Cincinnati Trouble.

ing the Governor.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.)

Campbell received sore treatment at the handsof the Legislature to-day, principally from the Democratic members. There was only one measure for consideration-the compromise bill between the Democratic caucus and the Governor. It was a strong concession from the position taken by Campbell in his message, that he would accede to nothing short of the abolishment of the Board of Improvements at Cincinnati, the selection of a new one, and the restoration of home rule.

The compromise gave the Governor the power of removal and to fill vacancies. It of the cities, but they would not stand it, as far as Cincinnati was concerned. After the bill had been defeated a substitute was offered which places the appointing power in the hands of the Sinking Fund Commissioners and provides a non-partisan board, but this met the same fate of the other bill. It was re considered and was pending, when an adjournment was taken to Monday.

It is evident the Democratic majority cannot agree upon any measure, and nothing will be accomplished in the line of message suggestions. The Republicans hold the key to the situation. They renewed their pledge in caucus to vote for nothing suggested by Democrats, and voted against both bills. They will not renew their alliances with the Governor to aid him in his efforts to restore home rule to Cincinnati. It is conceded if anything is accomplished it will be in accordance with the wishes of Republicans joined by a few

CONCESSION TO REPUBLICANS.

If the Mayor of Cincinnati is given the appointing power, by which means the Re-publicans will be able to suggest their own nembers of the Board of Improvements they will vote for the abolishment of the board and a return to home rule. The be-lief, however, is quite general that Camp-bell will allow the Legislature to adjourn rather than concede too much to the Repub licans in order to overcome his enemies in the Democratic Legislature.

The scenes during the vote on the compromise bill were of a most exciting char-ecter and came nearly ending in a row. Dr

Hagerty, one of the suspected members, wanted to explain, and, as he was not permitted to do so, he voted a good robust "No." The vote of Mr. Hagerty was in the line of a sensation and many Democrati gathered about to tell him he was wrong, but he could not see it that way; he was

Bourbons could not understand why Hagerty should vote that way, and insisted his name be called again and finally secured the attention of the Clerk for that purpose.

A LIVELY SCENE.

Hagerty clambered up through a crowd of everal members who were resting upon his frame, including a number of Senators, and "Allow no guilty man to escape. Vote by the Governor's message and vote." Great cheers greeted this announcement on the Republican side and Dr. Hagerty continued in a tone of voice which could be heard above everything to the effect that he had a wife and family for whom he had some respect and did not pro-pose to be bulldosed into doing a dishonest thing. He indulged in several cuss words of more than ordinary emphasis. There was a demand that the member be removed from the Chamber for swearing and improper conduct, but affairs quieted down somewhat and the recall of names continued.

Mr. Beuze got the floor pending the call of the roll and stated there were members there who refused to vote, and he moved

There was a chorus of noes greeted this roposition.

It was soon found that O'Dowd, Schulte

are required to vote unless they are excused by the House.

ANOTHER MIDNIGHT FIGHT TO DEATH

THY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY.] PABIS, October 18 .- The brief paragraphs that appeared in this morning's papers giving the fact that Lieutenant Wernert had been tried and acquitted on the charge of desertion, gave no intimation of the romantic and sensational circumstances that he back or the duels and other offenses that prompted the arrest of the Lieutenant.

It will be remembered that Werners fought two duers and then disappeared. When he returned he claimed that his distrouble, and was in no sense influenced by any desire to leave the army or shirk its duties. He declared upon his honor as an his duels was a family one of the gravest importance, and should never be made

A reporter has succeeded in learning the true inwareness of the whole affair, and it settings of the middle ages rather than this gigantic, and if carried out, as it seems cerpractical century, for it is made up of love, have size's and death.

WERNERT'S DISAPPEARANCE.

Lieutenant Wernert is an Alsatian, aged 27. He is considered a brave officer, and Sackville Obliged to Sell Works of Art to served with marked distinction in Tonquin. He is hardsome, and has always been a favorite among his comrades. In May last he disa peared, and for three months there was no trace of him and no message came of his parents at Schleststadt, in Alsace.

French papers almost unanimously condemped him as a deserter to Germany, and went so far as to say that he had sold charts His friends were naturally aghast at the charge, since death alone would be the sel some others, which will no doubt fetch punishment if he were caught.

As soon as Wer ert saw the attacks on his honor he made up his mind not to delay, but to return at once and face the music, with the result already told. Now comes the love part of the story which lets in the light upon the whole affair. AN ITALIAN BIVAL.

