The game was exciting from the very opening to the time the last run was made by the visiting team in the twelfth, when but one man had been retired. The score was of the see-saw order, first one team had the advantage, then the other.

Anson said Hutchinson would allow the local men but one hit. However, he was mistaken and his favorite was hit hard from the start. His support was excellent and quick field work saved many runs. Gumbert would make a first-class pitcher if he had better judgment when men are on bases. With the bases clear he has the bastmen aimost at his mercy, but the minute they are filled he becomes rattled and is hit with ease. He fields his position splendadis. is hit with ease. He fields his position splendidly.

Pittsburg got one run in the first and Chicago immediately took two, then Pittsburg knocked out two and had the advantage, while the visitors were planked. The local men failed in the third and the visitors scored one, tieing the score. Pittsburg took two in the fourth and Chicago got three, giving them the lead. They still held the lead in the fifth, but in the sixth the local men got three to their two, and tied it again. In the cighth the visitors again took the lead by two, but in the ninth, after two men were out, the score was tied and thus it remained until the twelfth, when three singles and a sacrifice won the game for the visitors. Out the Clevelands in Fine Style-Maul, Bakely and Gruber Pitched - Other Games, ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.I CLEVELAND, August 12.—The Clevelands and another zigzag game with the Pittsburgers.

Bakely started in to pitch and lasted just two innings. In the meantime he had given the Pittsburgs enough bases on balls and the Clevelands had made enough errors so that just three base hits were the equivalent for eight runs. Gruber was then put in the box for Cleveland and managed to keep the Iron City men down, although he was hit harder than Bakely.

The game opened very favorably to Cleveland, four runs being scored on good batting. Browning, Delehanty and Sutcliffe hit in succession, and the bases were full when Tebeau came to bat. He forced Browning out at the plate, and the bases were still filled. Dele-hanty should have been out on McAleer's hit, but Carroll muffed the ball. Carney's long sacrifice sent Sutcliffe home, and Tebeau Sacrifice sent Sutcliffe home, and Tebeau scored on Stricker's single. A base on balls to Carroll, Visner's slashing hit, Delehanty's error and Fields' sacrifice gave Pittsburg their two in the first. The six runs in the second were scored on a combination of bases on balls and fielding errors. Only two safe hits were made in the inning. Corocam's fielding was the feature of the game, and Hanlon made a leaping catch while running backward which certainly cut off a home run. McAleer also made some astonishing plays. BUCK EWING OBJECTS. He Doesn't Like to Be Called a Traitor and

Won't Have It. NEW YORK, August 12.—There is trouble in the ranks of the New York Brotherhood club. Buck Ewing is indignant over the charges of infidelity to the Brotherhood cause made against him by a number of the players and

He did not put on his uniform yesterday, although he was booked to catch his brother John's delivery. He was not in a very pleasant frame of mind when I met him.
"Are you going to catch to-day, Buck?" I asked. "No, sir!" answered Ewing with much

"Why not?" was the next interrogation "Well, I am not going to play until I have an interview with Mr. Talcott. Certain persons have charged me with having dishonest intentions, and I will have an explanation. The have charged me with having dishonest intentions, and I will have an explanation. The players here have taken nubrage at my recent latertiews with John B. Day, and have also scored me badly for holding a casual conversation with Mickey Welch, an old friend of mine. I think it's pretty rich if I can't talk to my friends without being called a traitor. Why, they even go so far as to say they will release mo, their manager. It's pretty rough, I think. I haven't done anything which should call forth such insinuations. I am with the Brotherhood as long as I am treated right."

The following statement signed by the members of the team was given out:

"A rumor accredited to an unnamed player concerning the feaity of William Ewing to the Brotherhood of Ball Players having been circulated in a Sunday newspaper, we the undersigned members of the New York Players' League Club desire to say that any such statement is false and malicious and does an injustice not only to Mr. Ewing is uto the organization which he represents. The item published in the same paper that any player of this club desires the release of Mr. Ewing is also untrue. TENNY BEATEN AGAIN.

alvator Runs Past the Little Swayback and Wins With the Greatest Ease for the Champion Stakes at Monmouth

Park. MONMOUTH PARK, August 12 - The weather was magnificent, the track in good shape and altogether the prospects for a sensational day's racing could not have been improved. There were about 20,000 people present. The load-stone that attracted all these persons was the Champion stakes. The best horses in the country were to be brought together on even terms, and every lover of racing wanted to see the result. It was the third race, the Champion stakes of $250 each with $2,500 added; the second to receive $500, mile and a half. Salvator is champion. He has won that title in a fair and square contest with Tenny, the only vator is champion. He has won that title in a fair and square contest with Tenny, the only horse on the American turf that has any right to dispute the title with him, and he did it in such a decisive style that there can now be no question whatever of his superiority.

