Railroad bonds were again dull, the sale of all issues reaching only $607,000, and while there is considerable animation in Texas Pacific incomes no issue showed any marked activity. The tone was heavy, but no material losses occurred. Government bonds have been dull and heavy. State bonds have been dull and without feature.

The Post says: One of the arguments for seiling the Grangers now is that the new southwestern combination of the Atchison, Missouri Pacific, and other roads, together with the steamship lines is antagonistic to the other Granger roads, and especially to the Northwestern and Union Pacific alliance; that this will lead to rate wars between the two combinations and independent reads, like the Chicago and Alton, Rock Island, St. Paul, Burlington, will get the effects of the fight on both sides. It seems, however, inevitable that the four independent roads above mentioned will be compelled to either enter into a combination among themselves or fail into the control of one or the other of the allied roads. In either case it will be jan important step toward the settlement of the troubles of the Granger case it will be an important step toward the settlement of the troubles of the Granger settlement of the troubles of the Granger roads by some sort of contract for operating them jointly, though not necessarily by any consolidation of their stocks.

Catarrh Permanently Cured. "I am a blacksmith and my trouble began by my working in a draft," said Mr. E. H. Price, a well-known resident of Lawrenceville, who lives on Forty-six-and-a-Half street, and is in the employ of the Sheffler Bridge Company,
"I caught a severe cold and from that time my catarrhal symptoms manifested themselves My head and nose would be so filled with mucus that I was compelled to breathe through my mouth and my nose would often get sore. I had pain over my eyes, dizziness and noises in my ears. The mucus that dropped into my throat

Mr. E. H. Price. caused me to be almost continually spitting. The disease finally reached my lungs, I felt a weight in my chest as if my lungs were stopped up. My breath became short and finally a violent cough set in, which increased until I coughed day and night. I had eructations of gas from my stomach, and I had a tired feeling, but more so on getting up in the morning As I read in the papers statements from patients who had been cured by the catarrh specialists at 323 Penn avenue of conditions similar to mine I took a course of their treatment and became completely cured. It is now some time since I took their medicine and my cure has remained permanent. I shall be glad to further, describe my case to any one who

After a quiet of three days business was re sumed yesterday with the same vigor that marked the opening of fall trade. Not much coal is expected to be shipped on the next rise, owing to the scarcity of miners in every pool. Very few firms are running their mines at full blast, and the shipment will be consequently very light. Cincinnati prices have steaded somewhat, and it is likely that the present prices will be the ruling figures for some months. Five feet and one inch tells how fast the river fell during the 24 hours. The Ohio had a like drop. Rivermen do not believe that it will go low enough to impede navigation. Rain is expected in a few days. A storm now raging in the Southwest is heading this way, and Pittaburg will likely come in for the worst and Pittaburg will likely come in for the worst of it.

"The day of floating lumber down the Allegheny is past," said a well known lumber dealer yesterday. "There was a time when large rafts of lumber came down that river, but it has steadily fallen off, until now scarcely any at all comes that way. In the first place, the timber close to the banks of the stream is nearly all cleared away; then all the valuable lumber that does come down the river is shipped in coal bottoms. There are a few rafts of hemlock and such cheap lumber once in a while, but not often."

A visit up stream a few miles would seem to disprove the above statement. A person not in position to know would say that the raft-floating business was in its prime, but, nevertheless, it is fast, falling off, and in a few years it will be a thing of the past. Barge bottoms are shipped mostly from points on the Allegheny.

THE Ben Hur, from Parkersburg, arrived and left again yesterday afternoon. A LANGE party of prominent society leaders of this city has made arrangements with Captain Henderson for a round trip on one of the boats this week.

THE Keyestone State made up considerable of her lost time, yesterday, and arrived at 4 o'clock, with a miscellaneous tow. She departed with a large consignment of glass. THE Monongahela dredge boat No. 3 went down near Wheeling last night, where operations will be commenced dredging for piers for a bridge to span the Ohio near that point. THE Andes, from Cincinnati, is due here this afternoon, some time. She has a big crowd of Exposition visitors. Fogs have detained her and it may be midnight before she pushes in at the
