YESTERDAY'S ATTENDANCE.

A rainy day in the midst of the baseball season is always productive of much speculative talk among the professionals and patrons of the game. The argument on the diamond cannot be seen, but indoors games are not only lost and won by talk, but the entire system of baseball playing is invari-ably revolutionized. Yesterday in Pitts burg was no exception. Watery clouds settled all playing at Exposition Park and there was nothing left for the cranks to do but conjecture about the future.

Amid the rain falling and the thunder's roar, Mr. Palmer O'Neil, of the local N. L. club, talked considerably, and so did Manager Hanlon and Secretary Tener, of the local P. L. team. But the most important statement of all those that were made regarding baseball affairs was one relative to a conversation that took place between Mr. O'Neil and Mr. Kerr. The latter as DISPATCH readers know, is the ex-treasurer of the Pinyers' League team in Pittsburg. Their talk referred to was entirely concern

A CONSOLIDATED TEAM; that is, a team made up of the best 14 or 15 players of the two teams at present professionally identified with Pittsburg. The opinions expressed by the two gentleman are vouched for by Mr. O'Neil. The latter and Mr. Kerr accidentally met at Pratt's store, and at once they began to disa compromise would be the best thing possible for baseball. After talking the general princi-ple over here is their expressed notion of a consolidated club for next year.

A new baseball company should be formed, and the capital stock must be $100,000. Of that amount the National League club should have $50,000 worth and the Players' League $20,000. In other words, each party to have what they are now rated or estimated at. The remaining $30,000 worth of shares is to be sold and the money to be devoted toward paying debts. The National League is to have the President.

Both gentlemen agreed to this plan, and then the make-up of the team was agreed to.
Messra O'Neil and Kerr made up a consolidated team, as follows: Beckley, first base; LaRoque, second; Corcoran, short; Roat, third; Hanlon, Sunday and probably Maul or Miller in the outfield; Carroll, Quinn, Miller and Fields as catchers, and Galvin, Baker, Hocker and Tener as pitchers. It was further suggested that Mr. Tener be Secretary and Treasurer. VERY SIGNIFICANT.

The above is only significant because it shows clearly that prominent stockholders of each team have a desire to consolidate, and if flows, the above opinions show that a compromise or consolidation is very likely. It is a fact that both Messrs. O'Neil and Kerr favor the otion, because they state that each club is losing money. A consolidation such as spoken of means that the proposed new team play at Exposition Park. The notion may to some seem unlikely of being carried into practice, but there is some sound business sense in it. It is a fact that every deliberative man connected in any way with either team favors a compromise. The public does also. Mr. Nimick, talking about the matter, said: "It is foolish to carry on this war. It will not only roin us all, but it will kill the game. We could make a good team out of the two teams ouly ruin us all, but it will kill the game. We could make a good team out of the two teams we have in the city, and something will have to be done. However, we are determined to have a National League team here next year, and let nobody be fooled on this point."

Mossia Tener and Hanion are certain that the Players League team will be bere next year, because they claim it is the representative club of Pittaburg. They further declare that there will be no National League club, and that is just how matters stand. It is, however, authorizative club tated that the officials of each team are talking scriously about a system of compromise in rittsburg.

MASTER WORKMAN KERFOOT SAYS.

An Unfaithful Wife Found Guilty of Murdering Her Husband.

THE MIRROR OF TRI-STATE EVENTS

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. SCOTTDALE, August 19 .- Master Workman Kerfoot, of the Knights of Labor, made a remarkable statement this evening bearing on the cokers' demands for next year, and it is assumed that should they make the demands, as he states, serious trouble may be expected, since the operators have on previous occasions refused to even consider them. He said:

The present agreement will expire on February 9, and we will formulate no agreement ruary 2, and we will formulate no agreement with the employers which will in any way conflict with the eight-hour movement, which we will inaugurate on May 1. We fully intend to demand eight hours for all classes of work; in fact, this has been definitely decided by a meeting of the Executive Board of our order. The movement for shorter hours will not be confined to the cokers alone, but will be a general one among the miners throughout the country. The carpenters were selected to lead the movement, which they did last May. Their success has greatly encouraged the miners, who will follow by demanding eight hours next May. I venture the assertion that every mining plant where there exists an assembly of United Mine Workers will strike, provided that the eight-hour day is not conceded.

It is supposed that this will have considerable bearing on the next fall elections.

MURDEROUS METHODS OF A WOMAN.

