Grand Army Day at Rock Point was a most stupendous success. Every comrade appreciates the change from the old Grand Army Day, with its long, weary march along a narrow and jammed street. Not only do the comrades appreciate it, but their wives, families and friends gladly welcome the change. It is one that all can enjoy. The number of old soldiers and their triends that went to Rock Point was even beyond expectation. The natural beauties of the place were enjoyed, as was the dancing and outdoor sports, and a general good time spent. The dress parade of the Grand Army was a success, as was that of the Sons of Veterans after it. Excellent addresses were delivered at the camp fire. The ladies of the G. A. R. and the Women's Relief Corps handled the refreshment part of the Pennsylvania raffroad, pays a pleasing compliment to the Grand Army by saying that there never was an organization taken to the Point that maintained better order or cared better for the property of the railroad. He congratulated the Grand Army on this. The Grand Army in return was very much pleased with the way Mr. Moody took care of the immense crowds. Members of the General Committee Members of the General Committee think that much of the success of the occasion may be laid to Comrade A. P. Burchfield. Chairman of the Entertainment Committee. He worked hard for the occasion, and may be congratulated on the results.

It was a day to be remembered pleasantly for a long time, and the Grand Army Day of last Wednesday, which is to be the Grand Army Day of the future, will hereafter be looked forward to from year to year with feelings of the liveliest and pleasantest anticipation.

PITTSBURG HAS NO WEAK SPOTS. Trend of Speculation Still Downward, but

THE NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE CITY

The panic is over and gone. Something punctured it. Poor thing, it was brought into the world like Richard before its time. scarce half made up, and that so lamely and in such crude state as to excite laughter. There was a scare, it is true. Some people are easily frightened, and none know this better than the bears of the New York Exchange, and they have had their day in court. The stock bears are always looking shead for a panie; that's their slogan. If it put wheat up to where he wanted it, and they had heard about Armour, also of Chicago, cornering the meat and lard markets, and they knew the window glass people, under the lead of Loeffler and Tim O'Leary, were going to Chicago to corner window glass, and that Chicago had a corner in nearly everything, in-cluding the World's Fair, and that something had to be done, and that quickly, to take Chicago out of the world's eye for a day or two at least. It would be a gross libel on New York to say that any large number of her citizens indulged in this senseless jealousy, but the number was large enough to form a modest combine, and they concluded to join about an equal number of importers and corner the money market. They battered away for a few days and drove prices down until new margins were demanded by the banking interests, and as a result, money was run up just as prices and stocks went down. It was Greek agains Greek and bear against bull, and the bankers nothing left in the bull ring but old clothes, they started the cry of panic, and were so de-moralized themselves that they actually believed a panic had resulted from their disturbed conditions. Not a bit of it. Panies do not start in that way. As well look for a blizzard from the East. Financial panies are not companied with brass band aunouncements, although ample notice is given in advance. Who ever heard of a panic in money matters/ with the ruling rates for money at 41/2 to 6 per cent for four years immediately preceding it, and with iron, gla-s and every staple article away down in price? Everything has been at bed-rock price for five years, including money. Panics result from prolonged periods of expansion and infants. sion and inflation, and there will be no panic until after the buils have controlled for a number of years, and until inflated prices outmeas-ure the volume of currency and run the rate of interest up and keep it there for some time,

Nothing of the kind is true. The speculation in real estate—if there is any such element in t-is only a drop in the great ocean of trade and does not amount to enough to disturb anything. There is nothing speculative in any market where the supply of a commodity is not equal to the demand. Every house in this city is rented, houses enough cannot be had, and the only panic in sight grows out of the fear that the demand will be greater than the supply for some years to come. Pitisburg is all right. She is not speculating. She is dealing in her own natural products, and is competing with the markets of the world besides furnishing the lubricant for the machinery of the universe, and no panic can affect her. She is not dealing in futures, and holds in reserve, in the earth, enough in stored values to knock

These facts admitted—and they cannot be successfully defiled—the unreasonableness of the objection to the moderate advance in real estate values which has taken place in the last two or three years becomes apparent. It was said in this column a short time ago, and is as true now as it was then; "The demand for property keeps pace with the growth of the city, and it would be unreasonable to expect the same prices to-day that ruled five years ago. Buyers as well as sellers reap the benefit of enhancement. If they maintain harmonious relations, meeting each other on an equitable basis, there will be no interruption to the activity in real estate, people and capital will continue to pour in, and Pittsburg will go forward to the accomplishment of its manifest destiny, which is to stand in the very manifest destiny, which is to stand in the very front of American cities."

Local Stocks Lose Ground, but a Reaction

Among the Probabilities. As a result of tight money and general de-moralization of the speculative markets, busi-ness in local stocks during the week was of small proportions and almost without excep-tion at a lower range of prices. Sales yesterday were the larges: of any day of the week, aggregating 329 shares. For the week there were 1,199, against less than 1,000 the previous week. But while there was a gain in business the number of interests handled was smaller.

Closing prices, as compared with those of the previous Saturday, show concessions all along the line, but as, in nearly all cases, they were As stated, blizzards, as a rule, come from Manitoba, and panici, as another certain rule, come from long years of inflation of all commodities, with 9 to 10 percent as the ruling rate of interest. These conditions do not not really all cases, they were for fractions, the declines signify nothing to the detriment of the properties. A few holders concluded to realize, and they found customer for their stuff. That was all there was of it.

There was no scare, and no fears of a panic. for their stuff. That was all there was of it. There was no scare, and no fears of a panic. Indeed, such a thing is almost impossible with such securi seas Pittsburg offers to the public. Although prices closed at about the lowest point of the week, there was a better feeling than for some time and the hope was again therished that the wors was over and the dawn of bette times near at hand. This was been a some time and the dawn of bette times near at hand. based upon easier money and returning confidence in the East. ANTI-PANIC FIGURES.

