MANY COMING INTO THE FOLD.

An Advisory Committee of Forty Well-Known Republicans Named Yesterday by Chairman Blair.

PROHIBITIONISTS GETTING IN LINE

Clarion County Democrats Claiming a Big Vote There for Pattison.

The center of political enthusiasm yesterday appeared to be at Room 204, Bissell Block, Smithfield street. Independent Republicans dropped in almost continually either to give their adhesion or to report others who wanted to be taken into the fold. Among the callers was the veteran grain dealer, John Hood, who was said to have talked very interestingly, and a DISPATCH reporter was advised to call on him, which he did, but Mr. Hood said he did not wish to say how he felt without first weighing his words. He deviated, however, far enough to intimate that he believed a little purification was at times a good thing, even if it cost party defeat for the time being.

At the beadquarters Mr. Ayres, Chairman of the Committee on Speakers and Meetings, stated that a number of good speakers had offered their services, and he was ready to furnish them where desired. He asks that when meetings are arranged he be notified at headquarters, and says they will receive consideration.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR MEETINGS. Mr. Avres said arrangements had already been made for five meetings in Pittsburg and Allegheny and 30 in the country. He said organization was growing much beyond its most sanguine expectations at the outstart, and that encouraging advices from Braddock, Sewickley, Etna, Bennett, Sharpsburg and McKeesport, Mr. Ayres and there were 100 Partison Republicans in Sharpsburg, which would cut the borough pro tempore, from its usual moorings.

Secretary Patterson reported that Sewick-ley, which has a Republican majority of 187, would give a majority for Pattison Captain Jones, a brother of the late Superintendent of the Edgar Thomson Steel Works, was present, and made a statement that of the 250 Republican votes in the Secand district of Braddock, 3 to 1 would be cast for Pattison. Captain Isaac Mills gave a similar account of feeling in Braddock town-

CLAIMS FROM OTHER QUARTERS. It was also stated that, though Oakmont had 201 Republican votes to 47 Democratic, the Inients felt confident of wresting Republican ascendency for the time.

It was stated that Hon. Lewis Emery was expected to be in this city soon, to arraign Delapater, and that he would receive a rousing Chairman Blair, of the Executive Committee, yesterday announced that the following

These gentlemen are all Republicans. The majority have bitherto taken little interest in political work, but all vay they are in earnest in believing they can best serve their party this year by voting for Pattison.

ME. AVRES APPOINTED VICE CHAIRMAN.

MR. AVRES APPOINTED VICE CHAIRMAN. Another interesting piece of information given out by the Independents yesterday was the announcement that N. G. Ayres had been appointed by Chairman Mapes, of the State Committee, Vice Chairman for the Western Pennsylvania counties. Mr. Ayres was Chair-man of the regular Republican Committee on Meetings and Speakers in the campaign of 1882. He accepted the appointment last even-

"I could not see in 1882 that any good reason existed for the revolt of Republicans. I was for Beaver for Governor, worked hard to secure his election and was sorry when it was certain he was defeated. This year I consider it my duity and the duity of all Republicans who have the real interest of the party at heart to youte for Robert E. Pattison for Governor. If Belianater is elected, and the rule of the machine which forced time on the party is not reputiated, there will be no hope for us in 1892. I am for Pattison this year in order to get the party into shane to elect a Republican President in 1892. I will make my headquarters in the Bisseli block and will at once get into communication with the leaders of the Independent Bepublican organization in the several Western Pennsylvania counties, and am satisfied we will make a showing that will surprise those who think the movement will amount to nothing." g, and sam: "I could not see in 1882 that any good reason

Wilson, Major B. J. Reid, John B. Pat-Theo, S. Wilson, Major B. J. Reid, John B. Patrick, editor of the Republican-Garette, and A. C. McComb. Judge Wilson said he had heard that 500 Republicans in Clarion county would vote for Pattison. The average Democratic majority of the county is 1,000. Major Reid thinks Pattison's majority will be not less than 1,400.

Mr. Patrick is a Republican, and he was inclined to believe that Delamater would come out all right in Clarion.

