The Post says: The movements of the stock market are not governed by anything in con-nection with rates or profits of the railroads as they are by the aspect of the money and credit situation both in this country and abroad. Money is, in fact, easy enough and at low rate, but there has been such a general unsettle-ment in the maintenance of the present status, that it has probably discounted almost any-thing that could happen. Heretofore, for two or three years, the estimates of the values of investments, aside from any special causes ap-plicable to particular securities, have been based on the expectations of a 5 per cent return on the investment. On this basis there are only a few stocks the market prices of which are much below it. But if we assume that now, owing to the ratio as causes which have made higher rates for money all this year then in several years previous, we must estimate the value of investments upon a b¹/₂ or a 6 per cent basis. The early spring of the present year wit-nessed the beginning of what seemed a promis-ing bull movement in the general share mar-ket. This was supported by the general health and activity of buiness throughout the country and the favorable position of railroad interests in respect to earnings. Speculation for a time showed a greatly increased activity, with a marked augmentation of the interest of the public. This resulted in a range of prices in May last which were general ly higher than the average for a year or more previously. The collapse of this inclutent bom began about the beginning of June last. Since then liquidation seems to have been general and effective, and values have steadily declined. Public attention has in late years not only been Skin Diseases. the local bear contingents. Private cables re-ported that there was heavy pressure from that side, which showed that the pressure there was not entirely upon sales because of the influ-ences mentioned. The market here was more active than usual of late, but the increased trading was entirely in the stocks which are favorites in Loodon, a half dozen stocks furn-ishing one-half the sales of all the listed. The opening prices were all lower, but special losses was shown in Louisville and Nashville, Northern Pacific preferred, St. Paul, Atohison, Reading and Upion Pacific. The first named stock stood the brunt of the pressure from the other side, and the sales in it are reckoned at about 130,000 shares, while the total amount sold for foreign account is variously placed at trom 25,000 to 40,000 shares.
