Shows of Gold Pouring into the Coffers of Pittsburgh Merchants Since the Opening. RECEIPTS INCREASED ONE-THIRD. Business Men Regard their Exposition Subscriptions as the Best Investment They Ever Made.

MANY STRANGE FACES SEEN IN STORES.

County Trade Bought in by the Show Before the City Customers Begin to Buy.

Already the effects of the great Exposition are being shown in Pittsburgh. They are most apparent to business men, who are each day reaping the benefits attracted to the city by the great show.

BIG DOLLAR SALES.

Mr. Horne, of Horne & Ward, puts it very clearly when he says almost the entire trade of September is due to the Exposition. Said he yesterday: "The Exposition is almost unmeasurable benefit to the merchants of Pittsburgh and to the city in general."

HELD FOR HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

Three Men Charged With Relieving an Italian of $90. Robert Longhery and A. J. Scorer, conductors on the Fifth Avenue Transfer line, and Joseph Baird, of No. 4 Logan street, were each held on a charge of highway robbery.

STRUCK WITH A HATCHET.

A Parisian Italian Turns From His Intended Victim to an Officer. G. Pandolfi, the proprietor of a confectionery store at No. 380 Liberty street, got into an altercation yesterday evening with a policeman.

NOT LIKE CITY SHOPPERS.

"You can see it right here," was the response. Look at this crowded store. It is a wet day and in a dull season, yet look at the crowds. The Exposition alone is responsible for the increase.

WAS NOT CHLOROPORIED.

Young Lytton Confesses to Robberies at the Young People's Christian Endeavor Union. Y. M. C. A. Building. Charles Lytton, who was arrested by Detective Gumbert for robbing the East End Creamery store, has confessed to several other robberies.

A NEW CITY COMPANY.

Seaside Capital to Develop Greene County Territory. A new city company is being formed on the Seaside. Among the capitalists interested are C. E. Sapp, Henry Stamm, J. W. Patterson, J. P. Connor, J. W. Rubland, J. M. Schaefer, A. C. Robinson, John Benz, Henry Miller and A. A. Adams.

A CONGRESSMAN'S CHEAT.

Mr. Niedringhaus Says Money Is Scarce Among Stock Brokers and Gamblers. Congressman Niedringhaus, of St. Louis, passed through the city last evening on his return to Washington. He says the tariff bill will be passed, and as soon as it is done the House will adjourn.

TO ARGUE IT AGAIN.

An Old Act of Assembly to Be Flashed in the Poor Farm Deal. Judge Ewing yesterday ordered a reargument of the Poor Farm case to be held on Friday. The argument was held an old act of Assembly bearing on the sale of Poor farms was discovered, and it will play an important part in the reargument.

NEW MAN IN CHARGE.

Colonel Herron to be Agent for Mrs. Schenley's Pittsburgh Estate. WHAT ATTORNEY TORRENS SAYS. He intimates Trouble With Chief Bigelow Caused His Removal. BLIND ASYLUM SITE STILL IN DOUBT. The control of the vast estates of Mrs. Schenley, located in Allegheny county have changed hands and Mr. Finley Torrens is no longer Mrs. Schenley's agent.

NO CHOICE MADE.

Conferees in the Forty-Sixth District Ballot Three Times for a Senator - Colonel Hawkins' Name Not to Be Put in the Hat. Another attempt was made yesterday to nominate a Republican Senatorial candidate in the Forty-sixth district which ended in failure. Two sessions were held at the Monongahela house, and the conferees decided to try it again in the same place October 3. Washington county's candidate, Colonel Hawkins, was represented by W. D. McCracken and M. L. A. McCracken, or rather these gentlemen claimed to represent the Republican party in Washington. The present incumbent, Samuel P. White, of Beaver, was not present, but his name was mentioned by the members of Captain White's family, and he could not attend.

HER VAST ESTATES.

The liberality of Mrs. Schenley in making the numerous grants of land to the city for the building of the city was not only famous but very popular in this city, and as a consequence every move made in the workings of her vast estates becomes more or less interesting. Mr. Finley Torrens, who has been acting as Mrs. Schenley's agent for many years, was called upon last night at his residence on Frankstown avenue, East End. He said: "There has been dissimulation between me and myself or rather between me and I intimated to her that perhaps it would be better if our relations ceased. The trouble lay in the fact that we were acting in Mrs. Schenley's interest and she was not so sure of her own mind as she was about to sell. Others were working against us and in their own interests and Mrs. Schenley chose to take their advice in preference to ours. About the blind asylum site I know nothing. Mr. Bigelow could probably tell more about that as he interested himself very much in the matter and talked to Europe especially to see Mrs. Schenley."

