GLASS MEN UNEASY.

The Senate's Reduction of Tariff on Window Glass May Sweep Away Their Profits.

IMPORTATION LIKELY TO INCREASE

The Interests of the Workingmen, However, are Safe and Their Wages Guaranteed.

WHAT THE CARPENTERS' STRIKE MEANS

A Divorce Sult That Surprises Chicago and Other News From the Windy City.

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH.] CHICAGO, August 16 .- It looks as if somebody in the window-glass business is liable to be squeezed if the House agrees to the Senare's recent reduction of the tariff on window glass by about one-eighth of a cent per pound. The Western manufacturers are not a little uneasy at the outlook, With the duty as it is they have hard work meeting European competition, and, doing their very best, they have been unable to keep the Belgians and Germans, with their cheap labor, cheap money and improved processes from absorbing about one-fourth of the American trade. They talked the matter over at the recent meeting at Pittsburg to adjust the scale of wages, and again at the directors' meeting of the United Glass Company at Syracuse, and they feel not a little gloomy at the prospect. Perhaps the best posted man among them, one of the best at any rate, is the secretary, Mr. O. T. Frazze, who was recently interviewed at length in THE DISPATCH. WHAT THE REDUCTION MEANS.

Speaking of the Senate's action this even-ing Mr. Frazee said that a reduction of oneeighth of a cent per pound was a very great reduction. On every box of 50 feet it meant a decrease in the price of the foreign article at New York of from 6 to 8 cents, and in carload lots the decrease would be from $25 to $50 per car. In the present state of the market, with competition as close as it is, that difference means that a large amount of foreign glass will come in which other-wise would be kept out. And it would keep coming in until importation was stopped by the American manufacturers meeting the competition. The competition of the foreigner and a reduced tariff will be especially hard to meet. The manufacturers west of the Allegheniy Mountains have just agreed to keep in force the scale of wages which was paid last year, with no reduction whatever and with a very slight increase in some minor particulars. That scale applies to the Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois factories, operated by the United Glass Company. Within the next three weeks the scale applying to the New York factories will be settled and there can be NO REDUCTION THERE, because the Eastern workmen belong to the same labor organization as the Pittsburg and Western men, and will not work for less money. Mr. Frazee explained that there is a slight difference between Pitts-burg and New York wages, but it is due to the difference in the cost of fuel to the New York manufacturers and had always been conceded by the labor unions as a fair means of equalizing matters. Hence there could be no reduction in the cost of produc-tion in this country next year by a decrease of wages.

In the matter of materials the manufacturers bad found that they would have to pay not 10 per cent more than last year's prices, as they had supposed, but as much as 20 and 25 per cent more for all chemicals used in the business. From this it seemed to follow that the only means by which the American product can be brought down to a low enough point to meet Belgian competition under the Senate amendment of the tariff bill is either by a reduction in the officers will be held on Thursday, and in control manufacture through a charge in the charge est of manufacture, through a ch of processes or by a surrender of part of the profits now enjoyed by the manufacturers, MANUFACTUBERS' LOSSES. It is hardly possible that there can be any such cheapening of this process of manu-facture in such short order and it follows that whatever cheapening of prices there shall be must be made out of the pockets of the proprietors of the factories. It is well known that present prices are from 15 to 25 per cent above prices of six months ago, when the manufacturers were at the outs with each other, but they insist that even now they are receiving only a very moderate profit on their investment. In the event of the adoption by the House of the Senste's amendment, and the actual reduction of the tariff, Mr. Frazee would not venture to predict what the man-ufacturers would do. He had no doubt that the immediate consequence would be an in-crease in the importation of foreign goods, and he had no doubt that circumstances would force a solution of the problem, but he could not tell in advance what it would He intimated, though, that the manutacturers could stop running if they found that they could not do a profitable business. He did not know what influence had brought about the action of the Senate. The manufacturers had no regular representative at Washington to look after their interests, he said, but some of them had gone to Washington and presented, ail the facts in the case to the Senate Committee before the change in the McKinley bill was made.

Striking Carpenters' Programme.

The programme mapped out by the Chicago carpenters shows that they are not lacking in pluck and determination. The principal difference between the men and the bosses is the payment of an additional 21/2 cents per hour wages, and for this it has been determined to inaugurate a strike on September 1, which will cause 8,000 carpen-ters to carry home their tools, bring hun-dreds of enterprises to a standstill and cause scores of others, which are in contemplation, to be abandoned or postponed. In addition to the striking carpenters a wast number of other workmen will, of course, be compelled to take a vacation until the dispute is set-tled, and all this coming at the opening of the fall trade will certainly do very serious injury to business in general.

