

The Synod Takes the Philadelphia Presbytery Twice to Task.

RELIGIOUS WORK AMONG GERMANS. Growth of Socialism in the Coke District

Near Scottdale.

POSSIBLE BANK ROBBERY AT FATETTE

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH WHEELING, October 20 .- The Synod of Pennsylvania convened at 9 A. M. and was opened with devotional exercises. Rev. O. K. Freeman presented a report in regard to Lafayette College at Easton, Pa., recommending it eminently worthy of the support of Presbyterians and all who have sons to educate, and commending the institution to the liberality of Christian men and women of wealth. Major W. B. Negley presented a report of the Board of Aid for disabled ministers. The recommendations were seconded by Governor Beaver, of Pennsylvania, who made an eloquent plea in behalf of those ministers who have given their lives to the labor of the church, and now are unable to work. "Work among the Germans" was taken up, and addresses made by Revs. Fox, Allison and others. There are eight German churches in the Synod, and only six German ministers.

Recommendations were adopted that the Synod record its sense of obligation to the religious condition to the growing German element in the country, and calling the atten-tion of all the Presbyteries to the importance tion of all the Presbyteries to the importance of their relation to the German population in the effort to evangelize them, so far as not reacced by other denominations, and that care-ful attention be given to young Germans who may be suitable candidates for the ministry. The Committee on Presbyterian Records mande a report. Exceptions were taken to the ministre of the Presbytery of Philadelphia Central, because of the failure of the Presby-tery to camply with the laws of the church in receiving into the Presbytery Rev. F. J. Mon-uny from the Congregational church. A heated decension followed, and the exceptions were sustained. Exceptions were also taken to the minutes of the Philadelphia Presbytery North, for failing to state the purpose of a special meeting, and insufficiency of record in a case where a minister's character was at stake. The exceptions were sustained. Remase where a minister's character was at take. The exceptions were sustained. Re-orts were made on systematic beneficiaries and on the proposed observance of the Sabbath. At the afternoon meeting the Synod, after evolution exercises, spent the time in verving the reports of standing committees visitors to the various colleges in the juris-ction of the Synod. A communication was diction of the Synod. A communication was formulated to be sent to the Central Assembly, asking if the dissolution by the Pres-bytery of the pastoral relation between a pastor and his church, or the refusal of a Presbytery to make such a dissolution, is rounds for a complaint either of the pastor or he church; also, if the Assembly answer the the church; also, if the Assembly answer the questions negatively has the Synod the power to reverse the action of the Presbytery? Three overtures were sent for the purpose of giving information with regard to the Synod's power in the case of the Rev. Dr. Beale, of Johns-town, against the Blairsville Presbytery. The Synod adjourned to meet in the First Presby-terian Caurch, Scranton, Pa., on the third Tuesday in October, 1891.

COKE REGION SOCIALISM.

Its Membership Estimated by the Thousands, With 18 Lodges. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. SCOTTDALE, October 20 .- The German and American Socialists, of the coke regions, held a monster mass meeting in one of the suburbs of Connellsville yesterday. The speeches of their leaders were most enthusiastically received. The object of the meeting was to mcrease the membership of the organization, crease the membership of the organization, and it is claimed the result of the meeting was a number of conversions to their doctrines. They now estimate their coke region mem-bership at 2,600. They have 18 lodges, which meet weekly. The coke region is already re-garded as one of the strongholds of socialism, and the order is rapidly increasing in member-ship. They will cut quite a figure in the No-vember elections, and are said to have already spotted several candidates who are known to spotted several candidates who are known to be unfavorable to their views, while they have indorsed the candidacy of others who are known be in favor of their ideas.