[SPECIAL TRIEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] PARKERSBURG, August 19.—The trial of Mrs Mary Jane Morgan, for the murder of her husband, Jacob Morgan, ended to-day, at Mid-dlebourne, after six days, in a verdict of murder in the first degree. The village of Middle-bourne has been filled to overflowing ever since the trial began. Jacob Morgan was a first cousin of the noted Confederate raider, John Morgan,

but, unlike his relative, was a strong Union

but, unlike his relative, was a strong Union man. He was one of the most popular citizens of Tyler county, and his murder caused a terrible sensation. The testimony introduced by the State, although circumstantial, was conclusive, and proved that his wife shot him through the body, cut his throat, stabbed him in the side and poisoned him to get his money and get rid of him.

It is believed Morgan had learned of immoral practices on the part of his wige and that this was additional incentive to his murder. The woman, through the terrible ordeal, preserved a stolidly careless demeanor. Both sides were represented by strong legal talent and every advantage taken by the detense, but when the testimony was all in it was ovident the verdict of guilty would be found in a very few minutes. The verdict was received by the crowds of people which filled the courtroom with noisy demonstrations of satisfaction. The securing of the evidence to convict was mainly due to the indefatigable efforts of Gale, the young detective who has been working on the case for over a year.

on the Sandy Quail farm. It was one of the largest and finest barns in the county and was stocked with grain, which, together with a spring wagon, buggy and several sets of harness, were destroyed. The loss was $4,000, on which there was an insurance of $2,500.

Mr. Carothers is one of the most extensive breeders of fine stock in this county and about this time of the year he usually bouses them in the barn while putting them in shape for his exhibit at the fall fair. Last year he took a tour over four States and raked in many premiums. He thinks that the incendiary supposed that the cattle were in the basement of the barn, but fortunately they were not there.

The many barn fires have aroused the farmers and an organized movement is talked of to run down the incendiaries and bring them to justice.

Five Thousand Earnest People Attend the lnauguration of the

FARMERS' ALLIANCE ENCAMPMENT

Our Agriculturists Taking a Prominent Part in Politics.

MAGNIFICENT DISPLAY OF MACHINERY PERCIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. Mr. GRETNA, August 19 .- Rain fell a intervals last night and the atmospherical outlook was decidedly discouraging this morning. The unfavorable weather damp-ened the arder of many who had intended to visit the Farmers' Encampment and prevented their attendance, but notwithstanding about 5,000 people appeared on the grounds. These people came mostly from Lebanon county, and fifteen packed carloads from Myerstown, nearly 20 miles distant. Mt. Gretna is so expansive and so full of pleasant promenades and such a large number sought the many shady streets in the park that the crowd did not make the impression, as viewed from the railroad, that is created at Williams' Grove, where there is of necessity a concentration of the people.

Contrivances for the amusement of the visitors have been liberally provided, such as flying horses, swings and seesaws, but every-thing that smacks of the fakir has been rigidly excluded. Some of these fellows became so persistent in their requests for pernission to ply their vocations that it was found necessary to politely ask them to leave the ground.

BEAVER STILL ABSENT. The encampment was opened by President McSparren, in the absence of Governor Beaver, who telegraphed that it would be impossible for him to be present to-day. Another telegram from Commissioner Rusk stated that a Cabinet meeting would preclude his favorable consideration of the invitation extended to him to entertain the farmers.

McSparren congratulated his listeners on the assured success of the encampment and expressed regret that the Governor was not present to give the movement encourage-ment. The purpose of the Farmers' Alli-suce, he said, was the intellectual development of the agriculturist, and the encamp-ment was intended to inquire into the labor-saving machinery on exhibition. The better education of farmers, who comprise half the population of the country, was highly necessary, and the appreciation of this fact originated the Farmers' Alliance. Agriculture was passing through a great crisis, and its better protection was necessary to prevent it from going entirely to ruin. It could once stand by itself, requiring no as-sistance, but now it was suffering from great

N. A. Dunning, of Washington, stated that he had visited many fairs in the States and that he had never seen such a magnifi-cent exhibition of machinery. These encampments must soon assume a national importance. The American farmer was the finished product of American civilization. The National Farmers' Alliance was a living protest against the unhappy condition

Ing protest against the unhappy conditions which surround agriculture.

A full history of the alliance followed, showing that it originated in Texas in the war against cattle thieves, and that it had obtained a foothold in 29 States and that its membership reached 3,000,000. In every State except New England, alliances had either heap organized areas. either been organized or were in process of organization. The alliance was not par-tisan, but its members should not vote for candidates who were in conflict with its of the House and two Senators belonging to the organization. It would also elect four or five Governors. New legislation was needed.

