CHICAGO, September 15 .- Mr. William E. Curtis, of the Department of State, has submitted to the sub-committee on organization a plan for a Latin-American department at the World's Columbian Exposition. Its chief features are as follows:

There should be a distinct and separate department devoted to Spanish and Portuguese Americans, and within it should be represented as accurately and as compretely as possible by chronological period and geographical divisions the development of civilization from the time of the discovery to the present cay. It begs leave to suggest the following plan:

"Period of the Discovery-First, a model of the house at Genoa in which Columbus was born, with a collection of portraits of himself, his family, etc.

SCENES IN SPAIN.

Second, an illustration of the court of Ferdinand and Isabella, with life-sized figures properly costumed, portraits and facsimiles of state papers, relating to the first voyage and subsequent events in the life of the great discoverer. Third, portrait reproducing the caravel in which Columbus sailed, manned by sailors in the costume of the time, to be moored in or near the grounds of the Exposition, the caravel to be equipped as nearly as possible as it was during the voyage, with originals of fac similes of the compasses and other instru-ments used by navigators of that age; maps of the world as then known, together with the actual charts used by Columbus, if those can be obtained, and, if not, accurate

Fourth, a model in relief of the West India Islands and the north coast of South America, showing the routes of the several woyages made by Columbus and other early discoverers, with historical illustrations, models, relies, etc., of Americus Vespucci, Alousa Ojeda, Nunez DeBalboa and others. MODELS OF NATIVES.

Fifth, life-sized models of the natives of America at the time of the discovery, with a collection of objects showing their costumes, habits, customs and manner of life. Sixth, the last day or Columbus, illustrated with models, portraits, a collection of the original of his papers, sac similes of his last will and testament; exhibits illustrating the circumstances of his death and burial; models of his coffin and tomb and the numerous monuments erected to his memory Pittsh in various parts of the world.

Period of the Conquest—First, the epoch of Cortez, illustrated by models of the ships in which he sailed; the equipment of his men continued for men; costumed figures showing their arms; mautical instruments, maps and charts, showing the advancement in geographical knowledge. Second, models of the temples and palaces of Montezuma, illustrations of the religion, customs and social condition of the Aztees, their industries, modes of agriculture, mode of life, military and po-litical organization, with contumed figures.

BELICS OF OLD TIMES. Third, a similar illustration of the civilitheir palaces and temples, religious emembroidered by Queen Isabella, now in the City Hall at Caracas. Fourth, the prehistoric civilization in Yucatan and Central America, illustrated by models and relics from the rules of the Tollec cities of which

The Colonial Period-First, collections showing the development of the Southern continents from the time of the conquest to the epoch of the Revolution, giving by lessons a continuous history of the Central and South American republies and their progress in civilization, with portraits of their eminent men, and examples of the arts and industries of the colonial periods.

A MIRROR OF THE PRESENT.

Second, the spochs of their evolution, illustrated by portraits, historical pictures and papers, the originals of fac similes of the declarations of independence of the several republies; the weapons and military equipments of the times; relies of Bolivar and other great leaders; and collections tracing the history of the struggle that resulted in the separation of the colonies from the crown of Spain. Third, the develop ment of the Empire of Brazil during the same period to the time of Dom Pedro II. The Period of the Present-The examples illustrating the period of the present should be divided into three classes, viz: First, man, his manner of living and his occupations. Second, the natural resources upon which he works. Third, the results he produces, Ar. Curtis suggests that these exhibits be collections con orming in shape to the American continent, and that the exhibit of each nation be placed according to its geographical position.

UNLAWFUL AND DANGEROUS.

In the present case, if the numerous affidavits filed be true, and they must be accepted as true, until met and answered, it is evident that the defendants and others have been for some the defendants and others have been for some time past, systematically employing unlawful and even dangerous means to hinder and prevent persons from working for the plaintiffs. It is much to be regretted that such an unfortunate state of affairs as the affidavits disclose should exist. Whatever may have brought it about it is clearly the duty of the Court to grant the figuration prayed for, and thus protect the rights of the plaintiffs as well as prevent the defendants from going to such lengths as they themselves might hereafter deplore.

Very Important Reports. At the meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday J. B. Scott, of the Committee on Railroads and Transportation, reported that the railroad companies of both Pittsburg and Allegheny were taking every precaution tending to the safety of grade crossings. Mr. Scott asked that this verbal report be accepted as the final one and the committee be relieved. The report was accepted, but the committee was ordered to still watch the progress which the railroad companies make. Captain John F. Dravo, of the Committee on Rivers and Harbors, presented a report in-dorsing the communication of the Baltimore Corn and Flour Exchange, protesting against the passage of House bill 595, which proposes to grant to a private corporation the use of north pier at the entrance of Buffalo harbor, New York. He also presented a report indorsing the communication from the New York Chamber of Commerce, which is a petition requesting Con-gress to take action relative to preventing overflows of the Mississippi river. Both reports were approved, and copies were ordered to be sent to the members of Con-

HEBREWS' HOLIDAY

Greatly Swells the Usual Monday Crowds at the Exposition.

