BASEBALL IN THE MAJOR LEAGUE

A Conlens Down-Pour of Rain Saved the Scalp of t Two Pittsburg Teams.

SEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. CLEVELAND, July 29 .- This week the stables of trotters and pacers that were at Detroit and Pittsburg come together here for the second meeting of the grand circuit. About the usual number of people were at the famous and fast track to-day when the sport commenced, and the card was cleared up with 11 heats for the three events. The feature of the afternoon was the performance of the Ohio mare, Leopard Rose, who not only defeated a good field in the 2:30 class, but trotted a mile in 2:1514, improving on her Detroit record by several seconds. Pixley, a more inexperienced mare, got a heat, and was well up with Leopard Rose In the fast mile, making it better than 2:17. Goldsmith landed the California stallion Simmocolon a winner in his class, and drove him to a new record of 2:19. Dick Smith, a grandson of Belmont, got a heat in 2:17, but could of the race. RECORDS LOWERED.

Another new candidate for 2:20 was Grant's Abdallah, who beat the other pacers quite cleverly, and turned the frack in 2:19. William S. Edwards, President of the Association, was in his customary place as starter, assisted by other local horsemen. Governor Merriam, of Minnesota, was one of the official timers. Before the first race Leopadd Rose sold for $26 fore the first race Leopadd Rose sold for $26 and the field for $50. The spotted mare did not move for the first heat, and Pixley beat Viela Clay on the home stretch. Pools were 25 to 18 on Leopard Rose before the next heat, and she mailed Pixley at the half, where they were lapped, in 197%. From there Leopard Rose drew away, and came home in 2:15%, Pixley three lengths away. It was 5 to 1 on Leopard Rose after that, and though she was unsteady in the last two heats she had speed enough to finish in front each time. THE SUMMARIES.

MURRINSVILLE HOLDING ITS OWN. Fitzhugh Lee's Pittsburg and Virginia

Railway Incorporated. GENERAL NEWS OF THREE STATES

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. WASHINGTON, PA., July 29. - The Washington and Taylorstown field present a sad contrast compared with their palmy days in the past. There was some little hope that the Clayville extension would materialize into a field of importance, but the numerous dry holes in this locality precludes the possibility of such an event The aggregate production of the two pools foots up about 337,000 barrels per month, or nearly 14,600 barrels per day. The figures on the 1st of August, as compared with the compiled report on the 1st of July, will show a material decline in the output. For the past four or five months the production has been kept up from the fourth and fifth sands. The wells in this borizon show signs of drainage, while all available territory has been operated. At present there are in the neighborhood of 30 strings of tools running. There is no field news of importance.

Murriusville Holding Up Well. MURRINSVILLE—There is but little abate nent in interest and operations in the Murrins ville pool. There is, however, difference of opinion among prominent producers as to which way the belt runs, if such a thing exists in this locality. Some practical operators are inclined to think that if an outlet is found to inclined to think that if an outlet is found to the pool its extension will be east and west, while others are of the opinion that the direction will be northeast and southwest, which is based upon the past history of Butler county developments. News from the field to-day is to the effect that Snee & Co.'s No. 8 Mechlin, is making 225 barrels a day, and their Kelletman well is holding at 200 barrels per day. On the Murrin farm the same parties No. 5 is doing is barrels a day, while Murrin No. 5 just completed, is a duster of the first water. This morning they treated their Coal Bank well to a liberal dose of glycerine, which materially increased its productions. They expect to find the sand in No. 11, Mechlin, some time tonight, and the result is awaited with some interest. Murrin No. 1 is producing 180 barrels in 24 hours, while their three old wells aggregate a daily production of 78 barrels.

DEATH OF MISS M'KINLEY. Devoted Friend and Teacher She Is Mourned by All Who Knew Her.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. CANTON, July 29 .- Miss Anna McKinley, sister of Congressman William McKinley, Jr., died at her home here at 4 o'clock this after-noon. Major McKinley, who was here three weeks ago, arrived here again this morning it response to a telegram. For 29 years the deceased has been the Principal at the Canton High School. Although repeatedly offered better positions both here and elsewhere, she always insisted upon remaining at the work she was first called to. She was born at Niles, O., in 1882, and graduated at Westminster, Pa., Academy and Poland, O., Seminary, being later a teacher at the latter institution. She was also a principal at the Deshaw Select School, Cynthiana. Ky., before coming here. Thousands mourn her here as a teacher and friend. She was firm and thorough, although kind and considerate, in everything she did. Her parents, both past 80, survive her.

