"The greatest demand is for butlers and some of the wealthiest people of Pittsburg and Allegheny have sent to the South for their men. While a first-class butler in the South gets very little more than his keep, here one well recommended receives $25 per month and the demand can hardly be supplied. There are also many calls for valets and two were secured recently for Philadelphia. There are not so many wanted in Pittsburg as further East.

GLAD TO COME.

"Mr. Peregrine finds a great many calls for farm hands and often a man and his wife are wanted at the same place. A farm hand considers the $15 a month he receives here a very high salary and there is no difficulty in securing all of this class of labor wanted.

"When a Pittsburg lady wants a colored servant from the South she pays us enough money to pay the expenses from their homes here, and when they arrive a contract is drawn up in which they agree to work at this place until she has paid back this money. Then if she is not satisfied she can leave upon a week's notice. It her employer doesn't want her they must also give her a week's notice or pay a week's wages in advance.

"The orders for laborers at the shops are not so numerous as for house servants, but a great number of colored men are brought to the city every few days. They get $9 a week, whereas in Virginia the highest paid for this class of work is $4 50. Mr. Peregrino has made it a point never to take or-ders for men to take the place of strikers and has made a great many friends for this

"When the people are brought here we give them their meals at the office and then take them around to their places of employ ment. Everybody is satisfied with the serv ants we secure for them, and the complaints are very few. Indeed, the colored people from the South seem to be more civilized than the Northerners."

JUST A LITTLE PECULIAR.

How Frenks by Some Oddity Will Work to Attract Attection.

Charles Lamb used to advise people neve to appear odd. Eather be a few days behind the fashion than ahead of it, but never so far in the rear as to cause comment. With all this gratuitous advice it is strange what freaks you sometimes see on the streets and in public places.

A man at the Union depot the other evening was the cause of considerable comment of the sarcastic and ridiculous order. He didn't look like one who wished to attract attention, but he did anyhow. He wore an immense hat, after the style of a policeman's helmet that came down over his ears, and carried in his hand a long staff tipped with iron that an Alpine climber would use. Not content with occupying a seat he paraded up and down the depot for several hours. and missed his train to give the people : better chance to gaze at him. He looked like a preacher and his gaunt frame plainly indicated that he had not been well ied. He had probably been spending a lew days in the mountains, and with the assistance of his spear had climbed to the dizzy height o some knoll, where with poetic vision he had viewed the landscape o'er.

SINGEING THE HAIR.

It is Supposed to Close Up the Ends and Keep the Oil From Escaping.

"Have any new ideas of late been introduced in your trade?" was asked of a barber yesterday.

"Nothing," he replied, "except it be singeing the hair, and that is not particularly new. Some people claim it helps the hair. but I am not satisfied on that point. The hair is hollow and when it is cut the ends ar, open, and the nutriment escapes into the air. Singeing is supposed to close up the ends, and assist the hair to hold its own in the struggle for existence. It is performed after the hair is out, or when it is not long

While at home I assisted in the work of the house, my mother and myself doing all the work for a tamily of eight people. I have never been on exhibition, but will try to arrange dates in all the large cities after my engagement with Mr. Davis expires. "I am having a dress made to-day and there will be 90 yards of material used in it. That's enough to break up a person with a small pocketbook." Miss Beck is certainly "charmingly immense." and if she continues to grow she will rival the woman who was sued for damages for having broken the hay scales. Since she has started out to put "footprints in the sands of time" there is danger of the beach being monopolized, and the rest of the poor mortals are liable to be crowded off the stamping grounds. Speaking about big people recalls the story of a family of girls near Mansfield, O., who are so big that they are ashamed of themselves, and never go away from home. The youngest girl is 9 years old and weighs nearly 250 pouns. Two other young ladies reach nearly 400 each. Their parents are both below the ordinary size. As the people are well to do all efforts to bring them before the public have been unavailing.

BAD RESULTS OF THE RAIN.

A Weather Prophet Who Predicts a Severe Storm in a Few Days.

The rain of the past few days is beginning to have its effect in producing bad results. There was a heavy landslide on the Lake Erie at Fallston. The southbound track was blockaded for a good part of yesterday, but side tracks were soon made, and the traffic was not delayed long. A bridge was also washed away on the Newcastle and Shenango Valley road. It is a short but important branch from Newcastle to Middlesex, and in consequence all the Lake Erie coke for this valley had to go yesterday by way of Youngstown. Pickets have been located all along the road to prevent any accidents.

Some weather prophet has predicted a severe storm to occur before the 20th, which will be general in its character and will cause considerable devastation. General Freight Agent Dean remarked that in such a case he would like to seek the secluded shelter of a cyclone pit. The latter are unknown in this country, but are quite common in the West.

