FUN FOR EVERYBODY.

A Cambria County Man's Mistake and the Amusement it Made for Morris Mead and

HIS ATLANTIC CITY VISITORS.

How Styles of Registering at Hotels Change as Frequently as They Do in Any Other Matter.

ONE OF THE TRICKS OF FORMER TIMES.

A Clever Ruse of Thirves That Doesn't Always Fool the Detectives.

Superintendent Morris Mead, of the Bureau of Electricity, had a little experience while going over to Philadelphia the other day, which he will not soon forget.

It will be remembered that a delegation of genilemen and officials of Atlantic City were in Pittsburg for the purpose of inspecting the electrical system in use in this city. After taking in the sights of the town and absorbing enough points about electricity to fill a book, they started home, accompanied by Superintendent Mead, Outside of baving lots of fun, the journey was uneventral until Johnstown was reached. At that point an ex-member of the Legislature, who is a Democrat of the purest ray serene, boarded the train, and at once began to let everyone within hearing know that he carried large sections of the vote of Cambria county in his inside pocket. After declaring himself right and lest, he started through the coach. When he reached the seat where Robert Stroub, Alderman and President of Councals of the great summer resort, was located, he glanced at the gentleman hurriedly, and then remarked: "Ex-Lieutenant Governor Black, I believe?"

TRAVELED UNDER PALSE COLORS. Mr. Stroud modestly admitted that Black was his name, and the balance of the party taking kindly to the opportunity, the Cambria county man was formally introduced Governor Pattison. A discussion of the situation was at once started, and finally the Cambria patriot suggested to make brief speeches to the people along the way. Mr. Stroud met this argument with the plea that he was considerably indisposed and was on his way to Atlantic City for rest and recreation. This did not suit the man from Cambria, and as a compromise be volunteered to do the graceful himself. Everyone was in full sympathy with this suggestion, and so at the next station he loomed up on the rear platform, and, with hat in hand, proceeded to deliver a few gems of thought as gathered from a Democratic standpoint. He explained that ex-Lieutenant Governor Black was on the train, but his physical condition was such that he could not address the people as he desired to. Then he would unbelt and show the natives in a brief, but spirited manner, why it was their duty to support the entire Democratic ticket.

AN IDEA THAT CAUGHT ON.

The idea caught on immensely, and at every station Cambria county was in it every station Cambria county was in it with both feet. He was taking his leave of the distinquished company with many sentiments of regret at the State capital when ex-Goverpor Pattison boarded the train. Rushing up to him the Johnstown delegate grasped im by the hand, and with much warmth, exclaimed: "Why, Governor, we have had a splendid time of it. #### FAILING MINING CAMPS.

How the City of Gunnison Has Declined to a Simple Village. The rapid rise and sudden fall of mining camps in the West is a painful subject to those who have been bitten, and especially to the Colorado newspapers, who are ever ready to defend the wonderful mineral resources of the State against any other in the Union. A Pittsburger who traveled considerably in Colorado this summer made a few observations yesterday that may be pertinent. Among other things, he said:

"It is surprising how many mining towns in the West have declined since their inception. The amount of money that has been lost in real estate alone is enormous. Under the excitement of a mineral find men would lose their heads, and build fine towns with the hope that some day the projected city would become one of the greatest in the must pathetically describe as the deserted village. Eight years ago it had a mighty boom, and its people predicted that it would soon leave Denver in the rear. That time has never come. The population has decreased from 8,000 to 1,500, and there are not less than 500 vacant houses in the town. The ore deposits failed, and the teeming little city went down with it. The fine hotel which was built by St. Louis capitalists at a heavy expense is now used as an eating station by the Denver and Rio Grange road. A side track from the main line has been built to its door, and here the hungry passenger is regaled in a dining room that reminds him of a big hall. The many tables are still there, but the proprietors have learned long ago to set only a few. Off on the mountain sides can be seen the holes in the ground and the rotting incline planes. These were once Gunnison's glory, but the luster has

Wichita Real Estate Man Who Denies That Kansas is Declining.

FARMERS PROSPEROUS THIS YEAR.

He Says Prohibition Has Been a Curse and Stopped Immigration.