Some time ago Wernert loved a beautiful girl, who returned his affection and a mar- dated October 2, and addressed to Mr. riage was arranged between them. But the Radislas Smilay, President of the Austrovillain of the drama made his appearance in | Hungarian Commercial Association of Cinthe usual style. This one was an Italian Prince, and he soon began to pay court to the Lieutenant's beautiful fiances. She was fascinated by his manner; and his title, and listened to his words of devotion, by Wernert would not give her up without a struggle. He snatched her from the clutches nothing to do with historical reminiscences, of the Italian by threatening to kill him if such as their recognition of the infant reanything happens to the girl.

Upon this the Prince sent a challenge to the young Lieutenaut, who accepted it. The meeting took place in the latter's garden ized European nations. and the weapons chosen were swords. After some passes Wernert ran the Prince through the body and ne was carried off unconscious and died soon after. Determined to punish the bold young man and avenge his friend's death, one of the Prince's second; sent Wernert another challenge, which again he accepted.

A DUEL AT NIGHT.

The scene was the same spot in the garden where the former duel had taken place. It was night when the combatants met and they had to fight by the glimmering light of a suicide. given by a few lanterns which were furnished by the seconds. In this encounter Lieutenaut Wernert was slightly wounded, but his opponent suffered as selieved has since died.

These are the facts that led to the Lieuten ant's flight, for on hearing the tragic result of his action he became fearful of the consequences and fled the country. Before th court martial be refused to throw any light on the matter or to furnish any proof of his innocenco. He merely said:

"Do with me as you please." Luckily for him the real story as above given was known to the court and the trial resulted in his acquittal as told to-day. Meanwhile, Wernert is the heroof the hour, but the girl for whom he risked his life at the sword's point has gone to a convent.

LONDON, October 18 .- It has just leaked out that a meeting of the utmost importance has taken place of a number of capitalists THE LADY HE ADORED headed by C. W. Bouyage, of Sau Francisco, with the object of arranging for the immediate putting into operation of a scheme for the laying of a new cable across the Atlantic ocean. The undertaking is capitalized thus: Eight men at £100,000 each, to be fully paid up and no debentures issued. The cable is to be laid from Valentia Bay, on the west coast of Ireland, to a point on the American coast near New York, if possible. Mr. Bonyuge was seen at his home in Prince's Gate. At first he expressed surprise and annoyance that the secret had leaked out, and resused to discuss the matter. Afterward he admitted that the statement was correct, and said: "I am one of the people interested, and have paid up £100,-000. The cable, however, will be practically a private enterprise, as we shall not go to the public with debentures. We can lay the cable complete and in working order for $800,000, and it will be odd if we cannot pay a big dividend and give the public an immense advantage besides. Further than this I prefer to say nothing."

From another source it was learned tonight that the real object of this enterprise is the reduction of cable rates between America and England. All those interested are of opinion, backed by strict calculation, appearance came from fear that the death of that the utmost public satisfaction can be one of his opponents might cause him given and a splendid service carried on at a rate of 3 pence a word, and a large dividend paid into the bargain. of A. F. of L. ciation to Texas for the new Pecos Railroad, The committee appointed by the Central Trades' Council to investigate into Homer L. McGaw's connection with the now cele brated "Jeannette case," reported at the meeting of the Council, held last night. shown through the works by Master Me-chanic Bridges.

The committee believes that the evidence be ore it points to the fact that McGaw did, through his counsel, make a proposition to settle the case. It makes no suggestion as to what further proceedings should be taken. The report was indorsed by the Council.

The charges were made by the delegates rom L. A. 6111, green bottle blowers. The committee reported that their investigation had covered three propositions: "Whether offers were made by McGaw to settle the case for a money consideration; whether certain evidence pertaining to the case was held back or suppressed, and whether cer tain alleged important witnesses were no summoned to appear at the trial."

The letter from E. E. Cotton, Esq., counsel for L. A. 300, window glass workers, was what instigated the inquiry. It reads as

James Campbell, Esq. : James Campbell, Esq.:

In answer to your inquiry, the proposition submitted by Messrs. Blakeley and McGaw on April 25 was, that if the sum of $5,000 was paid to Mr. McClaw for the use of himself and others whose names were not disclosed, that he and they would take care that no verdict should be rendered versus the defendants in the 'Jeannette case.' The way suggested to accomplish the matter was that they would see that the Government would not have sufficient evidence on the trial of the present or any future cause brought in regard to the matter.

Respectfully,

E. E. COTTON.

MAY 8, '90. Mr. McGaw, at the meeting of the committee stigmatized the letter as a lie, and General Blakely, who Mr. McGaw's atorney, said it was a lie as far as it referre to him. The committee took considerable testimony and give as their conclusion the following:

We believe that all the evidence and circumstances testified to by the different witnesses unerringly point to the fact that Homer L. McGaw did, through his recognized council, make a base proposition to settle the Jeanette case for a money consideration.

