AMERICAN CAPITAL FOR AFRICA.

A Great Deal of Interest Exhibited in England Concerning the Success of the Enterprise.

BITTER PEELING TOWARD EMIN PASHA

While the Germans Take That Individual's Very Vigorously.

IBY CABLE TO THE DISPATCHA LONDON, September 6 .- [Copyright] -Stanley will be accompanied on his lecturing tour in America by Mrs. Stanley and her young brother, Coombe Tennant, whose engagement is again announced to Miss Furniss, of New York, who has been for many years a friend of his mother and whose marriage with the same young man was discussed two or three years ago. Hamilton Aide, the Anglo-Greek author, a kinsman and warm admirer of Mrs. Stanley, will also accompany the party, probably as historiographer of the tour. The enterprise is regarded with unusual interest in England, not only by the immediate friends, social, artistic and political, of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley, but also in circles that touch upon the sacred precints of the throne. A company, of which the Duke of good portion of the large and profitable African investment of the King of the Belgians will be disposed of in America by Stanley.

A ROYAL SPECULATOR. The King put about £200,000 into the African venture and sold out for £300,000. It is understood that he now offers to make 000,000 sterling for life by the English Government, so that Stanley's lecture tour in America is considered in some circles to and the German African companies generally. Wissmann's recent visit to Brussels is understood in Berlin to have been for the purpose of demonstrating with King Leo-pold by reason of the influence that his strong predilection for Stanley has had upon English interests in Africa, as opposed to the German, that Leopold's probable negotiations with English capitalists would serve to make the Belgian flag only a device to prevent German and French intrigue in the Congo Free State.

THE GERMANS ALARMED.

The alarm in Berlin is not surprising, and there is difficulty even now to prevent an open attack upon Stanley by the friends of Emin, particularly by Dr. Peters, not only with regard to Emin himself, but with the fate of Bartelott, whose very interesting diary is supposed to be in Stanley's posses-sion. The question of the stock of ivory in equatorial Africa, which so nearly pre-vented Emin Pasha's return with Stanley to Zanzibar will, it is said in Berlin, be settled by the return of the Pasha to his tween the German and Egyptian Govern-

Stanley is not the man to remain quiet under German fire and in an interview on Thursday he expressed himself very plainly. Of Emin he says: "To a man of such exquisite and morbid sensibilities and most inordinate self-esteem nothing can be right except slavish adulation. He is continually in the sulks, and it is useless to meddle with him. The negotiations with him began at Ugogo in October, and Emin's adthem were first checked by WISSMANN'S LETTER to him which he received when nine days from the coast and which said: 'Though the English have relieved you, I hope you will not forget that we are your countrymen and would do as much for you, and I hope you will make your quarters with us at Bagamoyo. Emin Pasha began to weigh then what he could get from either party. Wise. English have relieved you, I hope you will what he could get from either party. Wissmann thought he could get him for the Germans. The tall after the banquet put him in Wissmann's power. It was then only necessary in the weigh 10 his oest standard A sugar 10 dealer's jelatine per package. 10 dealer's jelatine per package. 50 dealer's jelatine per package. 10 dealer's jelatine per packag sary to keep pegging away, whispering things about me, about the English and about the Consul General, distorting and magnifying everything to a weak, unstable and sick man, who recognized only Wissmann's magnanimity.

The Germans think they have been very elever in all this, but one of the officers of the expedition, as soon as Emin had read Wissmann's letter to him, said: "I'll bet Wissmann will get him, and it will be best to the English if he is in the Germans for the English if he is in the Germans for the English if he is in the Germans for the English if he is in the Germans for the English if he is in the Germans for the English if he is in the Germans for the English if he is in the Germans for the English if he is in the Germans for the English is the control of the control Wissmann's letter to him, said: "I'll bet Wissmann will get him, and it will be best for the English if he joins the Germans, for French peas, 2 cans for. he is bound to spoil everything he touches. It was a bold prediction, but it has proved

A FAITHLESS LOVER.

THE DUKE OF ORLEANS DESERTS HIS BETROTHED.

The Marriage Off Because the Lady Has Not Enough Money to Carry On the Campaign for the Throne of France-Her Probable Successor.