The New Newspaper Syndicate.

The one substantial fact back of the sensational story that was published in the Chicago Herald and telegraphed over the country the other day about a $2,000,000 newspaper syndicate having been organized in the interest of the Standard Oil Company and Grover Cleveland's re-election is that the moribund Chicago Globe, which was started by the celebrated Storey staff of the old Chicago Times, has passed into the hands of Mike McDonald, the head of the gamblers' combination and one of the gamblers' combination and one of the great moguls of Democratic city politics, John C. King, a leading light in the same party, and a few others of like political sentiments, and that Harry Wilkinson, formerly a well known Pittsburg newspaper man, is to be its managing editor. Mr. Wilkinson took the rejust his week and is reins this week and is running the paper with the energy, ability and close attention to details that is characteristic of Pittsburg newspaper men wherever you find them. Wilkinson is known to be Melville E. Stone's lieutenant, and his appointment to this position is enough to convince local newspaper men that, however vehement his denials, Stone has something to do with the enterprise. Mr. Wilkinson says it is a fact that a syndicate has been organized, but beyond that maintains a clam-like silence.

Important to Iron Men. The organization of a Mining and Metal Exchange in this city this week may prove to be of importance to Pittsburg manufacturers of pig iron and other products, as well as to buyers of iron ore. Numerous attempts have been made to establish an Exchange for the sale of mining stocks in Chi-cago, but up to this time none has been suc-cessful. If the iron and iron ore interests can be included in this, it may be more sucessful than its predeces

Mrs. Carter's New Role. Chicago people are wondering what sort of a figure poor Leslie Carter's handsome wife will cut in her new society play, "The the famous divorce suit against her husband, Mrs. Carter was a drawing card in the court room. The eyes of the crowd, which fought for the few seats at the disposal of the bailiffs and crowded the corridors, never left bailiffs and crowded the corridors, never left her as she sat there in faultless attire, chatted merrily with her lawyers, wrinkled her face into dimples, and threw bewitching glances toward the jury, which, by the way, gave the divorce to her husband and not to her. But, in spite of his wealth and family, in spite of his victory before the jury and his more recent victory in the Appellate Court, young Mr. Carter has never fully recovered his old place in public estimation. The ugly charges made by his wife have left their mark which even favorable verdicts capped wine out. dicts cannot wipe out.

A Sensational Divorce Sait. A proceeding for separate maintenance which Mrs. Lizzie Merrill, a Connecticut woman, began the other day under the act which releases poor persons from payment of court fees, against her husband, Dr. Frederick B. Merrill, a prosperous young dentist, fell like a bomb in the midst of the household of one of Chicago's millionaires It was only in February last that Dr. Merrill, who was then supposed to be a single man, married the young and handsome daughter of Joseph Lister, a large glue manufacturer. The marriage was an event in the social circles in which both the parties moved, and bride and groom received the warmest congratulations of many friends. The honeymoon was rudely interrupted by a suit for breach of promise brought against Dr. Merrill, by a young lady who had been an attendant in his Monroe street office, and this was quickly followed by another suit to recover damages for slander when the dentist in explanation said some unpleasant things about the young lady to a reporter for a Chicago paper. The complainant in this latest suit claims that she was married to the doctor ten years ago, and that he lived with her until 1888, when he came West to

A serious cutting affray took place early Sunday morning at S. F. Givens' circus which has been running at Lawrenceville Ugly Duckling." During the progress of on Penn avenue, near Thirty-second street, for the past week. About 1 o'clock Sunday morning William McKenns, of Philadelphia, who travels with the circus as the glass eater, while sleeping in a wagon, was awakened by John Nolan, who ordered McKenna to get out of the wagon and let him in, which the latter refused to do. A quarrel ensued, and the men came to blows. Nolan was being worsted in the fight, when he drew a penknife and plunged it into McKenna's side, inflicting a serious wound.

McKenns continued the fight, notwithtanding he was badly used up, and fought

Nolan made several thrusts at him with the weapon, which he parried. McKenna finally fell to the ground exhausted, Nolan striking him in the face while he was falling, making another big slash on his face. Nolan administered several severe kicks to his fallen antagonist, which may prove fatal, if the knife wound does not.

Several men who were passing by were attracted to the spot by the injured man's groans and they found him lying in a pool of blood. McKenna became unconscious when the men eudeavored to lift him up, and re-mained in that condition for nearly an hour. The patrol wagon was summoned and he was taken to the West Penn Hospital, where Dr. Pettit succeeded in restoring him to consciousness. His wounds were dressed and he rested easily throughout the morn-ing. The physician considered him out of danger last night, and thinks he will re
