BERLIN, August 30 .- The progress of the negotiations for the entrance of Russia into the European entente is indicated by the arrangements of the autumn meetings of the sovereigns. Emperor William's conference with the Emperor of Austria is fixed for September 14, during the maneuvers in Silesia. The Czar will arrive at Fredensborg on September 20. He will stay there until the end of the month and will come to Berlin October 2. Emperor William and the King of Saxony will be received by the Emperor of Austria at Vienna, and they will go on a shooting expedition to the Syrian Alps.

The projected interview between Emperor William, the Czar and Emperor Francis Joseph, depends largely upon the Austrian Government's acceptance of the terms on which Emperor William will propose a revision of the Berlin treaty. The opinion of the foreign officials here continues hopeful of a definite solution of the Balkan troubles before the end of the year. It is probable that a congress of the powers will be held early in TEVING TO CALM FRENCH FEARS. The Czar has sent the Grand Duke Michael, President of the Russian Council, on a special mission to Paris, to reassure the French Government. The Moscow Gazette seeks to calm the fears expressed by the French press in regard to the desertion of France by Russia by declaring that the Czar's persistent aim is to maintain the balance of power, recognizing the fact that Russia and France have common interests and united responsibility. France ought, therefore, concludes the Gazette, to remain absolutely tranquil.

report that Chancellor von Caprivi obtained a promise from M. de Giers to abate the frontier tariff was baseless. The question was not mooted at the conference. A Ukase issued to-day at St. Petersburg raises the customs duties generally 20 per cent. The fact that coffee, cocoa, tea, sugar and coal imported through the western frontier and Baltic ports are exempted from the rise gives a semblance of confirmation to the report, but practically the Ukase does not alter the restrictions of the trade with Germany. The object of the Ukase is de-clared to be to make duties levied in gold correspond with the altered rate of exchange. cedes a general revision of the tariff.

GUARDING AGAINST RIOTS. Prominent among the measures agreed upon by M. de Giers and Chancellor von Caprivi will be found one looking to inter-national repression of the Anarchists and Nuhilists, the Czar desiring European concert on this matter. The riotous meeting of the Reglin Socialists at Wriedrichston has given the Government a pretext for ordering special military precautions against greater disorders. The guards corps forming the usual garrison here is going to the maneuvers, leaving only a small detachment in charge of the depots. An infantry brigade of the Brandenburg corps will replace the guards. The tumult at Friedrichsham arose an abusive attack made by Herr Wittee upon Herr Bebel. An immense majority of those present at the meeting voted confidence in the party's deputies in the Reichstag. In the row subsequent to the meeting the mob assailed the police with stones. The police charged the crowd with drawn sabres. The socialist press complains bitterly of the disgrace to the party arising om the obstructive rowdyism of the new RESTORATION OF JESUITS. The Catholic Congress at Coblentz is hold-ing a three days' session. Six thousand persons are in attendance. The congress demands the re-establishment in Germany of all the Catholic orders, including the Jesuits and the restoration of the Pope's temporal power. It also asks for a Government subvention for Catholic missions in German Africa. Thanks were voted to Emperor William for his attempts to estabsocial peace. The next Congress will be held at Batisbobonn.

A farewell dinner was given last night to the New York riffemen who are visiting Germany. The banquet was held in the Senators' room of the Bremen rathskeller. President Hanschild, of the Bremen Rifle association, toasted the guests. Mr. Sieburg, in reply, dilated upon their pleasant sojourn in Germany and the comrade-like cordiality displayed by the Bremen rifles. He said he was especially grateful for the honorary membership in the Bremen corps conferre upon him.

ENTERTAINING THE AMERICANS. At 7 o'clock in the morning a band played before the Central Hotel while the New Yorkers ate their breakfast on the terrace. At 8:30 the Americans proceeded, in tull uniform, carrying banners, to the railway station, where parting orations were delivered. A large crowd was present. The New Yorkers took a special car to Bremer-haven, where a reception was given them by four rifle associations. The band four rifle associations. The band of the marine artillery played the American anthem. After the presidents of the rifle clubs had delivered farewell speeches the Americans marched to the quay and, boarding a special tender, proceeded to the Fulds, which was lying in the roadstead Captain Sisburg addressed the Weser Rifle-men from the deck of the Fulds, and there

First Prize Won by the American Hog at the Exposition-Removing the Pretext for Edmunds' Meat Inspection Bill-Too Paris, August 30 .- The Journal Des pork seems unreasonable in view of its having last year received the highest prize at the Exposition. Under these circumstances we think, Under these circumstances we think, in fact, we know, that the French government will be disposed to remove the pretext for the meat inspection bill introduced by Senator Edmunds, especially as the sanitary examination which the Americans propose offers every guarantee to French consumers. It is improbable, however, that the French government will withdraw the prohibition before the reassembling of the Chambera."

