UNION OF GERMAN PROTESTANTS.

Celebration of the Commencement of the Hebrew New Year.

TALKING TO THEOLOGICAL STUDENTS

Seated on the pavilion at Silver Lake Grove yesterday, surrounded by a forest of trees, which were donning their autumn by members of that sect will be closed toraiment of golden leaves, were about 3,000 day and to-morrow. The holiday of the Reneonle who had assembled to attend the formed Hebrews will end to-night, but the and its disposition may be said to be almost irst union services of the German Protestant churches. Four large congregations, composed of members of St. Peter's Evangelical Church, Allegheny; St. John's, Sharpsburg; St. Peter's, East End, and the First Church, of Millvale, flocked to the devotional exercises at 2 o'clock. The choirs from all four churches were in attendance, and sung hymns in unison. The exercises were conducted by Rev. W. Schae'er, assisted by Rev. W. Helmkamf, tors of the four congregations represented. The services were opened by a hymn by the Millvale Church Choir. At its conclusion Rev. W. Schneler offered prayer. Impromptu sermons were made in English by the four ministers, after which a sermon in German was delivered by each.

Rev. F. Baltzer and Rev. Paul Zeller, pas-

The first sermen of the afternoon was de livered by Rev. F. Baltzer, his text was taken from St. Luke xiv., 22, "And yet there is room." He said:

A WARM WELCOME.

"In calling you together here to-day to a union service we were hope ul that you would attend in great numbers and make this day a successful one. The presence of so many has exceeded my most sanguine expectation. The purpose of this union servas I read not outline as you already know for what reasons we assemble here today. It therefore devolves upon me to extend a welcome to the English-speaking people present and to ask their co-operation in the work we have undertaken. The object upper-most in our minds is to help the poor and ick among you, and with this end in view was decided to meet as a whole. There is only one thought that I would like to imupon which I speak to-day. These words are familiar to us all. They are chosen from the parable of the marriage feast, through which the Savior has shown that those who lemm the word of God are forever denied he fruits of heaven. At the great events which the Bible tells us of, the tables were riental food. The long dining hall was brilliantly illuminated, the gilded walls reflected glistening splendor, over the mbellished apartment, and the long row of tables fairly glowed with gold and silver ornamentation. Nothing was left undone o make ready for a royal feast, and when he servants went forth to bid the guests to enter and partake of the collation, they with one accord refused. The Master did not despair at this unlooked for proceeding, and summoning His army of servants said, 'Go thou quickly to the market place, in the streets and lanes of the city, and bring hither the poor, the maimed, the halt, the blind,' and the servants replied, 'Lord, it is

THERE IS YET ROOM.

"Acknowledging the past remarkable accomplishments in the great field of practical Christian love, we nevertheless must confess

With pleasure we view our great philanthropists donating millions of dollars for libraries and music halls, but into these places the sick and needy are not taken, neither the homeless; but to what greater Christian purpose we could use such insti-tutions were they provided for those unfortunates." Au appropriate hymn was sung at the conclusion of Rev. Mr. Baltzer's dis-

The next speaker was Rev. Mr. Helmkemp, He addressed the audience for half an hour on "True Humanity Only to Be Found Within the Fold of Christianity." He said: "Obedience and faith in the Lord are the requisites of a true Christian, and he whose h in the Lord is not implicit was not a true Christian, but a mere hypocrite and false prophet. Many people professed to be regious, when in reality their interest in God's teachings is but a mere sham."
Rev. W. Helmkemp also delivered a short sermon and was followed by Rev. W.

Schneler, who offered prayer in conclusion, The services were terminated in two hours and a half by the benediction and the singing of a hymn by the vast congregation.

Addressed by Prof. Grier in the Second

Church of Allegbeny. There was a large attendance last night at the Second United Presbyterian Church of Allegheny, at the corner of Sandusky street and Stockton avenue, to hear the introductory address to the students of the Allegheny Theological Seminary delivered by Prof. Grier. The students occupied a prominent position in the main part of the church. The address was from the subject of intant salvation, one of the most difficult questions of theology and one on which so many good men differ. It was not only in ing, but highly instructive, as the professor explained the views of his church

CELEBRATION OF THE CROSS.

