CRESSON SPRINGS, September 17 .- The President and family and a few invited guests left Cresson at 10:30 o'clock this morning on a special train provided by the Pennsylvania Railroad, and did not return until 8:30 o'clock, having in the meantime passed through a most interesting section of the country, so far as natural scenery is concerned, including the ill-fated Conemaugh Valley and the oil, coal and natural gas regions of Western Penusylvania. The cipal incidents of the trip, however, were the visits to Johnstown and Greensburg. Neither of those places had ever before received a visit from the head of the nation, and the people in each town vied with the people in the other in the celebration of the event.

At Johnstown the party was welcomed by Mayor Rose and a committee of citizens and was escorted in carriages through the principal streets to Grand View cemetery, from which a magnificent view was had of the course of the disastrous flood of 1889. They Can New Become Odd Fellows in the lodge was unconstitutional,

State of Missouri. SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. ST. Louis, September 17 .- The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of the State of Missouri, which last year passed a resolution refusing to admit saloon keepers to the order, has been reversed by the Sovereign Grand Lodge, now in session in Topeka. The order was almost split in two on the liquor question in this State, and the victory of the saloon keepers is a source of chagrin to the majority. The Sovereign Lodge held that the action of the Missouri

The Masonic order eliminated the salooukeeping element from its rank a few years ago, and the action of the Odd Fellows was taken out of deference to this precedent, but the Masons are not compelled to abide by the decision of a sovereign body similar to that of the Odd Fellows, as any action taken by the State Grand Lodge is final.

horizon, of which there was only 22 feet, broken and irregular in its formation. The fourth sand was struck at 1,773 feet, there being only four feet of a break between this and the third. At 32 feet in the drill tapped the pay, and the well began spraying at the rate of 75 harrels a day, which it was still maintaining to-night. The boiler is being moved out, and to-morrow the drill will tell the whole story.

This unexpected phase of the Menke well has awakened a new interest, and a number of small producers in the third sand, will, in all probability, be drilled to the fourth. So confident are they that the Lew tourth sand development will prove a paying investment the same parties have located two more wells, and in a few days rigs will be ready for the drill. Greenlee & Forst's Ice Pond well is turning out better than was at first expected, and since 8 o'clock last night has made eight harrels an hour. Gailey & Co's No. 1, Blyle farm, tonight is 51 feet in the sand and showing for a 25 or 30 barrel well. If this production is not increased with deeper drilling in the third sand it will be drilled to the fourth.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon the Smith Farm Oil Company, on the Smith farm, tapped the first pay. The well is a strong gasser, and is spraying some oil. Further drilling has been postponed until the boiler is moved out, and by to-mo row night the well will have declared itself. The Young well was not drilled any deeper to-day, but has made an average production for the past 24 hours of ten inches or 600 barrels. Burke & McBride, on the Doe Moon farm, were nine feet in the sand to-night with 50 feet of oil in the bole; the digning is hard and on this account, together with other mishaps, but little headway has been made.

The company will start drilling No. 3 rig. Griffith's No. 2. Rolshouse, will not get the sand as soon as was expected, but the way things now look it should find the interesting spot Saturday, while Bowman & Co. No. 1, Rolshouse, expect the pay about the same time Gibson & Gilles' No

BUTLER-In this field J. A. Leidecker shot his No. 3 Boggs with 15 quarts on Thursday. The Forest Oil Company's No. 4, Spithuller, was shot with ten quarts on Friday, and made a small flow. The same company's No. 1, on the same farm, had the casing pulled to-day, Tues-day, and will be shot up in the 100-foot. These are all old wells. In the 100 foot field Andrews & Company's No. 5, Witte farm, are in the 100foot sand and showing some oil. Markham & Co.'s No. I, Merchem farm, was shot on Monday, and is showing for a well. Latshaw & Co.'s No. 2, Allen farm, Zelienople, reached the sand on Monday, and is rated all the way trow 120, which is safe, to 175 barrels. There are several new ventures drilling in the vicinity of Winters' Mills, midway between the Big creek developmenta and Zelienople, Goehring & Co. started the drill on the Dahm farm on Friday. The Pittsburg Oil Company, on the Weish, are down 250 feet. Markham & Co. have a rig up on the McGee, and Schlegle & Co, are building one on the McDonald farm. The old Steel well, on the Spithuller, that was a great gasser in the gas sand, has been drilled to the 100 foot, and is showing oil in the third pay. This strengthens the belief of a connection between Big creek and the Zelienople field. HUNDRED-FOOT WELLS. Black, Reisenman & Co.'s well, on the Hiram Graham farm, in the 100-foot field was completed to-day. It contained 40 feet of excellent white sand, and will make at least a 100-barrel roducer. It is located 20 rods east of producing wells, and is considered quite important. The Thomas Graham tract adjoining, on which a well was drilled last summer, is likely to prove to be good. A number of wells are drill-

