GIVEN THE FREEDOM OF THE CITY.

First Exhibit Preparatory to the World's

FLATTERING REMARKS BY POREIGNERS

CHICAGO, October 13.-The members of the Iron and Steel Institute and the Verein Deutscher Eisenhueitenleute, numbering 500 people, including 60 ladies, were welcomed on their arrival from Pittsburg at the Union Depot by a committee of 200 of the leading business men and manufacturers of Chicago. and a formal reception was tendered them at the Palmer House. Mayor Cregier made the welcoming address and tendered Sir James Kitson, on behalf of the visitors, the freedom of the city. When the Mayor had finished he held up a handsome volume bound in morroeco containining the resolutions of welcome adopted by the City Council, and said: "This presentation is the first exhibit preparatory to the great World's Exposition to be held in Chicago in 1893." A burst of applause followed.

RESPONSE TO THE WELCOME. Sir James Kitson, in reply, said: "Since our arrival in your country we have been astonished at the vastness of your industry, amazed at your natural resources and pleased to see how your intelligent people, aided by a great general system of free education, have developed these resources. While on the train yesterday we had the pleasure of a visit from an American gentlem in whose name is now well-known in England, and whose connection with trade and traffic relations is seriously considered. The gentleman is Major McKinley; and as we came along, and I saw the pastons of your periodicing resources your vastness of your agricultural resources, your wheat and corn and bacon, all sent to us so largely by Cheago, I wondered how you could get along without us or how we could get along bill was received with laughter, cheers and "hear, hear," by the English contingent. Sir James continued:

"But I am touching on delicate ground, but we know that the Americans know very well how to take care of themselves, and since we have been here we have learned that they know how to take care of us. This recep-tion and this visit of ours will be another tie to bind together the great English, speaking na-tions of the East and West." ions of the East and West."

Mr. A. Thielen, of the German Institute, was called on by Sir James, and paid a graceful tribute to the commercial and manufacturing industries of Chicago. The party was then taken by way of the boulevards and parks to the Washington Park Club House, where luncheon was served.

In the evening the party were entertained at a recordion and support at the Auditorium

Mr. George Berkeley, of London, rather gruffly remarked that he was here in the interest of the Iron and Steel Institute, and while he was not satisfied with the embargo laid upon English goods by this country he considered this a very inopportune occasion to express dissatisfaction.

Athert Priestman, of Hull, England, manufacturers of oil engines, displayed a happy frame of mind when questioned. "I think," said he, "that the English manufacturers will, on the whole, get the best of this McKinley law. It whole, get the best of this McKinley law. It is the same to compete with will give us a better chance to compete with the United States in other markets. We will make it so warm for United States manufact urers that they will find it will take $10 of their money to go as far as $2 of ours. We will admit that for a time you will have an advantage inasmuch as your county's natural wealth and boundless territory gives a stronger intrenchment than our little island does."

HARD TO FIND A VERDICT.

A Jury Took Three Trials and at Last Declared the Defendants guilty.

A jury became badly mixed yesterday in the cases of Owen Farren, charged by Inspector McAleese with assault and battery, and Barney Boyle, charged by Farren with the same crime. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and charged the costs to Inspector McAleese. After Judge White informed them that could not be done, they deliberated awhile longer and then returned a verdict but failed to name the prosseed the Judge, and he ordered This nonplussed the Judge, and he ordered them out again, saying that he did not understand how they could return a verdict of not guilty when the defendants admitted having knocked each other down. ON TRIAL FOR MURDER. ALEXANDER KILLIAN IS BEFORE JUDGE MAGEE.

Charged as an Accessory in the Killing of Mrs. Paul Rudert at Tarentum Last December-The Victim's Husband on the Stand. Another murder trial holds sway before Judge Magee this week. Alexander Killian is before the bar of justice on trial for his life, charged with being an accessory in the murder of Mrs. Paul Rudert, at Tarentum, on the night of December 23d last.

The prisoner is represented by Thomas M. Marshall, Sr., Thomas M. Marshall, Jr., and William Nesbit, while the prosecution is in the hands of District Attorney Johnston and ex-District Attorney Porter. The defendant, a small stout man with a full face, sandy mustache and clear complexion, on being arraigned, pleaded "not with a full tace, sandy mustache and crear complexion, on being arraigned, pleaded "not guilty."