Slowly at first, but gaining in speed at every jump, they approached the starter almost on even terms. Down went the red flag and the battle of the giants had commenced. Salvator's colors showed in front on the outside. For five furiongs they ran in this order. Then, as they struck the turn for home, Garrison let out a link on Tenny and he shot to the front, getting a lead of haif a length. Murphy at once sent Salvator after him, and as they rounded into the stretch he was at the little swayback's nose. From that point to within three furiongs of home it was a pretty race. Ail of a sudden Murphy commenced to ride Salvator, and the shout went up: "Tenny is beaten!" It was true. Tenny had to acknowledge defeat. When Murphy found that he had Tenny beaten he eased, and as Garrison did the same thing, it was a tame finish, Salvator winning by four good lengths. This victory settles decisively the question of the relative merits of Salvator and Tenny, and while the latter is a great horse, he will have to occupy a secondary position whenever Salvator is mentioned. The fractional time of the race is as follows: Quarter, 0:284; thalf, 0:504; three-quarters, 1:17; mile, 1:35; mile and a quarter, 2:09; mile and a half, 2:354. Other results follow:

ROCHESTER, August 12 - Fashionable breed ing in trotters got a black eye in the contest for the Flower City stake this afternoon by the per-formance of Keno F, chestnut gelding with a very short pedigree. He met a field of 11 fiyers, most of them young and well bred, but he beat them at all points and landed one of the biggest prizes in the Grand Circuit in time remarkably prizes in the Grand Circuit in time remarkably fast for the 2:30 class. Keno F comes from Iowa and is 6 years old. He had a slow record last season, and this season, at St. Paul, lowered it to 2:19%. Though not the favorite to-day, there was a strong tip out on hm, but the talent preferred to rest on Leopard Rose's great speed, despite her uncertain temperament. The spotted mare started out well, getting a heat in fast time, but collapsed after that and only got third money. The young mare Pixley made a gallant tiffort to sustain the credit of the blue blooded stock by securing a heat in 2:17% and repeating that time in the fourth, though she was favored by the judges in a very close decision with Keno F.

Favorites got to the front in the other two classes, the sport lasting till dark, but the card was cleared up. George W. Archer, President of the association, handled the large fields skilfully and there were no delays. The attendance was quite up to the average and the meeting starts off well.

THERE was a large siring attached to the editorial welcome the Louisville Post gave to the victorious Cyclones. Listen: "Hall the conquering herees! say the public to the returning base-ball club. But if you go to work and lose the lead, they mentally add, we'll roast you so you'll be glad to get out of town. The pinnacle of fame is the most dangerous of altitudes." The reseination of Trainer Hogers from Captain Brown's service, to take effect at the close of the racing year, was a great surprise, coming as it has. No one possessing a grain of common sense has ever believed Rogers as other than a straighterward man in every respect. The accusations of the press have been directed at Covington, the jocker, and not Rogers, whom all that know him intimately greatly respect as a quiet, unassuming capable and honest trainer of race horses.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

There was but little contest before the Committee on Credentials, but two delegations having any fight to make, both of them being decidedly in favor of Hogg tor Governor. STILL FULL OF HOPE.

The Strikers on the New York Central Railroad Refuse

TO ACKNOWLEDGE THEIR DEFEAT.

They Are Awaiting Action of the General Executive Board.

OPERATIONS BEING RAPIDLY RESUMED

NEW YORK, August 12 .- Notwithstanding the statements of the officials of the New York Central road that the backbone of the strike is broken and the apparent belief of the public in these assertious, the strikers themselves are still confident that the crisis has not yet been reached, and that before the week is over the road will be tied up tight as a drum. This belief was strengthened by the speeches made at the meeting of the strikers which was held this afternoon. About 600 of the men met at 3 o'clock. Master Workman Lee spoke, and afterward when asked about the letter which appeared in a morning paper, and which he was accused of having written to General Manager Toucey, he replied: "It's a forgery. I did not write it. I am not a double-dealer or a traitor, and would not write such a document. The situation is so serious that the railroad officials are resorting to every means to discredit me in the eyes of my fellow-work-

IN GOOD FAITH.

"Why did you tell the reporters that the firemen would go out last night?" he was asked. "Because I believed they would. I made tral depot would go out."

"Mr. Holland is not in entire control of the strike," he said in response to another query. "We (meaning the district assemquery. "We (meaning the district assem-blies) have full power to conduct the strike as we think proper. We are on very friendly terms with the engineers, and I still believe they will strike." By this time the meeting had adjourned and the Press Committee had agreed on what information they would give to the re-porters. Reports had been read showing that only one or two desertions from the ranks of the strikers had taken place so far, and not one of these so far, and not one of these had been in the Grand Central yard.

