PETECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR 1

NEW YORK, October 9.- The muchtalked-of meeting of the National League was commenced at the Fitth Avenue Hotel to-day. It is the most important meeting the League has ever held, as it will no doubt determine the future of the national game. The delegates present were: A. H. Soden and W. H. Conant, Boston; C. H. Byrne and J. J. Doyle, Brooklyn; A. G. Spalding, J. W. Spalding and A. C. Anson, Chicago; F. De H. Robinson, George W. Howe and Davis Hawley, Cleveland; John B. Day, C. T. Dillingham and Joseph T. Gordon, New York; A. J. Reach and John I. Rogers, Philadelphia; P. Palmer O'Neil and W. A. Nimick, Pittsburg; John T. Brush and W. H. Schmidt, Indianapolis. Besides these there were also in attendance: H. R. Van Der Holst and William Barnie, of Baltimore: Allen W. Thurman, of Columbus, and

The representations of Baltimore and St. Louis were somewhat of a surprise to the delegates from those cities, as none knew the others were coming. They did not represent the Association, but their individual clubs. The Association, it was said, had beld a meeting and, on the proposition to have the Association presented at the League meeting, the vote was a tie. Those who voted in the negative thought that it would not be advisable to attend this meeting, but one to be held later on, when some definite plan of action had been arranged Nick Young presided at the meeting.

FIRST RELIABLE NEWS.

When the delegates were called to order the existing condition of affairs was immediately taken up. Allen W. Thurman was present, and started in his role of peacemaker. The delegates were in session until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when a recess was taken for an hour. When they reconvened there was no ter from a thoroughly reliable source that a proposition talked over was for the mergat of the three present organizations to two. The first League is to be mposed of New York, Brooklyn and mateiphia in the East, Chicago, Clevedd, Columbus and Indianapolis in the est. The second League to be composed of sion, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washing in the East; St. Louis, Louisville, Pittsig and Cincinnati in the west. The District informant said that according to this was proposed to do away with O'Neil's club t was proposed to do away with O'Neir's clob tisburg, for Al Johnson to leave Cleveland and take charge of the Cinciunaticity. It this plan were carried through, Boston and Philadelphia would be the only two cities where there would be two clubs.

The delegates present were the Wagner Brothers, of Philadelphin, E. B. Talcott, New York; Wendell Goodwin and Johnson, Cleveland. A committee composed of Messrs. Talcott, Goodwin and Johnson was appointed to confer with the National League, and they were instructed as to what the Players League would do about securing a compromise. What this was none of the delegates would divulge.

tion was adopted:
That with a view to carrying out the purpose for which this conference committee was appelented it is agreed by all parties interested that between the top and October 25 next ensating, no negotiations will be entered into or contracts made by any of the clubs of the National League and Players' League or American Association with any player or players now held in reserve or inder contract with any national agreement club or with any players now under contract to or with the Players' League.

The National League will meet again this norsing is council.

AN IMPORTANT REQUEST

The Local P. L. Club's Opinion Asked About a Baseball Conference.

The directors of the local P. L. club received a request yesterday to send a representative to the baseball conference, which is to be held at New York probably this week. The request was made by the President of the Players' Leagne. Manager Hanlon, President McCallin and Directors M. E. Lemon and W. W. Kerr, of the local club, discussed the matter Kerr, of the local club, discussed the matter and concluded they could be represented by proxy. Mr. Lemon was urred to go, but his business would not permit his leaving the city. Last evening Manager Hanion stated that the request only asked the opinion of the club on the action of President McAlpin in appointing a committee of three to meet three representatives of the National League in conference. The local club indures the action of President McAlpin, but it is also a fact that Mr. Lemon was requested to go and personally represent this city. The request from New York, however, shows that a conference has been made, and that an attempt will be made to end all the baseball humbug that has spoiled the season of 1880.

It Was Too One Sided.

