PATHER SHEEDY'S NEW SCHOOL OPENED

BACK AT THE DESKS

Nearly Thirty Thousand School Children Enrolled Yesterday.

The rooms of the Central Board of Education p esented an animated appearance all day yesterday, and the emphatic jingling of is going back. the telephone bell formed an appropriate accompaniment to the hustle and bustle resulting from the opening of the schools. There were handshakes and "howdo-you-dos" by the score, Superintendent Luckey and Secretary Reistar greeting each and every principal who came in, and each and every principal greeting each and every other principal they happened to meet in the rooms. The greetings were not confined to the stereotyped style, either, but frequently partook of the jocose, and occasionally the mysterious, as reference was made to some midsummer escapade at the seashore or mountain resort that perhaps did not savor of the highest intellectuality. But vacation is over, school has reopened, and as the principals called to obtain the necessary blanks, pay rolls and reports and the school calendars they all reported considerable increase in the enrollment. It is estimated that the enrollment of 1890-91 will exceed 26,500, which is a very substantial increase over

Secretary Reisfar said vesterday: "It is nine years ago to-day since I took my position in this chair, and I tell you the growth of the public schools in that time has been remarkable. Not that I have been instrumental in the increase, but I am competent to judge of it, and there are so many more schools and pupils and teachers and principals than there were then, and these rooms were not nine years ago to-day the busy ones they are now. No, they were lonesome in comparison. A number of familiar faces, however, will be missed this coming year, as there are 64 teachers who were with us last year not identified with the work at the present any preceding year. Regarding this point,

NOT THE SAME DISPLAY. The educational display for the Expoastion, which was to be seen over in one corner, attracted universal attention and uni- third st., city. versal admiration, for, if some more courageous soul ventured to say that it was very similar to the Centennial year display, he finmediately repented of his rashness, as Superintendent Luckey pointed out the superior points, in a very conclusive manner, between the various personal and tele-

"Look at this book, alone," said Mr. Luckey, as he took up the bound volume inscribed, "Step Oue, Pittsburg Public Schools." "It comprises the intellectual scribed. efforts of tiny tots of six and seven years of age, and is a perfect curiosity. In it is not only found the originality of the little folks in the language lessons, but the originality of the teachers of the various schools in their methods of teaching. Here is one school where the eachers gives certain words and requires the little ones to construct sentences containing them; and here another school where the teacher has drawn pictures of birds, cate, dogs, and children and the pupils have described the pictures. Another teacher has allowed the petite mortals to have their own photograph put on the pages, and to write from them their own biographical sketches. This little tot says she has brown curls and blue eyes, and wants to know it you don't think she's sweet. Beginning early-but then she is sweet, and isn't her writing wonderful for a child of 6 years? Other teachers have aken pretty cuts and pictures of various kinds as subjects, from which their pupils have written their essays—all with great nicety and correctness, and any amount of individuality and originality.

AN INTERESTING VOLUME.

"I think this book the most interesting of all," continued Mr. Luckey. "One can read the very minds of the little writers in the texts written and imagine the thoughtful little faces and knitted brows with which the tasks were accomplished. We have nothing in any former exhibit that compares at all with it. In the remainder of the exhibit there is considerable sameness, but each book is a marvel of neatness and carefulness, and the penmanship is unusually good," said Superintendent Luckey, "and if it could be compared with former exhibits, a great improvementconid be seen "

When asked regarding the proposed revision of the method of teaching physiology and hygiene, Mr. Luckey said: "There has been no action taken, as yet. The committee that was to have convened on the subject to-day, of Mrs. Joseph Weeks and two mee other ladies representing the W. C. T. U., and three of the school principals, Miss M. E. Hare, Prof. W. A. Proudfoot and Prof. G. W. Kratz, did not meet on account of the absence of two of the ladies. I cannot say what the result of the meeting will be, but it will be held next Thursday afternoon, when they will discuss the question thoroughly, and decide if any changes are to be made." The parochial schools also opened vester-day, and report a large enrollment for the first day. Father Sheedy's new school pre-sented a very interesting appearance. Four handsome rooms, with four demure sisters in charge, were filled with the young American and his sister.

A Difficulty Surmounted. It is often very difficult to tell what kind of a inxative to give to a very young child who is suffering from constipation. The fishing was not up to former years, but Mr. Clark caught a 20-pound muscalonge that he is very fond of. The pickerel and bass that he pulled out averaged from 4 to 8 pounds. SERIOUS TROUBLE AVERTED

At the Opening of the Bedford Schools, by a Choice of Disinterested Tenchers. The first crisis in the affairs of the Bedford Schools, Southside, was passed yesterday without any trouble, as had been apprehended by some. A number of the directors and residents of the ward were on hand to see how matters would terminate, but were disappointed if they expected to see a fight.

The difficulty was settled for the present by Prof. Golden choosing two disinterested teachers to fill the vacancies until the court takes action. The ladies are Miss Breeze, formerly a teacher in the Grant schools, and Miss McGeary, who taught in the Wickersham schools last year. It is probable that the court will soon degree part or all of the the court will soon depose part or all of the members of the School Board and appoint others in their places—unless a truce is patched up, which is not likely.

Says Voters Are Not Satisfied. W. E. Reis, of New Castle, was in the city last evening on his way to the Washington county tair. He is a member of the Western Pennsylvania Breeders' Associa-tion. Mr. Reis claims that Major McDowell has not cleared his skirts with the people in his district, but a few politicians, ex-Con-gressman Jackson included, had spread such a report.