EFFORTS TO HAVE THE LAW REPEALED

W. D. McCormick, a Wichita real estate agent, has been at the Monongahela House for several days. In a long interview he spoke to a DISPATCH reporter of the future of Kansas, and took occasion to contradict some statements made by a Western correspondent recently. He said: "Such a condition as that Topeka correspondent pictures is an injustice to our State. Newspapers aim to state facts, but it too often happens that a Western correspondent is over auxious to make a column or two for Union. Of all the mining camps to-day in Colorado there are really only two, Leadville and Aspen, where the yield of ore is sufficient to keep the population.

"I have in mind now Gunnison, which I have in mind now Gunnison, which I completely as the deserted to make a clean sweep and condemn everything. Your correspondent says: 'Kansas, Columbia's pride, is dying,' that her star has gone down into obscurity, leaving a darkened land. Now, it is patent to every well-informed person that the agricultural districts have suffered in Vermont, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, in fact, in all the States. Farm produce has been low, while agricultural lands have depreciated in value throughout the entire country. Kansas has been no exception, as a matter of course. It must be borne in mind that Kansas is a new State, especially the extreme western portion. I admit that much of the land in the western part of the State has been abandoned. The correspondent should not permit his readers to res under the impression that such abandon-ment applies to the State at large. He even asserts that it is so in the eastern part, which is not a fact. I cannot name the exact figures, but by reference to statistics it will be found that Kansas is less mortgaged than some other States not possessing as great agricultural resources. While it is true the oats and corn crops this year were a partial failure, the hope of the farmer in Kansas' rich soil has not been abandoned. A FEW FIGURES AS TO OUTPUTS. "I can recall a few figures concerning the crops of 1889 and 1890, in the 11 counties ediately tributary to Wichita, Sedgwick county.

"In 1889 these 11 counties raised: Corn, 53,000,000 bushels at 123/2 cents, $6,625,000; wheat, 12,000,000 bushels at 45 cents, $5,400,000; oats, 10,000,000 bushels at 12 cents, $1,200,000, making a total of $13,225,-"It is estimated the same counties pro duced in 1890: Corn, 13,500,000 bushels at 35 cents, $4,725,000; wheat, 11,000,000 bushels at 85 cents, $9,350,000; onts, 7,000,

000 at 25 cents, $1,750,000; total, $15,825,000. "This shows that the larmers in that locality are $2,600,000 better off than they were last year, and to this should be added the several million bushels of which are still held by farmers in these 11 counties, several individuals to my personal knowledge hav-ing 20,000 to 30,000 bushels. The great don't know, but they are in tight quarters now; there is no mistake about that."

Mr. Emery held in his hand a little paper entitled, "Emery's Boomerang," issued from the Republican State Committee's never satisfied any place. What we want are more of your thorough-going hard-working Pennsylvania farmers, and more par-ticularly the industrious German.