Christie & Crosby shot their No. 1 on the Absalom Monks farm yesterday, and it responded by throwing a column of oil over the top of the derrick. It was yielding 75 barrels per day before it was torpedeed, and its production was largely increased by the shot. The well on the John Jack farm, which was agitated on Friday last, has been doing about 50 barrels since then. The Chartiers Oil Company are drilling a well on the J. B. #### THE EASTERN BELT.

Operations are quite brisk on the Eastern belt, near Millerstown. Tittley & Co. No. 2. and Hunter & Cummings No. 2, on the Adam Kamerer, will get the sand on Saturday. The Jew Oil Company No. 2, on the same farm, has attained a depth of 800 feet, and is being reamed down. A strong vein of salt water was struck in the first sand, which was unusual for this field. Tittley & Co.'s No. 3, on the Kamerer, and Hunter & Cummings' No. 3, on the same farm, are ready to drill. Tittley & Co.'s No. 2, on the Wiles, is down 800 feet. Westerman & Co.'s No. 43, on the Reep, is drilling, and the rigs are up for Nos. 5 and & Tittley & Co.'s No. 1, on the Mvers, is down 400 feet. Campbell & Murphy's No. 1, on the Kamerer, has attained the same depth. Simpson, Reep & Co. are building a rig on the Reep, Campbell, Games & Co. No. 5, on the S. Marshall farm, Forward township, just completed, is doing 125 barrels per day, Waldron & Klinginsmith's No. 1, on the W. S. Seep's Statements Questioned. Mr. A. F. Burns, one of the leading operator of Clarion county, in an interview with THE DELPATCH reporter ventilated his opinion upon the reduction of premium, and the oil ousiness in general in the following style: Mr. Seep's interview about premium oil he Mr. Seep's interview about premium oil he says the Stardard were forced to do as they had for self protection, as the immense production made it absolutely necessary to reduce the premium. Now it occurs to me if the Standard men would attend strictly to their own business—that of refining and piping oil—the production would be considerably less, as one-half the white sand oil is owned and produced by men who are connected with the Standard Refining Company, and these same men have agents all over the oil is owned and produced by men who are connected with the Standard Refining Company, and these same men have agents all over the oil country buying oil wells and leasing up oil territory, thereby creating an unnatural state of affairs. As the immense profit in the refining business as now carried on by this monopoly is put right back into the field and oil wells are drilled by the hundred, money seeming no object, small operators look on with wonder and have to content themselves with some sucker rod streak or out-of-the-way territory that is not noticed by this octopus.

"This state of affairs does not exist in any other business, simply because the laws of supply and demand are not tampered with, and a good, healthy competition enters in. The situation would not be so bad if the consumer got the benefit, as it would show that no undue advantage was taken. Such, however, is not the case, as the profits in the refining branch alone are very large. Look at the years the Standard got the white oil at the same price as before, and also labored under disadvantages too numerous to mention. Still, they made large profits until they had to take oil from the pipe lines at some remote place where the freight cost as much as the oil when five years the refining branch and the profits until they had to take oil from the pipe lines at some remote place where the freight cost as much as the oil when five years the refining branch and the had read somewhere, either in 'Purdon's Digest, the almanac or Bible, that the earth

If he was, he would want the Lord to give him a quit claim for the earth's surface and 19-yeas lease at one-eighth royalty for the fullness thereof."