The local N. L. team and the Oaklands played n one-sided ball game at Recreation Park yesterday in the presence of 139 people. The Oaklands could do nothing with Anderson, of the N. L. aggregation. AWAY GO THE RECORDS. Nelson Beats the Stallion Trotting Record of the World and Hal Pointer Makes a New Mark at Terre Haute. TERRE HAUTE, IND., October 9.-The three fastest harness records in the world. That is the mark hung up to-day on the Terre Haute track and it is likely to be shot at for many a long day. The fastest stallion record, 2:111/4, the fastest mile ever paced or trotted in a race, Amphitheater, paddock and infield were filled to-day with spectators to witness the greatest card of events ever offered by a trotting asso-ciation. It was a perfect antumn day, with a gentle breeze blowing, and the track was very fast. The great attraction was the announcement that Nelson would go to beat Axtell's time, 2:12, made over this track last fall. About ment that Nelson would go to bent Axtell's time, 2:12, made over this track last fall. About 3 o'clock the great Maine stallion appeared on the track, driven by his owner and driver, C. H. Nelson, and was given a warming-up heat in 2:23, the last quarter in 32½. A quarter of an hour later the purple cap and jacket of the Pine Tree State horseman was seen. A great cheer went up from 10,000 throats as the stallion, with his smooth and frictionless motion, came brushing down the stretch. The purple cap was doffed again and again. The second time down the word was given, with the stallion going smooth and strong with the runner back. The rate was deceptive, but the furlongs being compassed in 16½, was a pointer to the great effort that was on. The watches split at 32 seconds at the first quarter, the half in 10.0½; the horse going entirely on his courage. Now the runner quickens his stride and moves up, and with his ears laid back, the great stallion catches the half, beats behind him another link is let out as he gamely fights against father time. To the three-quarter pole in 13265; and as he swings into the turn for home all know that another record has gone down. Cheer after cheer goes up as be flashes under the wire in 2:11½ and the dense throng realizes the importance of the event. The driver, C. H. Nelson is scarcely permitted to salute the judges for dismounting orders ere the track is black with a wildly enthusiastic crowd. Nelson is lifted bodily from the sulky and borne aloft on the shoulders of the enthusiastic crowd. Nelson is lifted bodily from the sulky and borne aloft on the shoulders of the enthusiasts. Princeton and Yale Football Authorities Settle Their Differences. PRINCETON, October 8.—The Princeton-Vale game will in all probability be played at Eastern Park, Brooklyn, Captain Poe told a reporter to-day that the football management had examined the grounds and was now considering Eastern Park as the probable battle field. The final Yale-Princeton baseball game was played there last June, and the Princeton men were well satisfied with the arrangements and ac-commodations made for the spectators, as well as with the field itself. President Wilson, of the University Football Association, said today:

"Captain Poe and I are in favor of Eastern Park. We have talked the matter over, and think it would be the better place. It is much larger than the Berkeley Oval, and there is room for 7,000 instead of 1,000 people under cover as compared to the Berkeley stand, and this is a very important factor when the chances of a wet day at that season are so great. The soil is better, and won't get muddy like the Berkeley grounds, being of a sandy nature. We don't know how Yale feels about it yet, but will before this week closes." Wilson, Poe and Max Farrand, of Princeton, and the Yale management will visit Eastern Park Friday next and are likely to come to a decision. There is scarcely a possibility that the Brotherhood grounds will be chosen, as a good shower of rain makes it a complete gutter bed, as was the case the day of the Princeton-Yale baseball game, when the outfleiders were obliged to run through and force force a circle invokes deep. game, when the outfielders were obliged to run through mud from four to eight inches deep,

right tackle, C. Townley; left tackle, J. Hammond; right guard, Scott White; left guard, J. Oliver; center, John Moorhead; quarter back, W. C. Carnegie: right half back, Harry Fry, Jr.: left half back, James McCord; full back, H. Oliver; substitute, O. D. Thompson. The match will commence at 3:45, and if the weather is fine there will likely be a good contest.

It is probable that the local team will play a match against the Chicago Athletic Club, shortly. The home players are getting very shortly. The home players are getting very pretty uniforms from the firm of A. H. Pratt & Co. The game will be played during the prog-ress of the amateur athletic games.

prophylactic has attracted much attention. The highest authority on pulmonary diseases, Dr. Williams, of London, has said: "Surely the time has come when we can hold out a fairly hopeful view to the con-sumptive patient. We can tell him that if he is prepared to make certain sacrifices of time, money and liberty, to carry out rigidly certain common sense rules which long experience of the disease inculcates, he may live for a long period, even for the ordinary span of life, and continue his occupations and duties."

