AFTER THE OCTOPUS.

President Harrison Sends a Strong Message to Congress Concerning Lotteries.

RADICAL REMEDIES NECESSARY.

A Republican Representative From Iowa Makes a Bitter Attack on Speaker Reed in the House.

THE TARIFF DEBATE IN THE SENATE.

Mr. Hiscock Savagely Arraigns the Democracy of the Empire State.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—President Harrison to-day sent the following message to Congress:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

The recent attempt to secure a charter from the State of North Dakota for a lottery company, the pending effort to obtain from the State of Louisiana a renewal of the charter of the Louisiana State Lottery, and the establishment of one or more lottery companies at Mexican towns near our border, have served a good purpose of calling public attention to an evil of vast proportions. If the baneful effects of the lotteries were confined to the States that gave the companies corporate powers and a license to conduct a business, the citizens of other States, being powerless to apply legal remedies, might clear themselves of responsibility by the use of such moral agencies as were within their reach. But the case is not so. The people of all the States are debauched and defrauded. The vast sums of money offered to the States for charters are drawn from the people of the United States, and the general Government, through its mail system, is made the effective and of intercourse between the lottery company and its victims. The use of the mails is quite as essential to the companies as the State license. It would be practically impossible for these companies to exist if the public mails were once effectually closed against their advertisements and remittances. The use of the mails by these companies is a prostitution of an agency only intended to serve purposes of legitimate trade and a decent social intercourse. It is not necessary, I am sure, for me to attempt to portray the robbery of the poor and the widespread corruption of public and private morals, which are the necessary incidents of these lottery schemes.

The national Capitol has become a sub-headquarters for the Louisiana lottery, and its numerous agents and attorneys are conducting here a business involving probably a larger use of the mails than that of any legitimate business enterprise in the District of Columbia. There seems to be good reason to believe that of these agents has been felt by the clerks in the postal service and by some of the police officers of the district. Severe and effective legislation should be promptly enacted to enable the Postoffice Department to purge the mails of all letters, newspapers and circulars relating to the business. The letter of the Postmaster General, which I transmit herewith, points out the inadequacy of the existing statues, and suggests legislation that would be effective. It may also be necessary to so regulate the carrying of letters by the express companies as to prevent the use of those agencies to maintain communication between the lottery companies and their agents or customers in other cities. It does not seem possible that there can be any division of sentiment as to the propriety of closing the mails against these companies, and I therefore venture to express the hope that such proper powers as are necessary to that end will be given to the Postoffice Department. BENJAMIN HARRISON.

The letter of the Postmaster General, referred to by the President, calls attention to the inefficiency of the present law, and recommends the passage of anti-lottery bill recently reported to the House.

TARIFF IN THE SENATE.

HISCOCK ATTACKS THE DEMOCRACY OF NEW YORK.

The Republican Members at Last Goaded Into Speech—Voorhees Defends His Party in the Empire State—Gorman Quotes Blaine's Words Freely.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—During the tariff debate in the Senate to-day Mr. Gorman said that Democratic Senators wanted a free discussion of the bill, and nothing more. They wanted it considered intelligently. But the Republican Senators wanted to rush it through the Senate at railroad speed. He reminded the Republican side of the chamber of Mr. Plumb's statement that that party was in danger, and of his warning that it would have to increase taxation within 18 months. He also referred to Mr. Blaine as the one man who, in 20 years, had been able to bring the Republican party into line, as the only man who (while abroad) had the courage and ability to write an answer to President Cleveland's tariff measure that gave to the drooping Republicans hope and faith and final victory; and he said that Mr. Blaine had (through the Senators from Maine) told Republican Senators that if they passed the bill as reported, they would not only destroy the possibility of increasing trade with the countries south of the United States, but would bankrupt the treasury in 18 months. For that was the meaning of it.