"Where you find these on a Kansas larm I will show thrift and prosperity. I visited an industrious farmer just before I left Kansas and he had been to town the day before to pay off a mortgage of $2,000 now on his farm, which bears 6 per cent interest "Regarding the decrease in population in the last three years, I must admit it is large, and the population of the State at present, while claimed by the present Prohibition Republican administration to be 1,680,000, is in reality not over 1,300,000. It has been impossible to get the official figtion from present indications will not fail to Constitution, and who are in accord with have united with the Democrats and placed on their ticket for Governor, ex-Governor Charles Robinson, of Lawrence, who was the first Governor of the State, and while he is at least three score and ten, he is well preserved and as active as a man of 50. He has always been a Republican until the past six years, when he assumed an independent position in politics. His election is almost a certainty, and the people generally conceive that his administration will bring a new era of prosperity to Kansas. EXPECTS PROHIBITION TO GO. "It is written that prohibition must go, and the damage it has done our fair State will soon disappear. I am strongly in favor of temperance, but what may be styled 'Kansas prohibition' should have no advocates among people who abhor hypocrisy. Many Kansas people write East about the glorious success of prohibition, and even the ministerial meeting held in Wichita a short time since, which was of a local nature, drew up and were about to would not subscribe to such a misstatement and forced them to materially modify their declarations. Dr. Talmage, of New York, lectured in our opera house a few months ago and in his remarks thanked God for the great success of prohibition, while within the very sound of his voice 75 saloons were in full blast, secret dives of iniquity, traps to catch the youth of our city and each one five times worse than an open, well-regulated saloon. These places were at that very time under the supervision of three police commissioners, two of whom are deathe State as in the front ranks of the Prohibition leaders, one a banker and the other a lawyer. Hypocrisy cannot find an advocate in me, nor should it with anyone who is honest in purpose. 'Again, these numerous places throughout the State yield no revenue under the law, but on the contrary frequent prosecutious, with few convictions, pile the taxes upon our people. I say that Kausas is not dying, but she is recruiting her forces, and will be, indeed is, one of the best States in the Union, and will rise to her proper place when we drive crankism and unjust sumptuary laws from our statutes and thus invite THE WORKSHOP OF AMERICA. "I like Pittsburg very much, indeed. I should say it is the workshop of America, and its stability is far ahead of any city in the country. I cannot recall a place whose future is so bright with promise. I am quite in the notion of making some investments here in the near future. I believe the next ten years will show a wonderful increase in patents procured. Established over 20 years in the patent practice exclusively: William F. McCready, Homewood, Pa., sanding device for velocipede cars; Albert E. Dain, Pittsburg, tubular boiler; Anton Geyer, Shaler, horse covering; William W. Tyson, Erie, Pa., fruit kniie; Walter S. Jarbo, Pittsburg, device for lifting plate glass; John S. Young, Alliance, O., washing machine; George F. Smith, assignor of two-thirds to William G. Hunter, B. L. Harris and J. Kessler, Sr., and Jr., Pittsburg, butter packer; Charles C. Moore, Lancaster, O., metallic ceiling; John B. Hastings, Jackson, O., metal grinding machine; Eckle B. Cox, Dayton, Pa., coal screening machine; Henry Aiken, Pittsburg, metal shears. your industries and population."

R. J. Brown, of Leavenworth, who is also on the question of prohibition injuring the State. He thinks the State is all right, in spite of the reports that have been sent out about it. He doesn't think the Republican party ought to allow any reforms to come from without the party. If local option is demanded, he says, the Republican party should see to it, and not allow the opposition to legislate for them. Mr. Brown is a former

Of late the operators have been troubled by salt The Expo halls are still; the mad carnival of 40 days is over. For 40 days thousands have surged through the halls and all has been life and activity. But now 'tis o'er and water and it required the daily operation of the reaction and reckoning time comes to the pump to prevent it from getting the better of the oil flow. The pumper was informed by the company to operate the pump on Sunday. He did so, and thereby the exhibitors. To the visitors is only left to read the echoes of the big show and ruminate on memories of the Expo of 1890.

The success of the present Exposition is aroused opposition on the part of some Sabsaid to be due largely to the lavish hand with which exhibitors have spent money. Notwithstanding the company felt that the well should be pumped continuously, instructions were given the pumper, Charles Smoyer, to cease from 7 o'clock in the morn-A number of the exhibitors have spent as high as $5,000 and up to $10,000 since the Expo opened, but the firm making the He-No Tea exhibit have capped the climax by an expenditure of a trifle over $25,000 and ing on Sunday, until dark, so as not to rasp the feelings of the objectors. The offered compromise did not satisfy the objectors, and one, named Moore, made an information besay they do not regret it.

SOME INTERESTING DATA. Yesterday a member of the firm was balaucing his accounts, and gave a reporter some interesting data regarding the number of cups of tea given away and other novel things about the stand. Since the Expo Yesterday W. F. McCook, Esq., drew the attention of Judge Magee to the case, and after a hearing, he ordered Smoyer's discharge. It is said this will not be the opened a little over 300,000 cups of tea have been given away, about an average of 7,500 each day, or 100,000 less than the whole at-tendance in numbers. All of the exhibitors and employes of the two buildings have been given tea by the quarts and gallons. The expense for cream each week has been over $40, and the incidental expenses outside of salaries foot up end of the matter. It is alleged that the detention caused by objection of the strict Sabbatarians has not only injured the pump-ing apparatus, the corrosion of which was prevented by the lubrication of the oil while passing through the valves, but the enforced suspension has also reduced the output one half, or 150 barrels a week, thus $200 per day or $8,000 for the whole time.
