ANOTHER DAY OF DELAY IN THE HOUSE.

The Democra's Are Filibustering to Prevent the Seating of Langsten, the Colored Contestant From Virginia.

PLANS PROPOSED FOR THE REAPPORTIONMENT

Another step has been taken toward making the tariff bill a law. It passed the Senate last evening by a party vote, and conferees were appointed. A bitter struggle between the two branches is expected upon the metal, sugar and other sections. So many members of the House are away campaigning that it is impossible to secure a [SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] WASHINGTON, September 10 .- The mere formality of making closing speeches and taking the final vote on the tariff bill today was attended by no incident outside of the monotonous, with the exception of the speech of Senator Hiscock, which was characterized by a partisan virulence and lack of dignity throughout, which made it sound more like an echo from some of the recent speeches of certain members of the House than a speech in the solemn atmosphere of the Senate.

It afforded an exceedingly disagreeable feature to most of the Senators of the finale of a protracted discussion which has been conducted throughout with remarkable courtesy on both sides, considering the who had been counted to make the quorum. warm party feeling that was at times ex- On the largest vote the aggregate fell 25 hibited.

By a Strict Party Vote.

The final vote was a strict party affair, as was to have been expected, the Senators up their filibustering as long as possible, and force a recall of Republicans who are at nal differences of opinion while considering the bill by paragraphs. It is said that the majority in the House will instruct their conferees to adhere firmly to the conditions of the House bill in most of the items of the give in rather than make a long fight, as it is of great importance that members of the House should get home to look after their fences, while Senators do not care if they are kept here until the beginning of the short session.

A Determined Fight Probable.

But a great outside pressure is being brought to bear on the Republican leaders in the House to induce them to force their figures on the Senate and a determined fight is the probability. Messrs. Aldrich, Sherman, Allison, Hiscock, McPherson, Vance and Carlisle have been appointed conferees on the part of the Senate.

The closing debate was opened by Senator Hoar. Referring to the reciprocity proposition, he said that he had voted for it vesterday with some hesitation, and should not have done so if he had thought that the scheme contained in the amendment was all that was likely to come out of entering on that policy.

Scarcely hear of the amendment was all 22 would crowd every corner. Judging from expressions from members and others to-night there is at this time a majority in

There was some great constitutional difficulties in the way which had been ably stated by Mr. Evarts. He, however, regarded the amendment rather as a declaration of purpose than as a definition of legislative policy, and it was in that view that he had given it his support.

Bitter Arraignment of the Democrats. Mr. Hiscock commenced his speech with a bitter arraignment of Democratic Senators, who, he said, had surpassed their predecessors and themselves in charlatanism. demagogism, misrepresentation and insincere professions of devotion to the industrial interests of the country, Every effort, Mr. Hiscock said, to provide free homes and secure free speech for the laboring classes had been resisted by the Democratic party up to 1861 by every method which statesmanship could devise and ruffianism execute, and the last great effort had culminated in civil

And that party had since then opposed all measures that looked to the elevation and to the assurance of equal rights of the laboring classes of the old slave States. And yet the representatives of the Democratic party, with an unparalleled audacity, proclaimed that the motive which actuated them was elevation of American labor and the pros perity of American industries and of the common country. Coming directly to the tariff bill, Mr. Hiscock asserted that it had not been constructed with a view to injure commerce, but rather to create and foster

Loss of a Million in Louislana.

Then a Democratic Senator took the floor. Mr. Gibson called attention to some points in the snear schedule under which he said the whole sugar crop of Louisiana would be forced upon the market at a sacrifice of not less than a million or a million and a half of dollars which would be added to the profits of the Sugar Trust. He wished to ave the Senate conferees made acquainted with the fact.

THE INOUIRY LIMITED. DECISION OF THE COMMITTEE IN THE

Pension Office Chief Testifies That Work is Being Hurriedly and Improperly Performed-Some Cases Retarded by the Completed Files Order.