The Temps says that Mr. Reid's letter may be considered as in some sort an expose of the motives that led to the recent motions that led to retaliation. Le Paris says: "If the measures of retaliation should be rigorously enforced it would out off the sale of 400,000,000 francs' worth of French products annually. For such an interest it is well worth while to sacrifice something. The public health will not be damaged by admitting a few tons of American pork."

public health will not be damaged by admitting a few tons of American pork."

The Figure thinks France was wrong both in theory and in practice in prohibiting the importation of American pork, but it holds that it is now impossible to move backward, and especially is it impossible to take the attitude of yielding before the economic threats of the Americans. "What economic threats of the Americans. "What is needed," says the Figaro, "is simply the courage to wait and see what results are going to befall France. We cannot prevent any person from closing his doors to Ribot as proving that the Government is convinced that it must abandon the idea of prohibiting it. This conclusion, it says, was reached after the Government had heard from M. Boustan, the French Minister at Washington, that if France persisted in prohibiting the importa-tion of American pork, it would have to submit to a heavy advance in the duties on its products, particularly silk, wines and works of art.

La Lanterne asks what the French wing growers now think of the situation to which their legislation has led. Some Changes to be Made in the Irlah Organization in This Country

IBY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY.1 DUBLIN, August 30 .- The plans of the Irish-American convention to be held in America are now completed. Mesers. Dillon and O'Brien will be accompanied by two other Irish members and the whole party will be under strict instructions from headquarters. The method of warfare adopted by the special commission, and the evidence given concerning the movements of the Irish delegates and their associates in America, have rendered this step necessary.

This organization, which formerly wel-comed Irish members with open arms, will now be ignored, and the delegates must be content to be the guests of the various branches of the national league. Important changes are to be made in the method of transmitting subscriptions to the central association. It has been customary to send and thence to Dublin. In future the cen-tral office will be abolished and each branch will forward its subscriptions direct to Rebellione Subjects in Samon Are Threateped by an American.

APIA, SAMOA, August 30-Per steamer Alameda to San Francisco.—Action has been taken recently by Consular representa-tives of America, Great Britain and Germany to quell the disquietude growing out of the apparent efforts of the former King, Mataafa, to regain his lost power. The Consuls issued a proclamation warning discontented natives against forming any intrigues to place Matsafa in power, and declaring that Malietoa had been recognized as the King of Samoa by the three Powers, and that any Samoan villages that should rebel against him would be severely punished. This proclamation, signed by the three Consuls, was printed in the Samoan language and distributed throughout the

pelled Last Night. THE PRESIDENT HAS NOT ARRIVED IET.

Fears That Were Entertained Before Dis-devements of the Distinguished Visitors and Others at the Mountain Resort.

Mrs. Harrison and family spent a quiet day at Cresson Springs. Some fears were entertained that society would not welcome the Presidental party, but these fears were set at rest. The President has not yet arrived at the mountain resort.

IPROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT, 1 CRESSON SPRINGS, August 30 .- The at nosphere of nature is chillier here to-night than it was last night, but the social atmosphere has warmed somewhat. The fears expressed in various quarters that the exclusive Pittsburger would resent the coming of the President and his family into their pleasant and restful resort were apparently groundless. The ladies of the party will be velcomed into the social swim at Cresson and the prospects for a pleasant sojourn are correspondingly better. It must be admitted that the situation had a dreary look all day but the events of the evening have brought a change.

This evening Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Mo-Kee, Mrs. Russell B. Harrison, Mrs. Halford and Miss Halford betook themselves after supper to the parlor in the company of Mr. McKee, to enjoy the music and watch the dancing of the little ones. In some mysterious way Mr. McKee became entangled in conversation with Mr.

Harry Darlington, and soon thereafter
Mr. Darlington was moving across the floor with Mr. McKee. He was duly introduced to the ladies of the Harrison party, and, after conversing with them for some time, he recrossed the parlor and returned leading Mrs. Darlington. As they all sat together chatting pleasantly the old residenter out on the porch beamed on the picture through the window and remarked in a self-satisfied tone: "Now it's all right. That is as it should be—and it should have been that way all day." He no longer feared the Harrison party was to be excluded from the best social circles at Cresson.

