There was something exciting about yesterday's game at Exposition Park between the home and Cleveland P. L. teams, although it was not of the very highest order. The witchers were too much for the batters, and the Cleveland weaklings, therefore, were not the victims of a one-sided contest. The home team won, of course, but they had no certainty about it until the game was absolutely finished.

The weather was threatening the grounds very bad and only 521 persons passed through the turnstile, the smallest crowd of the season. To analyze the team that Cleveland presented one would think that the home players would have pulverized them. But such was not the case, as the home aggregation did not earn a run they made. Little McGill, the left-handed tcher, was a riddle that Hanlon's sluggers uld not altogether solve. He really pitched could not altogether solve. He really pitched an excellent game, but his catcher was not of the best material. However, McGill managed to keep the score down sufficiently to make matters exciting. Radford played an admirable game at short; indeed, few men have played it better.

Maul pitched a good game, and he was well backed up. He hadn't much trouble in holding the harmless singgers from Cleveland

There was considerable kicking at Umpire Holbert on the part of Captain Tebeau, and the latter used the term ', rotten' more than once to Mr. Helbert. The pair had quite an unedifying argument now and again.

The story of the game is soon told. The home players got their runs on errors chiefly, home players got their runs on errors chiefly, and the visitors earned their couple. In the sixth inning Radford led off with a double and scored on Tebeau's single. Stricker's triple to center sent Tebeau home. This tied the score. Two singles, a wild throw by Stein, a base on balls, a passed ball and a stolen base scored two in the eighth for the home players, and that won the game. Score:

NEW YORK, September 8 .- A game of baseball, replete with brilliant fielding and strategic pitching, was witnessed at Eastern Park. Brooklyn, to-day. The contest was between th Brooklyn and Philadelphia Players' teams. The Philadelphia men scored the only run in the tenth inning. Hallman hit to short, but Ward could not handle the ball. NATIONAL LEAGUE GAMES. Captain Anson's Hustlers Defeat the Pittsburgers and Step Up to Fourth Place-

Mr. Day Makes a Very Poor Show in the (SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.) CHICAGO, September 8.—Captain Anson took a good start to-day in his little game of "leap frog" up the National League percentage col-umn. He and the best of the team straddled over the shoulders of the Cincinnatis and squared themselves for a running start at the Philadelphias, who are next in the line. The big Captain's team now occupies the fourth position in the race, and the Reds have been rowded back to the notch below. All this shifting was brought about by the "old man's" victory over the Pittsburgs and the Cincinnatis' defeat by the Cievelands. The Jonahs seem to have lost their once mysterious influence over the Chicago club.

They took their drubbing to-day without offering much resistance. They watched the game draw away from them and into the old man's pocket during the first three innings, and seemed unable to do anything to head it haved very badly in the box. He gave ten haved very badly in the box. He gave ten bases on balls to the Chicago batsmen and the same generosity allowed them ten base hits. Hutchinson spent a very quiet afternoon and finished out the nine innings without sweating his shirt a little bit. Sales, the Pittsburgshortstop, played his position very loosely.

Two runs were scored up for the Chicagos at the end of the second inning. Both of them were started by bases on balls. Seven more buttons were shoved up in the string when the third inning was over. They were made on five hits, including an introductory three-baser by Wilmot, three bases on balls and a series of errors. Foster made the rounds in the next inning and Carroll and Wilmot both touched all the bases in the seventh. The visitors were given a couple of runs in the fifth round, and a couple more were dropped in for them in the sixth and seventh. The score:

CUT DOWN THE SALARY.

PUSHING A GAS LINE. Chicago Rejoicing at the Prospect of Soon Obtaining

A SUPPLY OF PITTSBURG FUEL. Large Territory Leased in Hoosierdom From Which Pipes

WILL BE LAID STRAIGHT TO THE CITY

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. CHICAGO, September 9. - The Chicago public, which has long been envious of Pittsburg, Indianapolis, Detroit and other cities which are supplied with natural gas has just discovered that an abundant supply is at their very doors, and that the only things that remains to be done before the new fuel blazes brightly at their hearths, are the arranging of a dicker between their City Council and the Standard Oil Company and the laying of a few miles of pipe. The field from which the gas supply is to be drawn lies in Madison, Grant, Howard and Tipton counties, a little north of the center of Indiana and about 130 miles distant from Chicago. There at least 75,000 acres of land have been put under lease within the last year mainly through the efforts of John Ziegler, a Pennsylvania German, who has long been in the employ of the Standard, and who secured for it a large part of its was land in the Lima field.