WASHINGTON, September 10 .- In the Raum investigation to-day Chairman Morrill proceeded to pass upon the question raised as to the relevancy of the testimony offered yesterday by Mr. Cooper, relating to the character of the refrigerator company's stock, and ruled it out. Mr. Flick, a maority member, said that he took the same view, regarding the testimony as irrelevant at this time and without relation to the charges contained in the resolution of investigation. Mr. Lewis, the minority member, entered his protest against the narrow limitation, holding that the character of the stock was one of the counts of the indictment, but by a party vote the Chairman's ruling was sustained Assistant Chief Bryant, of the Pension Office, testified that the completed cases order had expedited the settlement of some claims and retarded others. The completed cases received preference over other cases, which were delayed to that extent. He knew of no case of preference being shown to any particular attorney. He had found that less than 20 per cent of the cases certified to be complete were really complete. To Commissioner Raum witness said that while there had been a larger output of claims under the new order than before, there had been greater haste in the prepara-tion of cases and much rivalry between clerks. He did not say that the work was improperly done, but had called attention to the fact that some examiners were dis-posing of claims in less time than they could be properly considered.

At this point Mr. Cooper thought it was proper that the committee should pass upon his resolution referred to it to extend the scope of the investigation, No decision was made, and the committee adjourned.

ALL BUSINESS IS BLOCKED By the Democrats to Prevent the Seating

of the Negro Langston. FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT, 1 WASHINGTON, September 10 .- It has been very evident for several days that before the House can transact any business all members absent without leave will have to be called back, and it is probable that some such motion as that proposed by Mr. Hangen this afternoon, to revoke all leaves, except on account of illness, will have to be adopted. It was impossible to even count a quorum either yesterday or to-day, though peaker Burrows pretended to have done so. When that was disputed by Mr. O'Ferrall he was unable to show the names of those short of a quorum. The Democrats, under the lead at present of O'Ferrall, who has charge of Democratic interests in the Langston-Venable contest, are determined to keep

The Republican Members in Favor of Increasing the Basis of Representation. PROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENTA

WASHINGTON, September 10 .- While the Dunnell reapportionment bill is conceded to be quite fair to all sections in its equitable distribution of the increase of members, it will meet with a good deal of opposition solely on account of that increase. The House is so much of a bear garden now. for most of the time, that those members who are sticklers for order and dignity are much opposed to any increase. The 332 members which form the present number, fill the chamber, and those of the back seats can scarcely hear or be heard. An increase of favor of retaining the number in the Congress. A reapportionment with that in view would be based upon a proportion of one member to every 193,000 inhabitants, which would leave Pennsylvania at its present representation, as the Dunnell bill would leave it, as the fractional number left after dividing the approximate number of inhabitants of the State, as given by the Census Office, would entitle the State to one more member, which would make 28.

Ohio, in either case, would lose one. A reapportionment on the basis of members to 193,000 inhabitants would result more advantageously for the Northern States than that proposed by the Dunnel bill, and it is thought that for this reason, and with the good argument on their sid that the House is now large enough, the Republicans may conclude to amend the Dunnell bill to enlarge the basis of repre-sentation. The South will be well satisfied with the Dunnell bill.

Runnway Match This Week Which I Clearly in the Line of Precedent-A History That Russ Back to the Last Century. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1

COALTON, PA., September 10.-Miss Stella Manning, aged 16, eloped on Sunday with her second cousin, George Burns, aged 20. They were married the same day in Warren. The girl is the youngest daughter of Uri Manning, a well-known lumber dealer. The young man is the son of Benjamin Burns, a coal merchant, whose wife is a cousin of the girl's mother. There had been no objection to the marriage of the pair, but they apparently preferred to follow a long-established family precedent and elope. George Manning (afterward Colonel Manning) was one of the first settlers in this part of the State. He came from Steu-ben county, N. Y., in 1800, a young man with a bride, who was the daughter of General Wheeler, of Steuben. The Wheelers were an aristocratic family, and young Manning worked for the General. Miss Wheeler fell in love with her father's em-

Wheeler fell in love with her lather's em-ploye, and eloped with him.

