A Possibility of Settling the Trouble Through

Arbitration. SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCHA

CRESSON SPRINGS, September 8 .- This morning when the ladies of the Park Cottage returned from the station after seeing Mr. Ryssell Harrison off to New York, they found ex-Congressman William Ward, o Chester, Pa., sitting on the porch of the cottage with the President. Afterward the President and Mrs. Dimmick went driving with Mr. and Mrs. Ward. They left the hotel at 11:30 this morning and drove out along the road parallel with the Pennsylvania Hailroad, leading to Loretto. They visited the convent, Prince Gallitzin's tomb, the mounstery and then drove back through the old town of Loretto. Mr. Ward, who is thoroughly up in the history of this part of the country, entertained the President with tales to which His Excellency listened with interest. He evinced all the fervor of a boy when he found himself out in the country, and as they drove by a bank covered with colden rod the President insisted on alighting to gather some for his wife. Everyone of them carried hig bunches of it back to the hotel.

SMALL BOYS' GREETING. The President was recognized along the road, and the small urchins yelled from the roadside. "How are you, Harrison?" as the carriage left Loretto. The President laughed heartily and answered the uncouth salutation with a wave of his hand. To-morrow the President expects to go driving again with Mr. Ward, and this time they will go to Ebensburg, by the way of the old Portage road, one of the most beautifu, roads in this part of the country.

Outlity.
It is certainly definite now that the President vill accept the invitation of the Pennsylvania each to visit points of interest along their line. It, Boyd is East now and the arrangement is under his charge. When he returns on Thurstone ander his charge. day the trips and how they will be taken will be made known. The President likes Cresson recy much, and he likes the Cresson people, for they know how to leave him alone as well as to entertain him, and Mr. Harrison, in his exhausted state of health, appreciates the first attention quite as much as the second.

GAY SOCIETY. Mr. Ward said this evening that the President will stay here until the closing of Congress would oblige him to return to Washingend of the month, and, though the hotel usually sees September 20, this year it will more than kely remain open until the occupants of the ark Cottage leave for home.

In a social way Cresson was extremely gay this afternoon. The long predicted reception and tea of Mrs. E. F. Jones came off this afterand tea of Mrs. B. F. Jones came off this aftermoon at their villa. It is the first affair at which men have been present, and they were there in full force. That is a dozen or so, which is about all Cresson can muster at this time of the senson. Around the President and Mrs.
Harrison stood first the members of their family, Mrs. McKee, Mrs. Russell Harrison and Mrs. Dimmick, then Mrs. James A.
Chambers, Mrs. Harry Darlington, Mrs. Mamie Elicketson, Miss Garrison, New York, and Miss Margaret Darlington. The ladies were all Margaret Darington. The ladies were all irussed exquisitely, and Mrs. Harrison's iruss especially caused admiring comments. After the tea the ladies came over and sat through the hop in the parlor. About 35 per

FORTUNE TELLERS ARRESTED.

They Rend the Futures of Two Officers, but Could Not Rend Their Owa.

Dr. and Mme. De Lester, the Wylie avenue clairvoyants, were arrested last night upon information made against them by Inspector Mc-Aleese, and will have a hearing at Justice Gripp's office this afternoon.

Detectives Fitzgerald and Dimmel were sent to the house yesterday afternoon and had their fortunes told. Both men were required to put up $3 before they were allowed to peer into the future. Fitzgerald was the woman's client, and Dimmel agreed to be the victim of the doctor. The woman went into a trance; among other things told Detective Fitzgerald that he had one son and no daughters, while he is the father of three sons and one daughter. She sang him a song of a man pursuing him, but the detective would triumph over his enemy and get rich. She said Fitzgerald would go West, and in three years return to Pittsburg immensely wealthy. The enemy, she said, would still pursue him, but if he wore one of her Sto Eventian charms on hare words. her $50 Egyptian charms no harm could come

Dr. De Lester told about the same story to Detective Dimmel, and after paying the $3 fee, the officers went out. They had been admitted by a driver of a laundry wagon, known to Dimmel, and the man followed them. After comparing stories the detectives went back and found the characteristic stories the detectives went back. and found the clairvoyants preparing to de-camp. They arrested the man and woman, and at the station house a number of circulars and other stuff was found on them. The circulars showed they had been operating in Youngs-town, Columbus, Dayton, O., and Richmond, Va., and had been sailing under different names in each city.

