School Children Will be Given Plenty of Ground to Romp and Sport at Will in Schenley Park.

IT WOULD KEEP THEM OFF STEETS.

The Chief of the Department of Public Works Will Not Allow Pittsburg to be Behind New York.

TENNIS COURTS AND CROQUET GROUNDS

Schemes to Make the Second Avenue Park and the Bedford Basin Useful Pinces.

A playground for school children is the latest, and the probabilities are that within the next year or two the youngsters will have a place to romp and play without running any risk of being run down by vehicles on the streets, or having to secure the services of the specter cable car to enable them to get a pair of custom-made wings after a hurried Right from this earth to heaven. One of the places will be at Schenley Park, but it is not every child that can get a nickel for car fare every time it wants to play, so it will be necessary to secure play grounds nearer the heart of the city. As a general rule the children who live in the vicinity of the park have big yards to romp in, and do not need a playground as badly as those living in the city.

In New York City, Buffalo, Baltimore and several other cities there are play grounds for the use of children. In New York the grounds are located along the North and East rivers and on the "stips" or walks between the landing places of the boats. The "slips" are fenced in, and each one is in charge of a member of "the finest," on the children to prevent them from getting into each other's hair. The grounds are favorite places of resort of grandpapas and other old gentlemen who delight to see the children gambol and play, as the thoughts of the old codgers wander back 60 years or more when they were children.

Chief Bigelow, of the Department of Public Works, on his "stopover" in New York while coming home from Europe, happened to learn of the children's play ground, and was much interested in the manner the metropolis looked after the pleasure and health of the coming men and women. The Chief also visited the "meadow" play ground in Central Park, and the thought suggested itself to him to have such a place in Schenley Park. He saw thousands of children running, playing at tag, tumbling on the ground and scrambling up again, and says he never enjoyed anything better. While coming home he began to think of devoting a big snace in Schenley Park where the children could run and tumble at will, "Keep off the grass" will not stare them in the face, and they will not stand in awe of one of Chief Brown's blue-coated minions. In speaking of the matter yesterday, Chief Bigelow said: We will give considerable attention to the children in Schenley Park, and the latter will not only be an ornament, but it have lots of room for them to jump around entered at once. and roll on the grass if they wish to. We will have lawn tennis courts, croquet rounds, swings, sand piles-where mud pies can be made-and everything conducive to the comfort of children. Of course, it will be a little far for some children to go to, but after we get our main entrance built there will be no trouble about getting ground?" "No I would not like that, for the reason that they would not be away from the streets. The Second avenue electric cars run along both sides and ends of the park and it would be the hardest work imaginable to keep the children from climbing over the fence and getting out on the car tracks. Yes, the lower Bedford basin, which will be vacated shortly, could be filled in and an excellent play ground made of it. The air up there is good and several back again to Brooklyn yesterday by the hours of romping would do poor children a wonderful amount of good."

Mayor Gouriey was asked what he thought of the scheme. He said: "It would be a glorious thing if we could get play grounds or the children in the lower part of the city, where they are needed. It is only a matter of time until the downtown schools can be consolidated and playgrounds could be made out of the space the closed ones occupy. In other cities they have places where the children can jump around and tear their clothes as much as they please, and it is seldom that you hear of children being run over while playing in the streets. A great many of the cable and horse car accidents are caused by the little tads being out in the street and running from one side to another. I would like to see Schenley Park always open to the children to run about in, except, of course, where the flowers are planted. The Second Avenue Park would be a good place if there was a high board fence around it, but not otherwise. The best place is the Bedford basin, which could be filled in at a little cost and made attractive for children. I believe in giving the youngsters a chance to play here nstead of in heaven." A MATTER OF MONEY.

Sheriff McCandless, member of the Central Board of Education. "I do not know anything I would like to see in the city better than public play grounds, where the youngsters could run at will and enjoy themselves, but the only objection against it is the enormous values of real estate in the lower part of the city. The price of property is so high that it would be ridiculous to think of purchasing ground. Of course, if the city has space all right, it could not be used to better advantage. In the case of the Bedford basin I do not think it could be put to better use, after it is discontinued for the purposes for which it was built. Schenley Park is a good place, and the Second Avenue Park would be better, although it is small. I do not think there would be much danger from the electric cars if a high board fence was built around it. What good is it doing anybody, anyhow? The angels have been taken away, and even grass won't grow in the park. It is not a beautiful spot by any means, and I for one would be willing to turn it over to the children.