After treating 1,000 patients, save Dr. George B. Bradley in the New York Tribune, he reported: "The well class number 35½ per cent, the tolerably well 36½ and the worse 28 per cent, the two first classes comprising 72 per cent of the whole."

Loskoff obtained good results in 90 out of 112 cases. Sommerbrodkof, of Breslau, proved creosote beneficial in 5,000 cases. Marvelous results are being daily recorded, and pulmonary consumption is undoubtedly amenable to treatment.

During this depressing and unfavorable season let the so-called consumptive remember while he reads dispatches concerning Koch's researches that even now-to quote Williams again—"under careful treatment life may be prolonged for many years in comfort and usefulness and in not very few cases the disease so permanently arrested that it may fairly be called cured."

The Corpse of Burrows, the Bandit King, Photographed.

BIRMINGHAM, October 9 .- The dead body of the famous bandit king, Rube Burrows, reached Birmingham at 3:30 o'clock this morning and was gazed upon by hundreds of eager sight-seers as it lay in the plain pine box. There came with the body the search party who had been scouring the wilderness of South Alabama ever since the robbery on August 29, hounding the modern terror.

It had been decided that a photograph should be taken of the dead man and ac-cordingly the coffin was erected on end in a corner. Burrows' Martini rifle and his pistol were placed by his side when the picture was taken. This morning at 11 o'clock the rude coffin was placed on the express car of the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham road, in charge of Detective Jackson and Superintendent Agee and will be held for surther identification, and then turned over to his father, old man Allen Burrows, for burial, if he so desires; if not, the express company will bury it.

JUBILEE JOGGINS AGAIN.

The Spendthrift's Stage Aspirations Excite Adverse Comment.

New York World.] The news that Jubilee Joggins has decided to go on the stage is calling forth a good deal of comment on both sides of the Atlantic. There is a feeling in theatrical circles that the limit is being pressed pretty closely in matters of this sort. John L. Sullivan, Sybil Johnstone and Mrs. Leslie Sullivan, Sybil Johnstone and Mrs. Leslie Carter have caused a good deal of comment among old players here, but they have been swallowed. There is a feeling that Jubilee Joggius, however, is the last straw.

He is the vacuous person who spent nearly $2,000,000 in two years, who never wore the same shirt or the same suit of clothes twice, who has gone through most of the courts, been in jail for swindling and forging, and is now rusticating to a sambling ing, and is now rusticating in a gambling Sheen, Allcante second and Judith third. differently from the English make. The machinery was ably described by Messrs, W. K. Given and Emil Swerisser, assisted by a corps of guides. The party, which numbered about 300, then sought the main building. The lady visitors were most interested in the display in this department, and the art exhibit was commended highly by a large number of the party. After this the party went sight-seeparty. After this the party went sight-seeing in the building by themselves in parties of twos and threes. At 3 o'clock they congregated in the yard separating Machinery Hall and the main building. While here the visitors discussed the big exhibit and passed their opinions on it. They complimented the promoters of the society for having such a creditable exhibit with only two years' aversions. years' experience. The local committee ex-plained that the industrial exhibit was not to be taken as a sample of what the city manufactured, it being on too small a scale to ever begin to show what the city pro-Kidnaping Some of the Visitors.

Mr. A. S. Morris summoned the guides o the Penn avenue excursion, and requested them to show the visitors as much of the mills out Penn avenue as the time would allow. One enterprising manufacturer of steel castings who was determined that his works would not be missed, shouted, "All abeard for — works," and a number of the visitors followed him to the carriages, where the manufacturer gave orders to the ing a visit from the visitors that he might have otherwise missed. The different excursion parties were formed. The visitors had their choice of a trip down the Ohio to Davis Island dam, or to the Penn avenue mills. The latter route was taken by the manufacturers of the party, while the trip to the Ohio connecting bridge was taken in by the engineers, on the excursion steamer Nellie Hudson. After the delay of half hour the party numbering about 100 visitors and 50 of the local reception committee, left on the boat, the trip down being made lively by the stirring strains of a brass band, which played all the national airs, just to make all aboard feel perfectly at home.

