The Grainfields That Samson Used the Foxes to Destroy.

THROUGH THE SACRED CITY'S GATES

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR ! BROOKLYN, October 5.-Dr. Talmage, before beginning his second sermon on the Holy Land this morning, stated that as previously announced, the sermon about to be delivered would also be delivered in the New York Academy of Music in the evening. In consequence of the unprecedented attendance the preceding Sunday evening. when, despite the fact that the Academy of Music accommodated fully 6,000 persons, many thousands were turned away, the managers of The Christian Herald had Madison Square Garden for the purpose of The Christian Herald expects to be able to give to Dr. Talmage an opportunity, during the remaining Salabath evenings of 1890, to speak in the greatest public auditorium in New York City, to the largest audiences that ever assembled for divine service. The seating capacity of Madison Square Garden is 12,000. The subject this morning was: "My Second Day in Palestine," A ter the rending of the Scriptures and two hearty songs of worship by the congregation, the ocher appounced as his text: Galutians

18: "I went up to Jerusalem."
My second day in the Holy Land. We are in Jonna It is 6 o'clock in the morning, but we Joppa. It is 6 o'clock in the morning, but we must start early, for by night we are to be in Jerusalem, and that city is 41 miles away. We may take camel or horse, or carriage. As to-day will be our last opportunity in Palestine for taking the wheel we choose that. The horses with harness tasseled and jingting, are hitched, and, with a drazoman in coat of many colors seated in front, we started on a road which unsels within 12 hours enough to think of for all time and all eternity. AMID WONDERFUL GARDENS.

We start out of the city amid barricades of cactus on either side. Not exctus in boxes two or three feet high, but cast is higher than the swords for defense, considering the amount of swords for defense, considering the amount of beauty it can exhibit, than anything created. We passed out amid about 400 gardens, seven or eight acres to the garden, from which at the right seasons are plucked oranges, lemons, figs, elives, carron and pomegranates, and which old up their censers of perfume before the ord in perpetual praise. We meet camels oaded with kegs, great processions of them ordened with oil and with fruits, and some solems, ancient, angainly, majestic and ridicu-solems, ancient, angainly, majestic and ridicu-lous shape, stalking out of the past.

As we pass out and on we find about 800 acres belonging to the Universal Israelitish Alliance blondedore, the israelitish centenarian and chinarchyopist, and Rothschild, the banker, and others of the large dearted lava, raid the others of the large-hearted have paid the pas-sage to Palestine, for many of the Israelites, and set apart lands for their culture; and it is only a beginning of the fulfillment of divine Cazareth and Gaililee we saw linned with prostation and Galliee we saw limited with pro-sition of Jews, going to the sacred places, ther on holy pilgrimage, or as settlers. All e fingers of Providence nowadays are point-g toward that resumption of Palestine by the racilities, I do not take it that the prospered cachines of other lands are to go there. They would be foolish to leave their prosperities in our American cities where they are among our best citizens, and cross two seas to begin life over again in a strange land. But the outrares heaped upon them in Russia, and the insults offered them in Germany, will soon quadruple and centuring the procession of Israelites from Russia to Palestin. Russia to Palestine. Colonization societies in England and Russia are gathering money for he transportation of the Israelites to Palestine and for the purchase for them of lands and farming implements, and so many desire to go that it is decided by lot as to which families thall on the company of the company

God will with the lightnings of His omnipotence those lands on either side of the Atlantic, which have seen the instruments of annoyance and harm been the listruments of annoyance and harm, to that Jewish race, to which belonged Abraham, and David, and Joshua, and Baron Hirsch, and Monteflore, and Paul the Apostle, and Mary the Virgin, and Jesus Christ the Lord.