Superintendent of Schools Luckey-I believe every man in the city would be in fa-vor of such a scheme if it could be done, but I do not think we have the room here. I am in tayor of a play ground around each schoolhouse, but the price of property has made this impossible. Some of the schools have big yards, for instance, the Forbes, and the children should be allowed to play inside the inclosures at all times.

A CLOUD BURST HELPS TO SWELL THE FLOOD IN THE ALLEGHENY RIVER.

Stendy Rains Expected for Some Days Yet -High Water May Yet Cause Dumage-A Very Early Fall Frost is Promised Us.

Yesterday witnessed the first good-sized flood of the season in the rivers. Both the Allegheny and Monongahela were swelled to three times their normal sizes, and the water from above is only half bere. It is expected that it will go much higher to-day and to-morrow. The bulk of the water is coming from points on the Allegheny, where the rainfall has been heavier than for many years. During the past few days a huge cloud has hovered over the valley about Parker and Warren. It was thought that the storm would pass over the section, but it started to rain hard Thursday night and has continued incessantly for 48 hours without abating in fury in the least. Six inches of rain fell at Warren in three days, a record unprecedented, and it continued to pour down steadily yesterday with good prospect of adding a few more inches to the tall to-

Most of the water is coming from the Allegheny in consequence, but the Monon-gabela sections are billed to contribute considerable water in the next few days. The storm had a lull at the headwaters of the Monongahela yesterday, but heavy showers are predicted there to-day. Storm bulletins show that 2.01 inches came down in 12 hours at Oil City, which is unusual. This city has experienced but .34 of an inch, but the indications point for much more, however. In the rivers at this point there was a rise of 3 feet 5 inches in the Monongahela, swelling it up to 13 feet and 6 inches, and a rise of 4 feet in the Allegheny during 24 hours; the water will likely come with greater rapidity to-day and to-morrow, when it is calculated the most of it will be here. This storm is only the forerunner of one that is raging in the southwest, which is heading in this direction.

Frost is predicted for to-morrow, to round up the inclement weather. Rivermen say that the rise of this year is a little previous. In the past high water would not put in appearance before the month of October. Even if the rain subsides at the headwaters to-day there will be at least 20 feet of water in the rivers Monday, which is con-sidered dangerous to navigation. It seems almost incredible, but is nevertheless true, that only 13 8-10 feet was in the Ohio at 6 o'clock last night. This cannot be accounted for when the rivers are so much higher

Fears of a general flood are entertained by the railroad companies whose tracks skirt the shores of both rivers, and precautions have been taken to avert the danger which the turbulent streams threaten to make. Both the Little and Big Kanawhs rivers are on the rampage, showing the storm to be in the immediate vicinity of the Monongahela's head. Rain was reported at 49 river stations vesterday, which shows the wide scope of territory embraced by the

The transaction took place a month ago, but the alleged falsity of the representations made by the defendants was only discovered a couple of days ago. Mr. Debe having spoken to his wife of the affair, she denied will be useful to the city. We intend to all knowledge of the matter, and suit was Senator Delamater Makes That Statement to Mansfield People.

AN ADDRESS BY BROAD-AX SMITH.

He Makes a Few of His Characteristic and Old-Time Remarks.

THE PENN AVENUE MILLS VISITED. Senator Delamater was tendered a recen

tion at Mansfield last night by the Republicans of the borough. About 800 people met him at the station. He was escorted to Armory Hall by the Union Cornet Band and a committee of 25 citizens, composed mostly of the merchants and business men of the town.