VOTERS DISFRANCHISED.

The meeting to have been held last night in the East street schoolhouse, Allegheny, to con-sider the advisability of taking the case of sider the advisability of taking the case of alleged fraud in the First precinct of the Twelfth ward in the Stone-Shiras contest into court was postponed to next Tuesday evening. An interesting fact was disclosed in that ward. The tax register in the First precinct failed to do his work and thus about 100 voters were unable to pay their tax and of course could not register. They offered the cash to the proper officials, but it was refused. As the time for registration is past they are wirtually disfranchised unless some way can be found to get around the error.

PRAYING AND WATCHING. Neville Island People Talking About the

Necessity of a Bridge. George H. Cole, of Neville Island, lost valuable pair of horses the other day. The driver attempted to cross the ford at Davis Island, while the river was rising, and was swept down. The horses and wagon floated down until they struck one of the piers of the county bridge now being erected. There was a mighty crash, and all but the driver disappeared from view. Some workmen on the bridge rushed to the rescue, and dropping a line, enabled the driver to anchor, but that was all they cauld accomplish. all they could accomplish.

The accident has aroused the inhabitants of the island to the importance of the bridge, and they are watching and praying, if not working, for its completion. The 60-foot road down the center of the island may not materialize for some time, but with the bridge completed, the people think life might be worth living for some time to come.

RUINED BY SICKNESS.

A Well-Known Young Railroader Dismissed From the Service.

SHORTAGE IN THE RENT ACCOUNTS.

Expected to Die. WHAT HIS BROTHERS SAY OF THE CASE

Charles C. Neereamer, of the engineering department of the Pennsylvania Company, has been dismissed from the service on account of several irregularities in the rent department, said to be due to negligence, the result of poor health, caused by overwork. He is now sojourning among the lakes, and is expected by his physicians to die within the next two months. His mother also is in very poor health, and altogether the case is a very sad one.

When the engineering department of the Panhandle road was located in Columbus he acted as chief clerk to M. J. Becker, chief engineer of the road, and on the department being moved to this city a year or so ago he was transferred in the same capacity. There was great regret at his departure by numerous friends, and especially was this true in the Columbus Orchestra, of which he was leader.

HOW THE STORY LEAKED OUT. His presence in Columbus a week or so ago, and his absence now on the lakes, ostensibly to benefit his health, led to conectures, and finally to the report that he was no longer in the employ of the company. It was learned that Michael Mulliens, who was with the department in Columbus, had been promoted to his position, and finally the cause of this change reached Columbus. H. W. was seen yesterday afternoon in Columbus, was seen yesterday afternoon in Columbus, and asked if it was true that his brother was short $3,000 as chief clerk for Chief Engineer Becker. He said:

"My brother has been under the weather for some time, but could not get off on account of the large amount of business incident to the consolidation of the roads. If there is anything wrong, it is clearly on account of negligence caused by ill heaith. He has been home about two weeks." "Had you heard of his defalcation before?"

"Had you heard of his defalcation before?"
was asked.
"No," be answered, "I knew when he was taken sick he stayed there as long as possible and when he turned over the books to his successor they did not quite balance, but the difference was less than $500. All this was satisfactorily arranged. Whatever was wrong is purely a matter of negligence, caused by poor health."

Mr. Neereamer also stated that he did not know whether the position was still held by his brother or not. He also exhibited the following receipt, received by his brother, L. W.
Neereamer, from the treasurer of the Pennsylvania lines in this city, which is self-explanatory:

HIS SHORTAGE MADE GOOD.

"PITTSBURG, PA., September 19. "Received this day of L. W. Neereamer $250, to be applied to the payment of any deficiency over and beyond what is left after the application of securities heretofore received from Charles C securities heretofore received from Charles C.
Neereamer in account between Charles C.
Neereamer and the Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railway Company and other affiliated companies, and balance remaining of said sum, $250, after said account of Charles C. Neereamer has been made good by the application of the security above mentioned, should be returned to L. W. Neereamer.

