PROGRAMME FOR THE EXPOSITION

Subscriptions for the Merz Musical Library keep piling up right merrily. The 27. $2,500 goal is in plain sight, the present figures running well along the home-stretch of the last $500. Since last Sunday the 29 following additional amounts have been pledged or paid: C. L. Magee. P.C. Ewart..... E.C. Heffley, Misss M. L. Davi-son. Subscriptions already acknowi-Kaufmann &

E. J. Allen Total $2, 102 In addition to the above, a subscription has been started among the members of the Mozart Club by a committee which the club appointed last Monday for the purpose. Counting in also several promises of undetermined amounts, it is safe to say that a total of $2,200 is at this moment assured, leaving but $300 more to raise. This looks hopeful. But it must be remembered that the last laps are the hard ones in every race. Instead of easing up and taking it for granted that the nearing goal is sure to be easily reached, it behooves all who are interested to strain every nerve all the more in order to maintain the vantage already gained and make certain of final Error in the Date.

With the co-operation of all who have Pittsburg's musical interests at heart, there would be no difficulty at all in completing the fund even by next Wednesday, October 1, the day which, by a typographical error until now unnoticed, was named in the conditions of subscription as printed in this column on the last two Sundays. The date named in the subscription book, wherein hearly all of the subscribers have set their names, however, is October 11, and it is not until then that the subscriptions are in terms made payable or that they would lapse in case of failure to raise the entire sum of Nevertheless, inasmuch as the whole sum is now so nearly completed, and since, also, there is need for haste in closing the purchase of the library so as to forestall its sale to any other intending buyer, those who have already subscribed are now requested to remit the amounts at their early con-venience to Chas. C. Meller, 77 Fifth avenue, who is the custodian of the fund.

The exact terms upon which the subscriptions have been made, and are asked for, are

We, the undersigned do hereby subscribe and agree to pay unto Charles C. Mellor, George A. Macbeth and Charles W. Scovel, trustees for the purpose hereinafter set forth, the amounts set opposite our respective names, to be by them applied to the purpose of buying, transporting, casing and cataloguing the musical library of the late Karl Merz, now at Wooster, O.; the title to said library share. Wooster, O.; the title to said library, when so bought, to vest forthwith in the Academy of Science and Art of Pittsburg, which shall take custody thereof and provide for its present use to the best manner practicable, until such time as the Public Library, for which buildings have been oftered to said city of Pittsburg by Andrew Carnegie, Esq., shall be in actual operation, whereupon the said musical library shall drew Carnerie, Esq., shall be in actual operation, whereupon the said musical library shall

Well Worth the Effort.

The possession of this collection made by one of America's most noted musical editors and authors-1,200 to 1,300 volumes, including many rare and old works, and valuable files or musical journals, but chiefly made up of more practically useful books, bearing upon music from all sides—historical, biographical, philosophical, scientific, esthetic and literary-will at once place Pittsburg abreast of almost any city of the land in this department of accumulated knowledge, With various additions that can readily be made (and some of them are already in contemplation), it is not too sanguine to hope that Pittsburg's Carnegie Library may open with a musical alcove already provided for it that shall clearly surpass any similar collection on the continent. That is worth working for !

It means much to our musical progress in various ways. The solid, practical advan-tages derivable from such a mine of musical lore are inestimable; only by such means can the strongly growing interest in music shown of late in the community be made a truly intelligent interest. And the mere repute of possessing a library of such importance will have no small influence in raising the general estimate of Pittsburg's musical advantages, so as to make it a more attractive point for managers, musicians, teachers and students.

Let all musically-minded people help to show that their department is no less active and enterprising than are the other factors in the great development of our commu-nity. To this end, let them heartily aid now in securing for Pittsburg one of the few best musical libraries of the country, and then help to increase and improve it until it shall stand easily ahead of all

A Fine Church Organ.

The new Wirsching organ at the Bellefield Presbyterian Church, which will be publicly heard to-day for the first time, is entitled to rank among the best instruments in this vicinity. It has three manuals of 58 keys each, and pedal of 30 keys; every stop runs throughout the compass, without any grooving. The dimensions are 32 feet wide, 29 feet wide and 12 feet deep. Particularly handsome and well in keeping with the style of the handsome new church interior, is the effect of the front elevation with its display of large speaking pipes.

In the voicing and the individuality of the various registers, the high quality of the instrument largely lies. The diapasons are righ and spongaring the flutter algorithm. the instrument largely lies. The diapasons are rich and sonorous; the flutes clear and ringing; the string-tones very smooth and "stringy" and the reeds more than usually even and characteristic. The tone qualities, in short, are really artistic, as distinguished from those of the large class of organs that seem to be made only to sell. The tone of the full organ has admirable solidity and dignity. This organ is more churchly and dignity. This organ is more churchly and less orchestral than the tendency too com-monly shown by American builders in late years. There are some 'ew points in which improvement may yet be made, but it is a pleasure to note the immense advance in the quality of this organ as compared with the earlier work of this progressive young com-pany. The specification in detail is as follows:

THE fifteen-dollar fall overcost which Gusky's are showing this season is the equal of any $30 00 custom-made garment ever Great Organ. Double Open Diapason,..... Open Diapason..... Fall and Winter Suitings. All the latest styles at E. Schauer's, 407 4. Doppel Floete.....

RAN HIMSELF TO DEATH.

G. M. Campbell Dies in Jail, as a Result of Trying to Escape From an Officer.

Gilmore M. Campbell, a photographer, of Reynolds avenue, East End, died yesterday of heart disease in the county jail. Campbell was committed by Alderman Means on Friday evening for a hearing to-day, on a charge of assaulting his wife. On the way to jail Campbell attempted to escape from the constable, but after a short run, was recaptured.

Jail Physician Chessrown and Dr. Guy McCandless held a post mortem, and dis-covered that Campbell's heart was terribly enlarged. His death under any circum-stances, would have been but a matter of a few months, but the immediate cause was undoubtedly the exertion he made in endeav-