MADE GOOD BARGAINS. Ziegler made his headquarters at Kokomo, in Howard county, and obtained the leases in his own name, or rather in the name of Smith & Ziegler, but the Smith of the firm Smith & Ziegler, but the Smith of the firm has never yet been made known to persons dealing with it. Being an old hand at the gas and oil business, and the Indiana farmers being inexperienced, he was able to make very good bargains, and so the Standard people. being the first on the ground, have been enabled to obtain their property at a minimum cost. The pipe line has been built by the Columbus Construction Company for quite a distance southeast from pany for quite a distance southeast from Chicago, and the work which has been done during the last few days has been to cross the Kankakee marshes while they are dry enough to admit of work being done. Pipe is also being delivered this week at the southern extremity of the line near Koko-mo, and presumably the work of construction will soon be under way there.

The pipe line is remarkable in some respects. It is only eight inches in diameter and uniform throughout its entire length. Besides it is made of cast iron pipe. It puzzles a great many people, even those who have had experience with natural gas, to see how, with that sort of a conductor, the gas is to be conveyed in sufficient quantities for so great a distance. If the pressure is great the leakage must increase and the friction who is a serious obstacle.

"There would be some sense in it if they were building a 30-inch pipe," said a well-known Chicago engineer. "It would carry 15 times as much gas and with much less resistance to overcome. A BIG TERRITORY LEASED. The men who are doing the work do not talk about their plans. It is said that numerous wells have been sunk and plugged, and the results have been so encouraging that the force of drillers has been doubled. Seven gangs of men are now at work. It is said that the wells average about 3,000,000 feet per day, and that the usual pressure is in excess of 300 pounds. If that is true the supply to be obtained for Chicago, from 75,-000 acres of gas territory, is a large one and but for light manufacturing purposes as But, welcome as the new fuel is, the fact that it comes under Standard Oil auspices makes everybody suspicious of it. Under cover of the franchises of the Hyde Park dary. The pipe is on the ground, and there is great unessiness lest the Standard people may, by a sudden stroke, put down their pipe and fight it out with the City Council afterward. If it does not an ordinance is likely to be passed this fall granting the privilege with restrictions which shall limit the price and compel the natural gas people to supply manufacturers as well as private consumers, and at a rate which will enable them to compete on even terms with like consumers in other cities. Doubtless an attempt will be made also to compel payment for the franchise of about 5 per cent of the gross income of the company. The opera-Indiana line has created a great boom for

The Allegheny City Organist's Remuneration Reduced in Committee-Popular Sub-scription to Make It Up-A Spley Bit of Conversation Overheard.

Councils held a regular meeting last night at which the principal business discussed was the salary of the organist of the city. Mr. Edwin Lare had read the ordinance unanimously reported to Councils from the City Property Committee, fixing the organist's salary at $1,200 per annum, and made a strong argument in favor of its terms, insalary at $1,200 per annum, and made a strong argument in favor of its terms, instancing the great success of the free recitals and their hold on the popular mind. Mr. Gochran wanted the ordinance indefinitely postponed. He said the recitals were "fol-de-roi," and that taxpayers would not calmly stand by and see money squandered for such amusements. On being questioned by members, Mr. Cochran said he was opposed to paying any salary at all for "two hours fumbling over the organ," and that there was too much money being wasted to suit him.

After a tedious harangue upon the woes of taxpayers, Mr. Cochran ceased, and Arthur Kennedy made a plea for the continuance of the recitals and a proper remuneration of the organist. He said that the public benefit was so great that he was surprised to hear unfavorable expressions from any source, and that Mr. Carnegie's ideas were being so clearly carried out by Mr. Wales that it would be a public loss if the recitals ceased. Mr. Kennedy pledged himself to raise $600 per annum by popular subscription, after the committee voted Mr. Cochran down and reduced the salary to $600 per annum, saying he would give $100 himself.

After the committee adjourned, Mr. Wales stepped up to Mr. Cochran and said: "You don't seem to like music?"

Mr. Cochran said he didn't. Mr. Wales then said: "It would be a good thing for Allegheny if you would move away."

An exciting collequy then ensued, which Mr. Wales closed by saying that "all Mr. Cochran needed to be a regular 'Holman' was a chin whisker and some navy tobacco."
