CINCINNATI, September 22.-The costly errors of the Cincinnatis, combined with timely hitting, allowed the Philadelphias to win the game to-day. Beard's home run hit and the fielding of Allen were the features. Secretary

Brunell, of the Players' League, was unable to come to terms with the local management for the sale of the club, and it is now thought the Cincinnatis will remain in the League. Score:

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR .

CINCINNATI, September 22 .- Upon the surface all is smooth and Cincinnatt is still in the National League. Secretary Bruneli has been here all day and has been training the financial batteries of the Players' League upon Secretary Harry Stern. The secretary says his mis-sion has not proved successful and yet there are doubters. In these times of war it is a sad little belief is placed in the word of any one. Seven Reds have signed League contracts for '91. That is a mysterious feature of the affair. Secretary Brunell said to THE DISPATCH cor-

we desire is a lease of the grounds. We can get the players."

The League thus far has seemed utterly indifferent to the "deal." Not a word has reached Secretary Stern from his conferees in that body. It can be stated almost with official sanction that if Cincinnati, the keystone to the situation, remains in the League, peace will be demanded. Secretary Brunell started out of town to-night, presumably to confer personally with the capitalists of the other party.

"I have given the Players' League my figures," said the little secretary in response to a direct query, "but they have not accepted. I wish they would. They think I am too high. Well, I'm not as anxieus to close as the presi-

PELICANS BLAMED FOR THE ARRESTS.

The Pacers, Arctic and Crawford, Matched for $250 a Side - General Sporting News.

THY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY.] LONDON, September 22.-There was an enormous amount of excitement in Fleet street and at the various sporting clubs over the arrest of McAuliffe and Slavin, which has been received with a general feeling of disappointment throughout the city. The offices of the sporting papers were besieged by people, and cabs were driving up and going away at a rapid rate. Bulletins were placed in all the windows and crowds filled the street. Then the excitement shifted to the district in which the Ormonde Club is situated. The Lumbeth Police Court was crowded during the afternoon with reporters of the various papers, policemen and wellknown sporting men and boxers who were awaiting the arrival of the prisoners. Shortly after 4 o'clock there was a bustle in the corridor leading to the courtroom and immediately all eyes were directed to the door giving entrance to it. In a moment the door was opened and Slavin came in. immediately followed by McAuliffe. The demeanor of the two men was quite different, for while Slavin had his evebrows knit and a ferocious expression on his face, McAuliffe smiled and watched the proceedings in a quiet half-humorous manner. Among those who followed the two pugilists in close order were Richard K. Fox, Crichton Temple, of the Ormonde Club, and Madden.

INSPECTOR CHISHOLM'S EVIDENCE. Chief Inspector Chisholm was duly sworn and stated that from information he had re-20 against the prisoners that they were about to engage in a prize fight and thus commit a engage in a prize fight and thus commit abreach of the peace, and, having obtained warrants against them, he this afternoon arrested McAuliffe, who, on hearing the charge, said to the inspector: "I wish you had come 24 hours later," but, without making any resistance, went quietly to the station. The witness proceeded to the Liverpool street station, where he arrested Slavin, whom he knew. The prisoner replied to the charge: "All right my boy, I don't see any harm in it: it's allowed all over the country." In reply to the magistrate, the witness pro duced a copy of the Sportsman of the date of July 15 last, containing the articles of agree-ment which were drawn for the match, and he ment which were drawn for the match, and he also stated that he had seen the gloves which the prisoners were to use exhibited in the windows of a sporting paper in Fleet street. They appeared to him to be very tilin over the knuckles, and he should say that a blow with them from a strong man like either of the prisoners would undoubtedly do a great deal of injury.

oners would indicate the proceedings, jury.

Mr. Temple here interrupted the proceedings, as he wanted to make an explanation. Mr. Partridge, the sitting magistrate, asked him if he was a solicitor, and on Mr. Temple replying in the negative, told him he would hear him later as a witness if he had anything to say. The prisoners, having no counsel, said they had no questions to ask the officer, and were asked if they derired to call any witnesses to show the affair was not to be a prize fight.

IT WAS ONLY FOR POINTS. McAuliffe called Mr. Temple, who said he knew both the prisoners, and that the fight was not for a stake, but for a subscription which had been gotten up by the members of the club. It was a boxing match for points under the Marquis of Queensberry rules, and the gloves were ordinary boxing gloves. The magistrates asked if there were referees who could stop the fight, and the witness replied there were two referees who, if they considered the men even at the end of the thirteenth round, could order them to fight another in order to decide the matter. He added that similar matches had taken place at the club before and the police had not only been informed of the fact before the fights occurred, but special places had been reserved for them so that they could see there was nothing of an improper character in them. Everything was done quietly and there had never been a breach of the peace. He attributed the action of the police in this instance to outside jealousy, and said that no information would have been given to the police if the fight has been arranged to take place at some fashionable club—by which he meant the Pelican.