On the way across the plain of Sharon we must many veiled women. It is not respectable for them to go unveiled, and it is a veil that is so hung as to make them hideous. A man may not even see the face of his wite until after betrothal, or engagement of marriage. What is that? Town of Ramleh, birthplace, on built for all those, who in the time of war in time of peace, have fallen on this road ing the ages past, you might almost walk on

HOME OF THE BANDITTI. ow we pass guardhouses which are castles of chopped straw and mud, where at night and partly through the day armed men dwell and keep the bandits off travelers. In the caves of these mountains dwell men to whom massacre would be high play and a purse with a few bennies would be compensation enough for the struggle that the savage might have with the struggie that the savage might have with the wayfarer. There is only one other defense that appoints to much in these lands and that is the law of hospitality. If you can get an Arab to eat with you, if only one mouthful, you are sure of his protection, and that has been so from age to age. The Lord's Supper was built on that custom, a special friendship after taking food together. To that custom Walter Scott refers in his importal "Talisman," where Saiadin, with one stroke of the sword, strikes the head from an enomy who stands in Saladin's tent with a cup in his hand, and before he has time to put it to his lip, and does it so suddenly that the body of his enemy, before he has time to put it to his in, and s it so suddenly that the body of his enemy, eaded, stands for a moment after the be-ding with the cup still in his right hand, or the cup had been supped it would have seen impossible, according to the laws of briental hospitality, to give the fatal blow. The only lands where it is safe to travel un-nemed are Christian lands. Human life is more highly valued and personal rights are bet-ter respected, and I am glad to believe that in our country, from the Atlantic ocean to the ter respected, and I am grad to believe that in our country, from the Atlantic ocean to the Pacific ocean, there is not a place to-day where a man is not safer without a pispol than with one. But all through our jo irneys in Palestine we required firearms. While the only weapon I had on my person was a New Testament, we went through the region where I said to the dragoman: "Pavid, are you armed?" and he said "Yes," and I said "Are those Is or 20 muleicers and haggaremen and attendants armed?" and he said "Yes," and I felt safer. Here now we come where stood the fields into which Sanison fired the foxes. The foxes are no rarrity in this land. I counted at one time 20 or 30 of them in one group, and the cry all along the line was "Foxes! Look at the foxes?" and at night they sometimes bark until all attempts to sleep are an absurdity. Those I saw and heard in Palestine might have been descendant of the very foxes that Samson employed for an appalling incendiarism.

SAMSON'S SPITE-WORK, The wealth of that land was in the harvests and it was harvest time and the straw was dry. Three hundred foxes are caught and tied in couples by some wire or incombustible cord which the flames cannot divide, and fire-brands which the hames cannot divide, and fire-brands are lastoned to those couples of foxes, and the affrighted creatures are let loose and run every whither among the harvests and in the awful blaze down go the corn shocks, and the vine-yards, and the clives, and all through the valleys and over the hills, and among the villages is heard the cry of Fire! And in the burnt pathway walk Hunger and Want and Desolation.

And all this for spite. And some theologians learn one thing, and some another. But I learn from it that a great man may sometimes stoop to a very mean piece of business, and that if men would use as much ingenuity in trying to bless as they do in trying to destroy, the world all the way down would have been in better condition.

all the way down would have been in better condition.

Brace up your nerves now, that you may look while I point them out. Yonder is Kirjath-Jearim, where the ark of God stayed until David took it to Jerusalem. Yonder John the Baptist was born. Yonder is Emmans where Christ walked with the discipies at eventide. Here is the valley of Ajalon, famous for Joshna's pursuit of the five kings, and the lunar arrest. And there is the cavern of Makkedah, where they fied for safety, and where they were afterward locked in, and from which they were taken out to be slain, and in which they were taken out to be slain, and in which they were taken out to be slain, and on the cave ever was: fortress, prison, sepulchre.

Now we pass the place where once lived one of the greatest robbers of the century. Abou Gosh by name. From this point you see he could look over all the surrounding country, and long before the travelers came up to him, the plan for the taking of their money or their life, or both was consummated. He one day found a company of monks who would not pay, and he smothered them to death in a hot oven. In his last days, he lived here

LIKE AN ORIENTAL PRINCE, and had his attendants and admirers to whom he told the stories of brigandage and assassimanagers of The Christian Herald had pation. So late as when our eminent and be-opened negotiations with a view to securing loved American, William C. Prime, passed through, Abou Gosh, the scoundrelly Be the remaining 10 Sunday evening sermons.