Mr. Hiscock repelled the general charge that the Republican success at the last election was the result of the influence of manufacturers or monopolists, and he asserted that in the State of New York, wherever Democratic majorities were rolled up, steps of the whisky interest could be marked. The saloon and the tippling shop had been the recruiting stations of the Democratic party. It was not in the great manufacturing centers of New York State that the largest Republican majorities were rolled up, but in the agricultural portions of the State, while the criminal population of the cities were natural allies and constituents of the Democratic party.

Mr. Voorhees congratulated Mr. Gorman on his great victory in breaking the predetermined silence on the Republican side of the chamber. As to the speech of the Senator from New York, which had been extorted under the lash, it was the same old tirade of calumny and abuse against the Democratic party. If that was all there was of it, he (Mr. Voorhees) would let it go. But it seemed that there was no one to speak fairly for the great Democratic city of New York. He arraigned that Senator for his slander on that city—simply because it was opposed to him politically. The Senator had spoken of the vice and crime and intemperance of the city of New York; but he (Mr. Voorhees) asserted that the very Gibraltar of the Republican party in that city, the only district in which it had increased its majority of late was the Eighth Assembly district, where Johnny O'Brien had been leading the worst elements of society, and where immorality, vice and crime of all descriptions were so rife that a man's life was not safe there after sundown. The Senator (Mr. Hiscock) owed an apology to the great metropolis on Manhattan Island. He had heard such stigma attempted to be cast on New York before, but it ill became one of her sons to retail that old-time slander in the Senate.

INTERNAL REVENUE INCREASE.

Report of Commissioner Mason of the Operations of the Past Fiscal Year.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Commissioner John W. Mason has submitted to the Secretary of the Treasury a preliminary report of the operations of the Internal Revenue Bureau during the last fiscal year. The Commissioner says that the total collections from all sources of internal revenue were $142,594,696, an increase of $11,700,262, as compared with the collections during the preceding year.

Owing to a lack of reports in some cases it is not possible to state exactly the cost of collection, which is estimated at $4,100,000 (exclusive of the cost of stamps), or a decrease of $85,000, as compared with the preceding year. This would make the percentage of cost of collection 2.9 per cent, as against 3.2 per cent in 1889.

ROASTING REED.

BITTER ATTACK FROM A REPUBLICAN CONGRESSMAN.

Refused Recognition Because He Wanted to Bring Up a Public Building Bill—The Maine Man and Ex-Speaker Carlisle Placed in Contrast.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—In the House this afternoon, Mr. Struble, a Republican Congressman from Iowa, made a bitter attack upon Speaker Reed for his actions toward gentlemen having interest in public building bills. He contrasted the courteous manner of Speaker Carlisle toward all gentlemen requesting recognition, with the almost sneering manner in which the present Speaker treated such requests. The Speaker treated the members as though they were boys. He did not propose to stand this sort of treatment any longer without protest. Should the members, he asked, continue to submit longer, like cowards, to the dictation of the Speaker? Should they not rather combine together in an honest attempt to have recognition. He was for rebellion against the rulings of the Speaker in regard to public building bills. Mr. Struble's remarks were vigorously applauded by the Democrats.

Mr. Peters, of Kansas, defended the Speaker's action, contending that it was in line with the action of former Speakers. Mr. Struble said the statement that the members with public building bills had not been fairly treated was a fact that he alleged before the House and before the country. He agreed that the work of this House during this session had been a grand work. He would go from this hall and argue that this House had done a grand work and had passed many bills, for which it was entitled to the gratitude of the country, but that did not deter him from protesting against the indignity put upon him and other members. During the last administration bills were appproved for public buildings in the South in places of 7,000 inhabitants; and yet the Sioux City bill had been vetoed. That was passed and gone now. But, as he had said before, the Speaker of the last House had never failed to give courteous treatment to members on the Republican side. [Democratic applause.] If a few members on the Republican side of the House had received courteous treatment, he and many others had not, and he did not hesitate to say so.

Mr. Caruth, of Kentucky, regretted that the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. Struble) had made an attack upon the Speaker, because the attack should have come from the Democratic side. The Speaker to-day was the Alexander Selkirk of American politics. [Laughter.] The Speaker could say:

I am monarch of all I survey,
My right there is none to dispute;
From the center right down to the sea
I am lord of the fowl and the brute.

