If the declarations of Manager Hanlon, of the Players' League, and Director J. P. O'Neil, of the National League, go for anything the baseball public of Pittsburg are going to be humbugged next year just as they have been this. According to the statements of these gentlemen, made to the writer yesterday, each party will have a ball team in this city and of course, just as it was declared last winter, each is going to knock the other higher than the proverbial kite. In other words, the public is to see a repetition of one of the most unhallowed of all baseball seasons,

Director O'Neil said: "Now, depend upon it we are here with our club to stay, not only the season out, but also next season. We won't lose a dollar this year. During our recent trip Bast we received $3,800 and our expenses were only $2,200. I have signed four men already for next season, and I will sign three more to-morrow. I want a compromise, but I'm not the entire League. I bear no fil-will toward any player, and I would take Ed Hanlon back tonorrow and make him manager of our team. would also take Jake Beckley back, but there are many players in our team whom I would not release. Therefore, I could not entertain a roposition to take back all of our old players. If there is to be one club in Pittsburg I claim that our club is the one. We had the field lirst and most assuredly if Hanlon had been here before us with a team I wouldn't have been an opponent of his for a day. We simply claim that we have the right of territory, and we are prepared to fight for that right another year at least."

Manager Hanlon said: "Why, we are here to stay. Just you mark my words that all the men that Mr. O'Neil is signing now he will re-lease before the spring. There will be only men that Mr. O'Neil is signing. There will be only lease before the spring. There will be only one leading baseball organization next year and that will be the Players' League. I will have a winning team here next year and that will est the patronage. We can get all the will get the patronage. We can get all the money we want for next year, and I don't see be the club next year.

In answer to a series of questions, Mr. Hanlon stated that there will be several new faces in his team, as some of the present lot are not his team, as some of the present loss are not all filling the bill.

"Will the contract signed by players of your League guarantee them a full year's salary?" was asked of Mr. Hanlon.

He replied: "I don't know about that. It is not good business. What we want is men who will fill the bill. Ours is not an organization of charity, and we want ball players who can earn their salary."

From the above it will be gleaned that there is a desire to continue a conflict that has already brought the national game into discrepute, and amid all the object is to win public ever. Intelligent people think that a continnation of this year's proceedings will cause the whole business to be absolutely ignored.

The Athletic Baseball Club Players Will Run the Club. PHILADELPHIA, September & The players of the Athletic Baseball Club held a meeting at the law offices of Messrs. Wolf and Judge to day, to take action looking to the recovery of their back salaries. Mr. Whittaker, the treasurer and practical owner of the club, who was present by request, gave a statement of the or-ganization's standing. He said that it was practically bankrupt; that he had put $6,000 of his own money into it with the hope of floating it over its troubles, and that the only offer he ould make to the players was for ther the team on the co-operative plan and take chances of recouping themselves by the gate receipts.

The players will run the club until something definite is heard from the Executive Committee of the American Association, or the National Board of Arbitration.

'RAH FOR THE MARKHAMS.

They Win a Money at Butler.

PEPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATOR. BUTLER. September 5.-To-day was a cala day among the baseball people here. The interest in the game has not been so high since the palmy days of '86, when the J. P. Fishels were in their glory. The Stephen Markhams club, just organized, played their first game here to-day before a crowd of about 800 people against the D. J. Roberts, of Renfrews. The game was for $50 a side, the condition being that in order to win the Renfrews must beat the Markhams 2 to L Great was the suspense of the people when they turned the tables on them and beat them 27 to 1, almost shutting them out. During the 27 to 1, almost shutting them out. During the early part of the game McNamara, who was catching Beggs, was hit in the eye by a foul tip and had to be carried from the grounds. The features of the game were the pitching of Jones, who allowed the Renfrews but two hits, and the third base playing of Walker for the Markhams and the errors of the Renfrews. It is estimated that $1,000 changed hands on the game. The Markhams play Mercer at Slippery Rock Park to-morrow, and are open to hear from all strictly amateur clubs in the State. Battery for Renfrews, Beggs and McNamara and Cornellison; for Markhams, Jones and Heineman.