U pon reaching the hall Dr. J. W. Gilmore was appointed chairman and J. W. Beard secretary of the meeting. Senator Delamater was introduced and made a short address, in which he said: "From my experience during the past week, and particularly from what I have seen and learned, there is no doubt but that the Republican party is still alive and enthusiastic in Allegheny county. I know that bright spark kindled in the hearts of the true citizens 25 years ago is still burning. I am not feeling extra well this evening and consequently will not burden you with a long speech. You all, no doubt, have beard the news from Maine. The re-election of that noble man for Congress,

Thomas B. Reed, shows what a great one the Republican party is. This country should be ruled by majorities. BEARER OF GOOD TIDINGS. "I bring to you this evening the good news that there is no truth in the statement that the Republican party will be beaten this fall. In not only Allegheny especially, but all other counties you will hear of the splendid result in favor of our party next November. I am a candidate for the party because it has adhered to the very same principles adopted 25 years ago. I thank you for the reception tendered me to-night. I come to you representing that grand party which has done so much for you in the past. I thank God that the same inspiration that inspired Abraham Lincoln is still in the Republican party."

Colonel Andrew E. Stewart, candidate for Congress from the Twenty-fourth Congressional district, addressed the people for a few minutes in regard to his candidacy for Congressional honors. In his address he said: "I feel sure that I am going to get there. I feel that it is going to come, and I will try and put my brain to work so that I will please the people."

"Broad-Ax" Smith, who always happens to be around, said: "I thought I would just drop in and give the meeting a little coloring. Let me tell you this, if the white Republicans stick as clear to the party as Republicans stick as close to the party as most of the colored people do, we would not have to be troubled with people flopping.

HIS THREE PRIDES. "However, there are a few colored people who went over to the Democratic side to be fooled. There are three things I pride my-self in. The first is that I am black, the second that I am a Methodist and the third and best that I am a Republican. I have known Senator Delamater ever since he was born, and knew his father long before he did, so you see I know who I am speaking of. The Democratic party is a great one for reform. Democrats tell me they wish I would get out of here because I can control the colored people of the county. May the Lord let me live at least as long as the Democratic party lives. I am not talking for an office, I would not take anything unden the Presidence but hitch are no feet. den the Presidency but hitch me up for that office and see how fast I run. But I can't be President. It is much more possible for me to turn white. I would not let a black Democrat sleep in my hencoop—at least if there was a chicken there. I eat three square meals a day and have a clear

Assistant Postmaster Edwards, of the Pittaburg postoffice, delivered the closing address. He spoke for a few minutes in regard to Governor Pattison's record as com-pared with Delamater's.

Senator Delamater, in company with Colonel Andrew E. Stewart, then took a stand in the rear of the hall, and was introduced to about 300 people by the reception committee. He was then escorted to the station by the band and took the train to Ingram station, where he spent the night with Thomas McFarland.

WITH THE REAWNY SONS In the morning the Senator visited a number of the Penn avenue mills. He was number of the Penn avenue mills. He was escorted by Mayor Gourley, Alderman A. H. Leslie. Hugh Ferguson, Vincent Stevens, W. McCleary, George Gosser, Postmaster James McKeau, Robert

WHOOPING UP PROHIBITION.

The Executive Committee Gets Down to Work and Will Make Things Hum.

The Allegheny County Prohibition Executive Committee met yesterday afternoon in the new headquarters in the Yoder building. L. T. Yoder was elected Chairman: C. L. Rose, Treasurer; Mrs. A. F. Bryce, Secretary, and D. H. Martin, County Organizer. Committees were appointed on finance, meetings, etc., and it was decided to have the campaign lively.

On Monday at 2 o'clock a meeting of the Prohibition workers will be held at the headquarters to lay out the work. The State Committee intends holding 40 meetings at special points at which the candidates will be present.

STEWART ON DECK

Colonel Andy is Not Worrylog Much Over His Prospects. Colonel Andrew Stewart, of Ohio Pvle. The Colonel is on hand to attend the mass meeting to-night, and went to Mansfield with Delamater last evening. He said some of his friends were afraid that he would not be elected, but he was not worrying much about it. His opponent, Mr. Craig, has been hustling at the county fairs.