DEMANDS AN INVESTIGATION.

The Silver Bill Alleged to Have Been Passed by Corruption.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—In the House to-day Representative Oates, of Alabama, offered for reference to the Committee on Rules a resolution reciting an editorial published in the National Economist of July 26, an organ of the Farmers' Alliance, declaring that the bondholders were now happy and that their bonds would be paid in gold only, stating that it would be interesting to know how many millions it took to force this bill through Congress, and charging that in these days of corruption and trickery men do not change their constituency without a consideration.

The resolution further recites that the bill (the silver bill) has been passed through Congress by bribery and corruption, and that the integrity of the House demands that the truth or falsehood of the charge shall be established, and providing that a committee of seven members be appointed to investigate the charge.

On an Old Charge.

James McKee was arrested by Detective Robinson yesterday on an old charge of larceny. McKee was accused of stealing a lot of clothing from McDermott's boarding house on Twelfth street in the early part of June. He was arrested at that time on suspicion, but released. Since then Detective Robinson has secured enough evidence to warrant McKee's arrest again, and this time he will probably be convicted.

Distress After Eating

Is one of the many disagreeable symptoms of dyspepsia. Headache, heartburn, sour stomach, faintness and capricious appetite are also caused by this very widespread and growing disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla tones the stomach, creates an appetite, promotes healthy digestion, relieves the headache and cures the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia.

"My wife had dyspepsia. She could not keep her food down, and had that oppressed feeling after eating. She had no appetite, and was tired all the time. Hood's Sarsaparilla did her a great deal of good. She can eat anything without distress, and has no trouble in retaining food." JOHN BATTENFIELD, Marion, O.

BRUTAL BUSINESS AT HICKMAN.

A French Miner Eats a Rabbit Alive, and a Riot Follows.

Humane Agent O'Brien was notified yesterday of a most brutal exhibition among the Italian and French miners at Hickman, on the Tom's Run branch of the Pittsburg, Chartiers and Youghiogheny road, and he proposes to prosecute the parties connected with it. The information came through George Hollowell, Mine Superintendent a Hickman. It was to the effect that the Italian and French miners from Walker's Mills, on the Panhandle Railroad, are in the habit of congregating at Hickman and wagering bets on the ability of a Frenchman named Tuaxime to eat live animals. On Sunday a gang of drunken Italian and French miners captured a tame rabbit and wagered money that the Frenchman could not eat the animal alive. The wager was accepted, and after a 15 minutes' brutal and disgusting exhibition, the Frenchman had consumed all the live animal except his hind legs, after which he fell exhausted to the ground.

A dispute about the payment of the wager folowed, and a free fight was the result. The residents of Hickman became terrified at the yells of the combatants, and a posse of miners went to quell the riot. Finding, however, that the foreigners were all fighting among themselves, the miners did not interfere, but formed a grim cordon around the frenzied mass to see that none of them vented their rage on any Hickman household. Seven of the fighters including the rabbit eater, were left in a battered condition on the ground, but they disappeared during the night. The people of Hickman are indignant over the disgusting exhibitions of the foreigners, and demand protection. They have applied to the Humane Society for assistance.

PRICES DIVE DEEPER.

If clothing that's worth much does that, its a wonder.

The generosity (?) of the prices ought to rejoice you.

First, they go down to "unheard-of" prices. Then, a new crop makes a deeper plunge. It looks as if the clothing business had taken to "auctioneer" shop methods.

The prices mayn't be any lower now than they ought to be. That depends on what kind of clothing it is. It must, at any rate, have been mon strously high before.

We couldn't pursue such tactics with our make. It's a mere matter of a small profit with us on the cloth, plus the work put on it. That's the true basis of a low price. All clothing that has real value fixes prices so. We can't hack and hack at our prices.

If it's for clearing up broken lots, our prices are lower.

A full assortment of Thin Goods: at fairest prices.

Merchant tailoring of first order: 2,000 styles of goods.
