POLITICS THROUGHOUT THE STATE AND NATION

PAPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR 1 GETTYSBUBG, October 23 .- Captain W. H. Barclay, United States Pension Agent at Pittsburg, to-day addressed a letter to Pension Commissioner Raum in which be plainly indicated that an order issued from Washington directing his immediate return to his office will not be obeyed.

Captain Barelay ridiculed the idea that the business of the Pittsburg pension office has suffered through his absence. He says he is in daily communication with his subordinates and that pension matters are receiving the same attention they would if he were at his post.

An Answer to an Insinuation

As to the insinuation printed in some of the papers that his accounts were not correct, he says the office has always been conqueted to the satisfaction of the United States Government, and that he has received numerous letters from Washington complimenting him for his good work.

Lust month about $1,000,000 was paid out in pensions for his district, and he invites the most rigid examination of his affairs as agent. The man to whom he refers as having received his letter of resignation is Senator Quay.

Captain Barclay will continue on his stumping tour until the close of the cam-) aign, unless the appointment of a ruccessor should necessitate his return to Pittsburg to give the new pension agent necessary assistance and information.

A Letter to Mr. Raum. The following is a copy of Pension Agent

The Government Action Causes Surprise. Among the members of the campaigning party with which Mr. Barelay is traveling there is much surprise and some indignation that the Pittsburg pension agent should be ordered to cease political work and return to his office, when John Jarrett is not only permitted, but encouraged to come 3,000 miles across the Atlantic and leave his post deserted while engaged on a similar errand, and Captain Delaney abandons his position in Oklahoma to labor for Delamater.

However, all express the opinion that the action of the Washington authorities is likely not only to strengthen Mr. Barclay. but the entire ticket. The old soldiers, in particular, are relied upon to resent what is declared to be a manifest injustice to one of their number

A Delay in the Appointment

A dispatch from Washington says: It was stated to-day by an official of the Interior Department that the resignation of Captain Barelay had been received and accented. No steps have been taken toward appointment of a successor, and, as stated last evening, it is not probable that an appointment will be made before the election. at the failure of Senator Delamater to keep his engagement was the most prominent feature of the meetings attended in three places to-day by the party that is engaged in stumping the State in the interest of the Republican ticket. Rain also helped dampen the ardor of the enthusiasts, but at York, Lancaster and Reading extensive preparations had been made to give the Gubernstorial candidate a warm receptions and goodly crowds had assembled at the appointed time, only to learn that the standard

The rain was falling heavily, and there was no attempt at a parade. A meeting was held in the Opera House, however, at which addresses were made by Governor Beaver, who said at the start: "This is a typical Democratic day. start: "This is a typical Democratic day. The party then journeyed to Lancaster, where another good-sized crowd was disappointed at the failure of Mr. Delamater to appear. At 2 o'clock a meeting was held in the Court House, where only about 250 men were assembled. Speeches were made here by Thomas J. Stewart and Colonel J. H. Shields. For the night meeting Gover-nor Beaver and General Hastings were an-nounced, but the Governor did not come. General Hastings spoke, as also did George B. Orlady and Major McCauley, of West Chester. This meeting was quite an en-thusiastic one. Reading was the place scheduled for the party's night meeting, and despite the heavy rain, a big crowd gathered at the Opera House. Neither Delamater or Watres appeared, and the speaking was done by Boyer, Stewart, Lyman D. Gilbert, of Dauphin county, and one or two lesser lights. The reason given for the absence of the Crawford candidate is ill-health.

The Opera House was crowded by 1,500 people, and as many more had been unable to secure even standing room in the hall, when the Governor said in part:

The rain pouring down upon us to-day will not harm us half so much as the reign of the Republican party in the National Government. The surplus occasioned by the operation of the recent tariff laws will result in Congressional recent tariff laws will result in Congressional representatives bartering this surplus among themselves in order to obtain unnecessary public buildings. As to the favor which it is claimed the McKinley bill shows to American farmers, I think most of our agricultural products needs no more protection from foreign competition than an elephant needs protection from a mouse. The Republicans have arranged dates for such men as Speaker Reed, General Goff, Stephen B. On the Democratic side, Governor Hill and Thomas come on for one or two speeches. F. A special parlor car was furnished by the Western Maryland Railroad Company, and a quick run was made to Gettysburg, where a large and enthusiastic crowd received the party at the station, and Pennsylvania College students gave the whoop of the institution, followed by rattling cheers. Ex-Governor Pattison and his associates were then driven to the crowded Court House, where three hours were conin speeches. IRISH LEADERS BOUND FOR AMERICA

[BT DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY.] LONDON, October 23.-Interest in a case which excited a great deal of interest at the time of the occurrence was renewed to-day, when Walter James Lyons was charged at the Old Baitey sessions with the willful murder of Quartermaster Sergeant John Stewart, of the Royal Artillery, on September 13 last at Piumstead. It will be remembered that Lyons found his mother and Stewart were too intimate and killed the Sergeant. Lyons is only 20 years of age, of middle height and without a beard or mustache. His countenance is cadaverousooking and he has an angularly shaped orehead and small, restless, ferret-like eyes.