Manning grew rich in the lumber business and became a Colonel in the war of 1812.

In 1819 his daughter Elia eloped with Silas Curtin, who was a sawyer in one of her father's mills, and whose suit for his daughter's hand Colonel Manning had frowned on most emphatically. Three frowned on most emphatically. Three years later another daughter eloped and married a young doctor, whose practice was barely sufficient to pay for his own living. He died only a year ago, however, worth a quarter of a million dollars. He was Dr. Ambrose Sullivan, the eminent specialist. His money was left to two daughters, both of whom had been compelled to elope or give up the men they had chosen to wed in opposition to their father's commands. Colonel Manning's son, Jason, at the age of 20, fell in love with the 17-year-old daughter of a backwoodsman named Grazely. The Colonel thought he would break up that sttachment by sending his son to Phila-delphia to school. The son went, but two days later it was learned that the backwoodsman's pretty daughter had gone with him. Later on it was learned that the runaways had stopped at Harrisburg, where they were married.

Colonel Manning had the youthful couple brought back, and when he died Jason succeeded to the management of his father's large business enterprises. There were born to him and his backwoods wife a son and a daughter. In 1868 the son Uri was 33 years old and wanted to marry Stella Me-Crea, who was five years his junior. His father and Malcolm McCrea, the girl's father, were at odds over business matters, and both he and McCrea were violently opposed to any union of the families. Young Url Manning having parental precedent, as his father had had before him, simply settled all dispute in the matter by running away with Miss McCrea and marrying her. The next year Uri's sister Jennie, being then 20, having also accepted as her lover a youth not to the liking of either her father or mother, eloped with him and married nim. His name was George McCormick, and he is now a well-known and prosperous lawyer of Northern Pennsylvania. As yet there have been no elopements in this branch of old Colonel Manning's tamily, but it was Uri Manning's daughter Stella who eloped on Sunday with her second cousin, George Burns. There are several collateral branches of the Manning family in which elopements have also occurred rom time to time during the past few years.

WHOLESALE KIDNAPING PLANNED,

Kansas City Men Who Expected to Make the Business Profitable.

KANSAS CITY, September 10.-An audacious plan which contemplated the wholesale kidnaping of children, for ransom, was revealed to-day when the grand jury found a true bill for that offense against Henry C. Wilson, who keeps a feed and livery stable at No. 2037 East Eighteenth street. The plan was to kidnap the children of wealthy parents, conduct them to a secret place in some distant State and keep them there until their ransom should be paid. Wilson took for an accomplice the coachman of Mrs. Jeff Dunlap, a wealthy widow, living on McGee street. Mrs. Dunlap's 3-year-old boy was to have been the first. Then the 4-year-old son of James H. Arnold was to have been kidthers were to have been kidnaped.

The plan was all laid to kidnap the Dunlap child when the coachman weakened and onfessed his part in the contemplated crime When Wilson went to the vicinity of Mrs. Dunlap's residence last Saturday to carry out the first part of his plan an office placed him under arrest. To-day the grand Reed and Boutelle Allied Against Blaine and the Senators.

HARRISON INDORSED BY THE HOOSIERS.

Farmer Selected to Head the Ticket by the Indiana Convention.

Reed and Boutelle have declared war against Blaine and the Maine Senators. The office of Collector of the Port at Portland is at stake. Boutelle is also anxious to secure Hale's seat in the upper branch of Cougress.

PERCIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR. AUGUSTA, ME., September 10 .- Con gressman Boutelle, the doughty warrior of the Fourth Maine district, has taken upor himself the duty of moralizing on the results of the campaign just over. Mr. Boutelle, as editor of the Bangor Whig, writes as the leading editorial of that paper this morning under the head, "The Lessons of the Victory:"

We are glad to note in the President's con gratulatory telegram that the official head of the party recognizes that the Speaker of the House of Representatives has a Pepublica constituency behind him who are entitled to respect, and it is not too much to hope that the courtesy due to the reputation and character of the distinguished Congressman from the First Maine district in regard to public ap pointments at his home, will not be longer withheld at the demand or desire of anybody. It is a matter of that a Democratic Collector of Customs in the city of Portland has been already held over several months beyond his full term, because the Senators from this State have insisted upon being allowed to select his Republican successor, with entire disregard and even contempt for the wishes or judgment of the mem-ber of Congress, who now holds the second office under our Government, and who has just received so remarkable a manifestation of the confidence of his people.

