MR. REED UNDER FIRE

Southern Congressmen Take Advantage of the Speaker's Absence to Denounce Him.

ROGERS PARTICULARLY SEVERE.

Mr. Breckinridge Grows Grandly Eloquent in His Appeals for Fraternal Fellowship

AND MR. BOUTELLE CALLS HIM DOWN

By an Unkind Aliusien to the Election Methods of the Southern States,

WASHINGTON, August 4 .- In the House to-day Mr. Morgan, of Mississippi, rising to a question of privilege, sent to the clerk's desk and had read an article in a Southern newspaper, to the effect that, in order to curry favor with the Farmers' Alliance, he had his license as lawver annulled. He denounced the statement as a falsehood, and as a campaign lie.

The House then went into committee of the whole (Mr. Payson, of Illinois, in the chair) on the general deficiency appropriation bill. Mr. Henderson, of Iowa, explained that the bill carried an appropriation of $5,140,000. The items of deficiency submitted to the Committee on Appropriations, aggregated $13,500,000.

Mr. Rogers, of Arkansas, premised his remarks by an expression of gratitude that the presence of Mr. Payson in the chair was a guarantee that he would not be taken off the floor. On two occasions the Speaker had taken him off the floor. The Speaker had conceived and taken it into his brain, for it had come out of his mouth (though it seemed to him that it was more gall than brain), that he had a right to take a member off the floor.

Mr. Kerr, of Iowa, thought that it was about time that members addressing the House should cease to insult the presiding officer, and he made the point of order that the remarks of the gentleman from Arkansas

The Chairman, however, permitted the gentleman to proceed, and Mr. Rogers, continuing, attacked the Speaker and his rulings.

UNWARRANTED POWERS. He claimed the code of rules under which

He claimed the code of rules under which the House is proceeding gave the Speaker power to stifle debate, gag the House, force the passage of bills, avoid exposure, out-rage and mistreat the minority and bull-dage the majority. The House, he said, had degenerated into a state of anarchy and chaos. It was suspected that the Speaker turned his back on full, fair, frank discussion, on opportunity for amendment, on parliamentary decorum, on official urbanity, or historic and patriotic memories, in order that he might unlawfully perpetuate his party in power and draw to his support for the Presidency the unscrupulous mass of ignorant and vulgar partisans, who practiced the infamous and corrupt maxim that the end justified the means. He had degraded the majority with the full assurance on the part of Republican members that if this scheme should break down under the judgment of a liberty-loving people, they would perish, like Samson, under the ruins, but if it succeeded, that he alone should reap all glory. Mr. Henderson, or Iowa, defended Speaker Reed against the attack made upon

THE MIGHTY MAN FROM MAINE. He referred to him as the mighty man from Maine, and declared that he stood today as the towering, historic grand figure of this age of legislative victory and reform. If the people of this Republic did not appreciate what earnestness, courage and patriotism had done in this Congress, then here was no gratitude in the Republic for loyalty to its best interests.

Commenting on the legislation of the session, Mr. Henderson touched upon the tariff bill saying that although some of the Re-publicans might have desired to amend it, by reason of the organized opposition on the other side, the time had been so consumed that those amendments could not be made. It seemed as though the minority was bent on preventing all amendments. This House had passed the general court bill and the bankruptcy bill. It had passed the silver bill, whereby silver was already marching forward to take its place beside gold.

COURAGE AND PATRIOTISM.

This House had been the first one with the courage and patriotism to pass an anti-trust bill. It had passed an election bill an election bill and not a force bill, as its enemies took pleasure in calling it. The bill was merely an enlargement and an improvement of the law which had been in force for 19 years. It sought to gag the right of no citizen, nor to do any wrong to any citizen North or South. The House had passed the "original package" bill, marching boldly forward to the demands of the best thought of the people of the nation North and South. The Republicans of the House had erected a pyramid of legislation.

Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, criticised

the code of rules and then said he had no criticism to make upon the Speaker. If the gentleman on the other side were satisfied with the officer, God forbid that he should attempt to remove that satisfaction. If they were willing to accept the Speaker as a fair type of their party he would enter no dissent. The Speaker had won his supremacy. He had exercised the supremacy he had won. [Laughter.] He had been the Republican leader on the floor. The Re-publicans had made him their leader in the chair and he had exercised that leadership

DREW THE CONTRAST.

