

The Dispatch.

ESTABLISHED FEBRUARY 3, 1858. Vol. 6, No. 22.—Entered as Second-Class Matter, October 3, 1879, under Post Office No. 1232, at Pittsburgh, Pa., under special authority of Act of Congress, March 3, 1879, approved March 3, 1879. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Act of October 3, 1879, authorized on July 16, 1885. Postage paid at Pittsburgh, Pa., under special authority of Act of Congress, October 3, 1879, approved March 3, 1879. Published weekly, except on Sundays and public holidays. Price, five cents per copy, in advance, $2.50 per annum. Single copies, five cents. Entered as second-class matter, October 3, 1879, under Post Office No. 1232, at Pittsburgh, Pa., under special authority of Act of Congress, March 3, 1879, approved March 3, 1879. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Act of October 3, 1879, authorized on July 16, 1885. Postage paid at Pittsburgh, Pa., under special authority of Act of Congress, October 3, 1879, approved March 3, 1879. Published weekly, except on Sundays and public holidays. Price, five cents per copy, in advance, $2.50 per annum. Single copies, five cents.

TERMS OF THE DISPATCH. OFFICE: 210 N. BRIDGE ST., PITTSBURGH, PA. EDITOR: J. W. MOODY. MANAGER: J. W. MOODY. PUBLISHED BY THE PITTSBURGH DISPATCH COMPANY. PRINTED BY THE PITTSBURGH DISPATCH COMPANY. SUBSCRIPTIONS: In Advance, $2.50 per annum; Single Copies, Five Cents. Entered as Second-Class Matter, October 3, 1879, under Post Office No. 1232, at Pittsburgh, Pa., under special authority of Act of Congress, March 3, 1879, approved March 3, 1879. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Act of October 3, 1879, authorized on July 16, 1885. Postage paid at Pittsburgh, Pa., under special authority of Act of Congress, October 3, 1879, approved March 3, 1879. Published weekly, except on Sundays and public holidays. Price, five cents per copy, in advance, $2.50 per annum. Single copies, five cents.

PITTSBURGH, TUESDAY, SEPT. 2, 1890. PARK ENTRANCE AND LIBRARY SITE. THE DISPATCH'S New York correspondent buttonholed Messrs. Scott and Bigelow as they disembarked from the steamer Servia yesterday, and secured the information that the latter had obtained from Mrs. Schenley a contract which, if accepted by the city, will secure the ground for the Forbes street entrance to Schenley Park. The details of the contract were not, of course, disclosed, but it may be presumed that they are such as to satisfactorily adjust all disputed matters in that connection.

RECIPROcity OR RETALIATION? The amendment which Senator Aldrich has introduced into the Senate, embodies Mr. Blaine's reciprocity project with regard to sugar, and extends it to hides, tea and coffee. It can reasonably be expected that the reasons for approving this policy with regard to sugar; but it seems necessary to remark that the extension of the same provisions to hides, tea and coffee introduces new, and to a certain extent, distinct considerations. The action proposed with regard to it is practically as follows: We have a staple on which this Government has heretofore levied heavy duties which it is proposed to either remove or to reduce. The countries producing it have, with one exception, been in recent negotiations with the United States for the purpose of improving trade relations, and that exception three years ago exhibited its willingness to give mutual concessions of the character proposed. To say to these countries: "We will remove the duties on sugar on the understanding that you will do likewise with our products," is a proposition calculated to promote friendly relations, and holds out an inducement to the reciprocal action hoped for from them. But to add to the list of articles on which duties are to be reimposed, if these countries do not take such action, three staples which for purely domestic considerations have been free of duty for years, changes the character of the proposition. To say "we will take the duty off sugar if you will do the same on flour and provisions," is an inducement to other countries. To say "if you do not take off your duties on flour and provisions we will impose our duties on hides, tea and coffee," is a threat. The policy of such a proposition is not so much that of reciprocity as it is of retaliation.

WORKING A BUGBEAR. The declaration of Senator Emery that the tariff question will not be affected by the independent movement in favor of Pattison because the independent Republicans will support the Republican candidates for Congress, stirs up the Philadelphia Inquirer to a lengthy effort to prove the contrary. The sum total of its argument is that Cleveland desires the election of Pattison, and that the success of that election would give the downtown branch increased importance in the conduct of the system of libraries.