When asked what the words "other securi-or less.

A call was made at Mr. M. J. Becker's house on Sherman avenue, Allegheny, last evening but the gentleman is in Cincinnati. L. W. Neereamer, another brother of Charles, and confidential clerk to Mr. Becker, was seen at his residence on Arch street, and when asked about the matter said:

his residence on Arch street, and when asked about the matter said:

"My brother's trouble was caused by his bealth breaking down and he has been in such a condition that he could not realize the construction that could be placed on his inability to keep up his work. There is nothing in the story that he defrauded the company of $3,000, as the amount he appeared to be short was less than $50. The company recognized his continuous forms of the company recognized his continuous forms of the story that he defrauded the company of $3,000, as the amount he appeared to be short was less than $50. The company recognized his continuous forms of the three lines of Councillation and refused to prosecute. The officials agreed to allow the matter to drop and nothing should be said about it. My brother had three hemorrhages lately and his physicians say he cannot live two months longer. This shows cannot live two months longer. This shows cannot live two months longer. This shows his condition."

Mr. Necreamer was considered a smart young railroader, and would have made his mark had his health lasted. Pennsylvania Company officials say his shortage was not of a criminal nature, as he had many friends that would have made good the deficiency. His mother also is very ill, and is not expected to recover.

IN THE DRUG BUSINESS.

The State Board of Pharmacy Will Prose cute Incompetent Druggists.

The State Board of Pharmacy held its quarterly meeting at the Monongahela House vesterday. The members present were President Alonzo Roberts, of Philadelphia: Secretary H. H. Cochran, of Lancaster; Vice President A. B. Burns, of Montrose; A. J. Tafel, of Philadelphia, and F. H. Eggers, of Allegheny, The first business considered by the board was the papers of the applicants for qualified assist-ants and the applicants for registry. Another ants and the applicants for registry. Another which the board will take action upon are the complaints lodged against druggists for incompetency. The cases will be investigated, and, if necessary, the druggists under fire will be compelled to stand an examination such as is required of the students, and if they fail in this, Secretary Cochran stated that the board wo ld compel these unskilled pharmacists to retire from the business.

A number of unregistered druggists are now doing business throughout the State by virtue of the right conferred on all those who were engaged in the business at the time or previous to the law requiring them to be registered was passed. Mr. Eggers stated that when any complaints were made against these druggists, the above course was pursued.

ELUDED THE LAWYER.

How a Waynesburg Girl Gave Mr. Downey the Slip.

R. F. Downey, of Waynesburg, is a goodnatured lawyer, but he was outwitted yester day, not from lack of shrewdness or on account of negligence, but because of his confiding and trusting nature. He came to Pittsburg with an aged citizen from Greene county as his attorney in search of his daughter, who had eloped with a horse jockey. In company with several policemen they located the pair at the Keystone Hotel, and soon had the girl in their possession. She was taken to the Monongabela House and left in one of the parlors. Mr. Downey then went out with the father to prepare the legal papers for the arrest of the jockey, leaving the girl alone, but with the policemen on the watch.

The maiden thereupon skipped through a side entrance, and when Mr. Downey came back she was gone. He thought it was a good joke on himself, and he erjoyed it thoroughly. Meanwhile the jockey can rest easy until the girl can be found. eloped with a horse jockey. In company with

ACROSS SKUNK HOLLOW, LIFE BREATHED INTO THE SCHEME FOR

A BRIDGE. The Committee on Public Works Does Not Take Kindly to It-A Large Batch of Street Improvement Ordinances Affirmatively Recommended.

Some months ago THE DISPATCH published the fact that a number of residents in He is Now Sojourning on the Lakes and is Bloomfield and vicinity were considering the advisability of having erected a bridge across Skunk Hollow, near Ben Venue station, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. It was stated at the time that if the bridge was built it would bring that part of the city into close communication with Schenley Park and the Carnegie art buildings. The perons back of the scheme said the bridge could be built at little expense, and would make an outlet into Oakland from Bloomfield via Bellefield avenue, which will run to the $75,000 entrance to the park. When the bridge is built the residents of Bloomfield can get to or from the park in 20 or 25 minutes.