Mr. Breckinridge then proceeded to con-trast the personal and political relations which existed between Speaker Carlisle and the members, and that which existed be-tween them and Speaker Reed. It the last Congress the members of the minority had always been treated courteously; now a member of the minority rising for recognition did not know what treatment he would' receive at the hands of the Speaker. He then proceeded to make an earnest appeal against the force bill, concluding as fol-

Gentlemen of the North, why shall we not come together? Why can we not lay aside these suspicions? You cannot take your "rotten burroughs" from the South. You cannot hold power here by mercenaries put at the polls. You cannot control this House by the use of the army. You cannot keep political power by debauching the ballot box or the jury box. You cannot make the country one by turning out the members elected by the people, and seating the non-elected by your votes. What you can do is this: You can aid the people of the South to build up that country. the South to build up that country.

COULD HELP ONE ANOTHER. You can belp us dig our mines, bridge our rivers, tunnel our mountains, endow our schools, make our colleges prosperous, erect our churches, keep us in the line of progressive march; so that your sons may progressive march; so that your sons may come and live among us, buy our lands, enjoy the salubrity of our climate, throw in their lot with ours, intermarry in our families, so that, while there will still be a North and a South, it will be a loving and a rich North, a prosperous and a patriotic South. That is what we Democrats, who on this side of the chamber protest against your rules, desire to have done by the people who are behind you at home.

I appeal to the Massachusetts of Plymouth. I appeal to the Western Reserve, settled by the men who came from New Eegland; I appeal to the living soldiers who met us in buttle array; I appeal to the Christians who kneel with us at the same slare; I appeal to the brave men who were sitar; I appeal to the brave men who recognize sincerity and bravery. Behind you, I appeal to the living people of the North. Give us your confidence, we will deserve it, we do deserve at; and he who says otherwise does not know us or does not speak the truth of us. [Applause,] I speak to-day in the sight of God and this body, and of those people who have known me at home since I was a little boy, when I say, from the fullness of my heart, there is no reason why the North and the Souih should be apart; there is every reason why brave and true men of hoth sections should believe each other. [Loud applause on the Democratic side.] UNIFORMLY COURTEOUS. .

Mr. Boutelle, of Maine, said that he had no desire to attempt any defense of the Speaker from the kind of remarks which had been made from certain sources to-day. In every relation of life, as a man, as a gentle-man among gentlemen, the Speaker had been uniformly courteous. He then commented upon the Clayton-Breckinridge case, taking as his text the press report of the majority of the Committee on Elections. Upon this text he built a strong denunciation of election methods in the Southern

Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, said that his relative, the gentleman from Arkansas, had not sought an easy escape by a cowardly resignation. A seat in Congress did not compare with a good conscience. The gentleman from Arkansas knew that he had done nothing to be ashamed ot, and he knew that the truth, when fairly found out, would

Mr. Boutelle, in reply, was severe upon what he termed were the election methods of the Southern States. There were, he said, in his district a number of Democrats who always voted against him. But their votes were always counted and his antago-nist was never assassinated like a dog in his tracks. [Applause on Republican side.] Pending action on the bill, the committee rose and the House adjourned.

DUMONT ASKS AN INVESTIGATION. A Circular From the Pilote Brings a Reply

From the Supervisor. WASHINGTON, August 4 .- Replying to circular said to have been issued by the American Brotherhood of Steamboat Pilots, Supervising Inspecting General Dumont, writes a letter to Mr. Speaker Reed requesting an investigation into the affairs of his office since his term began in 1876. The circular alleges that "Mr. Dumont is a gentleman endowed with powerful political pull, and he possesses an absolute genius for evading investigation." "I am desirous," he says, "that the com-mittee will make special inquiry with a view to determining whether or not, I have at any time sought, through political or other influences, to evade the investigation of any charge that may have been filed againt me, during my term of office."

HE WAS NOT CERTAIN.

Smith Does Not Know Whether

He is an American Citizen. Another hearing in the Carr-Pleisfer election contest of the Twenty-seventh ward was held yesterday afternoon before Commissioner John S. Robb, Jr. Nicholas Rauch, Joseph Schlicher, Albert Smith, John Peters, Ferdinand Probst, John Orthner, John Nill, Peter Hanneck and John Beck were examined as to the payment of their taxes.

Rauch testified that he had paid no taxes since 1883. Smith had paid his taxes, but did not remember for whom he voted. He has lived in this country for 42 years, being brought here when a child by his father from Germany. He does not know whether his father ever took out his naturalization papers, but supposed he had, and for that reason never took them out himself. Some of the other witnesses passed the examination satisfactorily, but others could not produce their receipts. The hearing was then adjourned indefinitely.

THE POOR FARM SOLD

Stewart's Property, at Parnassus, Chosen as the New Location.

PROMPT ACTION BY COUNCILS.

Mayor Gourley States His Objections to the Purchase.

