DENIES BEING & WITCH.

The Wife of the Russian Bathhouse Owner Wants a Divorce.

Mrs. Zessel Mozersky yesterday filed a bill in equity and a suit for divorce against her husband, Aaron Mozersky. She states they were married in Russia in 1855 and lived together until July 19, 1890. She asserts that he called her a witch and other names, spat in her face, abused her in many ways and finally drove her out of doors. About 20 years ago she inherited 1,000 rubles, equal to about $500, which she turned over to him. With the aid of it and her labor and assistance, he is now worth NUT $12.000.

about $12,000. In his ill treatment of her be has threatened to movigage or otherwise inclumber his proper-ty, so that she can get no benefit from it. It consists of property on Franklin street, included in which is a bathhouse. To prevent him from depriving her of her rights should she survive him, and defrauding her of her $500, she asks him cont to issue an injunction restraining the court to issue an injunction restraining him from incumbering or selling the property.

Brother Against Brother.

The suit of Addison K. Neshit against his brothers, David C. and Edward M. Nesbit, is on trial before Judge White. The case is an on trial before Judge White. The case is an action on an alleged contract. Their father bequeathed a farm to the two defendants. The plaintiff claims that they had agreed when they came into possession of the farm to sell the underlying coal and divide the proceeds with their brothers and sisters. The defend-ants deny this and the plaintiff suce for his share of the value of the coal on a basis of the alleged agreement. alleged agreement.

Suit Against the City.

James Green, of the Diamond, has brought suit against the city for $2,400 for tearing away a stone wall in front of his residence on Denniston avenue. The suit will determine whether a citizen's property can be destroyed by the city without remuneration. The Board of Viewers offered Mr. Green $100 for the fence and said it was necessary to move it to make Denniston avenue a 50-foot street.