No End to the Mills. As the steamer sped on down the broad stream, skirted on both sides by rolling mills, blast furnaces, locomotive works, oil refineries, steel works, and every conceivable kind of industrial plant, the foreigners stood on the deck awed by the magnitude of this small section of Pittsburg and Allegheny. Mile after mile was passed, and as the smoke from a blast furnace would loom up far ahead the visitors would ask: "How far down do these mills reach?" As the boat rounded a curve and the Riverside Penitentiary presented itself, one English gentleman asked, "Whose costle is that yonder?" Mr. Zug, of Zug & Co., informed the visitor that it was the penitentiary. The Englishman looked at Mr. Zug as if he disbelieved him. He was convinced, how ever, when the boat drew nearer and he saw

DOWN IN A COAL MINE. FOREIGNERS SURPRISED TO SEE MINING BY ELECTRICITY.

Distinguished Party Visits the Mononga hela Company's Plant-They Were Surprised But Denounced the Waste of Coal as Outrageous - How the Machine Worked.

A car load of delegates, mining engineers, electricians and others interested in the con business went to Willock station on the Wheeling division of the Baltimore and hung around on the outside anxious to finish a Ohio Railroad yesterday, where the mines cigar before entering the club house. the mines and also president of the Hercules Mining Machine Company, which has several of its mining machines working in the mine. The object of the visit of the party was to witness the actual operation of the machines which are operated by the Westinghouse-Tesla motor.

The start was made from the Baltimore and Ohio station at 3:30 o'clock, and among the prominent gentlemen of the party were Sir William Thomas Lewis, of Aberdale, South Wales, and one of the greatest coal operators in the world: Franz Sommersbach, another extensive operator, of Bachum, Germany; George Salter, a prominent iron manufacturer of West Bromwich, England; Herbert Harlakenden Gilchrist, a deep-thinking nuctallurgical engineer of London; J. H. Pearson, one of Staffordshire's best known iron and coal masters; H. A. Wheeler, Adj. Professor of Mining at the Washington University in St. Louis; Arthur B. Meeker, of Washington, interes ed in Tennessee iron mills; State Mine Inspector Blick, of the Seventh district; C. F. Scott, Electrician C. F. Scott, of the Westinghouse Company and his assistant, H. M. Reed; Manager Thomas B. McKaig, of the Hercules Company, and many others.

Into the Bowels of the Earth. The objective point was about eight miles from the city, and upon arriving at the mines. the gentlemen first inspected the dynamos in the engine room. After Electrician Scott had explained everything, lamps were lighted and the party entered the mine. The latter is a perfectly level opening in the hillside, and there was no shaft to go down into a seemingly bottomless pit. Everything went well until the head of one of the gentlemen came into contact with a support on the ceiling of the low mine and then was heard a smothered exclamation that would not look well in print. After apparently tramping over a good section of the earth underground in a stonping position, the party entered one of the rooms where a solitary miner was found working a machine. The latter was a small, compact system of drills and wheels set on a truck, with the drills pointed at the coal. The machine was run by a Tesla electric motor, and made but little noise. After piercing the coal in one place the truck was pushed forward by the miner and the drills began work in a new place. It took just seven minutes to put a dozen two-inch drills three and a half feet into the coal bank, and while moving the truck it was not necessary to stop the drills. The machine covered a space of 20ffert in one hour, and when the end of the "room" was reached a light charge of powder was put in on top and the coal loosened. It was then ready to be shoveled into cars and run out of the mine.

Criticising the Waste of Coal.

The visitors were delighted with the operation of the machine, which it is claimed saves 31 cents per ton on the mining price to the firm. With the use of the machine coal can be put on cars for 48 cents per ton, while the Pittsburg district price for mining is 78 cents. The miner who runs the machine, it is claimed, can earn from $2.75 to $3.25 per day, the ordinary output being about 40 tons. This is more than he could earn by the old method and does not have to lie on his side all day at his work. By the machine system of mining, instead of a miner he becomes an engineer.