COLONEL HERRON ADMITS IT.

Colonel W. A. Herron, when approached on the question of his appointment, said he did not care to talk, but after hearing Mr. Torrens' statement he admitted that he had been appointed to the agency of the estate, but was not anxious to have it made public just at present. I was asked to make the appointment public, but declined. A few weeks ago she wrote me and said she was about to make a change and would like to have me take hold. After a careful consideration of the matter, I decided to accept it. My papers of appointment have been forwarded to her and she has accepted it. I have not taken charge of the business yet, and don't know when I will be able to do so. I am entirely unacquainted with the estate, and I really decided to accept it. As yet I know nothing of the estate and really don't know the extent of Mrs. Schenley's possessions.

ACCIDENTS OF A DAY.

One Fatality in Which a Cable Car and a Wagon Had a Head. Albert, a 6-year-old son of Gottlieb Swartzwelder, the driver of No. 402 Fifth avenue, was killed last night by a cable car. The child was struck by the cable car as it was crossing the street. The driver of the cable car, George Hall, a gardener, Mr. Haller was trying to get out of the way of a cable car, and did not see the boy when he was struck.

INTO THE MUDDY WATER.

A Man Leaps From the Railroad Bridge Last Night and Disappears. Shortly after 8 o'clock last night J. Russell and William More, who live at No. 28 Thirtieth street, ran up to Officer Conway who was patrolling his beat on Penn avenue, near Eleventh street, and told him that a man had just jumped from the Ft. Wayne Railroad bridge, between Tenth and Eleventh streets. They said they were standing near the bridge and their attention was attracted by a man running rapidly on the bridge. When at the second pier they saw him spring over the railing and jump into the river. Neither of them saw how he would describe the man, nor how he was dressed.

GRAND ARMY REUNION.

A Gala Day Expected by the Veterans at Heck Peter. The G. A. R. camp at Rock Point today promises to be a grand affair. All arrangements have been made for a crowd of from 5,000 to 8,000 people. Trains will run from 7:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. It is expected that large crowds will come from the surrounding towns. Several regimental reunions will be held on the grounds during the day. The Fifty-third Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers will hold a reunion at Shields station on Friday, Sept. 19. All comrades of the One Hundred and Fifty-third Regiment are invited to attend.

WHERE ARE WE NOW?

Congressman Mullen called attention to the disparity of numbers of the representatives of the two Democratic clubs, the Randall and the Cochrane Club. He says the Randall club has 200 members, while the Cochrane club has only 100 members. He asks that the Randall club be reduced to 100 members, and the Cochrane club be increased to 200 members. He says that the Randall club is the only club that has a right to be represented in the House of Representatives.

THAT IS THE VERDICT OF A. C. JARRETT'S FRIENDS. His Liabilities Said to Be Double the Amount of His Assets - W. N. Jarrett and Others May Be Ruined - His Present Whereabouts a Mystery. The second disappearance of A. C. Jarrett, of the Southside, is a complete puzzle to his friends, who have all placed such implicit confidence in his ability to recover from his financial prostration. There are but a few left now who have faith in him and who think that he will get out all right - not that he is less honestly inclined than ever, but that his liabilities are so overwhelming an excess of his assets that it would be a practical impossibility for him to meet them.

THE TRIAL ATTRACTING INTEREST.

Testimony was taken yesterday in the office of Daniel Harrison, Esq., in the suit of John McKinley vs. The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railway Company, operating the Pittsburgh, McKeesport and Youghiogheny Railway. The case is to be tried in Youngstown, O. Two men named John McKinley and John M. Ludwig were brought to Pittsburgh for the trial. They each sue for $50,000 damages. Ludwig sues in this county. McKinley's suit comes up next week. W. S. Anderson and W. J. Terrill are the plaintiff's attorneys, and J. P. Wilson and others represent the defense. John D. Watson, Esq., yesterday conducted the examination for McKinley, and E. W. Smith, of Knox & Reed, for the company. McKinley's injuries were received on the 13th of February at Douglas siding. The engine that exploded was No. 29, attached to a gravel train. The brakeman was killed.

