

WHO CAST THE BALLOTS WHICH DETERMINE THE STATE OF ALLEGHENY'S POLITICAL DESTINIES.

LIST OF VOTERS IN THE COUNTY.

Remarkable Falling Off in Several Wards in Pittsburgh and Allegheny City, but

A GAIN IN THE COUNTRY DISTRICTS.

Little Interest in Polling Boas as Reason for the Loss.

For weeks past Mr. W. W. Murray, of the County Commissioners' office, has had his right hand sorely vexed by the registration of voters and reporters, the former getting in their returns in a dribbling way and the latter hustling to get the list, some of them wanting to approximate the figures, which proposition roused Mr. Murray's wrath.

Yesterday the list of the assessors came in under the wire except those two precincts. They are those of the first districts of the Twelfth ward of Allegheny. It is said legal complications may result, and the voters may be required to do more swearing than they might otherwise do over an election day.

The registry shows considerable apathy on the part of voters, or else a considerable begonia from some districts in the city. It is supposed there are a considerable number of voters who are not carrying much for their votes this year. There are some features worthy of note.

LOSSES AND GAINS.

Believe neither gains nor losses. The list has declined in the Fourth, Fifth, Ninth, Tenth and Twelfth wards Pittsburgh, and the Eighth ward, Allegheny, while there is a large gain in the Sixth of Pittsburgh. The list declines also in the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth wards of this city. That in the Thirty-third ward of Allegheny is explained by the evictions of the iron workers. There is a gain of one in the Twentieth ward, Elizabeth and Millvale boroughs left off. In the townships, Alleppo, Bethel, Lincoln, Pine, Crescent, Shaler, East Deer, Springdale, Sewickley, Scott and Stowe declined in their voting assessments. Pawa and Wilkins each lost one. Brookwood borough, Gaines and West Deer township added 25 to its list.

It will be seen, however, by an examination and comparison of tables and totals that, notwithstanding the begonia to Wilmerding, Jeannette and other places, and the general political apathy this year, Pittsburgh is holding its own and gaining, as also the boroughs and townships. Just why Allegheny City figures should be so indifferent may appear further along.

THE FIGURES FOR IT.

COMING TO PITTSBURGH.

Part of the Plan of the Pittsburgh, Shenango and Lake Erie Road—Figuring a Route From Butler—Another Road to the Lakes.

Colonel Samuel Dick and A. T. Hudekoper, of Meadville, and J. F. Blair, of Greenville, the men who deserve the credit for reorganizing the Pittsburgh, Shenango and Lake Erie road, arrived in the city last evening and stayed at the Duquesne Hotel. Mr. Blair said they had 200 men at work grading the tracks, and they would commence to lay out the route between Butler and Osgood, locally the statement that the Baltimore and Ohio had secured control of the road, and that the road would be operated by the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie road. The line will be extended to Conneaut on the lake, 5 miles more, where it will connect with the Pennsylvania line. Sixty miles of the road have been built, and this much is being operated between Butler and Osgood. CAUGHT A COUNTERFEITER.

Joseph Keener, a Man With a History, in the Toi.

Joseph Keener was arrested yesterday by United States Detectives McKeown on a warrant issued by Commissioner McCandless, charging him with having counterfeited silver dollars in his possession with intent to defraud. Keener had a rather sordid career. Shortly after the war he was driving with a friend out Center avenue, when he saw a colored man, named Keener, who was driving a motor car. Keener shot at him, but being slightly injured, he fled. He was later arrested and sentenced to a year in prison. He has also had other difficulties with the authorities, which has resulted in his imprisonment. This is the first of a number of arrests which have been made by the police in the neighborhood of Center avenue, where a number of counterfeit dollars and half dollars, many complaints have been made recently by merchants who have been victimized, many market men being among the number.

Secretary Tracy Has Requested Local Makers to Confer With Him.

AS TO WHAT CHANGES CAN BE MADE.

In Specifications and Manufacture of the Material for the Yards.

EDGARTHOMSON MENTIONS TO-NIGHT.

Carnegie, Phipps & Co. have received a letter from Secretary Tracy, requesting them to send a representative to the conference to be held between the Steel Board and steelmen in Washington, on the 8th of October. The firm will probably comply with the request.

The conference will take the form of a discussion on the needs of the naval service, and manufacturers will be asked to exchange their views and offer suggestions which may serve to enlighten the department and its officials somewhat as to the conditions under which steel suitable for their requirements is turned out. An effort will likely be made to show the department that it could economize, without sacrificing strength or durability, by changing the specifications of a good deal of the material used. The work on Government orders calls for greater labor and skill than is required for contracts for private individuals, and it is thought that if the Government requirements were reduced, material could be supplied with greater facility, and still without lessening its quality. The steel organist at present demanded by the Government is made by two or three firms, and so a few individuals will be called upon to make steel for the Government could be induced to use steel made by the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie road. The organist processes the orders for its work would be distributed over many more factories. The Steel Road is credited with being opposed to any new steel plant, and it is thought that the organist processes the orders for its work would be distributed over many more factories. HONORED BY CLERGY.