The only fault found by the distinguished visitors was the great waste of coal, which they say they would not allow in their country. Instead of throwing away the small coal mixed with shale, they would have it washed out and save every small piece. The slack thrown away, they also claimed, could be used, and in a year the proceeds would amount to considerable. The visitors were delighted with the operation

After thoroughly inspecting the ventilating apparatus, fans and everything but the mules, the party made its exit from the mine much pleased. The gentlemen returned to the city

AMONG SOUTHSIDE MILLS. BRITISH VISITORS ENJOY A BRIEF TOUR

OF BUSY WORKSHOPS. The Programme Was Far Too Long for One Day-Consequently the Visit Was Limited to the Mills of the Olivers and Jones &

Laughlins. The tour over the Southside was not nearly so extensive as it was intended partly because it would have a physical impossibility to go been a through with the whole programme, partly because the visitors were tired and partly because some of the establishments on the programme are common affairs in England and Germany. There were not over twenty and Germany. There were not over twenty visitors in the party. They were escorted from the Exposition at 3 o'clock by Mr. D. B. Oliver, director of the Oliver & Roberts wire mill, at the foot of South Ninth street.

The visit to this establishment lasted about 30 minutes. The time was spent studying the manner in which wire is turned out at the rate of 280,000 pounds a day, and it was the source of much interest to the British manufacturers. A short call was then made at the Oliver Iron and Steel Company's South Twelfth street mill, where the Clapp-Griffith process of making steel is operated. Each member of the party "took notes" on the explanations made by Mr. Oliver, who did not have much difficulty in entertaining the gentlemen.

by Mr. Oliver, who did not have much diffi-culty in entertaining the gentlemen.

The party was then driven to the American Iron Works. The visitors were disappointed at not meeting Mr. R. F. Jones, but he was unavoidably prevented from being present to welcome them. They were shown through the establishment by Roland Gerry, of the firm, and Edward Matthews, the Assistant Manager.
The latter is a native of Bristol, England, and was acquainted with one or two members of the party. The chief point of interest seemed to be the steel department, and especially that part of it where steel rods are rolled and polished by machinery at the same time. The party returned to the city shortly before 6 o'clock.

UP THE ALLEGHENY. TOUR OF INSPECTION OF PENN AVENUE

MILLS. Watching the Manufacture of Iron and Steel by the Latest Processes-Surprised at the Employment of Colored Laboring Men-A Special Test.

At 3 o'clock a party of about 14 boarded a Penn avenue car and journeyed out to view some of the plants along the river. Among them were James Platt, of the Atlas Works, Gloucester, Eng.; J. F. Hall, of Norbury, Sheffield, Eng.; George Siddell, Pitsmoor, Sheffield, Eng.; R. A. Hadfield, of the steel works of the name at Sheffield, and Alexander Jack, general manager of the same works, The first stop was made at McIntosh & Hemp-hill's big foundry and machine works. Mr.

James Hemphill conducted the visitors through the establishment, and subsequently accom-panied them over the other plants.

From the foundry the party went on to Park Bros. Steel Works, where they were shown through a portion of the works. They next visited the Carbon from Works and shown over the entire establishment by Superintendent the entire establishment by Superintendent Losh and Mr. Matthew Graff, the latter gentle-Losh and Mr. Matthew Graff, the latter gentle-man explaining the different processes as they went along. Some of the party evinced great interest in the methods of manufacture and plied the officials and work men with questions. They seemed to be struck by the number of colored men at work here. Their next call was to the Pittsburg Reduction Works. Very much interest was shown in the method of reducing the aluminim from the ore by the electrical process. One of the tubs being ready, several ingots were cast from it for the benefit of the visitors. From this a visit was made across the road to the Adams direct process plant on Park Bros, ground. The Messrs, Blair made extensive ex-planations regarding the process, which were planations regarding the process, which were attentively listened to. Mr. Alexander Jack and Mr. Haufield, of Sheffield, were desirous of learning all there was to be told about it. At this time the sight seeing terminated, and bid-ding goodby to Mr. Hemphill and the Messrs, Biair, the visitors returned home.