We believe that the evidence shows that, while negotiating this betrayal of the trust reposed in him, that Homer L. McGaw did purposely withhold certain documents of value to posely withhold certain documents of value to the prosecution until the very last moment, and that he only surrendered then at the arnest request of the attorney for the Trades Council.

The third proposition we did not deem it necessary to go into at all, after Attorney Lyons' statement that the repudiation of Ford's Lvons' statement that the repudiation of Ford's affidavit settled the case.

"The committee does not and will not make any suggestions or recommendations to the council as to what further proceedings, if any, should be taken in the matter, preferring to leave that to the Trades Council, but we are of the unanimous opinion that the facts herein sworn to by recognized honorable workers in the cause of labor, cannot be offset by the unqualified statement of Homer L McGaw, who repeatedly declared his eagerness to meet his accusers under oath, but who declined when the opportunity was offered him.

the opportunity was offered him.
"We believe that this record, which we her subscribe to, should forever disbar Homer I McGaw from ever holding any position honor or profit in any labor organization." A motion was made that the conclusions be accepted and the report indersed. The motion was adopted and the Council ad-

Handsome Testimonial. At the meeting of the Building Trades Council last night, Mr. A. M. Swartz, late agent for the Carpenters' Council, was preented with a handsome silver inkstand with a clock attached, and a gold pen. The presentation was made by Mr. John J. Martin, on behalf of the Board of Walking Delegates, composed of J. C. Beck, Robert Tenay, W. H. Jewell and W. H. Irwin, the latter of whom was elected to Mr. Swartz's

Mr. Martin referred in eulogistic terms to Mr. Swartz's efforts in the direction of furthering the interests of the whole body of organized labor. Mr. Swartz replied in suitable terms. Mr. Swartz goes to Philadelphia to fill the position of Assistant Secretary to the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

FORMING A STATE BRANCH.

A Meeting to be Held in Harrisburg To-Mo row of American Federationi An important meeting will take place in Harrisburg to-morrow. Samuel Gompers President of the American Federation of Labor, will preside over a meeting of dele gates from all sections of the State, who will assemble to form a State branch of the American Federation of Labor.

The branch will be operated on the same lines as that in Massachusetts, which holds a charter from the parent body. It will a charter from the parent body. It will have its own council and be invested with authority to promulgate the doctrine of trades unionism as laid down by headquarters. Several delegates from local bodies leave to-day. Such organizations as the Flint Glass Workers' Union, the Amalgamated Association, etc., while not sending delegates, are in harmony with the idea.

A Record for Its Size.

The Hinkle Furnace at Ashland, Wis., lately turned out 1,009 tons of pig iron in seven days. The stack of this furnace is 60 feet high, and the bosh 12 feet in diameter. All ores were used, no scrap or mill cinders being used. This is supposed to be the best record for a furnace of the size.

count of the Population.

Charges That the Refusal is Actuated Through Politica

NEW YORK, October 18.—The insolent letter published in vesterday's Sun, which has been sent to Mayor Grant by the Acting Superintendent of the Census in answer to the Mayor's demand for an accurate count of New York's population, amazed the town to-day. That an obscure clerk in the Census Bureau, acting in Superintendent Porter's absence should take it upon himself practically to deny New York's right to recount is considered evidence of an understanding that New York is to have no recount, no matter how overwhelming the evidence is against the Federal census of June. The etter was not mailed at Washington until after it had been published in New York. It was received at the Mayor's office at noon, postmarked this morning.

The Mayor is now done with the Census Bureau. He said to-day that he would absolutely ignore this letter and make his next demand directly upon the Secretary of the Interior. If Secretary Noble is in the con-spiracy, too, and refuses to grant us redress, Whereas, We realize that its passage was accomplished by the strenuous efforts of such members of the House of Representatives and the Senate of the United States as recognized the right of the workers—the voters—to claim the redemption of pledges made by political parties during a political campaign, and which are too often totally ignored when the contest is decided. And realizing further that to its author, Major William McKinley, M. C., is due, above all others, the credit for the benefits that have and are to accrue to American labor through this legislation; be it, therefore,