THERE WAS SOME DOUBT. Grave fears were entertained and ex-pressed on this score during the day. The impression had gotten abroad that the Pitts-burg cottagers did not like the invasion of their precincts by the President and his impression had gotten abroad that the Pittsburg cottagers did not like the invasion of their precincts by the President and his family. Not that they had objections to the nation's Chief Magistrate or the first lady in the land, but because their presence was likely to attract a rush of two-day celebrity hunters. Even worse than that crowds of one-day people may swoop down, or rather up on Cresson after the President arrives and disturb the pleasant monotony of life in and about the big hetel with noisy curiosity, blocking up the passageways and interfering with porch promenades. Even the grand parlor is not safe from the invasion of the unassorted throng, and the pleasant music and pretty dancing of the little ones may give way to hand-shaking receptions to the discomfort alike of the Presidental tamily and the "exclusive Pittsburgers." But the danger of the President and his family being excluded from the best society of the place on this score has been averted, and the wealthy Pittsburgers will take the inconveniences of democratic customs and crowds with as good grace as they can.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY. The morning was quite cool, the thermometer registering 55° at 6 o'clock. But by the time life was fully apparent about the Mountain House, a bright, about the Mountain House, a bright, genial sun gave promise of a pleasant day. It was an ideal day for pedestrian exercise, and everybody inclined that way in the least took advantage of the bracing air and dry roads to do a little walking. For any other purpose, except the game of baseball and possibly lawn tennis, it was a little too ool. Driving was indulged in, however, by a good many, and many others spent the ounging.

Mrs. Harrison and her party came into the hotel to breakfast at 9:30, and they did cellent menu until 2:20. When they cam-out this time they passed through the spacious hall, lingered a little on the steps and then walked down the boardwalk to the railroad depot. Someone whispered that

THE PRESIDENT WAS COMING and they had gone to meet him, and quite a number followed the party to the station. But the President did not come and But the President did not come and was not likely to come on that train, the way passenger. Instead Mrs. Harrison's father, Dr. J. W. Scott, went away. It was vaguely understood that he intended stopping at Johnstown, and after looking over the resurrected city to go on to Pittsburg.

After this a short excursion was taken along the mountain ten. The party was the road at 12:30 to-morrow night. The new corporation is to be known as the Chicago and Eric Rallroad Company.

Stillwater Gets It.

St. Paul, August 30.—The Democrats of the Fourth Congressional District, at Stillwater to-day, on the first ballot nominated J. N. Castle, of Stillwater.

After this a short excursion was taken along the mountain top. The party returned early, and spent the remainder of the time before supper closely housed in the cottage. Baby McKee the most popular member of the party enjoyed his outing hugely, and when he came in returned to his house and play with great zest. His three little rooms comprise a kitchen, parlor and bedroom. In the kitchen is a "real" stove, water spigots and other utensils, and he water spigots and other utensils, and he attends to culinary operations with these with a great deal of earnestness. He is "keeping house" as demurely as any grown person at times, but the water spigots lead him into temptation and he "slops around," gets his sleeves wet and bedraggles his clothes just like any other 3-year-old urchin.

GOSSIP OF THE DAY. A carriage and horses have been put at the disposal of the first lady of the land.

Mr. George W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who came here in charge of the Harrison party, is still, with his beautiful wife, staying as guests.

The great ambition of the young ladies about the hotel is to "have a talk with Baby McKee." Of course, he is voted pretty and oute, a darling and a dear by nearly everyone. A critical estimate was made by one young beauty, however, to the effect that "he is bright and lively, but not very pretty, I don't think." The ungrammatical sentence may be excused in view of the excitament of an interview with the hero of the hour.

The plainness of Mrs. Harrison's attire is commented on by everybody. Her dress is plain to the point of severity. The other ladies in the party also dress very plainly. A game of haseball between the Ebensburg Club and a nine composed of young men staying at the hotel drew a good crowd this afternoon. The playing was fair amateur work. teur work. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. CINCINNATI, August 30.—Two years ago one of the best known of a certain class, was Mrs. Emma Goestle, a brunette of petite figure and very pretty features. She had married a local politician considerably older than herself. Before his death a few years ago there had been well-grounded suspic that she was unfaithful to him, her name being connected with that of a comedian of nore than national reputation. Her friends in Cincinnati were numbered by the score, and included prominent business men. She was a vivacious conversationalist, and her beauty was a smare that proved very effective. Before marriage she had been in the millinery business. When her husband died it was found that he had left the widow and her pretty little daughter unprovided for. A CHARGE OF BLACKMAIL.

Soon it was said the widow had added blackmail to her other arts. One night a wealthy jurist of national fame, now dead, fell into her trap at a roadside resort, and he escaped scandal only by paying heavy tribute to the woman and her companions. Fortune had descried her, however, and early one morning a year age a party of constables took away all her furniture.

About that time the Rev. M. C. Lockwood, of the First Baptist Church, was holding a revival, and the woman became a holding a revival, and the woman became a constant attendant at the services. One evening very dramatically she professed religion. The pastor had taken great interest in her confession, and welcomed her to the church. Many of the members objected, but the preacher championed the woman's cause. She was admitted to the fold.