TIME FOR A CHANGE.

For 25 years the politicians had made laws in their interest. It was high time for a policy for the people. The politicians should be desposed and the people in-stalled. After showing the great deprecia-tion in farm values during the past 20 years, he depounded Congress for footing and the he denounced Congress for fooling over the these subjects and give the people cheap money. He denounced the silver bill, and warmly commended the warehouse sub-Treasury scheme introduced in Congress-by Senator Vance. The feasibility of continuing the encamp The leasibility of continuing the encampment for two weeks is being agitated owing to the fine exhibition. One hundred and fitty cars of machinery have been unloaded here, and more are said to be on the way. Dr. Correll, who has exhibited his company's agricultural implements at Williams' Grove for years, says the exhibits at Mt. Gretina are 100 per cent greater than at the latter place in any year. the latter place in any year.

PATTISON AND THE FARMERS.

Among the visitors here to-day was Mr. Cutshall, of Meadville, who has been doing a little quiet campaigning for Delamater in different portions of the State, and his presence here was partially due to a desire to find out how the Crawford Senator stood with the alliance people. One gentleman, who is not a farmer, but a prominent man, with strong Republican proclivities, staggered Delamater's friend by stating that he would vote for Pattison, and so would all

During the day seven exhibitors were dis-cussing the Gubernatorial situation on one of the platforms, and although five were Republicans, six of the party declared their purpose to support Pattison. The sentiment in favor of the ex-Governor is strong among the alliance people here. Among the peo-ple who have visited the encampment and have lauded Pattison is Colonel James Young, of Dauphin county, who owns six Young, or Daupnin county, who owns six or seven of the finest farms in the State. Colonel Young does not say he will yote for Pattison, but says the latter is very strong with the farmers and will poil a surprising vote among the Republicans.

FARMERS IN THE LEAD.

Big Convention of the Tillers of the Soil in the Lone Star State. DALLAS, August 19 .- The Farmers' Alliance, of Texas, is in session to-day in the Alliance building. It is a most important session. Officers are to be elected and many important topics now agitating the agricultural world will be discussed. Nearly 400 delegates are in attendance and the session will last for six days. It is understood that there is a strong element in the convention which favors the sub-treasury bill; also a powerful contingent really anxious to let the matter drop. Although a non-partisan organization, the Farmers' Alliance has developed a won-derful attitude for entering politics and placing the farmers in the lead this year.

Smothy Brothers, Arrested on a Charge of Keeping a Disorderly House, Released-Alleged Counterfelters Captured by Dotectives-Old Man Found Insune.

Timothy Brothers was discharged from the workhouse yesterday by Judge Magee on a writ of habeas corpus. Brothers had been committed to the workhouse for 60 days by Magistrate McKenna on a charge of keeping a disorderly house. The application for his release was made on the grounds that the record did not show sufficient for his commitment under the ordinance, and that the ordinance or act of Assembly was not set forth. Judge Magee. in his opinion, said that the facts set forth were not sufficient to sustain the charge of keeping a disorderly house. To sustain the commitment the evidence must establish the eping of a house of the class defined as Another defect was that the sentence was to the workhouse, when the ordinance designates the county jail as the place of imprisonment. In conclusion he ordered the release of the prisoner.

Rain Stops the Play at the Big Tourns ment's Opening. ALTOONA, August 19.-The first of the tennis tournament of the Altoona Cricket Club began this afternoon. A large number of well-known players are in attendance. The start to-day was suddenly stopped by a heavy rain, which began pouring down shortly after 1 o'clock, and prevented playing until 3 o'clock, when a few matches were started. In a short time another rain started and resulted in driving the players indoors and no game.

The clubhouse is beautifully decorated and the Altoona Band was engaged for the occasion, and enlivened the great crowd with ex-cellent music. There are 14 entries in the gencellent music. There are 14 entries in the gentlemen's doubles and 28 entries in gentlemen's singles, composed as follows: Messrs. Pigoot and Biddle, of Lansdown, Pa.; Tete and Pile, Seacne. HOAR PUTS IN A WORD

Which May Result in an Interminable Session of Congress.

DEMOCRATS ARE READY TO FIGHT

The Force Bill by Every Possible Parliamentary Method.

REPUBLICAN SENATORS KEEP QUIET.

IVROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, August 19 .- It came be an understanding between Senstors Hoar and Quay last evening, that the Quay reso lution should go over from to-day until tomorrow to give the Massachusetts statesman the chance to elaborate his speech upon the proposition, and so, when the resolution was laid before the Senate by President pro tem. Ingalls, it went over with a little exchange of the nicest sort of politenes between Messrs. Hoar and Quay. Later in the day Mr. Hoar presented the surprise in the form of the notice of two amendments, more drastic as to one of them than anything that had been expected. In the one he provides for the calling of the previous question or any pending measure after a "reasonable time" has been pent in discussion, leaving to the judgment of the majority, of course, the decision as to what is a "reasonable time." In the other proposed amendment Mr. Hoar gives almost no time for the consideration of the elections bill, but calls it up after the tariff bill is disposed of and begins voting upon it instanter at a no later date than September 4. PROVOKING A FIGHT. According to the Quay resolution debate is to end on the tariff bill August 30. After that time votes will be taken on paragraphs yet unconsidered without chance of discussion, but amendments may be offered, as this cannot be prevented, and the Democrats may consume several days forcing aye and nay votes on dilatory amendments. The chances are it would be impossible to reach a final vote on the tartif bill for several days a final vote on the tariff bill for several days after the close of debate, and thus Mr. Hoar's amendment, if adopted, would be inoperative as to the date of taking the vote. But the important feature of the proposed amendments is that they render nugatory the very thing aimed at in the Quay resolution, because they provoke the Democrats to a bitter and perhaps interminable fight. There is as yet no rule by which debate on the Quay resolution, with the bate on the Quay resolution, with these amendments, can be brought to a close. A new resolution would seem to be in order, forcing a time when discussion on these ropositions shall end.

THE TARIFF BILL MAY SUFFER. The Democrats declare they will fight the amendments as long as they are allowed to utter a word, and they vow they will not be shut off. They would have accepted the Quay resolution and have gladly ended debate on the tariff bill with the end of Aug-ust, but the amendments have made them gird on their armor afresh and they swear that the tariff bill and elections bill shall go down with all other legislation if consummate cunning and unflagging ag-gression and belligerence can accomplish that end, rather than that the elections bill shall pass. How the Republicans who support the Quay resolution will treat the Hoar amend-ment is another consideration that adds ment is another consideration that adds interest to the situation. Will they vote with the Democrats against the amendments and adopt the Quay resolution free of these riders? It is whispered they will, and it is whispered that they have already agreed to the amendments, but that, I am personally assured, is not the fact as regards all the supporters of that resolution, but as to the precise course that will be pursued they are dumb as clams, and all reports as to what they will do are merely guess work. The ball will open to-morrow, and no matter in what way the majority attempt to sh natters lively times may be expected. LIGHTNER.

DRINK IN THE MORNING.

If a Man Never Waits Until He is Thirsty

He'll Stand Heat Better. Comfort in summer depends almost a much on the food and drink that are taken into the system as on the clothing, says the New York Sun. A mistake many men make is not to drink until they are thirsty and not to drink anything at all cool until they are hot. A man may get up in the morning and feel fairly comfortable; he will eat his breakfast and drink but little When he gets to his work it will be warme and he will be warmer; he will then drink beer, soda water, lemonade or ice water. In a little while he will be thirstier and he will drink some more of the same. From this time on, as the thermometer rises, he will become hotter and thirstier.

It is not that he has not taken enough

It is not that he has not taken enough fluid to quench any amount of thirst, but that the fluid was not taken until he was thirsty and therefore does not quench his thirst at once. Eating satisfies hunger almost at once, but the food is not taken into the system for several hours, until the digestion and the assimilation are completed. It is so with thirst even more than with hunger. Thirst is a local feeling, but it means that there is not enough water in the system. Pouring water down the throat puts water into the stomach, but not into the system for some time afterward, particularly if the water is cold. Coffee and tea quench thirst more rapidly when they are hot than when they are cold, because they are assimilated more quickly.

The best time to drink is in the morning.
The stomach is empty and the fluids will be carried through the system and into the blood more speedily. A pint of moderately cool water then will do more to relieve thirst during the day then cool water then will do more to relieve thirst during the day than ten glasses of beer or sods water in the afternoon. A man is somewhat like a locomotive; if the water is not judiciously administered to the boiler there is an explosion. The time to lay in the supply of fluids is before the man starts for the day. If he wants to drink any more he may drink it slowly, and should not have it so cold that it will inflame the throat and the stomach and make them warmer. A cold bath makes the skin glow with warmth. So a cold bath of ice water in its reaction warms the throat and stomach.