INTEREST IN THE GERMAN BANQUET CENTERED AROUND DR. LIEBER.

PRIESTS ENJOY A LITTLE LEVITY.

Original Songs Sung and English and Latin Speeches Made.

CLOSE OF THE TEUTONIC CONGRESS.

The glory of the German Congress was the banquet at the Schlosser yesterday afternoon. The feast lasted for a whole day with the sunshine streaming through the windows, and it ended at 6 o'clock in clouds of thick tobacco smoke from numerous finely flavored cigars that without the light. Previous to the gustatory performance the final meeting was held. The old officers were re-elected and the same committee appointed. The work of the committee is to select a place for holding the next meeting and to decide on the subjects to be discussed. Buffalo, Louisville and St. Louis are bidding for the congress, but at this writing Buffalo seems to have the inside track. At the close of the banquet the congress adjourned and many of the priests returned home last evening.

THE CENTER OF INTEREST.

The guest of honor and about the only layman invited was Dr. Lieber, the leader of the clerical party in the Reichstag. The Doctor will leave this morning for St. Paul, where he will make a speech on Sunday.

Most of the interest in the banquet centered around him, and he was the center of attraction for each other to do him honor. Every man who spoke made some allusion to him, and Father Lieber was the center of attraction for each other to do him honor. Every man who spoke made some allusion to him, and Father Lieber was the center of attraction for each other to do him honor.

SPEECH OF THE DAY.

Father Faerber acted as toast master, and one of the best speeches made at the banquet was delivered by Dr. Lieber. He is a broad-minded man, and he spoke with a clear and unadorned voice and ably supported by the tricks of the politician and the arts of the scholar. He was frequently applauded, and he was the center of attraction for each other to do him honor. Every man who spoke made some allusion to him, and Father Lieber was the center of attraction for each other to do him honor.

DR. FAIRBAIRN'S FIRST.

The Eminent Scholar Begins His Course of Lectures in Allegheny.

Yesterday morning at the Western Theological Seminary in Allegheny, Dr. Fairbairn, A. M. Fairbairn, of Mansfield College, Oxford, England, lectured. It was an introductory philosophical discussion as to the nature of God. It dealt with the conception of God in religion, and showed that the speculation of to-day was remarkable of the way in which names were used to denote some one of the many elements which entered into the religious idea. Every system attempted to find in the ideal force of the unknown, of the unconscious, or a stream of tendency an idea that could occupy the place of God. He then showed the necessity of the idea to the higher life of the individual, and he argued to argue that it was an idea that touched every truth and was rooted in the whole mind and implied in all its operations. The problem of philosophy and of theology emerged before him in philosophy, only made a modern philosophy, and it was contained and with all knowledge had been solved.

OPENING LECTURES.

THE SEASON BEGINS IN EARNEST IN ALLEGHENY.

Chill W. Hazard Talks About Switches, at Carnegie Library Hall—Dr. Fairbairn, of Oxford, England, Discusses Philosophy and Theology—Interesting and Instructive Talks.

The lecture season opened in Allegheny yesterday. At the evening at Carnegie Library Hall Chill W. Hazard had the floor. The genial editor from Monacaugh City appeared before the audience, a rather portly gentleman with a gray beard that once was gold—bright red gold. He has a smiling, open face—especially when talking—and his ready tongue carefully combed to hide the shining evidences of early pity.

The Colonel was at his happiest last night. He spoke at the opening of there being a mistake as to the subject of his lecture on account of the fact that it was mentioned in the newspapers as "Whistling." He further remarked that it was only natural, as the papers that tell the burgles have the biggest circulation. Mr. Hazard claims for his paper the largest circulation in the country, and if his logic holds good it is probably true.

The subject of the Colonel's lecture proved to be "Switches," but not the kind that has often made the small boy's heart heavy, and his jacket wet from weeping. The switches referred to were those on the great railway of the country, and the speaker showed how things may change the whole course of one's life, and how the money-maker's account is mentioned some that should be taken, while others should be abandoned, and highlighted each little moral lesson with a humorous story that kept his auditors in a roar of laughter. The Colonel, in the meantime, had been eating pie at the house of his mother-in-law, and to his wife's great regret, he had been eating pie at the house of his mother-in-law, and to his wife's great regret, he had been eating pie at the house of his mother-in-law.