As he stood in the dock facing the bench

he had both his hands in his trousers pockets, and glanced from face to face as he scanned the onlookers in the crowded courtroom. After several witnesses had been called who narrated the incidents of the murder, Mrs. Ellen Lyons, the mother of the prisoner, entered the box. She was dressed in deep mourning, and gave her evidence in a very quiet manner. She said she had been a widow or seven months, and met the deceased for the first time on the afternoon of the 12th on the village common. He accompanied her home. Half an hour afterward the prisoner entered. High words then passed between her and her son. Stewart, when asked by the prisoner to leave the house, said he would go, and went outside and she went with him. The witness then confessed her intimacy with the soldier, and added that her son, who was following them, came upon the scene, screaming loudly in a passion, and stabbed the Sergeant to the heart.

Mr. Justice Stephen, in summing up the case said there could be no dispute as to the facts. The question was of what crime the prisoner should be convicted. He must at east be convicted of manslaughter. The judge thought the provocation given by Mrs. Lyons was as great as it could possibly have been, and the prisoner would not have been a man if her conduct had not exasper-ated him, but according to the law that provocation would not reduce the crime to mansiaughter. The jury was out for only 25 minutes and returned a verdict of manslaughter, coupling with it a recommenda-tion to mercy. The judge postponed passing sentence until to-morrow.

WESTERNERS AFTER PLUMS. USTICE MILLER'S SEAT ATTRACTS SOME OF THE NEW STATES,

Republicans Put Wilbur F. Sar ders Forward-Washington Desirous of Seeing William H. Calkins Capture the Prize-Miller and Noble Are Silent.

[FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.1 WASHINGTON, October 23 .- Now that the Territories of the Northwest have been transformed into States they are asking for nore than they used to under the old condition of affairs. So far as national affairs are concerned they have not secured any of the big plums, but it is evident that nothing will in future be lost through a failure to ask for it. Just now certain Republicans of Montana and of the State of Washington are said to be endeavoring to capture the place of the United States Supreme Bench made vacant by the death of Justice Miller. Montana was first in the field, her candidate Senators from that State. The State of Washington followed, with ex-Representative William H. Calking who is now busily engaged in running a Senatorial race with Senator Squire. The friends of both gentlemen claim that the Republican States of the Northwest should be recognized in the organization of the Supreme Court, and they advance much argument in behalf of the fitness of their respective candidates. Mr. Calkins will have the enthusiastic support of Senator Squire. Under ordinary circumstances the nator would not vote for Calkins for conremove from his path a dangerous adversary in State politics, he will do so with much force and no little jubilation. Meanwhile neither Attorney General Miller nor Secretary Noble is saying a word. The former feels sure of the prize, while the latter's friends are hoping that he may yet be the lucky one. VIOLATING THE RULES.

Just at This Time. PERCIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. WASHINGTON, October 23.—Civil Service of the Treasury, at a recent meeting of the Ohio Republican Association of Department Clerks here. The commissioners prob-ably would like to prosecute the Colonel, but they naturally hesitate, in view of the recent resurrection of the spoils system, and the disrepute into which civil service reform methods have fallen under the present ad-ministration. What Colonel Grosvenor said was that any employe of the Government who refused or was unwilling to con-tribute money and to lend all possible assistance to the Republican party managers in this campaign ought to be dismissed from office; and to show how little he cared for the commission he repeated his remarks at mother meeting of the Ohio Society held last evening.

Colonel Grosvenor only expresses in plain English the heartfelt sentiments of all the Republican leaders, from President Harri-son down, and the Colonel's theory is the son down, and the precise theory which they have put into practice in managing this campaign. The civil service law is absolutely in contempt. All the State associations of Government clerks are busily and openly engaged in drumming up funds for the managers of the campaign, and the work goes on without the slightest interference from the Civil Service Commissioners or from anybody else connected with the Government. The clerks are expected to pay their assess-ments under threatened penalty of dismissal, just as in the old spoils system times, and to all intents and purposes the civil service law is abrogated, at least until after the

The other letters were sealed. One was addressed to Miss Edwina A. Creighton, Morristown, N. J., the second to Mrs. J. B. Creighton, and the third to Mr. H. H. Brigham, who is a partner in the firm. The police took these letters and the revolver and cartridges away with them. They did not notify Mrs. Creighton or any member of the firm. Mr. Brigham got to the office at 8:30 o'clock. A policeman was on duty. He told Mr. Brigham what had happened. The other member of the firm and clerks came in later and had a consultation, after which they cleared the office. Examination of the revolver showed that every chamber was loaded, and the clean-ness of the barrel indicated that the weapon had not been fired. Seven years ago he married Miss Sarah Tracy, a daughter of John Tracy, of Phila-delphia. They had no children. In 1888 he became a member of the firm of W. P. White & Co. He resigned from the firm a year ago, and organized the firm of J. B. Creighton & Co. The firm did a fair commission business, and was making money. Creighton's business friends hinted that they thought the cause of his despondency was not his losses on the Exchange, but losses that resulted in an unfortunate investment in a concern known as the Kaolin De-posit Company, of Sea Cliff. They said that Creighton had been drawn into the scheme by a promoter of investment schemes, and that he put in $25,000 in cash and notes aggregating $41,000 more. He had discovered that he was liable to lose everything, and for more than a year has been trying to recover the money through the courts. ACCIDENT TO SENATOR BLACKBURN He is Thrown From a Carriage and Suffer