ELECTRIC FOUNTAIN AND OIL WELL

Great Interest is Manifested in the Vote on Ballot Reform.

SOME OPINIONS GIVEN BY VOTERS

Yesterday was the New Year's holiday of the Hebrews, and this accounts for the unusual Monday crowds in the afternoon and

The feature of the afternoon was the commencement of operations in drilling the oil well. It will be put down 3,000 feet unless oil or gas is struck before reaching that depth, or some unforseen accident causes a

The feature of the evening was the electric fountain. The display was a splendid one. Beginning at 8:15 P. M. the fountain played for the space of about half an hour, sending up volumes of water which kept constantly varying in hue, each jet being by turns blue, green, blood-red, violet, orange, silver and gold. All kinds of combinations were made, the most popular and effective being that of the national colors, red, white and blue, which received tremendous applause each time it appeared.

LOTS OF LIGHT. Through the kindness of the managers Messrs. Thropp and C. C. Hughes, a trip was made to the cellarage, under the foun tain, where the apparatus is secreted. The lamps beneath the five sprays are of 6,000 candle power, and are lighted directly from one incandescent lamp by a new process. The colors in the jets are obtained by the movement of different colored shades over the lamps; and as the Exposition proceeds new and novel colors will be introduced. The men are constantly employed in moving and arranging the employed in moving and arranging the slides and attending to the apparatus. The fountain will begin to play at 8:15 every evening until further notice. During the display a bulletin was posted at THE DISPATCH headquarters calling attention to the fact that the fountain was running.

A POPULAR SUBJECT. Ballot reform was the voting subject at THE DISPATCH headquarters. The ques-tion read: "Are you in favor of the pro-posed ballot reforms to prevent electioneering at the polls, and to give all candidates an equal chance by patting the names of all on the same ticket to be supplied at each polling place at public cost?"

The question is one that is being agitated all over the States, and it immediately caught the eye of a large number of thinking representative men, whose answers could be depended on as the result of a long study of the question. Only those of legal voting age were allowed to place their names on the pollbooks, and the vote was only open to men, as the subject was one that few ladies are supposed to know about. The vote was not a large one, but was of such a character as would voice the senti-ments of a majority, and more votes, from the indications given, would only swell without changing the result. The vote of 145 yeas to 5 nays would indicate that there is a strong and growing sentiment among the masses in this State for a reform in the

THE REASONS GIVEN. THE REASONS GIVEN.

The order to go further in a discussion of the question, a half page of the poll-book was headed at the top of each page "Remarks," Some of the affirmative voters wrote in this column, "Give it a trial," "It's the only fair way." "Down with ward heelers." "Give a good man a chance." "This is what we have wanted for a long time." A large number of voters wrote "Australian system preferred."

One New York gentleman wrote, "Yes for the lorger cities; no for the rural dis-for the larger cities; no for the rural districts. I think that the registration law in New York will result in the defeat of the Republicans at the next elections." Massachusetts man wrote, "Satisfactory in

The only negative voter who took advantage of the "Remarks" column, wrote, "All names on the same ticket opens the loor to even more fraud and stealing than can now be enacted." OPENING FOR AN ARGUMENT. Just as he had finished writing another well dressed gentleman, at this quotation, and after registering his name, city and "yes," wrote, "It the for argument." The two men were seen to away in a steady stream, but what was no-ticeable about the above was his allusion to the "growler."

Inquiry disclosed the fact that all of the employes of the exhibition who desire it are furnished with hot tea at dinner and supper time at the He-No-Tea Hong. It is truly an interesting sight to watch the girls and men coming at dinner or supper time. They form a regular tin-bucket and porce-lam brigade, bearing all sorts of receptacles to get tea in. They are given all they want and then file back to their stands to wan and then hie back to their stands to sip it at their leisure.

Many visitors at the Exposition yesterday were disappointed because the magical grotto was not finished, but the managers of the exwas not haished, but the managers of the exhibit are not to blame, and will have it ready for inspection just as soon as the Allegheny County Light Company furnishes the lights.

Misses Astor and Vanderbilt, the two beautiful Baltimore girls, who have made so many friends among the visitors to the He-No Tea Hong, leave for home to-day.

PUTTING OFF THE CUT RATES.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission Sus pend the Order Reducing Grain Tariffs.

CHICAGO, September 15 .- The managera f the Western railroads were advised today by the Inter-State Commerce Commission that the order reducing grain rates from the Missouri river and points beyond was further suspended until October 1. The communication came in response to the request of the managers that a later date than September 15 be named, to allow the railroads ample time in which to prepare

In addition to suspending the order for snother fortnight the commission also gave the roads permission to correct the error in its original adjustment of the rates in order to preserve the old basis of differentials on Mississippi river business. Accordingly the rate on wheat to St. Louis will be 15 cents instead of 14. The wheat rate to Chieago is unchanged from the original figures, 20 cents. Rates on corn will remain 12 cents to St. Louis and 17 cents to Chicago. The Rock Island and the Alton will now wait until October 1 before putting the new reduced rates into effect, in order that the new tariff will be simultaneously adopted

"BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverang which may save us many heavy doctors bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by Kesping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame,"—Civil Service Gazette.