Mr. Porter made the opening andress, reviewing the story of the crime and outlined what the prosecution expects to prove, Paul O. Rudert, husband of the muriered woman, and owner of the jewelry store which was robbed, was first put on the stand. On direct examination he testified to the following story:

"I have dived in Tarentum four years. My store is on Kaia street, a block and a half from the depot, and three blocks from the river. My wife was 31 years old. On the night of December 23, about 255, I was talking to a friend, when I noticed three men walking rabidly up street and one stepped into the door. The tallest of the men pushed in the window of the store and the second man, who had an open satchel, took the lewelry from the sample case in the window. All wore handkerchiefs as masks. I was only about two feet away at the time.

I ran back into the room to get my revolver and my wife ran forward. I had secured the pistol and was on my way through the store when I heard a shot and saw the men run. I ared two shots and one man staggered but keep ton running. On going back I found my wife I ring on the floor with a builtet wound in her right temple. She never spoke and died in about eight or 10 minutes. Among the watches taken was an open-faced gold watch with an Eighn movement. The member of the movement was 2.98, 165 and of the case let in the possession of an officer. The first of the three men was rather silm and was about 5 feet 10 inches tall. He were an overcoat of a dirty gray color. The second man was the small st of the trio. He was fair complexioned and had brown hair, blue eyes and was heavy bearded and square shouldered. The third man wore dark clothes and black shouch hat. I cannot tell which one fired the shot.

When asked if he could identify any one of the men. the witness pointed to the prisoner as When asked if he could identify any one of the men, the witness pointed to the prisoner as the second one of the trio. He also identified the watch and bracelet as part of the stolen

WHY GRANT WAS GREAT.

Due Recognition When True Merit is Once Established.

Was Grant a great General?-conceded What made him so! When U. S. Grant was hauling cordwood into St. Louis his neighbors did not imagine he would become the most famous man of his generation. When he was managing the little tannery in Galena no one of his intimates recoguized in him a future hero. Buthe displayed qualities which should have satisfied them he was no common man. What was there

If you start to build a single story shanty you pay little attention to the foundation; you may lay stringers in the sand, with little fear the building will fall. But if you propose erecting a ten-story block, your architect will tell you you must go to the rock for the basis of your foundation, or the stately structure is liable to tumble about your ears.

The foundation of a great man is moral force—character; this is the rock foundation. The shiftless man lacks it; he never succeeds. Grant never used an oath-a sure indication of noral character. He never told, or listened to if he could help it, a vulgar story; this showed peculiar moral fibre, an unusual strength of character. He was a man of opinions—as his wife said, was obstinate; in other words, he had will power, force. These qualities, with good judgment, well balanced mental powers, and peculiar executive ability, supplemented by a military education, fitted him for the emergency, when it came. As soon as his merits became known success was assured. This is always the case, with things as with men. "I well know the value of Warner's Safe Cure," writes M. Carr, of the Hotel Bennett, Binghamton, N. Y. "In 1884 I had difficulty with my kidneys. The doctors did not help me; I was badly out of rig. One day a traveling man from Utica advised me to try Warner's Safe Cure. The first bottle did so much good that when my family doctor called I threw his medicine out of the window. while he was present. I continued to use War-ner's Safe Cure until I was entirely well." The test of merit is the accomplishment of the matter in hand. The best is that which is

With their system many patients can be as successfully treated at their homes as those who make regular calls at the institute. This week extracts from a few letters received from their patients are published. In good faith to the patients their names are withheld.

From Oil City, Pa.: "Am getting on very well. My cough is gone and the pain between my shoulders only troubles me at times. My appetite is better. The short breath, dizziness and tired feeling have improved and I sleep better than I used to. Think you have helped my catarrh a great deal." When this patient began treatment he coughed day and night.

From Steubenville, O.: "I am feeling much better. The cough has about left me, the pain over my eyes is gone and my appetite is much better." This patient also coughed night and day, and would often cough till he vomited.

Claysville, Pa.: "I am feeling ever so much better. I have not felt so well for a long time. Everyone is telling me how much better I look."

Beaver Falls, Pa.: "I am glad to tell you that I am feeling so much better than I have for a long time. The bawking and spitting is so much better and the cough, pann in the lungs and shoulders, tickling in the threat, dizziness, noises in the ears, fullness, distress and sick feeling after eating, and pain over my eyes do not trouble me at all."