[BY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY.] LONDON, September 6 .- A report comes from Paris that his Royal Highness, the Due d'Orleans, son of the Comte de Paris, the news, for they do not think that the young lady is bleased with sufficient money to contribute to the funds which are required for the prosecution of the political objects to which his attention must of necessity be directed. The general public, on the other hand, which takes more stock in romance than in revolution, does not share the opinion of the followers of the exiled house of Bourbon. It was very favorably impressed by the proofs of affection which, so far as she was able, the Princess gave to her now recreant fiancee during the time of his imprisonment at the Conciergerie Clairvaux. Accompanied by her mother, the Duchess de Chartres, she shared the Duc's prison, and now that he is out of jail, and living like a prince in Portinun square, the people consider it an exhibition of heartless

cruelty for him to slip out of the engagement which has bound them so long, It is asserted by several of the most intimate friends of the young Duke that one of his reasons for making what was at the time regarded as a sensational request, viz.: That he should be allowed to enter the French army as a private soldier, was in order that he might postpone his marriage for five years. They wish him now to $2.90 all-wool suits. We sold hundreds on marry the Archduchess, Marie Dorothee Amelie, the eldest daughter of the Archducke, Joseph, and the granddaughter of the Princess Clementine. DEFECTS IN THE NAVY. Some of the Biggest British Vessels Almost in a Sinking Condition.

IBY CABLE TO THE DISPATCE. LONDON, September 6 .- The newspaper continue to publish what they describe as "startling facts" about the royal navy, elicited by the recent maneuvers. It has been discovered that most of the big battle ships can steam under certain given conditions only 48 knots instead of 72, the official estimate, and the fail-ure of the much vaunted class of belted cruisers was equally startling. Another class of armed cruisers designed "to keep the sea in all weathers and to guard British commerce were," according to a competent critic, "so utterly worthless and useless that during a cruise of 36 knots, under favorable circumstances, the consumption of fuel by two of them when under steam was so extravagant that they required to be towed for nearly half the voyage.

Instead of proving welcome auxiliaries as scouts for the fleet they were a positive encumbrance, hampered the admiral's movements and returned to port with only 25 tons of coal. Yet these signal and deplorable failures are officially stated to be able to steam 7,000 knots at ten knots speed. Since the big battle ship Anson returned to the dock defects have been discovered in her machinery so serious that had she proceeded for another eruise she would almost certainly have foundered during the first spell of rough weather. Captain Lord Charles Beresford, who resigned his seat in Parliament in order to qualify himself by service for the rank of admiral, is just now filling his note book with facts like the foregoing, with which he proposes to rouse the country as soon as he can retire from active service.

WALES BACK IN LONDON.

The Prince Has Been Distinguishing a Yankee Beauty by His Attentions.

IBY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH. LONDON, September 6 .- The Prince of Wales arrived in London from Homburg Fife is chairman, and which counts among | last night and his defection having destroyed its directors several personal friends of the the efficacy of the cure the exodus thence Queen, contributed largely to the fitting out and support of the expedition for the relief of Emin Pasha, and it is believed that a however, and, at all fashionable resorts on the Continent, this summer there have been more American visitors than any previous year. Indeed, a New Yorker who returned to-day from that place said that it reminded him of Newport, there were so many familiar faces in the crowds, though most of the "smart set" of London was present during the Prince's visit.

The American swells included Mr. and over his interest in the Congo Free State to Mrs. William Travers, Mr. and Mrs. English capitalists, provided that as a return he is assured of the interest on a £1,- erts, Mr. and Mrs. H. Victor Newcombe, Mrs. Turnure and Miss Turnure, Mr. and Mrs. Julien Davies, Mr. John Davis and in America is considered in some circles to be largely for the purpose of enhancing the value of the English property in Africa.

English interest in the Stanley expedition is also augmented by the menacing attitude of Miss Davis, Mr. and Mrs. James Harriman and Miss Bishop, Mrs. Schreiner and Miss Schreiner, Mrs. Garrison and her sister, Mrs. Randall, Mrs. Heywood Cutting and Miss Cutting, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald H. TWO DISTINCT PARADES.

