NO HALF-WAY MEASURE WILL BE CONSIDERED

SEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. COLUMBUS. October 14.-The battle is on. Governor Campbell sent to the Legislature to-day his message setting forth the reasons why he called the extra session. It has created great indignation in the ranks of the Democracy because of the optspoken manner in which it treats of the corruption in the Board of Improvements and Decennial Board at Cincinnati.

He also takes members to task for passing a law which would permit of such public service, and asks them to undo their work and admit they have made a mistake, as he has done in the appointments on the board. This has touched the pride of many members, and has a tendency to drive a great many of the Democratic members from the support of the measures propred by Camp-

The People to Have the Power. In concluding his message, after demanding the election of the others by a popular vote, the Governor says:

Certainly no one opposes restoring power to the people from whom all of us receive our temporary authority. Can it be that there are persons upon these boards who are ashamed, or afraid, to go to the people for their vinuication? If the geotlemen thus legislated out are honest men and enjoy and deserve the confidence of the people, they will welcome the opporunity for a popular election posts they now hold by appointment; but if they have been unfaithful and undeserving, then will they be unwilling to render an account of their stewardship or let the people pass upon it at the polls. Should they shrink from submitting their claims to the people, whom they are sworn to serve, that is, in itself, a full confession of incapacity or guilt. Let the arbitrament of the ballot determine whether they possess the confidence of the people. No other tribunal can settle that question; no other is ever sought by men conscious of services well performed, or duty faithfully discharged.

The Hamilton county delegation, after the message had been read, renewed their fight in behalf of the retention of the Board of Improvements. The message was referred to the Judiciary Committees in either branch, and an adjournment taken until to-

The Senate and House Judiciary Committees held a joint meeting and after deliberation agreed upon a recommendation to the Democratic caucus late in the afternoon that there be a non-partisan committee appointed to investigate the charges against the members of the Board of Improvements, and report to the adjourned session in January, and that another committee be appointed on municipal reform to report a plan for the betterment of city governments at the pext session.

The Democratic caucus was in session from 3 till 6, and a great many speeches were made. It was developed that the majority of the members were opposed to the and the submission of the question to the people. The feeling was bitter against Campbell, and a number of speeches were made denouncing him as a traitor to the

The Decision of the Caucus. It was the sense of the majority of the eaucus that a committee of investigation should be appointed to report to the adjourned session and adjourn, leaving the present board to serve till next winter. One or two members made speeches in favor of the course suggested by Campbell.

No definite action was taken, but a committee consisting of Senators Brown and Zimmerman and Representatives Belleville. Gear and Bense appointed to confer with the Governor looking to a compromise and report to the caucus at 8 P. M. The committee was still in consultation with the Governor at a late hour. During the conference THE DISPATCH correspondent secured an interview with the Governor.

Campbell Will Concede Nothing. "I will not concede one thing. The bills which have been offered in accordance with my message will be passed or I will wash my hands of the whole thing. I have no apologies to make for what I have done and if I had it all to do over again I should not change one thing even if the whole Legislature were against me. You can say the board will be abolished."

Pattison and Gaumer, Democratic Senstors, paid no attention to the caucus instruction at the noon hour, but introduced the bills for the abolishment of the Board of Improvements and Decennial Board in the afternoon and endeavored to force the first to a second reading, but failed by a narrow

He Prepares His Finger Nail, and by Applying the Wound to the Combination ceeds in Opening It---Arrested in the Act. CHICAGO, October 14.-A safe opening test which discounts the wonderful feat of Johnstone, the mind reader, took place in the Wayne Hotel, this morning. The operator was Henry E. Adams, a young man from Minneapolis, who came to Chicago some weeks ago and took rooms at the Wayne. There he became acquainted with a young man who was a cousin to the hotel proprie tor. This fact of the relationship was not known by Adams. Within the past few days Adams proposed to his new friend to rob the safe of the hotel. Adams was to get up at 4 o'clock this morning and open the safe. Meantime the hotel proprietor had been told of the plot by his cousin, who pretended to take the part of an accomplice in the robbery.