Owing to imperative engagements for the next three Sundays, the garden could not be secured earlier than four weeks hence, when a business now as when all this route to Jerusalem was subject to outrages pandemoniac.

Here we pass the village of Latrun, home of the penitent thief, the village, a few straggling houses on steep hills, in from the valley of Ajalon. Up these steep hills, in his earlier days, the thief had carried the spoils of arson and burglary, and down them he had borne the heavier burgles of a guilt heavt. But history and burglary, and down them he had borne the heavier burden of a guilty heart. But higher than these hills he mounted, after he had repented, from the tranfixed posture on the cross to the boson of a forgiving God.

Now we come to the brook Elah, from which little David took the amooth stones with which he prostrated Goliath. But we must hasten on, for the danger now is that night will be upon us before we reach Jerusalem. Oh! we must see it before sundown. We are climbing the hills which are terraced with olive groves, uplands rising above unlands mtil we come to an hills which are terraced with olive groves, up-lands rising above uplands, until we come to an immensity of barrenness, gray rocks above gray rocks, where neither tree, nor leaf, nor bush, nor grass blade can grow. The horses stumble, and slip, and pull, till it seems the harness must break. Solemnity and awe take posses-sion of us. Though a rivacious party, and during part of the day jocularity had reigned, now no one spoke a word except to say to the dragoman, "ell us when you get the first glunjse of the city." I never had such high expectation of seeing any place as of seeing expectation of seeing any place as of seeing Jerusalem. I think my feelings may have been slightly akin to that of the Christian just about to enter the heavenly Jerusalem. My ideas of THE EARTHLY JERUSALEM were bewildering. Had I not seen pictures of it? Oh, yes; but they only increase the bewilderment. They were taken from a variety of standpoints. If 20 artists attempt to sketch wilderment. They were taken from a variety of standpoints. If 20 artists attempt to sketch Brooklyn, or New York, or London, or Jerusalem, they will plant their cameras at different places, and take as many different pictures, but in a few minutes I shall see the sacred city with my own eyes. Over another shoulder of the hill we go, and nothing in sight but rocks and mountains, and awful gulches between them, which make the head swim if you look down. On and up, on and up, until the lathered and smoking horses are reined in, and the dragoman rises in front, and points eastward, crying. "Jerusalem!" It was mightier than an electric shock. We all rose. There it lay, the prize of nations, the terminus of famous pilgrimages, the object of Roman and crusading wars, and for it Assyrians had fought, and Exphians had fought, and the world had fought; the place where the Queen of Sheba visited, and Richard Cour de Lion had conquered. Home of Sulomon. Home of Ezekiel. Home of Jeremiah. Home of Isaiah. Home of Saladin. Mount Zion of David's heartbreak, and Mount Moriah, where the sacrifices smoked, Mount of Olives where Jesus preached, and Gethsemane where he agonized, and Goigotha where he died, and the Holy Sepulchre where he was buried. O, Jerusalem! Jerusalem! Greatest city on earth, and type of the city celestial.

After 1 have been 10,000 years in heaven, the type of the city celestial.

After I have been 10,000 years in heaven, the memory of that first view from the rocks on the afternoon of December 2 will be as vivid as the afternoon of December 2 will be as vivid as now. An Arab on a horse that was like a whirlwind, bitted and saddled and spurred, its mane and finaks jet as the night—and there are no such horsemen as Arab horsmen—had come far out to meet us, and invite us to his hotel inside the gates. But arrangements had been made for us to stay at a hotel outside the gates. In the dusk of evening we halted in front of the place and entered, but I said: "No, thank you for your courteous reception, but I must sleep to-night inside the gates of Jerusalem. I would rather have the poorest place inside the gates than the best place outside."

