The game at Exposition Park yesterday was close and exciting, and all in all one of the best games seen here this season. Both teams played good ball and kept the game on the see-saw, thus keeping up the excitement from the opening to the close of the game. At his first time at bat Visner was hit by a pitched ball and disabled. Maul taking his place. Maul played a great game in left and made one especially fine catch of a high fly.

Kuehne's work vesterday was a great improvement over what it has been for some time. He covered his position well and did valiant work with the stick. In the sixth he made a hit good for a home run and should have had it, but fell after passing third. He could not make up the lost ground and was caught at the plate. Fields poked out a home run in the sixth inning but unfortunately no

STEADY, BOYS!

But while the Pittsburg men made fine spurts the Brooklyns were playing a steady game, and, though they did not outplay the team, they earned their game. It was a hard fight all through, and about the only man who didn't do his duty was Shortstop Ward. But Corcoran, in the same territory, made several beautiful plays. His stop of Van Haltren's liner in the sixth inning was as pretty a piece liner in the sixth inning was as pretty a piece of work as has been seen on the grounds.

Pittsburg took the stick end at the beginning of the controversy. Visner was hit by a pitched ball, and Maul took his place. He got second on a passed ball, and scored on Ward's wild throw of Eields' grounder. The Brooklyns went them one better in their half. After two men were out Andrews got a base on balls, and scored on Orr's corking tripple. Bauer's single scored Orr, and Seery flew out.

AS IT CONTINUED. The second inning produced a run for the doubled them and scored two runs. After Joyce went out Kinslow singled and went to Joyce went out Kinslow singled and went to third on Weyhing's base hit. Ward singled to Maul, who juggled it, and Kinslow and Weyhing scored, Ward going out at third. Van Hairen retired at first.

It was in the fourth that Fields got his home run and in the fifth the local men tied the score. After Morris flew out Carroll singled and went to third on Maul's base hit, which Maul, who juggled it, and Kinslow and Wey-hing scored, Ward going out at third. Van Hattren retired at first.

It was in the fourth that Fields got his home run and in the fifth the local men tied the score. After Morris flew out Carroll singled and went to third on Maul's base hit, which Seery fumbled, and Carroll scored. The two following men went out. In their half of the ment. Cocoran singled and stole second, scor-ing on Kuehne's three-base hit. However, the Brooklyns evened up in their half by Bauer getting a three-bagger and scoring on Fields' drop of a thrown ball. The visitors scored the winning run in the seventh inning. Ward got a two-baser and scored on Andrews' single, Attendance, 1,072. Score:

TWO DEFEATS EAST.

The Brooklyns Bunched Their Hits and Fielded Finely, Winning Both Games Against the Pittsburg Lengue Tenm. (SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.)

BROOKLYN, August 1.-The Brooklyns played two games with the Pittsburg team at Washington Park to-day. In the first game not a semblance of an error did the Brooklyns make, and while the record of base hits shows 10 to 9 against them, then made Hecker's hair stand fairly on end in the two innings that they scored their runs. Every run was earned, and Pinkney, Burns and Daly each cracked out home runs. The fielding of the local team was elegant. The general display of the Pitts-Victors, and All Are Happy.

SECOND GAME.

The second game was quite a disappointmen the Pittsburgs played in wretched form throughout. They changed Hecker for Gibson in the box, but one inning was sufficient to cause his retirement, and this left them practicause his retirement, and this left them practi-cally without a pitcher. In the first inning the Brooklyns scored II runs, two earned. Fifteen men went to the bat; five hits were made, in-cluding a couple of two-baggers, but then Gib-son gave three men bases on balls, had three wild pitches, and with the dropped flys and fumbles the spectators evidently experienced a great relief when the luning closed. AFTER THE PENNANT. Will Barr Says He'it Not Return Until He Gets ft. Mr. Bromwich, a young Englishman, returned yesterday from a visit at his old home. He there met Will Barr, of this city, who is managing the Birmingham baseball team. Mr. Barr sent a photograph of the Derby team to A G. Pratt. That was the first team organized in Eugland. On the day that Mr. Bromwich called on the Barr boys the Birminghams and Derbys played a great ten-inning game, wen by the Derbys, in which Will Barr pitched. The Birminghams now stand second in the race for the pennant, Derby being first. Manager Barr and his brother say they will not return home until they have won the pennant for the team. Mr. Bromwich says the Pittsburgers are well liked in England and have made hundreds of friends.

The preliminary steps toward the canonization of Catharine Tegohonita have already been taken, and the necessary investigations into her claims to sanctity are being prosecuted. She was the first Iroquois Indian to embrace Christianity, being received into the church on Easter Sunday, 1675, and was persecuted accordingly. During her life she is said to have performed many miracles. All Indian Christians pray at her tomb in La Tortue.

Here, however, the paternal Barker took a hand. It had come to the ears of the unsuspecting old man that his girl was about to take, this important step, and e sternly forbade it.

FOOLED THE OLD MAN. Not only did he do that, but he told Peter that he had better not set foot on his farm again. Peter left, but with a settled determination to outdo the old man yet. About a week ago old man Barker went away from me, leaving his daughter there alone. Peter, ever watchful, saw his opportunity, took a couple of friends and some horses to the home of his fiancee, and, finding Jennie ready, put her on horseback and the narty set out for this city on a dead gallop. Barker here returned unexpectedly, grasped the situation and was seen in het pursuit.

unexpectedly, grasped the situation and was soon in hot pursuit.

Then occurred a most exciting race. Peter, Jennie aud the two "best men" were speeding their horses as fast as possible in the belief they would be pursued. Behind was the determined father and a friend intent on making a capture. At last the lovers reached Brownstown. In a few minutes the train which was to carry them to Charleston would be due and they would be safe. Here with safety almost within their grasp they found the train was an hour late. The depot was filled with waiting passeng rs, Peter and Jennie among them and the two "best men" were pacing up and down the platform, when suddenly, amid a cloud of dust,
