assumed by the British representatives, but the general drift of opinion controversy has yet produced before there is an open rupture. A gentleman occupying a high position in the House of Representaa high position is the House of Representatives and who is also intimately associated with the head of the State Department and other diplomatic sources of information, but who for that very reason does not desire to be quoted personally, said to-day to The Dis-PATCH correspondent: "I don't think there is any immediate cause for aiarm. I believe, and the recent course of events seem to support my belief, that an understanding has been reached between the State Department and the British Government, by which there will be no further poaching on our seal preserves by British or Canadian sealers, and consequently no more seizures of British vessels, until the questions at issue between the two countries have been amicably adjusted. The sealing season is now nearly over and so far there has been no poaching or seizure reported from Behring Sea, so I conclude that the two powers have mutually agreed to keep "hands off" pending a settlement. There is no doubt that this is the wise course to pursue, for to have fresh causes of disagreement arising day after day at this juncture could not fail to be mutually irritating and to increase the difficulties of reaching a friendly understanding.

FICKLE LORD SALISBURY.

salisbury was perfectly ready to admit the truth of all our arguments and to conclude an agreement on the lines upheld by Secretary Biaine. But just as it appeared that everything was satisfactorily settled, Lord Salisbury drew back suddenly. He had heard from Canada. It is unquestionably true that at the time negotiations between this country and England upon this subject were abruptly broken off.

"After their subsequent renewal, Lord Salisbury was not nearly so complaisant. He demanded more and was willing to grant less to the United States, and he is now trying to secure an agreement with us on a basis of just about half what he was willing to grant in 1888. One of the prettiest pieces of dialetical writing in diplomatic correspondence I have ever seen is that part of to-day's publication where Mr. Blaine picks up Lord Salisbury on his garbled quotation from John Quincy Adams. This correspondence also shows what the real claims of the United States are—not that the whole Behring Sea was a closed sea, open only to the commerce of the United States, but that the seal fisheries within that sea belong exclusively to the United States and must not be poached upon by unauthorized persons. The simile which Mr. Blaine uses of the British pearl fisheries on the coast of Ceylon is almost a parallel case.

THE QUESTION AT ISSUE.

der; while the working parts being easily ac-cessible, no dirt need remain in the machine. The cover of the machine is instantly secured when placed over the balls, and "The question at issue is whether we can and punish these poachers who take our seals minutes. No chalk or other whitening powder is required, and there is no dust without our permission. For we claim that they belong to us, whether found on the breed-ing islands or in the open sea, because we bought and paid for them when we purchased Alaska. England wants to arbitrate the question, and that proposition would undoubtedly be agreed to by this coutry if our position was taken as the modus vivendi. There should be no difficulty in arbitrating the point as to whether a man should be permitted point as to whether a man should be permitted to live on his own farm, his cattle, his sheep, to live on his own farm, his cattle, his sheep, his dogs or his scals."

Representative McCreary, of Kentucky, a Democratic member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, said that he believed the subject would be eventually settled by arbitration. "If." said he, "an amicable settlement of the dispate cannot be obtained by means of diplomatic correspondence, England and the United States, knowing each other's powers so well, will not seek war, but will submit the matter to the proper arbitrators."

Representative Farquhar, Chairman of the Committee on the Merchant Marine and Fisheries, which a year ago held a lengthy investigation into the fur seal fisheries of Alaska, said that a couple of years ago, before he had ex-ing between the State Department and the British legation. They will have to do that, you know, for appearance's sake. England now gets as much from the Bohring Sea seal fisheries as does the United States. London is the center of the fur curing trade of the world, and British workmen get dollar for dollar with the United States from the fisheries. England is not going to destroy that source of income. Her diplomacy is in her purse. She knows better than to cut off so profitable a source of trade as the Behring Sea seal fisheries have been to her. Oh, no; there may be some diplomatic reason behind her attitude on this question, but it will not injure the interests of the United States in those waters. By the way, the phrase which makes some people nervous in this correspondence, 'Her Britanic Majesty's Government must hold the Government of the United States responsible for the consequences, etc.,' is not so bloodthirsty as it appears. It has the same significance in diplomacy as the lawyer's phrase, 'I reserve that point.'"