GOOD INVESTMENT FOR THE CITY

The old City Poor Farm has been sold and new location purchased. The Department of Awards, consisting of Chiefs Brown. Bigelow and Elliot and Mayor Gourley, vesterday accepted the bid of $432,000 made by Black & Baird for the Homestead property, and, with the exception of the Mayor, voted for the purchase of the Stewart farm at Parnassus for $186,000. This action was atterward ratified by Councils. The Poor Farm matter came up first in Select Council on the question of approving the report of the Department of Awards. Mr. Keating made a motion to approve the report recommending the sale of the old Poor Farm, and Mr. Robertson presented a few figures, simular to those published in THE DISPATCH several days ago, showing that Black & Baird would not realize an unreasonable profit if they cut up the property into building lots.

WANTED MORE MONEY. Dr. Evans said the farm was being sold too cheaply. He thought a reserve price of $500,000 ought to have been set upon the property, and if the terms of the sale had been more favorable it might have brought $600,000 or $700,000. Some further discussion ensued, but when the roll was called the sale was approved by a vote of 31 to 1,

Dr. Evans voting in the negative. Common Council then took action on the Poor Farm sale. Mr. Bigham said he had had some experience in real estate, and he thought the bid was a fair one. To this Mr. O'Donnell took exceptions. He had been told that the property was worth more, and he thought it ought to bring in the neighbor-hood of $1,000,000. He was proceeding to talk about the purchase of the Stewart tarm, when he was called to order by Chairman W. A. Magee, who was acting in the absence of Mr. Holliday, as the subject was not under discussion.

Mr. Ferguson said the capitalists of this city had ten days to make up their minds as to the worth of the City Farm, and there was no use crying over spilt milk. The bids were bona fide, and unless the Carne-gies took part of the land and increased the capacity of their works the bidders would not get out even. He was in favor of the sale, but he would oppose the purchase of the Stewart farm. the Stewart farm.

A VERY FAIR PRICE. Mr. Flinn said that the action of Councils in retaining possession until the new farm was ready had prevented the bids from being as high as they would have otherwise been. Under this reserve clause he thought the price very fair.

Mr. Bigham said the school board of Homestead had squatted on two lots on Eighth avenue, opposite the Poor Farm. He had been retained in the case and had taken evidence in over 100 cases and had taken evidence in over 100 cases of the value of property in Homestead. He had found that in the business portions the rate was $30 per foot front, and for residence property from $10 to $15 per foot front. Taking the City Farm and laying it out on the plan of Homestead the average price was a little over $11 a foot. He held this to be a fair price, as much of the land which lays above the township road would not bring $5

The vote was then taken and the sale was approved by a vote of 39 ayes to 1 no. Mr. O'Donnell cast the one negative vote.

The section of the report recommending the purchase of the Stewart property, near The vote was then taken and the sale was Parnassus, for $186,000, was then taken up, and Mr. Keating moved that it be approved. Mr. Warmcastle opposed the motion. This was different from the sale of the old farm. He had voted for the latter because he thought the city was getting enough for the property but he would vote against the purchase of the Stewart farm because the city was asked to pay too much. He thought $700 too high a figure for land so far away from the city, and as several farms had come to the front since the bids had been closed that could be purchased for much less money, he believed that the PROPOSALS SHOULD BE REOPENED and see it the city could not do better, Even if a farm was not as eligible or as well located, if it could be bought for half the money it could be made to answer the purpose just as well. Mr. Warmcastle was airaid that if $186,000 was paid for a farm the cost of the buildings would require a tax upon the people to complete them. He thought the matter had not been sufficiently advertised as many owners of farms had never seen the notice in the newspapers.

Mr. Keating thought that if the Stewart farm was so well suited and was so valuable a land it would be to the city's interest to buy it because in 30 pr 40 years it would have to be sold again and if a good property would bring a good price. He asked Chief Elliot to make a statement on the subject.

Mr. Elliot, who was present, said he would be beared to the control of would be happy to answer any question asked him about the farm. He related the visit of the committee to the various farms, and showed the superiority of the Stewart farm to all the others. He said the com-parison of gold to old metal would be ap-plicable to the Stewart farm compared to the parison to got of the state ward of applicable to the Stewart farm compared to the others. He referred to its elegant location, good orchard, splendid soil in high state of cultivation, the coal underlying it and the probability of natural gas, the farm lying, he said, on the belt between the Murraysville and Butler fields.

Mr. Robertson—Will the money for the old tarm buy the Stewart farm and complete the new buildings in first-class shape?

Mr. Elliot—I asked several contractors and they said the kind of buildings we want could be built for from $175,000 to $200,000.

Mr. George Rice, of this city, built the Nerristown Insane Asylum, the largest and finest institution of the kind in the State, for $350,000. It has room for 1,800 inmates. He says we can build a first-class fireproof building large enough for 1,200 inmates for $200,000. We have only 480 inmates now."

INDORSED CHIEF ELLIOT.