THE INNOCENT SUFFERED,

An Alle gheny Citizen Rescues a Young Gir

and is Locked Up. J. C. Hershberger and William Kearney, two Pittsburg and Western brakemen, were arrested last night for acting in a disorderly manner on the Sixth street bridge. About 8 o'clock they were going over the bridge and met a young girl about 14 years of age who naturally objected to the men throwing their arms about her.

John Marshall, an Allegheny citizen was passing along at the time and interfered. He collared Hershberger and brought him to the Pittsburg side, where the bridge officer succeeded in distinguishing himself by arresting both Marshall and Hershberger. It was another case of the innocen man being made to suffer and Marshall pro tested, but it did him no good. At the Central station he was locked up, but afterward released upon leaving a deposit of $10.
After Marshall and Hershbeiger had beer locked up Kearney appeared and wasted to get his partner out. This is what Inspector McAleese was looking for, and be ore Kearney had time to say "beans" he was hustled back and locked up. He was afterward released with Hershberger on forfeits of $30 each.

ON POLICE EXHIBITION.

An Information to be Made Against Tooley and Jordan To-day.

When the night force of police of the First district went on duty at the Central station last night, Inspector McAleese directed that Tooley and Jorden, the two men who were arrested by Detective Fitzgerald for collecting subscriptions for a bogus beneficial association of the Amalgamated Association, be brought from their cell. They were placed in full view of the officers, who were told to take a good look at them. Who the men were was stated, the officers told to keep an eye on them if they ever saw them about. The exhibition took all the spirit out of the prisoners, and in a shametaced manner. Detective Fitzgerald yesterday inter viewed a number of persons whose names were on the subscription book kept by the men. He secured a quantity of evidence against them, and the amount they are known to have obtained in sums of from $2 to $5 will run over $1,000. Inspector Aleese will make information against them to-day, charging them with obtaining money under false pretenses.

PREPARING TO QUIT

Green Glass Men Are Opposed to the Management of the Knights.

WHAT JOHN COFFEY HAS TO SAY.

Eastern District Men Unanimously Desire to Leave the Order.

THEY TALKED OF IT THERE YEARS AGO

Ex-Master Workman John Coffey, of the former Eastern division of the green glass blowers, arrived in town yesterday morning. He will, if he can make suitable arrangements, take up a permanent residence here. He was present at the usual meeting of L. A. 6111 last evening, and took part in

Mr. Coffey has a strong following here, and his arrival, and probable residence here, is not without considerable interest. It is an open secret now that the withdrawal of the green glass blowers from the Knights of Labor is only a question of time. On this question there is division in the craft, but it s stated that those in favor of a withdrawal are growing in numbers to the disadvantage of the supporters of the order. It may said that there are two sections, one led by John Coffey and the other by Louis Arrington, the present National Master Workman. The latter official is credited with being an earnest supporter of the powers that be, and consequently adverse to a severance of his craft from the order, while those members who look to John Coffey as their representative are for drawing out. That dissatis faction with the present management of the body was prevalent among the bottle blowers was mentioned some months ago in these columns, and it was then predicted that the end of the trade

A COMPLETE WITHDRAWAL and a federation with the flint glass workers. This movement is now said to be well advanced, and the convention in next June will end the matter as far as the Knights of Labor are concerned. The feeling in favor of a withdrawal is strongest in the Bast, and is of pretty considerable strength here, too. Mr. Coffey was asked last night to indicate how far this feeling had spread.

"I can only speak with any degree of certainty of the East," he said, "and there I know the feeling of antagon ism to the order to be very strong. The Eastern division of Green Glass Blowers would have drawn out three years ago but for a feeling that, under the circumstances, they could not do so with any degree of bonor. These circumstances were the position in which the division stood with regard to the order. It had obtained a loan of $7,000 to carry on the strike, and while it was outstanding they could not move."

they could not move."
"The feeling against the present manage-"The feeling against the present management of the order is very strong. While I am a firm believer in the principles of the Knights of Labor, I cannot support the methods of the existing management. Powderly's methods are those of an autocrat who disposes of people as he chooses, and without cause or reason. His methods of conducting the hungings of the order have considerable. the business of the order have exused much dissatisfaction among the craft, for whom, I hold, he has never done very much. That this feeling should find vent in a desire to draw out of the body is not surprising.