Soloma Services Held in St. Paul's Cathedral Ye-terday.

Yesterday the celebration of the cross was held at St. Paul's Cathedral with appropriate services. Rev. Stephen Wall delivered an eloquent sermon, in which he told how, in the time before and after Christ, the cross was used by the Israelites to execute criminals, and since the time the Saviour was crucified on Calvary the cross was held ns an emblem of holiness by the church. The choir, under the leadership of Miss Grace Miller, rendered some excellent

> FEAST OF ROSH-HASHONO. THE HEBREW NEW YEAR BEGAN LAST EVENING.

Orthodox Branch Will Continue It for Another Day-Both Obliged to Fast for 24 Hours-Observance of the Blowing of the Trumpets.

With the setting of the sun last night be gan the Hebrew New Year, and in consequence nearly all the business houses owned orthodox branch will continue the observance of the feast another day. The Eighth Street Temple was a blaze of light and crowded with people last night, who were enger to begin the religious observance of the feast. The services were begun by Mr. Lyon, a young student of the Cincinnati College, who delivered a sermon in English. It was a learned disc the observance of the day and listened to with rapt attention. At 11:30 o'clock this forenoon, Rev. Dr. Mayer, the Rabbi of the church, will conduct the services.

The feast is called in Hebrew Rosh-Hashono, formerly the day of the blowing of the trumpet. According to the Hebrew Testament it is the first day of the seventh mouth, and says "it shall be a holy day of convocation." It is observed all over the world, and will be continued by the Orthodox Hebrews to-morrow.

The Hebrews generally observe ten days of penitence. The last day—Wednesday week—will be the fast day. It is known as Yom Hakeporim, and Hebrews all over the world will be obliged to fast from sundown Tuesday to the same time Wednesday evening. The fifteenth day of Tishrii is known as Socoth, or the Feast of the Tabernacle. It will continue for a period of seven days. The last day is known as the feast of the conclusion, or Atsereth, or the feast of the booths in commemoration of the 40 years of wandering by the Israelites in the wilderness.

There are quite a number of non-believers among the Hebrews as well as among the Christians, and they will pay no attention to the feast beyond the worldly pleasure part of its observance.

GODLESS PUPLIC SCHOOLS.

Rev. E. R. Donehoo Answered in Sharp Terms on That Subject. Rev. J. W. Riddle, pastor of the South a sermon last night on "Our Godless Public Schools." The sermon was deceiving in its character, for the minister, instead of attempting to show up the school system as being godless, answered the sermon of Bay E. B. Donaldon of the color of the minister, instead of attempting to show up the school system as being godless, answered the sermon of the color of the color of the color of the same agency, and his collars, and linen generally, will have received their finishing touches from its content of the color of the colo Nineteenth Street Baptist Church, preached Rev. E. R. Donehoo of a week ago, in pretty strong terms, saying that if the latter gentleman had beed "correctly reported," he had indulged in an uncalled-for arraignment of the public schools, and had infected a gross injustice upon the teaching force in them. "A careful can-vass," said he, "of the teachers in these two cities will not only show their standard of intelligence to be above the average, but that most of them are connected with some one of our evangelical churches, while not a few are devout Catholics.
"My Presbyterian friend displays a wonderful lack of acquaintance with the history of the Bible in the public schools. No other class of people ever objected to it but done as Thou hast commanded, and yet there is room."

other class of people that has ever the Catholics. Everything that has ever been done to lower the standard of the system, every step in the retrogression of the schools has been in the form of concessions to the Catholics, that the schools might be made more acceptable to that class of people.