Inspector Chisholm, interrupting on this point, said that only himself, the magistrate and the clerk knew on Saturday that warrants men even at the end of the thirteenth round.

and the clerk know on Saturday that warrants would be issued, and even the police were not aware of the fact till to-day. The magis-trate asked Temple whether the fight was aranswered he was not able to say, as it depended upon His Worship ranged for to-night, and the witness smi

EVERYBODY LAUGHED.

This reply was received with laughter by everybody in the court, and the magistrate even smiled as he remarked that he was not the referee, a remark which was followed by a great peal of laughter. Mr. Partridge then bound both the prisoners over in their own re-cognizances to £2,000 each to appear at noon to-morrow, when the gloves will be produced and other evidence will be offered to show what kind of a fight it was proposed to have. At this point some one asked if it would not be possible for the match to go on, as both men were liberated. The magistrate replied that if it did he would know how to deal with the Slavin and McAuliffe then left the court the light. They were obliged to pay the heav fee of £20 in order to see the encounter and the of £N in order to see the encounter and they cannot now recover any part of the money. A funny incident in this connection is reported. An Irish sportsman who joined the club this morning and paid his fee by check, on hearing of the arrest of McAuliffe, rushed off to the bank in order to stop its payment. Many sportsmen have brought forward a charge that the Ormonde Club, people knew the arrests would take place, if they did not instigate them, and that having got a large sum of money for memberships, they would now avoid paying the stakes. There are no proofs, however, to substantiate these charges, and on the other hand the members of the Ormonde Club say that the Pelican Club is at the bottom of the arrests.

AN AMERICAN'S OPINION. Richard Fox, in an interview at the office of the Sportsman, said to your reporter: "I cannot see why this contest has been stopped. Such contests have been permitted at all the other clubs, both here and throughout the provinces. I think it was a mistake not to have taken the gloves into court, in accordance with my advice, because if they had been produced my advice, because if they had been produced the magnetrate, I am confident, would have liberated the men. The gloves were made in New York, and are known as the standard boxing gloves. They are need by the members of the amateur and professional clubs all over the United States. The set of gloves in question was specially made for this contest, and will be produced in court to-morrow. It is unfortunate that the match was stopped at this stage, because both the men were in the pink of condition. I am positive McAuliffe would have won. If the match collapses I am willing, if Lord Lonsdale and a few others will join me, to subscribe a few hundred pounds toward a purse, and we will have the contest elsewhere in order to decide the championship of the world. I have always have the contest elsewhere in order to decide the championship of the world. I have always taken a great interest in McAuliffe, whom I am anxious to take back to America as the champion. I am in favor of him to-day purely on his form and condition. I shall stay here till the contest is finished one way or another."

sir. Crichton Temple, the secretary of the Ormende Club, said to your reporter: "This is only what I expected all along. The Pelicans are at the bottom of this. If the fight bad been coming off at a fashionable West End club it never would have been interfred with."

PRESIDENT PENNYFACKER ascribes the failure of the Athletic club "to the Brotherhood movement and unfair treatment on the part of the newspapers." and yet no club in the country ever received more fulsome praise from the newspapers than did the Athletic club, and all because the reporters had a soft spot in their hearts for Billy Starsig.

It was a tolerably fair game, and it was won on its merits by the visitors. The grounds were in excellent condition, and the few errors made were not attributable to anything except the shortcomings of those who made them. Hank O'Day was again in the box, and whatever hopes there were about the home fellows pulverizing him were blighted. Hank wasn't in as good form as on Friday, but he was sufficient of a riddle to defeat the home He lacked steadiness. Staley pitched in very good form, but Tommy Quinn made a couple of serious mistakes in the way of allowing the ball to pass him twice. Excepting Fields, the team fielded well, and Beckley surprised the natives by making an expert bunt, and, in the same inning, doing some remarkable base running.

How the runs were secured is soon told. In the second inning O'Rourkeled off for the visitors with a double to left, and he scored on Johnston's single in the same direction. Vaughn hit the ball safely into the diamond, and Johnston stole third. Shannon struck out, and Vaughn got to second on a passed ball. Whitney thumped out a three-bagger to right field, Johnston and Vaughn scoring. Slattery struck out, but Quinn allowed the ball of the third strike to pass him, and Whitney scored, Slattery going to first.

In the third inning Connor knocked a grounder to Fields and the latter threw the ball past Beckley, Councr going to second.

National League club to-day in a generally fine game. The New Yorkers opened the game game. The New Yorkers opened the game with Tiernan at the bat. He was quickly retired, and Clark followed with a foul. Glasscock got a great ovation and succeeded in getting to first, but falled to connect at CHICAGO, September 22 .- At last th outh Park Commissioners decided to accede to the request of the World's Fair in getting to his, but lained to connect at second. In Pittsburg's half Burke got a hit to short center, stole second, went to third on Clark's must of Miller's third strike, aed both came home on LaRoque's two-base hit over right field fence.

