In Effort to Get a Pension for the Scotch Widow of a Union Soldier-If the Government Does Not Pay it He Will. [FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

WASHINGTON, October 6 .- In his recent speech at Dundee, Scotland, which caused such a profound sensation in Great Britain, Mr. Andrew Carnegie contrasted the pensions paid to individuals by the British government with those paid to the rank and file of soldiers in this country, glorifying the United States for paying out $140,000,000 a year for that purpose. A day or two after Mr. Carnegie was attacked by a Tory paper, which called attention to the tact that the widow of a Scotchman who had fought through the War of the Rebellion in of the local car company would not sell. Other notes came due and a cash revenue of the Union army of the United States was permitted to suffer in destitution at that $75,000 having been lost by the failure of certain supply concerns to furnish materials place without a pension.

At the request of Mr. Carnegie the United States Consul, Mr. Bruce, investi-gated the case and found that the woman referred to was the widow of John McEwan, who was a private in Company H, Sixty-fith Illinois Infantry. She was imme-diately asked to sign an application for a pension which Mr. Carnegie brought with him, with the necessary affidavits to support the claim. He let the meeting of the ironmasters at New York last Friday and come over to Washington to lay the case before the President. The latter at once forwarded the papers to Commissioner Raum with the request that they receive immediate atten-Mr. Carnegie said that if any legal technicality was ound in the way of granting the pension, he would deposit the necessary funds in the Treasury and have them paid out in the usual way, for he could not go buck to Scotland and make another speech in eulogy of the United States until that woman was made an example of the beneficence of this Government.