How the Union Workmen of Allegheny County Celebrated Labor Day. "There were two parades to-day," was the manner in which one of the leaders of organized labor accessed a reporter last

"Oh, that's a joke of mine. The first parade was the one we had over to Allegheny. The other was not arranged for, but it came off just the same. It was ur the stairs at 96 Fifth avenue, to Pearson's photograph gallery. I stood and watched the boys, and it was a regular p cession through his Fifth avenue doorway all afternoon. You ee, after the first parade they took advantage of the 'day off' to get a picture when they were all dressed up in their best."

That little story illustrates the popularity of Pearson's famous gallery. The tale is true. His gallery was crowded all of Labor Day, and every caller went away pleased. It is always this way on a holiday. The people know where to get elegant pictures at reasonable prices, and this brings them to one of J. R. Pearson's galleries, either 96 miration for the English and gratitude of Fifth avenue, Pittsburg, or 45 Federal street, Allegheny.

DETECTIVE M'TIGHE'S CATCH.

Travis, the Pawn Ticket Man, is Badly Wanted in New York. When Detective McTighe arrested William Travis, of the pawn ticket force, early last week, he did a work greater than he imagined. A telegram from Inspector Byrnes yesterday announced that his real name was W. H. Wagner, and that he was wanted in New York City on five charges of larceny and two charges of forgery.

A New York officer is now in Harrisburg trying to secure extradition papers. Wag-ner, alias Travis, is now doing a 90 days' sentence in the workhouse, but as soon as the papers are secured he will probably be released and sent to New York.

A Young Tinsmith's Testimony In Pavor of Dr. Byers' Method of Treatment - His Treatment Equal to That for Which Many Physicians Charge From $20 to $50 Per Mouth-Almost Every Mail Brings Letters in Praise of His Home Treatment.

"When I first made up my mind to consult Dr. Byers," says Mr. Learzaf, who is a tinner by occupation and lives at 485 Forbes avenue, "I said to myself, if I am so fortunate as to get relief I will never permit my name to appear in the papers; but when a few weeks ago Dr. Byers told me I needn't continue the treatments any longer, as my nose and throat were entirely well, and suggested that I allow him to publish my case as encouragement to others, I remembered that it was through the testimonials of others that induced me to take treatment, and I felt so grateful for the benefit derived that I said: "Go ahead, if it will point the way to some other fellow-sufferer affilioted as I was."

Mr. Geo. J. Learzaj. 185Forbes Ave.

"My principal trouble was my stomach. I was continually rifting, had pains and cramps, tongue always coated, and a foul taste in my mouth, especially in morning. I also had pains over my eyes, ringing in the ears, nostrils clogged up first on one side then the other, and a hawking and spitting up of a tough mucus. I had tried almost everything I could think of myself and was suggested by friends, till I was discouraged. When Dr. Byers examined my nose and throat he said that all the trouble was caused by catarrh, and that I might swallow enough medicine to float a ship and would never get better without the aid of local treatments. I put myself under his treatment and soon learned by experience that his theory was correct, as I noticed a decided change from the first, and continued to improve, till now I am entirely well and glad to make this statement in favor of his treatment."

PRAISE OF HOME TREATMENT FROM BEAVER PRAISE OF HOME TREATMENT FROM BEAVER

A lady patient from Heaver Falls writes: "I have observed instructions in regard to treatment faithfully as possible and must say I have reveived benefit beyond my most sanguine expectations. The noises that troubled me so long have almost entirely ceased through the day only while eating or drinking, but they are still bad at night, but have so diminished that they are not so worrying. I have hopes that your treatment, if persistently followed, will have the desired effect."

Theatment $5 A month, medicine in-FALLS.

TREATMENT $5 A MONTH, MEDICINE IN-Almost every day I hear of persons who would like to take treatment of me, but they fear my terms are too low to permit of good work. To such patient I wish to say this: Interview any person who was ever treated a month or more by me and by other physicians the same length of time, and I will cheerfully abide by the result. My early training as a druggist taught me how to compound medicines at the least possible cost, and as I buy at wholesale, I get the lowest obtainable price. My monthly drug bills amount to as much as that of some retail drug stores. In donclusion, my treatment is for that class of people who earn their money by hard work and appreciate the value of a dollar. I am doing work equal that which some physicians charge from $20 to $50 per month for as will be vouched for by scores of patients. CLUDED. scores of patients.