A DISCOURAGING OUTLOOK. "The condition of the craft in the East is ot very encouraging. There are about 1,000 non-union and 1,000 unionists at work. Several factories have been lost to the organization this year. Mr. Powderly de-clares that the order is not a striking order. How are we to at-tempt any redress of grievances which we conceive we are entitled to take action upon, if we cannot stand out in support of our ciaims? The Knights of Labor are no longer able or willing to give us the back-ing we desire, and the natural result will follow."

Mr. Coffey has a large number of friends here. It he elects to remain he will make, it is said, many friends more, and be sent to the June convention as a delegate from the Assembly. Indications point to a lively time in the organization, with a result of the victory of the secessionists.

At the weekly meeting last night considerable discussion waged around the con-struction of a rule made at the convention at Baltimore. It was heretofore the custom tor boys to fill the molds for the blowers, and a rule was made at the convention dis-pensing with the boys, thus throwing additional work on the men. Against this rule a section of the men have since made a vigorous protest, and, in fact, have disregarded it. A certain amount of friction then ensued between the supporters of the rule and its opponents, and, as a result of the meeting last night, Master Workman Regif elected to leave the matter to National Master Workman Louis Arrington,

John Coffey Here. Mr. John Coffey, ex-Master Workman of the Eastern district green glass blowers, arrived in town yesterday. Mr. Coffey is contemplating taking up a permanent residence here. While completing his arrangements he will be the guest of J. M. Miller, Patrick Havey, Joseph Hirsch and Gilbert V. Buxton, all of whom are well-known as representative men in the craft. Mr. Coffey has been offered a place in the American

A Stranger Distakes the Anderson for Rallroad Depot.

The Anderson is often mistaken for the Bijou Theater by children and couples with corn tassels in their hair. It frequently happens that a bucolic pair will march through the inviting corridor, up the broad stairway to the second floor and apply at the dining room door for tickets to the show The other day two small children with The other day two small children with tickets to the gallerv wandered into the hotel and were leoking for their seats, but the climax was capped yesterday when a tall stranger, wearing a red flannel shirt and carrying a large bundle under his arm, took the house for a railroad depot. Chief Clerk Crosby happened to be in the points, and the dialogue that followed furnished considerable amusement for those around the desk counter.

"When does the train leave for Bowles-

"When does the train leave for Rowles burg?" the stranger asked,
"Never heard of the place," Crosby an

"Sure, don't you know that is where they are building the big bridge,"
"Oh, I believe I have heard about it. Go over to the depot in Allegheny."
"But can't I take a train here."

"No, you cant." "Blast your eyes, young man, when I ask questions in a depot I want a decent an-

"This is not a depot," replied Crosby with a twinkle in his eye. "This is a hotel." "Oh," said the man with the flannel lirt, "say nothing about it. Excuse me," and taking a good grip on his big bundle he slunk out of the door and started for Alle-

AFTER TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS

Rev. J. R. Johnson, of Washingtor, Pa., is Called From the Pulpit. Rev. J. R. Johnson, D. D., who has een pastor of the United Presbyterian Church at Washington, Pa., for the past 27 years, died at his residence in that place at 7 o'clock last evening, of Bright's disease. Dr. Johnson was born 62 years ago at Mereer, Pa., and is well known in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, having been Associate Editor of the Presbyterian Banner of this city, for a number of years. His wife and two children, Mary and Eruest, survive him. The funeral will take place from the church of which he was pastor for so long, at 1:30 o'clock on Monday alternoon. ASSIGNEE'S REPORT READY.

Lawrence Bank D spositors May Get Some Money Soon. A statement that will interest all of the depositors of the Lawrence Bank was made last evening by a prominent member of the Depositors' Committee.

He stated that he had visited the Fidelity

the bank, and was informed that the company was almost prepared to file a state-ment of the financial condition of the old bank and also to declare a dividend. The statement will likely be filed next week.

IN HER NIGHT DRESS.