The scheme to build the bridge has matured. and at the meeting of the Committee on Public Works yesterday an ordinance was introduced for the construction of a bridge from Ella street, Sixteenth ward, to Ridge street, Thirteenth ward. The ordinance was presented by Select Councilman Warren. Its originators reside in the Sixteenth ward, and proposed that the expense of the bridge should be borne by the parties benefited, under the street improvement act. They had calculated that the structure would cost about $75,000.

The property benefited would be all the property fronting on streets in the Bloomfield district and considerable of that in the Eleventh and Thirteenth wards, from which the $75,000 was to be raised. Some members of the Public Works Committee, knowing of the ordinance, had fortified themselves by making inquiries for the construction of a bridge from Ella was to be raised. Some members of the Public Works Committee, knowing of the ordinance, had fortified themselves by making inquiries as to the probable cost of such a bridge, and had found that a bridge of very ordinary design, to answer the purpose, would cost at least $150,000. When the committee met yesterday this information was quietly passed around, and when the ordinance came up for consideration it was ordered returned to Councils with a negative recommendation. It will come up again, however, if it does not go through.

A petition for the opening and grading of an extension to Halket street, Fourteenth ward, was referred to a committee. The following ordinances for street improvements were given an affirmative recommendation:

Opening Almeda street from Second avenue to Glenwood avenue; Blair street from Woodlawn to Melanethion streets; Eddington, from Homewood avenue to Industry street; Helena, from Emerald to Renwick: Breed, from South Thirteenth to South Fifteenth: Daum, from Wilkins to Negley avenues; Hays, from Encild to Negley avenues; Fifty-third, from Butter to Holmes; Robinson, from Allequippa to Berthoud; Junilla, from Wylle avenue to Elba; Margaretta, from Negley avenue to Rebecca: Fifty-fifth, from Butter to the Allegheny river; Webster, from Roberts to Mercer: Holmes, from Min street to Triendship avenue; Relic alley from Main street to Friendship avenue; Relic alley from Rapidan to Vermillion alleys; Kilbuck street, from Flowrens street to Blair's property line; Watson street, from Try to Shingiss street.

NOT TOO LATE FOR BLACKSNAKES.

A Butler County Farmer Badly Bitten by One He Hauled From Home,

John Shriber, a farmer of Butler county, was on the Morningside road with a wagon load of hay yesterday afternoon, when he heard a rustling in the hay, and turning around saw a large blacksnake coiled in the load. Shriber attempted, with a pitchfork, to throw the snake from the wagon, but was not quick enough. The snake bit Shriber on the left leg below the knee, and also on the hand. Maddened by the pain Shriber sprang on the head of the snake with both feet and finally killed it.

Shriber then drove rapidly to the house of George Enos, which was not far away. When he entered the house his arm and leg were very much swellen. Dr. Sands, after giving Shriber a large drink of brandy, applied ammonia to the wounds until the swelling was reduced. The snake, it is said, was six feet long. The snake bit Shriber on the left leg below the

After waiting for a day or two to see whether the tariff bill was really an accomolished act, and not liable to be replaced by free trade measure for a few months at least, capitalists are becoming emboldened. and from all ends of the country tales of tin plate plants of fabulous size about to spring up in every direction are borne in the air. From Chicago comes a story of a projected plant to cost $4,500,000 and employ 3,500 men. The Armours and Swifts and Cronemeyer Manufacturing Comthe pany, of Pittsburg, are mentioned as being "in it." The name of the latter company will be a new one to local capitalists. It very probably is intended to allude to the project in which Chairman W. C. Cronemeyer, of the United States Tinned Plate and Iron Works, at Demmier, is reported as being indentified with. Mr. Cronemeyer is a firm believer in the future of tin plate as a vehicle for the investment of capital with the probability of a fair return. It is understood that he has interested John H. Ricketson and other local capitalists in the enterprise, and that an immediate development of the industry will ensue. It is quite certain, as already pointed out in THE DISPATCH, that a large amount of capital will be invested on tinned plate plants, both here and elsewhere, but, as also said, the projectors will go slow. There is a syndicate already formed, including some very well-known names, for the erection of plants in several sections of the country, particulars of whose operations will be given in a few days. Several schemes in this connection will be matured during the visit of the visting iron men.