WORKING A BUGBEAR. The declaration of Senator Emery that the tariff question will not be affected by the independent movement in favor of Pattison because the independent Republicans will support the Republican candidates for Congress, stirs up the Philadelphia Inquirer to a lengthy effort to prove the contrary. The sum total of its argument is that Cleveland desires the election of Pattison, and that the success of that election would give the downtown branch increased importance in the conduct of the system of libraries.

WORKING A BUGBEAR. The declaration of Senator Emery that the tariff question will not be affected by the independent movement in favor of Pattison because the independent Republicans will support the Republican candidates for Congress, stirs up the Philadelphia Inquirer to a lengthy effort to prove the contrary. The sum total of its argument is that Cleveland desires the election of Pattison, and that the success of that election would give the downtown branch increased importance in the conduct of the system of libraries.

WORKING A BUGBEAR. The declaration of Senator Emery that the tariff question will not be affected by the independent movement in favor of Pattison because the independent Republicans will support the Republican candidates for Congress, stirs up the Philadelphia Inquirer to a lengthy effort to prove the contrary. The sum total of its argument is that Cleveland desires the election of Pattison, and that the success of that election would give the downtown branch increased importance in the conduct of the system of libraries.

WORKING A BUGBEAR. The declaration of Senator Emery that the tariff question will not be affected by the independent movement in favor of Pattison because the independent Republicans will support the Republican candidates for Congress, stirs up the Philadelphia Inquirer to a lengthy effort to prove the contrary. The sum total of its argument is that Cleveland desires the election of Pattison, and that the success of that election would give the downtown branch increased importance in the conduct of the system of libraries.

WORKING A BUGBEAR. The declaration of Senator Emery that the tariff question will not be affected by the independent movement in favor of Pattison because the independent Republicans will support the Republican candidates for Congress, stirs up the Philadelphia Inquirer to a lengthy effort to prove the contrary. The sum total of its argument is that Cleveland desires the election of Pattison, and that the success of that election would give the downtown branch increased importance in the conduct of the system of libraries.

WORKING A BUGBEAR. The declaration of Senator Emery that the tariff question will not be affected by the independent movement in favor of Pattison because the independent Republicans will support the Republican candidates for Congress, stirs up the Philadelphia Inquirer to a lengthy effort to prove the contrary. The sum total of its argument is that Cleveland desires the election of Pattison, and that the success of that election would give the downtown branch increased importance in the conduct of the system of libraries.

creditable and pacific demonstration of the bone and muscle of the city, which impressed everyone in the most favorable way. The parade of thousands of workmen in their various uniforms and societies permitted an impressive review of the industrial strength of Pittsburgh.

It remains to be seen whether Mr. White-Nairn's diploma will do better than the McKinley bill in opening up a market for another barrel of pork.

It is one of the hottest of the hot days of July that has just passed. Not a breath of air was stirring, even in the tops of the trees. The sturdy little English sparrows had ceased their sharp, shrill chirping, and were panting in the shade. If you looked straight down the street you could see a quivering of heat in the air, like that which is often visible over a hot stove. Everybody who walked by the sidewalks of the city felt the heat. The drivers of the horse-drawn carriages urged their horses into a trot. The only animals that suffered were the poor street car horses. They were trotting and galloping with their heavy loads, which on account of the heat, were heavier than usual. Many of the poor brutes stopped during the day, staggered under the weight of their loads, and were finally abandoned on the sidewalks and dropped by the roadside. The circumstance had finally become so usual that it attracted but little attention, and less pity. But of all the horses that died that cruel afternoon, one at least is remembered as affecting as if paid by an angel. The animal had dropped in the street, and had been rudely dragged to one side, where it lay, rolling its dust-dusted eyes, and gasping and gasping. A small crowd gathered around, shouting out what little air there was. "Hold on, Cally," shouted a gamin, "here's fun. Let's see the cop shoot him."

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.

GOVERNOR WOLFEY, of Arizona, is understood to have resigned because the Geological Survey had withdrawn so much land from settlement in that Territory that there was not enough of it left to govern.