This divided the congregation into two factions. Mrs. Goettle became a regular attendant at prayer meeting and other gatherings. One faction encouraged her, while the other was bitter in opposition. Meanwhile Mrs. Goettle had secured sufficient backing from her religious friends to start a big millinery establishment. To her credit, be it said, her conduct since reformation has been most exemplary. WENT INTO POLITICS.

Recently the Rev. Lockwood, who has figured prominently in politics as well as religion, accepted the nomination for Secre-tary of State tendered by the Ohio Probibitionists. This was seized upon by his op-ponents to stir up dissatisfaction, and it also carried dissension among his supporters. There is another Baptist minister in the city, Rev. Johnson Meyers, who is a rival of Lockwood.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., August 30.—
A most affecting scene was witnessed at a funeral here to-day. Mrs. Charles Heminger's little 4-year-old girl was acaded to death by falling into a tab of hot water. The mother raged with grief over the loss and refused to be comforted.

On the way to the cemetery the distracted mother compelled the undertaker to stop the funeral procession and take the little coffined remains from the hearse and place it in the carriage with her, and she sadly carried the remains of the little girl to the cemetery herself. It was one of the most affecting scenes ever witnessed at a funeral. at 50c pair. EVERYBODY can vote on Popular topics during the Exposition season. See announcement on Fourth

Willard and myself had a conference in which we decided to amalgamate the Salvation Army and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and that we are becoming one body. Allow me emphatically to deny this. It has sprung from a very natural occurrence. Miss Willard, for whose Christian character and public work we have the greatest ester and public work we have the greatest es-teem, spoke in one of our recent meetings in Chicago for the purpose of testifying her appreciation and admiration of the Salva-tion Army's work. In the course of her address she explained that the two move-ments were on the friendliest terms, and invited me to speak of Salvation Army work at the forthcoming meeting.

A Horse Thrown in Crossing the Track of an Electric Road, and SHOCKS FROM RAILS.

A SERIOUS RUNAWAY THE RESULT.

Children Play With Electricity With Alarming Abandon.

STRONG TALK OF SUITS FOR DAMAGES.

Soveral Instances Where Horses Have Been Severely

The horse of John Strump was yesterday shocked and thrown to the ground while crossing the track of the Thirteenth street electric road, on the Southside. The animal afterward ran away and caused considerable damage. Citizens are afraid the overcharged tracks may kill some one.

A big howl is going up on the Southside against the condition of the track of the Thirteenth street electric road. It is said that the rails are so heavily charged with electricity that the track is dangerous, and that someone may be killed. There have been frequent instances of the electricity in the rails doing mischief, and complaints have often been made. Yesterday the excitement was brought to a climax by a horse being thrown to the ground by a shock and causing a serious runaway. One man was badly injured and the buggy smashed to splinters. The result promises to be a suit against the company for damages. John Strump, a resident of the Southside. is the last one to have a practical demonstration of the amount of electricity in the rails. About neon yesterday he attempted to drive his horse across the track at the junction of Birmingham avenue and Pius street. The road is very steep at this point, and the position of the track makes it a bad place to drive over. As the horse was crossing the track it struck one of its boofs against a rail and fell down, with a convulsive shiver. It had received a powerful shock. SHOCKED A SECOND TIME.

The horse, after some struggling, regained its feet, but, in doing so, it again struck its foot against the rail, and the shock threw it once more to the ground. By this time the animal had become so frightened that when it again rose to its feet and received a slight shock, it gave a lurch which tipped the buggy over, throwing Mr. Strump out.
The horse ,did not stop running until caught at South Eleventh street. The bug-injured. Later Mr. Strump visited Alderman Beinhauer's office, and consulted with the alderman in relation to bringing action against the company for damages.

Alderman Beinhauer says that he had an experience last Sunday with the track at the same point, which came near resulting more disastrously than Mr. Strump's runaway. He was attending a funeral at the time. As the borses attached to the hearse crossed the track, one of them stepped on a rail and received a very severe shock. The horses are naturally very docile, but the accident excited them so that they came near running away. They was only by good management that a terri-ble accident was averted. A NUMBER OF INSTANCES. Dr. Potter's horse has been shocked and thrown to the ground several times, while crossing the tracks of the Thirteenth street electric road. Numerous other instances have also come to light where horses have experience with the subtle fluid refuse to cross the track, or, in doing so, give a leap. But the danger from the charged rails is not confined to horses. About 500 school children cross the tracks daily, going to and coming from school. Some of them discovered that the track was charged, and commenced to experiment with it. They found that by touching a small wire to the track they could receive a shock, and some of them did not care to repeat the experiment. It is feared that some of the school children may receive a shock that will more than amuse them. Some of the residents are very much concerned for the safety of their children, and will join any move to have the rails made more safe,