Mr. R. P. Rothwell, the well-known mining Mr. R. P. Rothwell, the well-known mining expert, had this to say lately about the Black Hills tin prospect. He had visited the Harney's Peak Tin Mining Company's property in South Dakota. There there was an expensive plant and every facility that abundant capital could provide for the development of the mines, but very little tin. Mr. Rothwell said that the company was getting out just about enough tin to pay operating expenses. He did not believe that there would be 10 tons of the metal produced all next year. In no other section of the country is there any pretense of working the country is there any pretense of working the deposits of tin known to exist.

Mr. D. B. Oliver Does Not Believe th Standard of Steel Has Been Raised. Mr. D. B. Oliver, of Oliver Bros. & Phillips vas seen yesterday in regard to the report tha he Government had raised the standard of teel above that actually required by law. He denied the general assertion. His firm has been furnishing a very large amount of steel or the Government and have been extremely ortunate for several years. "We have never had cause to complain about he manner in which our goods are tested, aid he. "The representatives of the Govern nent, while always persistently exact, have never stepped beyond the line of justice to my knowledge. Of course, they don't look at the material from a business standpoint, and they care very little, if any, whether the steel passes the test or not. The Government has invited the test or not. The Government has invited a conference with the leading manufacturers of steel in America. This meeting will be held in Washington on Saturday, the 18th. All of the firms that have been furnishing steel to the Government will be represented at the meeting, and some measure by which manufacturers will be relieved from such stringent requirements will be adopted. I will not be at the meeting myself, but our firm will be represented the Government will be represented by eminent experts, and the meeting will be an interesting one."

THAT GLASS TRUST

Reported as Being Completed and Glass to be Advanced.

A special from Findlay, O., says: "The trus of the window glass manufacturers which has just been completed and embraces every institution making window glass in the United States west of and including Pittsburg, will go into practical effect the 15th of the month. After that date it is forbidden any factory to sell glass except through a general agency that will control the market. The process of legal formation of the trust is now being gone through with, and owing to the delay occasioned by the laws of Illinois, where the trust is being incorporated, it will be some weeks before all the legal requirements are complied with and the company have an actual corporate existence.

"But in the meantime the agreement between factories will govern the output and the sales until the company is fully organized. Glass has been advanced in price and another advance will take the advance as a result of the new tariff. The trust will pay the factories a stipulated price for their glass and at the end of the year the profits remaining over the expense are to be divided pro rata among the several factories according to the output of each." month, After that date it is forbidden

Prices Reaffirmed. The wrought iron pipe men held their month-ly meeting at the Monongabela House yester-day. Secretary Murdock stated that prices were reaffirmed and a good feeling prevailed.

SOME LUXURIES THAT MUST BE HAD

"What would the world be without luxuries?" was asked of a well-known candy manufacturer in this city yesterday.

"It would not be," was the reply. "If we cannot get luxuries in one way we will in another, and when we fail to get what we have been accustomed to we will supply the deficiency and make it up on something else. People crave something inviting, and they must get it, no matter in what shape.

Arcanum soon by holding a reunion at the Exposition.

Candidate Delamater will visit the big show to-day. He will be escorted from his hotel by President S. S. Marvin and Colonel Schoonmaker. On reaching the Expo about S. P. M. he will be conducted to the orchestra. After a few introductory words from the President of the Exposition Society, the candidate for Gubernatorial honors will address the visitors. It is likely that Delamater will avoid all allusions to party politics. After his speech he will be shown through the Expo by Messrs. Marvin and Johnston.