A DELICATE NATURE. "England cannot fight the United States, for the reason that the two nations are naturally the peacemakers between the large powers of the world. You might also imagine how many Irishmen in this country would gladly take this cause up as their own, and the natural result of such earnest soldiers, coupled with the Yankee instincts, which make them as ready to fight as eat, would make short work of England. The United States is in the best of condition to night England. While she does not wish to urge some one to step on her coat tails for fight, the dignity of our country must and will always be preserved. I don't, however, think that the case will go any further than arbitration, and be fairly settled. Mr. Blaine is a natural diplomat, able to cope with any of the gontlemen on the other side of the Atlantic, and it think is too sensible to make a mistake either in being too slow or too fast."

BOON FOR TENNIS PLAYERS.

A Machine That Will Clean Balls and Make

Them Good as New.

That lawn tennis balls get unsightly with ise and also lose (in part) their power of recounding, so that accuracy of play interfered with is well known to all players.

But at the same time good balls are expensive and all clubs cannot afford to be perpetually renewing them. The new lawn cennis ball washing machine is therefore likely to have a very wide sphere of useful-ness, as it not only cleans the balls, but turns them out practically as good as new. The machine consists of a circular box in a rounded channel of which the balls lie. A cover screws down from above, so that the cleaning is done under tight pressure. Water is introduced by a tube and funnel through a handle, and issues when done with, through the waste pipe. There is an aperture at the top for introducing a preparation of soft soap and methylated spirits.

When the cover is turned round the balls are cleaned, under pressure of the wood above and below. The general objection to washed balls is that the covers are slackened and the rebounding power is lessened. By the new device, however, the balls are

"milled," or shrunk, so that the coverings are actually tightened, and the ball is positively restored and renewed as well as washed. The machine acts on every part of the ball, it is very easy to work, it has no loose parts, and is not liable to get out of or-pressure is automatically applied on turning the handle. Six balls, or any less number, can be cleaned at one time, in two

Modern physiologists regard the frontal part of the brain as the seat of character and intellect. After the removal of this part in dogs and monkeys, no paralysis of any muscles or loss of sensibility occurs, but singular changes in the behavior, emotions and character of the animals have been ob-served. They become livelier, restless, im-patient, irritable, quarrelsome and violent.

Cheir movements seem purposeless, and their attention to what is going on around them and their intelligence are diminished.

These observations have been confirmed in the case of human beings.

Profit Just at Present. The condition of the Pennsylvania agricult. rist seems to be 24 carats fine, contrasted with that of the Georgia farmer, whose wail is scarcely or never heard in this section. In a talk with Mr. Tate, of Myers & Tate, yesterday, some facts were developed regarding the mar-gin of profit on Georgia agriculture. For years it has been said that there is but little money

NOT MUCH MONEY IN IT.

Southern Agriculture Shown to Have Little

it has been said that there is but little money in raising cotton, although it is a cash staple, the exportation of which adds greatly to national wealth and certainly watermelon culture cannot be very profitable, or the fruit would not find its way to Pittsburg. A car holds on an average 1,100 watermelons, and the freight is $140. Allowing them to sell at an average of 25 cents each, which they do not, the cost of hauling is a fraction over half what is realized. Then at this end of the line there is the additional cost of cartage and 5 per cent commission for sales.

MMT. Tate thinks that take the or sales. Tate thinks that take the season through and supposing that the shipper escape losing a carload or two by spoiling in transit, he may realize 5 cents a melon on his crop. How much profit is left out of this, after interest on in-vestment, wages, etc., are deducted, cannot he determined, unless one had considerable data not at hand at present, but it cannot be very

The Allegheny Street Committee on the War Path. A little breeze was created in Allegheny esterday over the result of an investigating tour of some members of the Allegheny Street Committee. Jack the Ripper is Again Reported to be Under Arrest. HALIFAX, N. S., July 24.-A Halifax lady, at present visiting a distinguished London official, writes to friends here that Jack the Ripper is under arrest in that city, and has been for some time. The "Ripper" she says, is a medical atudent, and his arrest was made on the strength of information given by his sister. The authorities have kept the matter the strictest secret, in order to work up a case against the man. The chain of evidence is

This information, though startling, is vouched for by the writer of the letter, who accidentally came into possession of the