Despite the advice of family and friends she continued teaching until June 10. Then she arranged to go to Magnetic Springs, but it was too late, and it is known that her devotion to her work has been too great, better positions both here and elsewhere, she

TROUBLE AT THE NATIONAL TUBE WORKS The Strikers and Non-Union Men Have Serious Scrap. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

McKEESPORT, July 29.—As was given out by notice, the National Tube Works attempted to start up to-day. Some opposition was shown by some of the locked-out men, and fa the row which followed James Jackson, John Moran by some of the locked-out men, and by the row which followed James Jackson, John Moran and three other workmen were assaulted. As the company had given notice that it expected all of its old men to go to work to-day, there was a big crowd about the place, but very few of the old men went to work, their number being at the highest only estimated at 50. Efforts were made by the crowd to induce the men to go back home and abandon the work, and as a result there were many scenes. At the Baltimore and Ohlo depot James Jackson, brother of Superintendent Jackson, was so badly beatent that he was taken to his home, while one Moran drew a revolver and thus kept the angry crowd from harming him. Other men were interfered with, and an immense crowd stood about the place, and feeling ran high.

Sheriff McCandless has been notified that his aid may be needed at any moment, as the men are determined to stand out and do all they can in a reasonable way to keep others from going to work, while the company is equally determined to start the works.

The committee of the locked out men have always advised the men to be quiet and peaceable, and strongly discountenanced the proceedings of to-day. They decided that they will do all in their power to discourage actions of this kind in the future. Mr. Jackson threatens to sue the city for not protecting him, and says he will sue all of his associates, while his brother offers a reward for the men who attacked him. The tube works managers applied to the Burgess for protection, and the latter issued a proclamation which counseled peace and urged that no violence be shown to anyone. The men who are working will have escorts in the future to and from the mills. John Jackson, one of the men working, was met this evening. He fired into the crowd, and he was met with a shower of bricks, etc. He was badly out about the head and was taken to the lockup, where his wounds were dressed. Nothing else of an alarming nature occurred.

TO BE BUILT

A Director of the Cumberland Valley Says the Pennsylvania is

BEHIND THE SOUTH PENN SCHEME.

It is in Strict Accord With the Policy of That Corporation.

A TALK WITH PRESIDENT KENNEDY

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. BEDFORD SPRINGS, July 29 .- One of the most prominent business men in the eastern part of the State, who is a director in the Cumberland Valley Railroad, was seen to-day by THE DISPATCH correspondent and asked what he knew about the recent development in the affairs of the South Penn and what the prospects were for the early completion of the road. After being assured that his name would not be made public he agreed to talk a little, although he said that so far the directors of the Cumberland Valley had taken no action, although engineers who were at work were in the employ of the company.
"Do you think the road will be finished, and by whom?" was queried. "The road will be finished. By whom? Why, the interest who own the charter and franchises, which is the Pennsylvania Railroad. I believe, from what I can learn from people who are in a position to know, that work will go on just as soon as the engineers have their work finished."

JUST THE USUAL POLICY. Another gentleman apparently well informed, and with financial interest in the Pennsylvania Railroad, as well as possessing information from observation of the policy of the Pennsylvania Company, says: "In the past when rival corporations, directly or indirectly, directed their efforts to increase their business at the expense or detriment of the Pennsylvania Company, that they almost invariably retaliated by extension or constructing new lines of rail-road into paying territory of their opponents, compensating for traffice divided by their rivals in one direction or point by sharing traffic with them at one or more points."

"It appears that the Pennsylvania Company controls or owns the right, title and franchises of the South Penn. This evidently was consummated for the purpose of defeating the construction of a competing system through Pennsylvania to the West, competing for and dividing the freight and passenger traffic from the East now enjoyed lmost exclusively by the Pennsylvania Company.

A REASONABE SUPPOSITION.