The Kilrain-Ashton combination will shortly blossom out with the assistance of several other pugilists and wrestlers, in a specially written comedy farce entitled, "Jack's Little Game." It is confidently expected by members of the company, who have not the slightest idea what the play will be like, that they will coin money on the road next season.

That astute individual, Charles E. Davies, better known as the "Parson." not to be outdone, has perfected arrangements with Jim Corbett and Peter Jackson, whereby they will be the stars in a piece now being written by an eminent playwright of Chicago, which will be called, "The Bunch of Fives." This, it is said, will eclipse even "Honest Hearts and Willing Hands." If "The Bunch of Fives" proves a success the Parson says that he will confine his astention strictly to tragedy in the future. TELEGRAMS FROM SUBURBAN TOWNS

PERCIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCE. WHEELING, September 5 .- Matters are in statu quo as far as the street railway strike is concerned. This morning the company put a force of men to work clearing the obstructions from the tracks and most of the stuff was removed, but as fast as the men proceeded stones, ties and other obstructions were piled back on the rails by sympathiz ers with the strikers. The company applied for police protection, and a squad of officers went over the line in the Eighth ward with Mayor Seabright, but no good was accomplished in that way, and when the company asked for officers to ride on the cars to be started our, some of the men said they would take off their uniforms first, and the Mayor advised President Sweeney to forego the attempt to run cars.

This evening the tracks are obstructed at quite a number of points, but otherwise there is no evidence of trouble. The strikers disclaim any responsibility for the disorder of yesterday or the obstruction on the tracks.

LIGHTNING AND GAS.

Continued from First Page. hibit the regularity Murraysville does. It is spotted. But there are good features about this. Each well or group of wells has its own area to draw from and cannot drain the supply of others. Then we have so many sands there to depend on. The Washington sands are all good at Bellever-non. When we do not get gas in one we go on down to another."

"Do you think it probable the lower lage of Aniwa was visited by a hurricane sands may be productive at Murraysville?"
"No, I don't expect much from them.
We have drilled one well down in that field and found all the lower sands thin and in-ierior in quality. But we shall try more in good time. One hole exploits so little ter-ritory. A spot five inches in diameter is ment in To-morrow's Big Issue. not much to predicate upon for a large area. It may be the sands are better in some other part of the field.

"Without new fields the supply is sufficient for several years. Larger pipes will have to be used, of course. Larger pipes than we are now laying cannot well be used while gas is transported at high pressurethe pipes are so heavy. But with low pressure there is practically no limit to the size of the pipes. Why, a pipe 15 or 25 feet in diameter, made of sheet iron, can be employed, and I tell you a conduit of that size will convey a vast amount of gas even at low pressure.

THE INCREASE IN CONSUMPTION. "To get at the increase in the consumption of natural gas you will have to see the new companies. The Philadelphia Company is supplying about as much gas this year as last. The difference is that we have a large-ly increased domestic consumption, but less for manufacturing purposes. The Oliver line took five mills from us, then the Equitable, the Carnegie lines and so on. More the increase in consumption would be nearly measured by the amount of gas furnished by the new lines. It is considerable." Captain Bigger, the general agent of the Philadelphia Company, when asked about the consumption of natural gas this year, said he could not state the exact amount of increase, but was satisfied it was an increase. He was satisfied the increase would be as great as last year, but to determine it exactly would necessitate going all through the company's books. As for supply, Mr. Bigger said it was only a question of pipe and price. He had no fears for the immediate future. The Philadelphia Company was in first-class shape to supply its patrons next winter. They never had a more satisfactory condition of things than at present, and he saw no reason to expect trouble for several years.

Mr. Robert Gillespie thought from his in formation the supply was ample to meet all demands. The Bellevernon field would nore than make up for any deficiency in the older fields and would prove to be a lasting source of supply. The field was thus far showing wonderful qualities.