It was a little after midnight when two able-bodied detectives were let into the Hotel Wayne and secreted behind the office countar. Just as the clock struck 4 the safe robber came tiptoe to the hotel office. The detectives all but refused to breathe for fear of disturbing him. Without tools or explosives Adams coolly prepared to open the massive iron receptacle, although it was clearly evident be did not know the combination, nor was he a mind reader. Adams right hand until the blood vessels were ex-posed, and then by placing the sensitive wound on the knob of the combination lock he could distinguish the movements of the tumblers as they fell. For an hour he worked, while the prespiration dropped in beads from his brow. At last there was a sharp click, and as the first streaks of dawn came in Adams swung back the door. With a sigh of relief he reached into the safe and laid his hands on a package of bills. The detectives sprang forward and

This railroad is the remnant of a system which was to have been known as the Washington and Potomac Railroad Company, and which goes by that name in the railroad manuals. Twenty years ago $500,000 was given to public improvements in Southern Mary-land. This road was begun to get the bulk of this bonus. It partly served its purpose and then it stopped, beginning nowhere and ending nine miles from there.

Years afterward another railroad gave it connection and it was run in a hand-tomouth sort of way until last year when a fatal catastrophe occurred. The only engine an off the track into a ditch, and the engine house was destroyed by fire, and there was not enough money in the treasury to repair the damages, so operations were suspended and they remained suspended until George Chappelear, a merchant of Hughesville, the lower terminus, took steps to give the people the advantages that they had so sadly missed. On the line of the road is a high trestle work about 80 feet long. This at first was a puzzler, for his horses could not walk the cross ties. He overcame the difficulty, however, by unhitching the animals and leading them over the ground beneath the trestle. He then returned and with a strong crowbar pried the car over the bridge, after this the horses were rehitched, and all went smoothly on their way. Mr. Chappelear has taken the contract to haul 4,200 cases of canned goods from Hughesville to Brandywine. He can carry a load of several tons, and can nake the round trip in about eight hours. On Sunday the total was 11. In the Rue Bertha, a woman suffering from a nervous affection, swallowed a quantity of tineture of iodine. A dianond merchant named Cohen, in the Rue Maubsuge, blew out his brains for some reason which has not yet transpired. Another man of about 60 committed suicide on the Rue St. Martin in a similar manner. In the Rue des Haulets a man hanged himself. He left behind him a paper on which the following words were written: "No work; no bread; not eaten anything two days; enough of this. En route for the turnip field."

Starvation also induced a widow in the Bue Palikao to suffocate herself and her daughter, a girl of 13, by means of charcoal. Two young women were found drowned in the Seine. An individual in the Rue Des

This epidemic of suicides seems to be a regular thing at the commencement of the spring and autumn. Last April the morgue was often filled to overflowing. Statistics show that drowning in the Seine seems to be the form of death most frequently selected in the spring, while preference is given to charcoal in the autumn.

The Halle Congress Discusses Socialisti Work in the Reichstag-Grave Charges Made Against the Dutch Ministry-De mand for a Regency.

HALLE, October 14 .- The Socialist Congress, in to-day's session, agreed to appoint committee to inquire into the disputes be ween the Socialist Parliamentary leaders and the Berlin Opposition, excluding from the committee any member of the Reichstag repesenting Berlin or any delegate deputed by he Berlin Socialists. The congress unanmously approved the action of the Socialist nembers of the Reichstag in discountenancng a general cessation of work on the last May day, and also their policy regarding the second ballots following the last general election for members of the Reichstag. The resolutions adopted declare that Socialistic Deputies in the Reichstag should continue to urge the demands of Social Democrats against the ruling middle classes. While aiming in the interests of the workingmen, to induce necessary re-forms in the middle classes, the Socialists should at the same time introduce such measures as will leave no doubt regarding the significance and scope of their position. Their legislative activity should be directed toward the improvement of the position of the working classes, both politically and economically. The party should also main-tain the existing right of coalition until full liberty of meeting and associations has been reached. With the view of protecting workingmen's right of coalition against the oppression of employers, the Socialist Depu-ties should urge the enactment of a law im-posing a severe penalty for an attempt to impede such coalition.

Several foreign delegates made their first appearance to-day and were received with enthusiasm. An especially warm welcome was given to Frau Marx, daughter of Karl Marx, and M. M. Guesde and Ferroul, who represent the Lillie Socialist Congress. M. Guesde concluded his French oration with the words "Long live Socialist France." At Amsterdam a meeting of Socialists was held to-day to discuss a manifesto issued by an spitator named Tindal, formerly an offi-cer in the Dutch army, regarding national audience to Tindal, who, thereupon, charged the Ministry with violating the constitution, and that the King, it sane, he said, ought

A of arge magnitude in gas coal lands he will be consummated. The few ming acres of gas coal have been secured, and the Pittsburg, Fairport and Northwestern Dock Company is now in control of some 5,000 or 6,000 acres of the best gas coal in the region. The negotiations were carried through by Frank Robbins, President of the company.