WHERE MUSIC REIGNS.

Prof. Weiss Celebrates the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of His Leadership. Last night marked the quarter-century of the existence of the Greater Western Band as a chartered organization. It also was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the leadership of Prof. Weiss in the organization. In honor of the occasion, a special concert was given at the Germania Liederkreis on Marion street. The affair was a surprise to Prof. Weiss.

IN VERY POOR CONDITION.

Mr. Hawksworth testified that in his opinion the stay-bolts had not been replaced during the last 15 years, and that he had never before seen a stay-bolt in so bad condition. Both he and Wilmer said they saw incrustation, or scale, on the crown-sheet up to the crown bars to the depth of several inches. The stay-bolts were old and rusty and had been cleaned out. The coroner's jury found that the explosion was due to Ludwig's negligence in not having the stay-bolts replaced. The jury also found that the boiler was in very poor condition.

IN CONFLICT WITH THE CORONER.

On re-examination this witness rehearsed the proceedings during the coroner's inquest into the explosion of the boiler of the Pennsylvania Railroad engine No. 29, which occurred on February 13, 1929. The coroner's jury found that the explosion was due to Ludwig's negligence in not having the stay-bolts replaced. The jury also found that the boiler was in very poor condition.

THE BEST PIANO.

Have Ever Seen? Has become one of the trite sayings among the visitors to the Exposition. It is the popular verdict of all who have seen the display of elegant Everett pianos at the rear end of the main building. When the crowd is listening to the beautiful toned instruments. The best part of it is, that anyone, rich or poor, can own one of them, as they will be sold at the retail price, and by paying cash can have the piano delivered at once, by paying $1.00 per week, with the piano in a sure time, or can arrange to get the piano on payment of $25 cash and $10 per month in any case. They get the benefit of the wholesale price secured by the club in contracting for the large number of pianos. The plan appeals to the common sense of the people, and is very popular. Ask Prof. Weeden, at the Exposition, or Alex. Ross, at 171 Federal street, Allegheny, for a circular.

GARBAGE AND DOGS.

Keeney Problems for the Public Safety Committee - A Suggestion to Keep Canines for Four Days in Order to Allow Ample Time to Destroy Them. The Public Safety Committee met yesterday afternoon and affirmatively recommended to Councils ordinances authorizing Chief Brown to purchase lots in the Nineteenth and Twenty-first wards for garbage fringes purposes. One ordinance provides for the purchase of eight lots owned by James B. McDowell, fronting 167 feet on Butler street, running back 175 feet to River avenue for $800. The other is for five lots fronting 175 feet on Butler street, running back 103 feet to River avenue in the Twenty-first ward, for $600.

FOR DOUGHTY'S ARREST.

District Attorney Johnson Would Not Issue Warrant for Arrest of Doughty. In the Criminal Court yesterday Attorney L. K. Porter presented a petition asking that a process be issued for the arrest of Alderman Doughty, of the Sixteenth ward, charged with conspiracy at the time of the trial of the Bander gang, but obtained a special allowance from the Supreme Court, allowing his release. Mr. Porter stated that Mr. Doughty's bondsman had died, and he understood he was about to leave the city. He therefore asked the court to issue a warrant for his arrest. District Attorney Johnson refused to issue the process, holding that the court had no jurisdiction of the Alderman's case, and that he was not a party to the conspiracy. He said that the court had no jurisdiction of the Alderman's case, and that he was not a party to the conspiracy.

FOR DOUGHTY'S ARREST.

District Attorney Johnson Would Not Issue Warrant for Arrest of Doughty. In the Criminal Court yesterday Attorney L. K. Porter presented a petition asking that a process be issued for the arrest of Alderman Doughty, of the Sixteenth ward, charged with conspiracy at the time of the trial of the Bander gang, but obtained a special allowance from the Supreme Court, allowing his release. Mr. Porter stated that Mr. Doughty's bondsman had died, and he understood he was about to leave the city. He therefore asked the court to issue a warrant for his arrest. District Attorney Johnson refused to issue the process, holding that the court had no jurisdiction of the Alderman's case, and that he was not a party to the conspiracy. He said that the court had no jurisdiction of the Alderman's case, and that he was not a party to the conspiracy.