By special request of the theatrical profession, the Baltimore and Ohio road will run every Saturday evening a special express to Cincinnati, leaving here at 11:55. press to Cincinnal, reaving here at 11:55. The first of these trains was put on last evening. By this shrewd move the road gobled all the theatrical business in the town this week. Grieves' Specialty Com-pany went to Cincinnati, "Under the Gas-light" people to Louisville and the "Little Puck" Company to Indianapolis. but it is at a standstill," said an agent yesterday. "The volume is steady, but does not increase very much. Cars for coke are scarce, and we are pinched for cars to carry merchandise. This would indicate that business must be brisk in other quarters. The indications for trade this fail, however, are good, and the railroads will continue to have their hands full in handling the business."

races The police lost track of Eckert for a week or two, until last night, when Consta-ble Longenbaker espied him on Carson street, under the influence of liquor. It appears that Eckert saw that his canture was inevitable, and it was only a question of a short time until he would be behind the bars, and soliloquizing thus, he pro-ceeded to make the most of his time, in which Constable Langenbaker said he was succeeding admirably. It was learned that a number of saloons on Carson street were visited by Eckert during the evening, and in every place he went nothing was too fine for him, and displayed a large wad of greenbacks, presumably won at the Butler races.

In one place visited by Eckert the bartender said that he came staggering in and demanded the best the house afforded, stating in an incoherent voice that he had the money to pay for it. wanted it regardless of cost. ECKERT WAS IN IT.

In this condition Constable Langenbaker found Eckert staggering down Carson street, taking up the whole sidewalk, flourishing a number of bank notes in his hands and exclaiming in loud tones, that he was "in it." At the corner of Twelfth street the Constable seized his man and took him before Alderman Beinhauer, who committed him to jail imme-diately where he now languishes and will be unable to be "in it" for some time. Constable Langenbaker said that Eckert was having a good time in every sense of the word, and was sorry to bring his sport to such an abrupt termination, but duty compelled him. Since Eckert's embezzlement was discovered other liverymen have placed strict surveillance on their drivers. It now develops that the hackmen on this side of the river having been getting it in on their employers by carrying parties with-out their knowledge, but a way to prevent any more of it has been found. The firms that have carriages on the street will employ a trusted man to look after their in-terest. Heretofore cabmen were relied upon to make returns for what their vehicles earned while on the street, but the liverymen, on learning of the above case took this precaution, and in the future, they will miss no chances. Liveryman Schaub states that he will push his charge against Eickert to a final

A Small Boy Kill-d on the Fifth Avenue Traction Line Yesterday.

The B. & O. Puts on a Special Cincinnat

At about 11 o'clock yesterday a car on the Fifth avenue cable line collided with John Finley, aged 11 years, who was riding on his bicycle, and the result was that the boy was thrown about 20 feet and was injured so that he died about 5 o'clock. The boy tried to cross the track ahead of the car, but was not quick enough, and when about the cen-ter of the track the car struck him. He was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital, where he died. The body was removed to the home of his parents, at 46 Congress street. THE TABLES TURNED. Martin Ochs Says His Cow Was Maticiously

Mr. Foras Makes a Number of Charges

Against His Wife and Danghter. Mrs. Annie Foran and her daughter Rose Hixon were committed to jail for court, yesterday by Alderman McMasters, on a charge of assault and battery, made by John Foran, husband and father of the women. The testimony at the hearing full: showed, as did also Foran's appearance, that he had received some rough treatment at his bome on Boston street, but was not Jeneral Orders No. 1. conclusive that the women had taken any hand.

The claim of the prosecutor was that they had tried to kill him. He attempted to yrge that his wife and daughter were seeking to get revenge because he had foiled them in an attempt to wrest his property from him, but was sternly silenced by his wife's attorney, who told him that he should feel ashamed of his conduct.

THE POLICE HELD SEVEN OF A KIND. Too Much Noise Leads to the Raiding of a Paker Party. Inspector McKelvey, Special Officers Carrigan and Richards with a squad of officers last night raided the house of Charles H. Hardy, a colored man, at No. 1715 Wright's alley. A game of poker was in progress, but that fact might have been concealed had not Hardy allowed himself to be svercome with drink and excitement and at-tract the attention of the entire neighborhood to himself. . Some of them began to complain, but the annoyance was of short duration, as it was not long until the Inspec-tor and his assistants settled the evening's sport by arresting every person in the house except Mrs. Hardy, who made her escape. Besides Hardy, George West, Walter Butler, William Park, Cal Gray, Harry Blackwell, and William Dixson, ored, were locked up in the Southside sta-
