

A YEAR IN THE PEN.

T. J. Sefton's Sentence for Fraudulent Land Dealings.

OTHER AGENTS IN THE WORKHOUSE

Grant Geiger Gets Three Years for Robbing His Employer.

MINOR OFFENSES AND THE PENALTIES

Judge White occupied the bench in Criminal Court yesterday, and passed sentences on the offenders found guilty during the week. Grant Geiger, was convicted of the stealing men's clothes from the tailor store of M. C. Byrnes, where he was employed, was sent to the penitentiary for three years. The officers having his case in charge had procured a lot of clothes taken from several pawn shops where Geiger disposed of his stolen goods, and these were exhibited before Judge White. Among them were an overcoat valued at $70, which had been pawned for $25, and a pair of trousers marked with the name of a son-in-law of one of the Quarter Sessions' Judges. Judge White ordered the four pawnbrokers to be brought to the bar, and Messrs. Kenowsky, Weil, DeBoy and Childer came forward. The Judge read them a lecture, saying they might have known the clothes were stolen when they were plainly marked with the owner's name, and, too, when a $70 coat was offered for $5.

The agents of the national Capital Savings, Building and Loan Association were next called up. A motion for a new trial that had been made was withdrawn in the case of Sefton and Dunn. A strong plea was made for mercy in behalf of Dunn, who is suffering from ill health, and whose wife is heartbroken, it is said. A plea was also made for the other defendants. Judge White refused that Sefton had come to him and plead for Dunn in behalf of his wife. He said it was painful to him to send a man to jail when his wife would suffer, and that if he were personally interested he would let them all go free. But he is not to be protected, and he had a duty to perform. He then sentenced T. J. Sefton to one year in the penitentiary and the others to the workhouse, Eli Dunn, six months; M. J. Phillips, six months; William Harrison, three months; M. Gannon, three months; and Frank Baker, two months. Other sentences were: H. J. Harrison, larceny, one year to the workhouse; Benjamin Johnston, felonious assault and battery, one year to the workhouse; Taylor Lloyd, assault and battery, $50 fine and costs; Harry Denham, aggravated assault and battery, $25 and costs; W. C. Cummings, assault and battery, $25 and costs; William McCutcheon, same offense, $25 fine and costs; H. Schaffer, malicious mischief, 4 cents fine and costs; Thomas Coyne, aggravated assault and battery, 6 cents fine and costs; Elias Hicks, assault and battery, $5 fine and costs.

A COMPLICATED CASE. W. J. Rainey Suddenly Decides He Wants Valuable Coal Leases.

W. J. Rainey, of Cleveland, O., has confessed judgment in the United States Court for $85,000 in the suit brought against him by A. Work and others to recover a balance of purchase money due on coal land in Fayette county. The contract for the purchase was made in January, 1890. Mr. Rainey was not ready to consummate the purchase, and suit was brought against him for the balance of the purchase money. The matter was complicated by Mr. Rainey filing a bill in equity against the plaintiffs in the same case, asking the court to compel them to fulfill their contract, alleging that they refused to do so. In the meantime the owners received the purchase money, and steps were taken to withdraw the suit against Rainey, with the intention of commencing proceedings to have the contract annulled. Rainey, however, heard of this move, and with his attorney went to the office of the clerk of the Court and confessed judgment in the suit, getting ahead of the other attorney by but a very short time.

OBJECTS TO HIS PARTNER. B. H. Wallace Sues W. I. Jackson Wrongly Executed the Firm's Matter.

A bill in equity was filed yesterday by S. H. Wallace against William I. Jackson. Wallace states that he was in the oil tank business in Pleasantville and Evans City. Last February he took Jackson into partnership with him in the Evans City business. The business was afterward removed to Sample station, and Jackson continued to run it, Wallace giving him the entire management. Jackson, he claims, has never accounted to him for the money acquired, and has leased the firm's notes in name of his partner. There is $2,380 unaccounted for, and of this amount he alleges that Jackson applied $1,800 to his own use, buying furniture, etc. Wallace asks that Jackson be restrained from collecting any money due the firm or disposing of the property, and that the partnership be dissolved and an accounting taken of the business.

OBJECTS TO THE ASSESSMENT. An Appeal From the Decision of the Forbes Street Board of Viewers.

James P. Quinn yesterday filed an appeal from the decision of the Board of Viewers on the opening of Forbes street from Bond street to Diamond street. Quinn was assessed $14 as benefits to pay damages. The assessment, he claims, was made by only two of the viewers; the third viewer, being interested, did not act, and so substitute was appointed. Also the property west of the opening, from Grant street to Market street and Liberty avenue, on Diamond street, was not assessed. The viewers further found that no property was damaged by the opening, and there was nothing to pay. The act of May 18, 1889, under which the opening is made, he asserts, is unconstitutional, because it is special legislation for a city.

He alleges that she made his life unbearable by her indignities to him and violent temper. Henry L. Loeffler sued for a divorce from Katie Loeffler, alleging desertion. W. S. Nestler, Esq., was appointed commissioner in the divorce case of Theresa Facbet against Joseph Facbet.

THE PRESS HAT, $1 50, $1 90, $2 40, $2 90, $3 40.

Styles may come and styles may go, but the one shape which is not subject to fashion's changes is the hat which we illustrate above. Last season the "Press" hat had a most remarkable run. Everybody wore one, even those who usually eschew a soft hat on general principles. This fall it will be confined mostly to those who value comfort above everything, and as this hat combines the elegance of a Derby with the ease of a soft hat, it is (to use a common parlance) "just the cheese." We show the Press hat in black, blue and brown. In dimensions we carry a small, medium and large shape.