ENTERING THE HOLY CITY. So we remounted our coach and moved or grunting with great beams and timbers on their back, brought in for building purposes-for it is amazing how much a camel can carry—until we came to what is called the Joppa Gate of Jerusalem. It is about 40 feet wide, 20 feet deep and 60 feet high. There is a sharp turn just after you have entered, so planned as to make the entrance of armed enemies the more difficult. On the structure of these gates the safety of Jerusalem depended, and all the Bible writers used them for illustrations. Within five minutes' walk of the gate we entered, David wrote: "Enter into thy gates with thanksgiving." "Lift up your heads, O, ye gates?" "The Lord loveth the gates of Zion." "Onen to use the gates of righteomerss." And gates!" The Lord loveth the gates of Zion," "Open to me the gates of righteonsness." And Isaial wrote: "Go through, go through the gates." And the captive of Patmos wrote:
"The city had 12 gates." Having passed the gate, we went on through the narrow streets, dimly lighted, and passed to our halting place,
and sat nown by the window from which we could see Mount Zion, and said: "Here we are at last, in the capital of the whole earth." And thoughts of the past and the fature rushed through my soul in quick succession, and I thought of that old hymn, sung by so many ascending -pirits:

ascending -pirits; When shall my tabors have an end, In joy and peace and thee?

When shall these eyes thy heav'n-built walls And pearly gates behold? Thy bulwarks with salvation strong, And streets of shining gold?

And so with our hearts full of gratitude to odd for journeying mercies all the way from oppa to Jerusalem, and with bright anticipa-ion of our entrance into the shining gate of the heavenly city when earthly journeys are over, my second day in Palestine is ended.

The delightful weather induced several hundred persons to take in the excursions down the Ohio. Since Saturday the river has fallen rapidly. #### A REVIEW OF TRADE

Some of the Effects of the Tariff Law in Grocery Lines.

CANNED GOODS AND FRUITS FIRM. Heavy Receipts of Flour and Oats Weaken Tone of Markets.

FEATURES OF THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

The important factor in the week's jobbing grocery trade has been the enactment of the new tariff law. The effect is already felt in an upward tendency of foreign fruits and higher prices prevail in New York. Here it is only a question of a few days when all fruits from foreign shores, such as rsisins, truits, etc., and all canned goods of every kind, will find a higher level. The tariff on tin plate will also have the effect of advancing prices on all canned goods for a very obvious reason. As this is a season of already high prices and scarcity in fruit and vegetable lines, the average consumer will be compelled to cultivate the grace of self-denial more than usual in the season before us. The great grocery staples, sugar and coffee, have undergone no change during the week. Coffee options have been fluctuating slightly from day to day, with a general drift toward a higher level. Packages, however, move along in the same old ruts, to the disappointment of all but a few of the largest jobbers.

the disappointment of all but a few of the largest jobbers.

Sugar markets are firm enough for an advance. According to reports from leading wholesale grocers the month of September showed great activity. It is safe to say that the amount of goods handled by our city's firms was beyond any previous corresponding month in our trade history.

There is no better sign of the healthy prosperity of our city than the great activity of our immense wholesale grocery houses.

It will be seen by reference to the domestic market column, that the receipts of grain and hay for the week have been the largest for many weeks, the total being 309 car loads. The eccipts of oats alone, lacked one car of a huntred. The heavy supplies are due in part to the breaking of Western railroad blockades, and better facilities in transportation. There are no longer the vexatious delays there were during a great part of September. Now the movement caused is of another type, namely, that stuff is coming in too freely. As a result of the heavy arrivals, oats and flour have shown weakening tendencies for a few days past. The amount of flour in the hands of Pittsburg jobbers is larger than usual, and the trade has been rather quieter than usual the past few days. However, there is little apprehension of a drop, as latest advices from the Northwest show a better tone to the wheat market. While choice grades of hay are firm on account of scarcity, this is no doubt only temporary, as the crop is one of the largest the country ever saw. A leading grain dealer who spent the past few days in an exploring tour through Washington and the southern part of Allegheny counties, said that through that section such a yield of hay was never known, and that the grazing is now extra good for this time of the year as a result of recent rains. The rains which have proved so timely to pasture lands, have had a bad effect on roads. Bad roads are without doubt responof the heavy arrivals, oats and flour have shown on roads. Bad roads are without doub: responsible for the late scarcity of choice hay in the market, and there will be plenty later on.

