A Good Reason for Silence.

Why Mr. Andrews did not publish the letter which he wrote you at the same time that he made public your letter to him is now clear. His letter would have revealed the fact that he has deceived you as to the real character andposition of those who advisedly called themselves Lincoln Independent Republicans. That you have been so deceived is manifest by the internal evidence of your letter.

We are not men who in a campaign aid the enemy because the majority in the convention refuse to submit to our dictation. In the convention reterred to we had no voice, or the verdict of that assembly might have been different. We are men, however, who seek the election of a candidate who had already proved humself honest, just and faithful to the Consti-We seek the defeat of his opponent because the Republican convention failed to act according to the dictates of its own conscience, because it refused to record the will of its constituents and bowed to the command of a man who has for years been the dictator of the Republican party in this State.

Not Disappointed Politicians The men who have been misrepresented to you as disappointed and revengeful politicians are free citizens, who number in their organisation 124 members. They are drawn from all morable pursuits and professions, commerce manufactures, trade, divinity, law and medicine. Behind these names which have been recorded in our protest are thousands and still increasing thousands of Republicans who demand a government of the people, by the people and for the people, a government which r fathers gave us, and which your father lived and died to save, rather than that wholly of free institutions, that ancient tyranny with a modern name, which had its root in the spoils system, and which is known by the odious title of "Ring Rule," "Boss Rule" and the "Ma-Were you closer to the scene of the present contest or were you more intimately acquainted with the history of Pennsylvania politics I doubt not that you would recognize in the perpetuation of Quay Republicanism and in the election of the Quay candidate for Governor a sufficiently serious menace to those Republican principles which Abraham Lincoln expounded so clearly and represented so nobly, as would lead you to justify us in adopting so drastic a remedy for our present disease as open revolt.

Acting for the Public Weal.

You would at least see that our position is taken neither with the fear of losing office nor the hope of gaining it, but that we act solely in the interest of primitive Republicanism and for the public weal. You further say you cannot agree in the soundness of a position which is based on an assumption of representing the opinions of Republican leaders, who can no longer speak for themselves. Your father, my dear sir, be it said in all sincerity and reverence, was one of that goodly company martyrs and of prophets who, "being dead yet speak.

You do him less honor than we to suppo the contrary. Neither the lause of years not the debasement of the name which his speech and acts made glorious, can silence his words in the hearts of the American people. Neither the words nor the counsels of Abraham Lin-coln are of private or familiar interpretation. They are the common property of the nation. When we attack the spoils system of govern ment, of which Mr. Quay and his licutenants, Mesara Andrews, Cooper, Martin and Leeds, are the living and tangible examples, we have the sanction of Abraham Lincoln for our position, since he said in substance, if this country ever goes down it will not be from the assault

Mr. Reed then urged Major Denniston to send a telegram to Secretary Noble, asking him to withhold the appointment until Mr. Bengough's claims were heard, and asked that Major Denniston sign his name as Department Commander of the G. A. R. of Pennsylvania. The Major, who is careful to refrain from bringing the organization into politics, was not "in it" on this scheme, and although he would send the telegram he would not sign it as requested. After considering plans to hold a personal consultation with Senator Quay, the conference broke up.

After the consultation, Major Denniston said: "I had an interview with Senator Quay and he informed me that nothing would be done about the apppointment until Captain Barelay's term was up. I think he confirmation was made in May, but whether the pension agent will be allowed to continue in the service without a bond is another matter. WANTED A SURE-ENOUGH SOLDIER.

From another source it was learned that a oldiers' committee called on Senator Quav Tuesday and urged the appointment of Mr. Bengough. The committeemen, it is claimed, made an earnest ples for the office to be given to a soldier, saying that the present incumbent's title was not earned on the field, and the old soldiers had a right to it. It is said Senator Quay did not agree with the committee about the old soldier forming an integral part of any office, and did not give the committee any satisfaction. The candidates for the office are Mr. Bengough, ex-Treasurer Baily, of Uniontown, Colonel Chill Hazzard, of Mononga-hela City, another old soldier and Grand Army man, and Captain Magill, of West Deer township, who represents the Northside.

Colonel Hazzard is in town, and when asked if he thought Captain Barclay had been removed, said: "No, I do not believe that story, and it is not at all likely that any appointment will be made for some time yet. Ot course, I am still in the fight and will do my best to succeed Captain Barclay. I think the place should be given to a man who has the welfare of the old soldier at heart.'