Both sides were blanked after that until the seconth longer there being nothing worthy of National Commission, and to-day granted the site asked for, which includes Wash-ington and Jackson Parks, the Midway Plaisance connecting them, and the Lake Both sides were blanked after that until the seventh inning, there being nothing worthy of note. In the seventh inning Burkett made the first score on a two-bagger by Hornung, and Hornung and Bassett scored on a hit by Denny, who came home on Tiernan's hit. In the ninth inning New York added four more to their tally on singles by Russie and Tiernan, Glasscock's two-base hit and Burkett's home-run hit. Pittsburg scored on a base on balls and two singles. Score: Front, in all about 1,000 acres.

In a sense the chosen site is one great unit, comprising, as it does, the entire South Park system of Chicago. There are three separate park systems in the city, the north, the west and the south. Each is magnificent, but beyond question the finest is that stretching in superb vista from the heart of the city south. The enthusiasm with which the tender was received by the National Commission showed in marked contrast with the reception of previous

OUTBURST OF CHEERS.

By a resolution adopted early in the day the National Commission had formally pledged itself to regard the offer of such site as "a final settlement of all question relating to the question of sites," and when the Park Commissioners promptly re-sponded and the exact location of the big Exposition was at last finally fixed, there was an instant outburst of cheers in which directors, commissioners and spectators joined with a vim.

Stepping from the doors of the city's railroad depots, hotels and business houses, visitors to the World's Fair will, as it were, enter directly the vestibule of the Exposition on the Lake Front. This "Lake Front" is a strip of park comprising 60 acres, upon one side of which the shadow of the massive tall tower of the Auditorium falls daily, while upon the other side ripple the clear waters of Lake Michigan. PLEASURE UNBOUNDED.

Leading from Lake Front Park, the finest boulevard of the city goes directly to Washington Park, and connecting directly with the latter is Midway Plaisance, which ends in Jackson Park. Like the Lake Front, one side of Jackson Park is washed Front, one side of Jackson Park is washed by the waves of the lake.

The greater portion of the site is one vast net work of pleasure drives, inclosing great stretches of emerald meadow and groves of sturdy oak. Adjoining Washington Park is a race track capable of accommodating 50,000 people, and this the local directors expect to make a part also of the site for the purpose of speed, display and the live stock show. This improved race track, where this live stock show will be made, is within 100 vards of the point selected for the main 100 yards of the point selected for the main building, thus placing the whole fair in one compact quarter of the city, including the Government display and the displays to be made by the various States in conjunction with the main Exposition building.

CHICAGO IS HAPPY. The site selected and the plan of build-The site selected and the plan of buildings proposed is generally regarded as calculated to be especially gratifying to the live stock men of the country, whose display will be most prominent. There was entire unanimity finally on the part of the National Commission, the Chicago Directory and the South Park Commissioners, each separate body voting prominents (co each separate body voting unanimously for the combined site embracing the great South Park system. There is great rejoicing in Chicago to-night by all classes over the final settle-ment of the site controversy in a way that gives universal satisfaction.

Butterworth and Palmer. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. CHICAGO, September 22.-Ben Butterworth and Senator Palmer, President of the Columbian Exposition, were two of the 23 World's Fair magnates who were at the Whitechapel Club to-night. The chandeliers of skulls glowed dimly when the two big officers of the Exposition stalked into the reception rooms arm in arm. The instant they took their seats a skeleton fell from one of the windows and was shattered on the floor. Butterworth grinned in a grim way and Palmer dropped his big cane where he stood. Then a skeleton hand came from the wall and took Commissioner Bustin's hat from the owner's hand. The commissioners were royally entertained. There were many surprises which the chaplers had arranged, and then Butterworth sang "Moriarity." Hi voice was a little reedy, but he won a furious round of applause. When he was furious round of applause. When he was in the midst of his song a covered wagon drew up in front of the club. The driver walked into the banquet room. He gave the President a message and then began oringing skeleton after skeleton into olub until seven were piled in front of the singer, who did not seem to mind their presence. The skeletons came from a medi-cal college.

After Mr. Butterworth had finished Sens. tor Palmer sang "The Son of a Gambo There were seven verses, and when he saidown the singer's legs were clutched by skeleton hands that came through a hole in the floor. The Michigan man yelled and awung his club at the bones. When his swung his club at the bones. When his fright was over the regular programme was carried out. Commissioner Richard Mansfield White, of New Mexico, sang: "She Vas Gone to be a Mormon." Commissioner Lannan, of Utah, replied with a story about a man who lought everything in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.