On Thursday will occur the visit of the European from magnates. The party, led by Sir James Kitson and Sir Lowthian Bell, will be escorted through the machinery and other exhibits by President Marvin and Manager Johnston. "I suppose you do not know that candy has taken the place of fruit this year, and the dealers can hardly supply the demand," continued the speaker. "You know there has been no fruit of any account this summer, and what has been brought to market exhibits by President Maryin and Manager Johnston.

A very live topic in this city at the present time was voted on yesterday at The Disparch headquarters in the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company's space. The subject was: "Should the courts be relieved by a law placing petty cases in the hands of police justices?" Nearly a column of names and voice had been registered before "No" appeared on the poll books, and after that the ratio of ayes was about 4, to nosa! stayed there until somebody with a pocketbook longer than a piece of sticky taffy came along and bought it. Poor people and those in moderate circumstances could not afford to buy fruit, and, as a result, they bought something else. They had been acand after that the ratio of ayes was about 4, to noes 1.

Some of the notings in the "remarks" column were to the point and will give something of an idea of how different people think upon the question. Some of the affirmative remarks were: "It would give them more time for more important cases;" "Less trouble for the Judges;" "It would add dignity to the Bench and to the exchequer of police justices;" "Save expense;" "It would facilitate business;" "Justices pay more attention to local matters and know the people personally whom they deal with;" "It lowers the dignity of a Court trying such cases."

Some of the negative reasons were: "God forbid that any person's liberty should be left to one man's judgment;" "Justice is a stranger in police courts;" "Especially in this age of corrupt police judges;" "There is no justice to be had in the office of a police magistrate;" "Magistrates are open to bribes;" "We want no one-man power; "The most experienced men are found in the court." customed to indulge in fruit, and when they could not obtain the latter they sought to appease their appetites with candy. It made a good substitute and thousands of dollars for the manufacturers."

GREAT DEMAND FOR THE BEST CANDY. A tour of the eardy stores was made for the purpose of ascertaining what truth there was in this statement. George McDonald, the Sixth street manufacturer, said: "Americans want luxuries, and will obtain them, despite the elements and everything else. The failure of the fruit crop is mainly responsible for the heavy demand for our goods and candy has taken the place of peaches, plums, apples, etc. The prices have not advanced any, but the neople want a better grade of candy than they have been consuming in the past. Every dealer is exerting himself getting ready for the holiday trade, and I do not see how orders will be filled with any degree of satisfaction. The outlook for the Christmas trade exceeds anything ever known in the business before, and the rush will be worse than last year. Good mixed candies are now retailing from 20 cents to 31 and over, and many new novelties are being introduced. No, there is no demand for the cheap stuff, which an ostrich cannot digest. These painted candles are only sold by adventurers that come into the city and after staying two or three months depart. People have learned lately that it is cheaper to buy something wholesome and which can be eaten without making one sick." responsible for the heavy demand for our goods of his invention, which demonstrates the new era in canal and river locks, interests the visitors greatly, but it especially comdays, and up to date, the loss of time in passing from one level to the other has been a matter of serious consideration, but now with this bright and practical arrangement eaten without making one sick."

A RUSH FOR SEVERAL MONTHS. At Reymer's one of the wholesale sellers said: "We have been exceedingly busy since July last and the rush for candies will continue until after the holidays. The failure of the fruit crop has undoubtedly been the chief cause of the universal demand. Our business has been exceedingly good this summer and fall, and it shows that where people cannot supply a cultivated taste for luxuries with one thing they will do it with another. A better class of goods will be sold this year, and the increased demand will amount to a great many tons."

One of McClurg's candy sellers said: "I think one of the causes leading to the demand One of McClurg's candy sellers said: "I think one of the causes leading to the demand is increased consumption by school children. The latter have been in the habit of getting a penny or two each from their parents to buy fruit, but as there was very little fruit soid in the shops, the young folks purchased candy instead. This looks very small, but when you consider that there are over 30,000 school children in this city alone, it will amount to something. Then, again, as a great many men, who have been in the habit of taking home basicus of fruit, did not feel like paying the price this year, and took home candy instead. The outlook in our trade is big, and there will be more good candy consumed this year than ever before."