As a preliminary to the corralling of all the coal lands, the company obtained absolute control of the Shauer property, nine miles from McKeesport. This transaction was effected in Chicago. Mr. Robbins next paid a visit to Shaner and bought 1,000 acres of coal land abutting on the Shaner property, and adjoining W. L. Scott's possession. At the same time he secured options on the remaining available lands to the extent of about 2,000 acres.

The price for this property has not transpired, but is assumed to be in the neighborhood of $300 per sere. One competent authority places the value o gas coal land, of the Yough quality, at $350 per acre. The value of these lands, 12 months ago, was about $175 per acre.

THE CAUSE OF A RAPID RISE. This increase in the value of gas coal lands is due to the increasing demand for such coal in the West and East, as well as to its gradual absorption by rival companies. But the operations of the Pittsburg, Fairport and Northwestern Dock Company did not end here. Negotiations were opened with the owners of gas coal land in the first pool. A thousand acres of land were secured outright, and these lands are so placed as to control about another 2,000 The capital invested in the acquisition of these lands is somewhere about $730,000. The properties mentioned were not of other gas corl operators. It is, in fact, stated that the Dock Company only succeeded in getting ahead of its competitors by some quick work. Ohio Railroad and Pittsburg and Western are back of the deal, which is regarded as being directed against the Pennsylvania Railroad and the companies shipping over it. These include the Penn and Westmoreland Gas Coal Companies in the East, and the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company and W. L. Scott shipping west. COMPETITORS OF THE SYNDICATE. The syndicate formed by the alliance of the Dock Company and the Baltimore and Ohio and Pittsburg and Western roads will compete with the Penn and Westmoreland Companies over the Baltimore and Ohio line to Baltimore and adjacent points, and with W. L. Scott and the New York and Cleveland Company by rail to Fairport and thence to the Western and Northwestern points of distribution. Operations in opening up the property will be proceeded with at once. Mr. Robbins was at the first pool last week, to arrange for opening a mine there,

At the same time that the Pittsburg, Fairport and Northwestern Dock Company, through its President, Mr. Robbins, one or two of the shareholders or the Shaner property, and their backers, the Baltimore and Onio and Pittsburg and Western roads, were corralling the coal lands, the prospectus of the proposed "Pittsburg and Monongahela First Pool Coal Company" was issued. The prospectus reads:

OBJECTS OF THE ORGANIZATION. The object of such organization being the ining and marketing of about 3,300 acres of the choicest, first and second pool gas and steam coal in the great Pitisburg coal basin. This 3,300 acres, more or less, of most desirable coal land, in the condition it stands, has been secured through many years of incessant work, negotiation and watching, taken up with much regard for its natural and other advantages.

It is admitted that the best gas coal to be found is in the Pictsburg coal basin, and the found is in the Pittsburg coal basin, and the highest degree of perfection is found in the first pool, to wit; on the cleavage line from Saw Mill Run across first pool to a point on the Youghiocheny river.

The above lands are on a five-mile air line from the Pittsburg Court House, and is substantially the only body of coal not worked out hetween the property itself and Monongahela river. It immediately adjoins the coal lands of the Hays estate, valued over $800 per acre, and practically covers all available first pool coal and a large block of second pool.

Shipments can be made via the B. & O. P. & L. E., or P., V. & C. railroads. The Ohio connecting bridge, when finished, will permit reaching the entire Pennsylvania system, and if necessary, all the facilities for river shipments can be secured.

In very short time there can readily be mined from 4,000 to 6,000 tons of coal per day. As stated the property is now in complete shape to turn out 1,000 tons of coal daily.

FINANCES OF THE AFFAIR, It was proposed to issue $400,000 5-20-year 6 per cent gold bonds, with interest payable semi-annually, and $400,000 par capital stock. One thousand four hundred acres were to be paid for "at - per acre, and 1,000 acres more to be secured at the same figure—whatever that may be. An additional 1,000 acres could be corralled in the same manner. Nine hundred acres of the foregoing was the property of the First Pool Monongabela Gas Coal Company, having capital stock at $50,000 par, was to pay This is the property of which the syndicate referred to has obtained the control, in addition to the lands above McKeesport. It stole a march on the prospectors of the company, and is now in possession of all the remaining gas coal land in the region.

Incidentally, the acquisition of this property by a company competing with the Westmoreland company may have some result in setting the strike at Irwin. The output of the last mentioned company is much under its requirements, and it has already expended a large sum in fighting the United Mine Workers' organization. To United Mine Workers' organization. To retain its business it will have to produce more coal than it has been doing, and to do this it may find profit in paying the five cents per ton that its former employes are holding out for.