"Would it not be natural that if anything at all were done by the Pennsylvania, it would be reasonable to suppose that they would complete the South Penn, or have it constructed under their control and in their interest. It is a notorious fact that surveyors are running lines, and have been engaged at this work for months, and from what can be learned they are either employed by the Cumber-land Valley Railroad or the Pennsylvania Railroad—serving either serves both—and that their object is to shorten the original South Penn route. If this is a fact, it is plain that the object is the completion of links of new railroad connecting with the Cumberland Valley and connecting with one of the roads entering Pittsburg. One thing is sure, if the Pennsylvania builds, or has it built, it will be not only well built, but serve the purpose for which it is in-tended. It will

RELIEVE THEIR HEAVY TRAFFIC on their main line, east and west, and the company will be in that field develop-ing the country, benefiting the people along its route, and share with the Bultimore and Ohio Railroad the future trade and traffic of that section. The original route passes near or through Mt. Dallas, and there is no knowledge of any changes in the survey in or through this section. "I confidently believe the Pennsylvania Railroad will support the movement of completing the South Penn to as great an ex ent as the Baltimore and Ohio and Phila delphia and Reading Railroad companie support the movement of connecting the Philadelphia and Reading with the Balti more and Ohio, and if the Pennsylvania Company constructs the South Penn It will be well done, and their policy will be such that both their road and the country trav-ersed will be benefited."

PRESIDENT KENNEDY TALKS.

Everything Will be Decided After the Sur vey is Completed. SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH, CARLISLE, July 29 .- The appearance of the article on the completion of the South Penn Railroad, Vanderbilt's line, in Saturday's issue of THE DISPATCH created considerable excitement and talk throughout the Cumberland Valley. When Colonel T. B. Kennedy, President of the Camberland Valley Railroad, was spoken to by a newspaper representative concerning the report that the Penusylvania Railroad is about to o complete the South Penn, he said: The Cumberland Valley Railroad Company is running a line westward, and when the line is complete the maps are made and the estiis complete the maps are made and the esti-mates of the cost of construction are given it will be determined whether or not the new road will be built. Our last survey commences south of the Western Maryland Railroad crossing, and runs west near St. Thomas to Ft. London, thence to the base of the moun-tains at Cowan's Gap. If that line should be adouted, the mountain at that point would be adopted, the mountain at that point would be tunneled. Nothing will be determined abou the construction, as I have said, until the sur veys are completed, the maps made and the estimates given. The surveying corps started out again yesterday morning to revise portion of the line in Franklin and Fulton counties, utterances concerning her husband was a reason why she kept him dangling at her heels, she said that she did not approve of the remarks and did not indorse them. She invited Wertheimer's company largely because she was unable to look after her husband's horses herself, and Mr. Wertheimer knew all about that sort of things.

Wertheimer swore that while he had supplied her with money before her marriage, he had never done so since. He had given her presents, but nothing more. He stously denied that their friendship had ever been other than platonic, and stated that he would have gladly married her at any time, but he was sorry to say that she would not have him. "Admiration does not fully describe my feelings for her, he said with such fervor that it started a titter round the courtroomm. He saw now that it was wrong for him to have gone about with Lady Dunlo as freely as he did, but she knew that he would never insult her, which was more than could be said of some of Lord Dunlo's friends and relations.

Half a dozen witnesses, including Flo Bilton, were called to testify that in spite of every favorable opportunity, they had never seen any impropristy between the parties. Lord Dunlo was then recalled and denied emphatically the story, that he with two others had tossed up to see who of them should marry Miss Bilton. The case was then adjourned.

The presence of Marmaduke Woods at the Lyric Club and other West End haunts is being objected to in consequence of the sorry figure he has cut in the Dunlo case. The young man is not in the least abashed, however, and swaggers about apparently proud of his notoriety. An effort is being made to force him to resign from the Lyric.

Lord Randolph Churchill, in an interview with a correspondent to-day, spoke freely of his position and prospects. As a politician he s apparently under some depression of spirits.

s apparently under some depression of spirits. Speaking of the rumors that he had been approached with a view of relieving W. H. Smith, as the leader of the House of Commons, he said the report was not true, that he had not been approached by any one.

"I will go further," headded. "Since 1 left the Cabinet I have not received a letter upon any matter whatsoever from either of those I once called colleagues. I like racing better than statesmanship. One is healthy, the other is depressing. As a matter of fact I do not think political life is quite in my way."

He gave as a reason for this belief that he had not been a success as a politician, and this fact made him doubtful of his future as a public man. He fears that his views on certain points of policy have tended to divorce him from the majority of the Conservative party, At any rate it is improbable that the Cabinet, having in the main done so well, will find it necessary to seek his assistance.
