MEASURED ON THE STUMP.

Candidate Delamater had no great prestige when he was nominated for Governor, and, as the campaign progresses, he adds nothing to what he started with. His speeches on the stump, when not devoted to the conjugation of the verb "to lie" in its different modes and tenses, with Emery, L. D. Dick and X. Y. Z. as sounding notes, are of the order of the "I have no objection to your originality, depth or eloquence. The burden of this now familiar recital is a schoolboy reference to the past glory of the Republican party (which none disputes), coupled with an assertion of the candidate's ardent desire to lead the party (which no one doubts). Of State policy or State measures, Mr. Delamater makes hardly a mention. Upon the issue raised as to whether the Constitution or corporations should be supreme in Pennsylvania he has nothing to say. He might, and doubtless would, urge that this is really too simple a question to answer; but in view of the open destruction of the South Penn enterprise by unconstitutional methods; of the long delay in giving force to the inhibition of discrimination in railway rates; of the juggling by which a revenue bill was "lost" after being passed at Harrisburg, and of other significant incidents that might be cited, it will seem to the public a very pertinent and pressing subject.

Mr. Delamater may be personally amiable and make a rather agreeable impression in his hand-shaking tours; but that is too familiar a qualification with candidates to count for much among those who vote upon weightier considerations. The Republican candidate has pitted against him a man of proved capacity, trustworthiness, and with a record so non-partisan that it has extorted the most candid praise from his political opponents as well as friends. Such a candidate as Governor Patton would be a formidable antagonist to the ablest and strongest man the Republicans might have nominated. Leaving out sight wholly for the present the adverse criticisms upon Delamater in regard to his record, it is difficult to see where or how, since the canvass has opened, he has given any indications of special capacity or disposition to be of shining service to the public in the distinguished position to which he aspires.

GOVERNOR CAMPBELL'S VICTORY.

Governor Campbell has brought the Ohio Legislature to his terms, if the decision of the Democratic caucuses in House and Senate last night is adhered to, as there is every reason to believe will be the case. He aimed to abolish the corrupt Board of Improvements and Decennial Board in Cincinnati and to return the election of their successors to the people, and to this the Democratic caucus in Cincinnati has assented. It is not that Governor Campbell and now to the Legislature is to belong the actual power of abolition or that the election of new boards is to be postponed till April next. Governor Campbell and all friends of honest city government want to turn the reins over, and the precise method is a matter of secondary importance. Cincinnati stands a fair chance of getting some honest city officials, and she has Governor Campbell to thank for it.

GOOD FOR AMERICAN SOIL.

It is asserted by a good many dealers in cigars that the vast majority of smokers do not know the difference between Havana tobacco and the American leaf, but it is the product of Pennsylvania, Connecticut or Carolina. The singularly fatuous gentlemen who are trying to make out that the new tariff is oppressive because it makes Havana cigars dearer, are invited to contemplate this assertion of the cigar dealers. But an official investigation in the evidence of their senses that the cigar manufactured on American soil is as satisfactory as the weed that comes from Cuba.

A very profitable result of the increased tariff on foreign wines is reported from California. Already the demand for California wines is greatly increased and capital is pouring in for the operation of new vineyards. With regard to our domestic wines there is not the least doubt that the standard brands are far more wholesome and palatable than the inferior and light-hearted wines of America. There is good reason to believe that Europe sends us more fine-sounding names and gorgeous labels than prime vintages.

OUR HAPPINESS OFFENDS.

Sydney Webb, who holds a snug office in the English Civil Service and some polite socialistic views, has recorded his impressions of this country, which he explored in 1888. He approves of a great many things, but strange to say, he begins with our reputation "the general and light-heartedness of Americans and their disposition to think happiness is the end and aim of life." Mr. Webb thinks we ought to stop laughing and smiling and looking pleased because the public Treasury is full and the country is bursting with corn and wine and oil. Perhaps it may gratify Webb to know that the plethoric condition of the Treasury has been relieved. But material prosperity remains in spite of the politicians, and the American people will continue to smile in spite of their official enemies.

ment, no matter how good it may be in fact. The American people have achieved a high level of prosperity, culture and freedom by their own efforts, blessed by the Deity and assisted by nature. They are naturally cheerful in the premises and sanguine as to the future. But they have done this independently of the two-hour, two-and-a-half-hour, or three-hour, or four-hour, or five-hour, or six-hour, or seven-hour, or eight-hour, or nine-hour, or ten-hour, or