Bedy of a Supposed Somnambulist Found the Monon River. The body of an unknown woman was found in the Monongahela river at Brown's station, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, yesterday afternoon. It was badly decomposed, and had evidently been in the water some time. It was the corpse of a woman about 25 years of age, with long dark hair, and weighing about 115 pounds. The only cloth-ing on the body was a nightgown. It was brought to the morgue to await identificaelse. An instrument coming from Kleber's store, be it a Steinway, Conover, Gabler or Opera piane, or Burdette or Earhuff organ, is always preferred.

The Messrs. Kleber & Bro, have had such an extraordinary run of business in the sale of pianos, organs and other instruments that they have actually found no time to prepare a show for the Exposition. However, they save at least $1,000 by this inability to be at the show, and they propose to give their customers the benefit by a proportionate reduction on the price of their goods, so that anyone buying a piano or organ at Kleber's during the Fair will get an extra 5 per cent thrown off from the regular lowest price. Call at H. Kleber & Bro.'s, 506 Wood street, three doors from Fifth avenue, and convince yourself of the extraordinary bargains thus offered by the Klebers. Kleber Bro.'s is the oldest and safest music house to deal at, and they warrant their instruments for eight long years, and sell on easy time paymenta. While other dealers sit around complaining of hard times, the Kleber Bros. are kept as busy as bees. Don't fail to call at Klebers', 506 Wood street.

SOLEMN, BEAUTIFUL CEREMONIES.

The Great Day of Atenement and the Feast of the Tabernacle.

A VERY IMPORTANT MONTH IN THE YEAR

The Hebrew New Year will be celebrated in Pittsburg this year as usual, though perhaps on a more elaborate scale. The new year, beginning Sunday evening at sunset, is popularly supposed to be the beginning of the year 5651, dating from Adam's appearance in the Garden of Eden. This, however, is wrong. It is the beginning of the seventh month, Lishri, and four months must have rolled around before the real beginning of the new year, the first month of which is known as Nisam. The figure "7" is usually considered holy among the Hebrews for several reasons. The seventh day is the Sabbath, and in the seventh month comes the day of atonement, the feast of the tabernacle, and in fact all the leading religious services of the year.

The New Year to be celebrated is the religious New Year. This does not refer to the calendar, but is a time when the religious feasts of the year are had, and all worldly thinge are laid aside for the time

DAY OF ATONEMENT.

Following "New Year's" Day come ten days of repentance, when the day of atonement arrives. The services on this day are very solemn, and continue from sunset on the first day until sunset on the next. There are 24 hours of fasting and prayer. The feast of the tabernacle, lasting seven days, follows this service, and is to commemorate the time when Israel was fleeing from Egypt and spent 40 days in the wilderness. In olden times the people all lived in huts luring the seven days of this feast, and even now in some parts of the country the people build huts of boards and roof them over with branches of olives, etc. In these huts they take their meals during the seven days of the feast of the tabernacle. Of course there are religious services at intervals in all these feasts, and they are at-tended by all with whom it is possible. The Hebrews as a nation had the beginning of their commercial year in the early spring in the month of Nisom. That cor-responds to the modern New Year. The religious New Year is celebrated somewhat after the style of the Gentiles' holiday by

There is no strictly orthodox Hebrew Synagogue in Pittsburg, and the one on Grant and Third avenue is between the orthodox and the Reformed Church. They celebrate two days of the new year, beginning Sunday at sun down and continuing until Tuesday evening. They have their regular evening prayer service Sunday even-ing, and the Monday's service begins at 7 o'clock and lasts until noon. Rev. Brodie assists in the prayer service and Rev. Burn-stein preaches at 9 o'clock. Following are the ten days of penitence and the day of atonement services and fast, which lasts 24

Mr. Myer said yesterday: "The character of the feast is mentioned in the Bible as the day of memorial and it was, in course of time, celebrated as New Year's because the seventh Hebrew month called Lishri, was considered during the time of the temple as the most important season of the year. The day of atonement, the barvest feast, and all the great religious ceremonies connected with it make this month, the beginning of a new religious