And they do not want the Bible eliminated that there is yet room. I am incapable, nor would the time permit, to refer you to the numerous hospitals and orphan home throughout our great country erected for the more of them, and as the necessity of these institutions is undisputed, we should fill great bulwark of American liberties. But religious sect—then away goes the cherished American institution—the great bulwark of American liberties. But the Carbellar and telephones were used, and every note was distinctly heard, as was the applause of the audience. The music from the same band was switched and their children must not receive secular education without religious training. We do not ask them to do it. All we ask is, that like others, they get their religious training without looking to the Government to help them, and to cease harping about the injustice of the Government in not doing for them what it does not do for others. It is not the province of the Government to teach religious doctrines and it has no right to contribute funds for that end. Ours is a civil government only and it has a right to tax the people for civil purposes only. We have no union of church and state and this is therefore not a country where religious institutions should receive their support from public funds.

Securing Pledge-Signers. The Moorhead W. C. T. U. held a gospe temperance meeting in their hall last night. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. R. H. Jones, and addressed by E. How Giddy Throngs Dance Through the Aid of the Telephone.

LUXURIES DUE TO ELECTRICITY. The Subtle Fluid Caters Largely to the

Necessities of Man. APPLIANCES FOR OPERATING MOTORS

Improvements in electrical appliances and in the mechanism used in the operation of these appliances, follow so rapidly one on the other, that the uses of the subtle fluid illimitable. The latest appliance for further simplifying the application of electricity for motive purposes is credited to Mr. Luther H. Leber, of Allegheny, who has invented a device whereby the motor and brake power of electric cars may be more easily applied than at present. Travelers over roads whereon electric motors are used are familiar with the fact that the motor man has his right hand engaged with the brake, his left with the rheostat, and in cases of emergency has to pull the bell cord with his teeth. The device referred to simplifies the working of the car very considerably. The rheostat and brake are operated simultaneously. The brake wheel rod is run through the center of the rheostat, and has the spring contact affixed to it in a similar manner as at present. The guide pin showing the amount of current cut on operates, as usual, on the top of the box. When the brake is applied the current is completely cut off from the motor, and only obtains force again when the brake is taken off.

GIVES THE MOTOR MAN A CHANCE. Thus it will be seen that the motorman cannot brake his car with a current on as at present; a practice which is claimed to be costly, in that the field magnets are severely injured, necessitating costly renewals and repairs to the motors. It is said that motormen have not time at present to turn off the current and apply the brake when some sudden obstruction necessitates the ringing of the gong. The device referred to would seem to fill a want by affording the motor-man better facilities for controlling his car.

The use of electricity as an agent for producing power enters more widely into the everyday life of the American citizen than he, sometimes, takes time to consider. When he wakes in the morning to the clingirons operated by electrical power. He will ride to his office in electrically propelled cars, which will also convey him on his business trip, and ascend to his office in an electric motor elevator. His messen-ger boys appear at the touch of an electric outton; he conducts his business on electrically ruled paper, with electrically made pens, and records his transactions in electrically bound books. He talks to his neighbor by means of the same subtle fluid, and records his spoken thoughts through the same agency.

ELECTRIC AMUSEMENTS.

Electricity enters largely into his amuse ments. If too tired to go out, he can enjoy the opera by means of the telephone while smoking a favorite cigar, lighted by elecsmooting a layorite eight, lighted by elec-tricity, in his lounging room, and, if de-sirous of giving a dance, he can appropriate music switched on from one or other of the bands. In short, electricity is cutting itself a wide swath through the necessities of mankind, and the end is not yet.

was in progress, and the guests waltzed with ease and comfort to the music. The music came over the private telephone wire of the owner of the house, and was delivered into

THE REST PLAND

Where Everett Goes Has become one of the trite sayings among the visitors to the Exposition. It is the popular verdict of all who have seen the display of elegant Everett pianos at the rear end of the main building. When the crowd is not listening to the band you will find them listening to these beautiful toned in struments. The best part of it is, that anyone, rich or poor, can own one of them, as they are sold on the club system, and purchasers can, by becoming a member of the club, save $75 from the retail price, and by paving cash can have the piano delivered a nce, by paying $1 per week, will get the piane in a short time, or can arrange to the piano on payment of $25 cash per month in any case. They get the benefit of the wholesale price secured by the clubs in contracting for the large number of pianos. The plan appeals to the common sense of the people, and is very popular.