THOSE ON THE OUTSIDE. INCIDENTS ON SIXTH AVENUE.

The Duquesne Club a Magnet to Which Was Drawn Large Crowds of People Anxious to See the Iron and Steel

A large and curious throng surrounded the Duquesne Club house last evening and watched with eager interest the carriages bearing the guests invited to the reception of the iron and steel magnates, and Sixth avenue was lined with people. Carriages entered the avenue at Wood street, drove to the door of the club house and then back to Wood and other adjoining streets to await the pleasure of their masters. The carriages were often used by the police as a means of clearing the streets of the crowds, the driver being instructed to guide his horses through the crowds and cause a stampede.

A student of human nature might have found a splendid field for operations in the crowd in front of the Duquesne Club. Tere he could have seen representatives of every nation and of every class or society. Men in full dress cigar before entering the club house. Here and there could be seen ladies of an uncertain age, whose dress and manner indicated that they were certainly not other than genteel, and their escorts were gentlemen of manly bearing. There were old ladies and little girls with prayer books and Bibles in hand, evidently going home from the prayer meetings in the neighboring churches. And there were others who manners would indicate that they were not at prayer meeting, nor had they ever heard of such a thing. But no matter what clime or station they represented, all were there for the same object, and the many remarks passed would give much food for thought.

The stone wall on the opposite side of the street was lined with youngaters who delighted to make remarks about the occupants of carriages, hoot at the drivers and do anything else that would cause some one to laugh. One boy of 10 apparently took great pleasure in questioning the propriety of the costumes of some of the ladies, and as they passed the windows of the club house in promenade he would work the well-worn phrases about catching cold, offered to lend one a coat, suggested that another was old enough to know better, and so on down the line. Of course, this did not bother the promenaders, because they didn't hear it, but it furnished a certain amount of amusement for the bystanders.

The scenes on Sixth avenue only go to illustrate two great phases of human nature, how differently people enjoy themselves. Those on the outside laughed at the kind of pleasure enjoyed by the promenaders in the club house, and as many lo-ked out the windows and saw the watching crowd, doubtless smilled inwardly at their ideas of pleasure.

AN ELECTRIC DISPLAY Beautifies the Court House Tower and Surprises a Visitor. The Court House tower was gayly and tastefully illuminated with colored electric lights last evening. The County Commissioners determined to do their share in honoring our guests, and they did it well. The chief ornament was a mammoth American shield, with the Stars and Stripes, the letters "I. S." shining out boldly from their gorgeous background. In addition to this, BACCO.

The delegates were delighted with the display, but one of them wanted to know what it was for, and when told that it was in bonor of him and his triends, remarked in a surprised tone, "Is that so?"

SPECIAL WEATHER BULLETIN.

Three Inches of Snow Reported Through out Colorado and Wyoming. PREPARED FOR THE DISPATCH.1

An area of high pressure with clear, colder veather overspread the eastern part of the ower lakes, New York and New England States yesterday morning, giving the lowest temperature of the season at New York and causing light frosts from Canada south to Washington. Rain fell in the South Atlantic and Gulf States, the upper lake regions and the Northwest and snow in Colorado and Wyoming. Denver and Cheyenne reported three inches of snow down and more coming. Fair weather prevailed in all other parts of the country. The storm center that was in the Dakotas on Wednesday was passing into Canada, north of the upper lakes. There were indications of a storm coming in from the Pacific, near California, which will probably be the beginning of the rainy season on that coast. An area of high pressure, with colder weather, was moving into the Northern States from British Columbia. The temperature was about freezing as far south as Colorado.

In the Large Postoffices a Clever Machine Now Does the Work.

Ex-Postmaster Thomas L. James gives an interesting account in the Christian Union of the way that the New York Postoffice handles its enormous mails. Of a new automatic contrivance he says:

"The stamping is now done by a machine, which will cancel, postmark, count and stack the letters and postal cards at the rate of about 25,000 per hour. In two hours and two minutes it cancelled, postmarked, counted and stacked 46,480 letters and postal cards of which 21,000 were letters.