A CHARGE OF FORGERY. A man had attended the meeting, they said, who went back to work on being shown a report signed by 100 switchmen, stating that they would return to work and disobey the mandates of the Knights of Labor. "My name, he says, was signed to that report," said a member of the Press Committee, "and if so it was a forgery. I never signed it."

Reports from towns along the line stated

Reports from towns along the line stated that the strikers are as hopeful as they were on Friday night. "They cannot instruct the green hands," said the spokesman, "to run the trains in less than six months. Even the Superintendents don't understand the business. This running of trains on schedule time is all bosh. I tell you not a train has been switched yet; they are sent out as they come out without regard to

The Press Committee said that a vote of confidence in Mr. Lee had been passed, and that it did not require his statement to make the meeting believe that the letter in the paper was a forgery. FIGHT TO THE LAST. "We have every confidence in our officers," was the statement which supplemented this, "and we will stand by them through thick and thin."

The strikers will meet again to-morrow and hear responses from the engineers. They evidently believe that the latter will support them, Subsequently Mr. Lee said: "The General Executive Board alone has the power to order out at one time the men any apparent delay in forcing conclusions girls from the school at Carlisle, who do the is because we are now waiting indorsement by that body, which meets to-morrow in washing, ironing, plain sewing, sweeping. on the roads throughout the country, and aturday Review.

At a recent meeting of the London Zoological Society for scientific business, Mr. Sclater called attention to a specimen of a leaf insect living in the society's insect nouse, which had been received from the Seychelles and presented by Lord Wal-singham. The leaf insects, of which but few species are known, belong to the same family (Phasimide) as the stick insects, and both are marvelous illustrations of and both are marvelous illustrations of mimicry in nature. They are all noctural in their habits, and spend their days resting on trees and bushes, the leaves of which form their food, and their resemblance, respectively, to the leaves and twigs is so extraordinary that it is not surprising that they escape the observation of their enemies. The leaf insects are most singular; the head and part of the thorax form a stalk, while the abdomen, which is flat, thin, and much dilated, exactly resembles a leaf. The legs, which are six in number, have broad, membranous appendages on the thighs, and nembranous appendages on the thighs, and these are especially noticeable on the fore-legs; the result being that the creature, while resting immovable, has the appear-ance of a leaf which has been gnawed on both sides by a caterpillar. In the insect at both sides by a caterpillar. In the insect at the Zoo this resemblance is most exact, and the illusion is heightened by the coloring, which makes it appear alightly withered at the edges. It is the habit of the insect to hang back downward, with the abdomen slightly curled up, and, to quote Mr. Murray, "this habit brings to light another beautiful contrivance for still further heightening its resemblance to a leaf. The more surface is oneque green, the under upper surface is opaque green, the under surface glossy, glittering green, just the reverse of the myrtle or guava leaf, so that by reversing its position it brings the glossy side up and the dull side down."

Report From General Miles as to the Possibility of Invading British Columbia In Case of War-The American Coast Cities Practically Defenseless. SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCHA

WASHINGTON, August 12 .- The dispatch from Ottawa detailing measures that have been taken by the Dominion Government to effectually fortify British Columbia is very suggestive, when taken in connection with the statements made confidentially by General Nelson A. Miles to the Senate Committee on Relations with Canada, which has been gathering information upon this subject for the past two years. General Miles stated in his confidential communication to the committee that he has been stationed on the Pacific coast for about ten years, and and during that period the discharge of his duties led him to consider generally the condition of the military and other defenses of the United States on the Pacific coast, and has always led him to acquire some inthe statement in good faith. I had reason to believe that the firemen in the Grand Cen-British Columbia so far as they may be a menace to this coast.

The information which General Miles gave to the committee was gathered for bimself and also, as he stated, "for the higher officers of the Government," and was regarded as confidential, but, of course, he considered himself relieved from any responsibility as to secreey when called by a committee of Congress to state the facts known by him. He stated his belief that the railway system of British Columbia could be occupied by American troops in ten days—in other words that the principal part of British Columbia could be occupied by American troops, not, however, through Victoria, because the British Government has expended millions in buildings drydocks, navy yards and fortifications at that point point.

"But," said General Miles, significantly, "I think it is fair to say that during those ten days the British fleet could destroy every town and city on Puget Sound, de-stroy our railroad system there and occupy our outlets for that Northwestern country. They could also send ships up the Columbia river and destroy the city of Portland and that system." This statement was ex-plained by General Miles by the humiliating admission "that there is not a gun or an earthwork in Puget Sound. There are a few obsolete guns at the mouth of the Colum-bia, at Ft. Canby, but that is not now occupied by troops.