A Little Life at last Infused Into the Raum Investigation. THOSE TWO NOTES FOR $12,000

Order Was Made. REFUSAL TO PRODUCE THE BOOKS

Indersed the Day After the Completed File

WASHINGTON, September 8 .- The Raum investigation was resumed to-day, and Mr. Lemon was called to the stand. He read a prepared statement, which was to the effect that as the first charge did not concern him, he had nothing to say. As to the second charge, which referred to himself, he said that he had known General Raum for 25 years. His financial standing was high, and his indorsers were men of reputation. So when he wanted money to open up his mining property witness indorsed two of his notes, one for $2,000 and one for $10,000, which were subsequently extended. Respecting the charge that witness se cured undue advantage from the completed files order he said that the completed files order was not novel in principle, but that it had been the practice of the office for years, toward the end of the fiscal year, to pick out such completed cases and dispose of them. That had been done by Commissioner Bluck. It was a wise practice.

AN UNQUALIFIED FALSEHOOD. The charge that Commissioner Raum had given him any undue advantage in the completed files order was an unqualified falsehood, and furthermore it would be an absolute impossibility for the Commissioner to favor him. He could not do it if he would. He (Lemon) denied in the broadest terms that the order was asked for or intend- to attend. ed to apply to his case or in any manner to favor him over other attorneys. It was a general rule against which nothing could be said except from ignorance or malice.

Witness had never asked anything from Commissioner Raum, or any other Commissioner, to which he was not entitled as an attorney. Unfair as Mr. Cooper had been, he invited him to come to his office any day and examine every case and every employe He wanted him to come in the front door like a man, and not hunt up discharged clerks. That would obviate the necessity for making baseless charges.

COOPER ASKS SOME QUESTIONS. At the conclusion of the reading of the paper, Mr. Cooper cross-examined the witness. He asked what witness' fortune was, to which witness promptly replied: "That is none of your business," and returned the same answer to the next question, as to the amount of his annual income.

Mr. Cooper then returned to the attack by asking if he had not been charged with forging Mr. Colfax's name to a certificate.
Witness replied that he had not. If the committee wished to go into that he wished to be allowed to call witnesses, as it is related to a transaction 22 years ago. General Raum had first spoken to witness about money matters in January, before he became commissioner. When witness' proposition to make an order like the completed files order was under discussion, Deputy Com-missioner Lincoln had objected that its ef-fect would be to turn all of the force of the office upon witness' case; but that was a

JUST A COINCIDENCE.

The completed files order was made Jan-uary 6, and witness indorsed the note January 7. Did not then know that the order at Stonerville yesterday afternoon while crawing under the tender of a Southwest Pennsylvania Railroad engine.

The Harrison county, O., grand jury have returned 14 indictments for violation of the liquor law, two for provoking a quarrel, one for murder, and several other smaller cases.

effort to complete cases. cluded. Mr. Cooper renewed his request for the production of the books of the refriger-ator company, asserting that they would show that the refrigerator was a fraud, and that the commissioner had been manipu-lating from the Pension Office a traudulent scheme. The committee would not be doing its full duty if it failed to turn its light upon that enterprise. Commissioner Raum said he was present to answer charges of official misconduct, and had done so completely. The committee had seen the stockbook of the company. He denied that the refrigerator was a fraud. Mr. Cooper knew that he had sold no stock to pension office employes. The men who penned the lying articles knew they were lying when they wrote them.

A CONSPIRACY AGAINST HIM.

There was a conspiracy in this city, and Mr. Cooper was being used as a tool to break down his (Raum's) credit. The committee saw the papers day by day filled with lying articles. Mr. Cooper knew that the charges were a dismal failure, and could not be sustained, and he wished to drag in other things, so by hocus pocus or hook or crook, to injure him (Raum). He should rest on his legal rights and refuse to have his private business dragged out by Mr. Cooper. Mr. Cooper insisted on the necessity for the production of the books as the best proof of the stockholders, and declared that the commissioner's testimony had been contra-dicted by Mr. Smyser, who had since told the minority members of the committee that he had not put $1 into the stock. The committee, after a private consulta-tion, decided that it would reverse its de eision upon the question until it had an opportunity to ascertain the extent of its powers to compel the production of private papers, adjourned.