Then referring to Reed's unprecedented majority the editorial adds:

For any persons residing outside the limits of Reed's district to demand that an appointment hostile to Speaker Reed shall be made in his own city by a Republican administration is of the very essense of an arrogant political bossism that will not be tolerated by its people when their attention is called to it. The attempt of any set of men to dominate the politics of this State by farming out patronage and organizing treacherous warfare upon all who may even fall under suspicion of standing in their way will never succeed in the present enlightened stage of public affairs. The Republicans of Maine cannot be held in leading strings by any self-appointed rulers, and they will indignantly resent unseemly interference with the exercise of their political rights, whether it be the attempt, however unsuccessful, to organize majority the editorial adds:

THE ENTIRE MACHINERY of the Federal census in political hostility to the Republican Congressman of one district or to undermine another by packing a Custom House with his enemies, the fair minded Re-publicans of Maine will have none of it, If publicans of mine will have note of it. It county conventions cannot be held without having their members subjected to catechism and threats concerning matters not involved in the pending elections, and if Legislative can-didates are to be bushwhacked and defeated didates are to be bushwhacked and defeated because they refuse to pledge themselves years in advance to somebody's political fortunes, the intelligent rank and file. the Republican party will have something to say about it that will not be misunderstood. We feel that plain speaking is the very best service we can render.

Chairman Manley, of the Republican

State Committee, was seen regarding the matter, but he would say nothing for publication. Other party leaders seem to take warning from Boutelle's rushing to print and are very cautious about committing themselves. It has long been thought that Boutelle's Senatorial aspirations found in Senator Hale an obstacle. In his editorial it is noticed he strikes a blow at the wealthy Senator from Ellsworth in the paragraph re-lating to Federal census, and here the jealousy regarding the appointments crops out. All in all, the editorial fulmination strikes right and left unsparingly and according to a concensus of Republicans in this city, unjustly.

AWATTING DEVELOPMENTS

Developments are watched with the greatest eagerness. Though the leaders keep close-mouthed it is no secret that they think the Fourth district Congressman has decidedly "slopped." No leading Republican papers in the State take any notice of the editorial in evening editions. Democrats are jubilant. Said one of the most prominent in the State: "You now see that our party's talk about the widening breach between Blaine and Reed is all true. Boutelle could not get help from Blaine in his scheme to warm Hale's seat in the Senate, hence the rouble between those two, who before this had been the firmest friends. Boutelle immediately goes over to Reed, and any man who has read Boutelle's paper or his speeches, knew that the fire-eating Congress man and the Czar of the House had formed an alliance. The Fourth district has usually gone with the third, and these, together with help from the Second, have for years dominated State politics. The First district fought Burleigh, and later made an attempt to remove the State House to Portland. They always have been beaten, but the great victory Reed has just won leads him and his friend Boutelle to overestimate their strength, and Boutelle throws down the Soutelle force his district to the support of the First (Reed's) in an attempt to State politics? If not, then the fight he has begun will end in his deteat.'

the Sub-Trensury. NEW YORK, September 10 .- The offer of Secretary Windom to pay one year's interest on the 4 per cent bonds went into effect today and brought a flood of bonds to the Sub-Treasury as soon as the doors were opened. In the first hour over $8,000,000 in bonds were presented and $4,000,000 more were brought in before the close of business. The rush was too great for the force of clerks to meet, and after paying off the interest on the bonds presented they were compelled to change the method and after that a recelpt was given for the bonds and the interest paid later in the day.

The Sub-Treasury officials have been notiied that a block of $17,000,000 in bonds will be presented on Friday and other notices swelling the total in sight to $50,-000,000 have already been received.