INDORSED CHIEF ELLIOT. Chief Brown was next called upon. He was very brief, indorsing all that Chief Elliot had said, and adding that in his opinion the best site for such a building in Western Pennsylyania was the Ross estate, above Sharpsburg. Next to it was the Stewart farm. From a monetary point of view he thought the city could not make a better investment than to buy the Stewart farm.

Mayor Gourley agreed in the main with the gentlemen who had spoken, except that $700 was too high a price for the city to pay for a Poor Farm, giving the same reasons he had given through the press during the past week. In answer to Mr. Lambie's question he said he thought the land worth $700, and compared with other farms visited much more. But no farm was he said worth nore. But no farm was, he said, worth marks. He thought if cheap land was all that was wanted it could be bought in Texas for 83 per sere. But here was good land on river and two railroads at a price that could be realized on in a few years. The city could not ask for anything better. Dr. Evans said he favored the Stewart Dr. Evans said he favored the Stewart farm because it was an excellent business speculation from which the city would realize handsomely.

A vote on the motion was then taken, the result being 30 years to 1 nay. Mr. Warmcastle cast the only negative vote.

A LITTLE TOO FAST. When the purchase of the Stewart farm was brought before Common Council Mr. Ferguson suggested that the action was too rapid. He thought that as the city had three years' lease of the old farm buildings, more time might be taken to consider the purchase of a new site.

Mr. O'Donnell objected to the Stewart farm on the ground that it would soon be hemmed in by manufactories.

Mr. MacGonigle wanted to hear from Chief Elliot and Mayor Gourley on the matter, and after some discussion they were sent for.

sent for.

Mr. Elliot repeated in substance the remarks he made in Select Council.

Mr. O'Donnell asked: "Did you visit any other farms except those formally offered?"
Mr. Elliot-No. We had no business to do so under your ordinance.

Mr. O'Donnell-Why do you want to sell the present farm?

Mr. Elhot—It is not well situated and is too small. too small.

Mr. O'Donnell—Do you know that the Westinghouse interests will build at Parnassus and that there will be three miles of factories alongside the Stewart farm?

Mr. Elliot—I do not. I know the farm adjoining can't be bought.

Mr. O'Donnell—Do you know how long Stewart has owned his farm or what he paid for it?

Mr. Elitot—I do not.
Mr. Ferguson—Will it be any loss to the city to postpone action on this matter one month? Don't you think we are too hasty? Mr. Ethot—If the city loses this chance you will be sorry for it. I would give $1,200 an acre for the Stewart farm in preference to the whole of the three others. A VERY GOOD FARM.

Mayor Gourley was introduced next. He said Mr. Elliot had correctly described the merits of the farm. If all the members of Councils had visited the farms they would say the Stewart is far the best, the cheapest of the five offered and worth all that is asked for it. If the city wishes to sell, it can do so at an advance. Notwithstanding all this, he had voted against the purchase. It was not that the farm was not worth the money; but because it was too valuable for a poor farm. He illustrated his view by saying that if he went to a tailor's and saw a suit for $150 he would admit that it was a fine suit and one that would add dignity to the appearance of the Mayor of Pittsburg, but it would be too expensive and Pittsburg, but it would be too expensive and he would take a suit for $50. He did not think any land worth $700 for a poor farm, and did hold that 300 acres could be bought at $300 that would be amply good enough. In response to questions about manufactories up the Allegheny, the Mayor said he had heard rumors only. He thought that in ten years the objections to the Homestead farm would exist against the new farm.

Mr. MacGonigle thought the purchase a good investment, and so did Mr. Bigham. He had investigated the rumors about factories at Parnassus, and could find no foundation for them. Mr. O'Donneil held to his idea that factories would be built and that the purchase would be a mistake.

The roll was called, and the action of Select Council in purchasing the farm was concurred in by a vote of 35 ayes to 5 noes, Messrs. Brewster, Ferguson, Flinn, O'Donneil and Russell voting in the negative.

more. But no tarm was, he said, worth $700 for farming purposes.

In answer to Mr. Warmeastle's question the Mayor said he knew of half a dozen farms that could be bought for less money that would answer the purpose equally as well. He thought he could buy a farm for half the money.

Mr. Lambie then took the floor and said the Mayor's argument against the Stewart farm was evidence of its being a good investment for the city. If the land was worth $700 on its own merits, not considering its surroundings it would certainly be a good investment because whenever the city desired she could sell it quickly and to a good advantage. If the city could buy land, use it for 20 years to her own advantage and then sell at a profit she was doing well and Mr. Gourley had admitted this to be the case in regard to the Stewart farm.

GRATEFUL COMFORTING. EPPS'S COCOA BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle mailadies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping our selves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.