Money and Business Present a Strong Front in Busy Pitisburg. There was a better feeling among local bank-ers yesterday over the prospect of a speedy res-toration of the normal condition of the money market. Loanable funds were in good supply and demand. Good borrowers were freely ac-commodated at the regular rates, 6@7 per cent.

No one feared any further trouble.

Judging from the Clearing House report, which represents actual business, not guesses, things were lively in trade circles during the week. Bank exchanges were $15,510,282 06, against $12,243,189 83 the same week last year, showing a gain of $3,567,101 18. The gain this year to date over 1889 is $110,000,000.

The proof of the pudding is eating it. Croakers should study these figures and change it eir tune, or hang themselves. Such large gains over a year remarkable for activity compels the conclusion that Pittsburg is not only prosperous beyond precedent, but is expanding her activities at a rate which will soon place her beyond rivalry or competition.

THE WEEK IN OIL

Business Slow and Prices on the Run-Fluctuations and Clearances.

The oil market was in a languishing condition all week, business being next to nothing and the price getting further and further away from the dollar line, where it ought to be, and would be, if left to itself. It is no longer denied that speculation in petroleum nas been killed by the Standard. It has completely alienated the outside interest.

There was only one quotation yesterday. the opening, highest, lowest and closing price being the same—81%c. About 6,000 barrels changed hand: Oil City did most of the selling. For the first time in several weeks there was a trade in Buckeye oil, 5,000 barrels selling at 34½. Fluctuations of Pennsylvania oil for the day and week are given below:

Clearings of the same commodity for same time are shown in the following table:

An expert ramarked: "None but the professional pyker and scalper are doing business, and naturally with these conditions trading in oil will soon become obsolete."

the Highest. NEW YORK, September 20 .- The stock mar ket to-day was very quiet and heavy to weak from the opening to the close, with the result of leaving almost everything traded in lower than last evening. The strong tone which existed last evening did not last over till this isted last evening did not last over till this morning, and London especially was not inclined to buy while the arbitrary brokers were sellers at the opening. The bears then went in to take the market away from them, and, meeting with practically no resistance, hammered the list all along the line. The downward movement met with no check, and the opening prices are generally the highest of the day, while the closing are the lowest.

The industrial stocks received most attention, but even Lackawanna was prominent for its losses, and these were followed by the Grangers. Missouri Pacific, however, was prominent for activity, but was remarkably well held and its final loss is only ½ per cent. The trusts were early a fair mark for the operations of the bears and from the first transactions they yielded, followed by St. Paul. It was not until the last hour that Lackawanna became prominent, but declined rapidly and scored a material loss before the close.

The market finally closed fairly active and weak at the lowest figures, 15/2 Lossewanna was prominent and weak at the lowest figures, 15/2 Lossewanna was permarked and weak at the lowest figures, 15/2 Lossewanna was permarked and weak at the lowest figures, 15/2 Lossewanna was permarked and weak at the lowest figures, Chicago Gas being down 15/2 Supers Refineries 15/2 Lossewanna was permarked the permarked CLEVELAND'S

Business is Brisk on the Lever-The Water Takes a Drop-The Snagboat Working at Davis Island-Coal Operators Gram-

The prediction of rain on Friday did not ma-terialize, inasmuch as the weather was a degree or so too chilly, and the river still con-tinues to go down, reaching the seven-foot gauge before it stopped. Business was equally as brisk as the winds, which blew up from the Ohio notwithstanding that one packet was missing.

and that is the reason we wish our long customers to sell.

The bank statement showed the associated banks to have $1,900,000 above the legal limit, and they are in a better condition than these figures disclose, but the money market is either a feast or a famine. The Treasury has turned itself inside out to save Wall street from a panic. It has bought 4s and 5½s in large blocks, disbursing in this way wituin a mouth nearly sixty millions. It has anticipated interest for a year on over six millions bonds, and yet hardly a national bank in this city to-day will make a time loan. The bulls are those who have something to sell. The bears are those who have something to sell. The bears are those who are out and regard the situation perhaps with a little severity as critics, but who are nevertheless bearish because they are not compelled to be buillish. to some extent. The opportunities of the snag-boat to do good and effective work during the mevertheless bearish because they are not combelled to be builish.

The outlook for net railway earnings on the Western and Southern systems is not good compared with what they were last year, and unless they can do better we think these stocks are not worth the money. The mercantile community is overloaded with imported goods that must be sold, and if Democratic members of the House continue to filibuster and Republican absentees do not all return it is barely possible the tariff bill may go over to the next session in December, prolonging the misery if the bill passes it will be some time before trade adapts itself to it, and the effect of such a radical measure cannot be estimated in a day or a week. Hesides this, if European governments make retalistory orders to our grain as France has done as to our pork in return for importing duties on pictures and wine, we may be placed at a great disadvantage in the export trade.

We venture to predict that inside of three weeks the Bank of England will raise its discount rate to 5 per cent. Our market will be boat to do good and effective work during the summer were many. When navigation was starped no better time to clear the river could have been desired, but the Government put tha matter off from week to week, increasing the risks which have heretofore been a drawback of no little consequence to the coal trade. It is a question, Captain J. A. Wood says, whether the boat can do any good before the water becomes too high. Her first work will be at Davis Island dam, where she went yesterday to remove some piling. After that she works on down, and the obstructions are so many a short distance below the dam that it is likely that she will be overtaken by the fall floods before she gets down to the places mostly in need of attention. The coal shippers are glad to see the work of cleaning the stream started, and will overtook their grievances if the snars are out before another million or two bushels of coal go for naught against the snage.