Country Produce. Two adverse influences were felt by produce ommission merchants the past week. In the early part of the week, when the skies were bright, the month was winding up its career and retailers are accustomed to buy sparingly at such a time for the reason that bills are ren-dered the first of the month. The last days of the week wet weather interfered somewhat with trade. There have been few changes to markets during the week. All good stock in the lines of vegetables and darry are firmly held at prices which prevailed a week ago. Grapes touched their lowest point for the season within a day or two. It is estimated that close to 100 carloads of grapes were handled by close to 100 carloads of grapes were handled by produce commission merchants in the two weeks past. Last Saturday's prices of pro-visions were reaffirmed at the regular meeting of the pork packers held to-day. Hides and call skins are still dull with the situation in buyer's favor.

In the oversold condition of the market was the sharp advance of to-day no doubt attributable. Many of the dealers who were buyers the past day or two were sellers, and sellers of the past few days were buyers. The unexpected happened, and operators felt a little nervous over the situation. Some parties thought the market a healthy one. Others were rather doubtful and thought it only a scare to force in some large traders. Corn attracted more than usual attention, a large volume of business being transacted within a broader range than any day this week. The feeling developed was much stronger, and higher prices were the rule on all futures. The advance was due largely to the purchases of May by several large local houses, two of whom took in all about 100,000 bushels. Oats—The animation and advance in wheat and corn had a good effect on the market for oats. Opening sales were 1/2 advance for May, and a further appreciation of 3/2 was recorded. The other deliveries advanced 3/2/2 with light trading, and the market closed steady at about outside figures.

Mess pork—Trading was moderate; opening sales were made at 21/2 advance, but prices steady.

Lard—Trade was only fair; near deliveries were quiet and rather slow, with little change to note in prices; the longer deliveries were firmer and 2/ @5c higher, with fair trading.
Short rubs—A fair business was transacted; offerings of the near deliveries were light; the longer deliveries were in fair request; price ruled 2%@5c higher, and the market closes teady at outside agures.

Comparative Activity in the Market-Bears Make an Effect to Shake Out Long Stocks-The Cry of a Bad Bank St tement.

NEW YORK, October 4.—The stock market o-day was comparatively active, but the activity was of the usual sort made entirely by the operations for a decline and the weakness was most pronounced, approaching nearly to complete demoralization, and the losses incurred during the short session of only two hours compare favorably with those of any full day of recent date. The bears made what would seem to be one final effort to shake on long stocks, and no doubt but that considerab liquidation was accomplished in all portions of the list with the single exception of Lackathe list with the single exception of Lackawanna, which was the only stock which received any support whatever. The cry was "A bad bank statement," and after the Issue of the statement, which was made unusually early, the most determined drive of the day was made and in the downward movement, which had been heavy throughout, was perceptibly accelerated.

The opening was made at lower figures, the losses from la-t night's prices extending generally to ½ per cent, but Kansas and Texas was exceptional, with a loss of ½ per cent. The downward movement went but little farther for the time being, the trading element starting in to cover, but the movement lacked vim and later all those stocks were thrown over and the bears crowded the market with an avalanche of short stocks which broke the market badly, of short stocks which broke the market badly, especially in the grangers, Southwesterns and the stocks of the Pacific roads. There was no cessation of the pressure, which lasted right to the close, and, although there was a slight reaction in the final dealings, the close was active and weak, practically at the lowest figures.