Resolved, That we do hereby express our hearty approval of the McKinley bill, believing that it has vouchsafed to us continued and increased prosperity in the trades at which we are employed, and we do commend the true, manly principle which prompted its author, Major McKinley, to so earnestly, untiringly and effectively strive for the redemption of those pledges his party had made to the working men of America, and to secure for their benefit protection to American industries, thereby reviving in the breasts of the tollers the hope that successful political parties may yet be brought to recegnize the right of the voter to claim the keeping of promises made to remember that in the light of past experience that their only hope for progress and prosperity lies in their keeping careful guard of their own interests, and we suggest to them that this can best be done by strenuously insisting on having their rights respected by the lawmakers of the nation, and this can most effectively be done by supportiny for office only such men as show a disposition to keep faith with them. And, further, be it

Resolved, That we appeal to the constituents of Major William McKinley to be careful to see that every man who has the interests of labor at heart and respect for true manliness lends his hearty support to and casts his ballot for the return of Major McKinley to Congress and thereby serve notice on voliticians and Mayor Grant will appeal to the President.
If this tails, the Mayor will make his last fight by appealing to Congress for a recog-nition of the city's rights.

TOUCHING ON POLITICS.

"It is very evident," said the Mayor, "that the census officials will not count the inhabitants for New York for the probable reason that it would mean an additional Democratic Representative in Congress. It is not a matter of favor or kindness on the part of the census officials which we demand, but it is a matter of right. The people of New York City pay at least their pro-portionate share of the expenses of the

"As this letter contradicts a plain and unmistakable fact, it may be well for me to repeat the facts which are known to the repeat the facts which are known to the people of New York. The police enumeration was taken under the supervision of myself and a representative selected by the Census Office. The representative was Mr. Olcott, who came with written credentials signed in the same manner as the letter printed in this morning's newspapers. The week before the Census Office telegraphed to me asking when Census Office telegraphed to me asking when our enumeration would begin. To that I replied that the day was not fixed, as there was some uncertainty about the time when the blank and tabulation tables would be ready.

WATCHED BY A CENSUS OFFICIAL. "The next day I received a letter repeatng the telegram which I had received the day before. By that time it was definitely settled the census would begin on Monday, and I both telegraphed and wrote to the Census Department to that effect. The telegram was received at least two days before the census began. "The newspapers at that time hinted that Mr. Olcott, one of the heads of the departments in the Census Bureau, would come on to New York to supervise the census. Mr. Olcott called before the books had begun to come in. He brought written credentials from the Acting Superintendent of Census. I took pleasure in honoring these credentials and in placing all the facilities of this office at the disposal of Mr. Olcott.

"Mr. Olcott availed himself of the facilities. The books were counted in his pres-ence and under his supervisions. The tab-ulation tables were made up in his presence give an exhibition of his invention during the coming week, the intention being to make a public ascension.

The experience of sailing through the space in an air-ship is not a new one to Prof. Campbell. He made a successful ascension in Buffalo, last July. The ship was started at 4:15 in the afternoon, and continued the journey until after 6 o'clock. An attitude of 3,000 feet was reached, and the ship was conducted in all directions, both with and against the wind, and then landed safely in the suburbs of the city. It was the most successful ascension ever was the most successful ascension ever made by the professor, and the climax o: 30 years of study and experiment. In speak-ing of the subject last night, he said:
"I know that I am the only man who has solved the great problem of a successful airship. I have been been working on the idea for many years, and at last my efforts are crowned with success. Men have encircled the globe with railways; they navigate the seas; the science of electricity has been won-derfully developed during the last few years, and why should not advancements be nade in orther lines?"

Mr. Campbell's air-ship consists of a huge egg-shaped balloon, 50 feet long and 24 feet high. It holds 15,027 feet or 600 pounds of gas. Beneath the balloon is a car shout 50 feet in length, secured by ropes. One end is fitted out with a rudder and the other end with a propeiling wheel, while beneath the car is a second wheel, the same as used in a screw propeller. The two wheels are set in motion by means of a crank.

In addition to the Buffalo experiment, the professor's ship has undergone other tests of a satisfactory character. The professor is very enthusiastic over his invention. LABOR ORATORS AT WORK

Coke Region Politics at the Boiling Point-Republican Voters Shut Out.

SCOTTDALE, October 18.—Politics is getting warmer every day in the coke regions. The appearance of the two K. of L. speakers, McGuire and Carney, has spurred each party on to active and effectual work. Republican circles in Fayette county are all torn up over the probable distranchisement of 163 Republicans at Connellsville, from the failure to remit their taxes in due time. The Republican leaders are making every effort to have the matter fixed, but so far their efforts have been futile.

Connellsville contains at least 500 Repup-lican voters, and the subtraction of 163 from that list will swell the Democratic majority to at least 300. In addition to this, it is conceded that Pattison will secure at least 50 Republican votes in that
