Pittsburg Phil's Manager Tells of a New Move That Eastern Bookmakers Will Make.

THEY WILL ORGANIZE NEW CLUBS.

The Stallion Nelson Breaks Another Record and S. Does Mr. Hamlin's Team

The Eastern bookmakers will inaugurate a system to-day that will certainly be of great interest to everybody who patronizes sporting events. The system is of great importance, because it will prove whether or not book-making firms can evade the law that prohibits their business. The details of the new move were explained yesterday by Edward Lear, manager of "Pittsburg Phil's" business. Mr. Lear arrived in the city from New York vesterday and will stay During a conhere until to-morrow evening. During a versation with the writer, Mr. Lear said:

"Mr. Smith, whom we all know as Phil, has, along with other bookmakers, been arrested for etting on a race track, and the book-making rms have resolved to adopt a plan which will keep them safe from the effects of the law. WILL ORGANIZE CLUBS.

The plan is to have every book-making firm organized into a club, and to-morrow Mr. Smith's firm will be known as the 'Lochiel Club.' All of our business will be transacted in that name, and I suppose that other firms will act similarly. The object of this more is that if we do business as a club the law officer cannot find out who is the bonatide proprietor. For instance if an efficer comes and accosts me I can swear that I am only an employe of the club, and se can Mr. Smith. Whether or not the plan will be successful we don't know, but we have reod to irvit. One thing is certain, viz., that erm operation.

"All the trouble," continued Mr. Lear, "has cen caused by the selfishness of the New ork pool-room proprietors. They have made ork pool-room proprietors. eds of thousands of dotlars on the races and have steadily refused to contribute one ent toward the expenses of the various tracks, will cite a case: The Dwyers have a track and they guarantee purses of great value for races. To see may be an event for a guaranteed purse for which only one borse starts and the attendance may be miserably small. That one horse, can walk over the course and the purse.

THEY WON'T GIVE UP.

The Dwyers will then be losers, and they say to the pool room proprietors: 'Now, you people have made a fortune out of our races, and you ought in fairness to pay something in return toward the expenses of the track.' To this question, and it has been asked, the pool-room proprietors have emphatically declined to fork proprietors have emphatically declined to fork out a cent. As a result no information regarding the races and their results was allowed to be wired from the tracks. The pool room proprietors to get even have unearthed a very old law in New Jersey, which forbids betting on race tracks, and they have enforced the law. Hence all the trouble. Our new scheme is a novel one, and I think it will work well."

Mr. Lear then went on to say: "at "Pittsburg. ar then went on to say ; "at "Pittsburg is cleared $100,000 this season by his attractdinary nerve and judgment relative to our matters. In his book-making business his orest paid employe receives $12 per day, and lets receive as high as $25 per day. He now has six horses, including a very promising 2-cear-old named Wilroy. The youngster will pear-old named whirey. The youngster will hot rin any until next year, and Mr. Lear says pood judges think he will be another Tournament. Good things are also said about Montague, another of "Phil's" horses. "Phil" has decided to keep Karn and Sluggard going on the winter tracks, and he expects the former to do very well.

Turner's Plain Statement.

George D. Turner, the celebrated starter of sprint races, in reply to a request from Turf. Field and Farm for a written statement con-away from his mark, although F. W. Robinson, who was in the final heat, claims that he and Owen both left their marks together. This statement from Robinson makes it look that those who claim Owen got the best of the pistel by two yards do not know what they are talking about, for no one has said anything about Hobinson beating the pistel by a similar distance. Lou Myers says that he was standing ten yards from the start and the was standing ten yards from the start and that Owen got the best of the pistel by two yards. Now you know as well as I when any man is running when the best of the pistel. If a man beat the pistel is bred—I mean running two yards the best of the pistel. If a man beat the pistel best of the pistel. If a man beat the pistel wo yards he should be about four yards ahead at this point. There is one thing certain, and that is that Owen is the best man to get away that I have seen for years. He left them all standing in the 220 yard run just as he did in the 190 yards. George Goldie says that it start of the latter discovered. nd Owen both left their marks together. This in the 100 yards. CLEVELAND, October 24.-C. J. Emery, of this city, in connection with Tennessee and Kentucky breeders, has inaugurated the largest stake purse ever offered for trotting horses. It will be a guaranteed stake of $50,000, probably Syear-olds, foals of 1890, although the time tion has not been definitely decided. The total payments for each horse will noon. The total payments for each horse will not acceed $350, and the entrance fee will beless than three-fourths of I per cent. The place and date of trotting the race will not be definitely decaded unon for some time. A number of breeders have signified their intention of entering from five to ten horses each as soon as all settlements are made. The stake will be called the American Trotting Horse Breeders' Stake.

PRINCETONS MAY COME. The Prominent Kickers Want to Tackle the Athletic Football Team Here. There is a strong probability of football teams from Princeton and Brooklyn coming to this city to play in the pear future. Yesterday Secretary Dawsen, of the Allegheny Athletic Club, received a letter from the manager of the Princeton preparatory team relative to the latter's coming here to play a match. The Princeton manager went on to say that there are two Pittsburgers in the team, and that the players generally are wishful to play a match against the new team in Pittsburg. The man-players generally are wishful to play a match against the new team in Pittsburg. The manager then goes on to say that his team cannot travel so far under a guarantee of $160. This figure is not considered too high, but the local club cannot deal definitely with the matter until the negotiations, now going on with the Crescents, are over.

Efforts are now being made to secure the famous Crescent team, of Brooklyn, for a match here. That team is made up of il star players, who have all done great things in the university teams in recent years. The team includes such players as Terry, Beecker, Edwardes, and Bull. The Crescents play for a charitable object in Cleveland the Saturday following Thanksgiving Day, and it is hoped that they will be induced to play a match here on the Menday. Mr. John Moorhead is corresponding with Mr. Bull on the matter. It certainly would be a treat to Pittsburgers if the Crescents could be induced to visit the city. If they cannot make it convenient to play here it is certain that a date will at once be fixed with the Princeton team. This all goes to show that football is "on the boom" in Pittsburg.

The managers of the Cleveland team will be in the city to-day to confer with Messrs, Thompson, Moorhend, and Dawsen relative to dates for two matches.

Yesterday afternoon a large number of local players were at Exposition Park hard at work practicing. To-day's game! contemplated with interest and if the weather is fine the contest will probably be a lively one.

Interesting Football Records.

The following table, taken from the Yale News, will be of interest to admirers of football. It compares the scores of last year's team with that of this year up to Wednesday last. It will be seen that the Crescents are the only team that, so far this year, have scored against Yale:

NEW POOL GAME.

A Method Suggested That Will Better Test

the Skill of Experts. NEW YORK, October 24 .- A well-known poor expert, Nat Ward, comes to the front with the claim that he has founded a new game of pool. which he calls the "champion game." Ward thinks that continuous pool, as now played, is not as interesting or scientific as it should be, and he proposes to play it with 21 balls, instead and be proposes to play it with 21 balls, instead of the usual 15. The balls to be numbered from 1 to 21, size of balls to be 25-16 inches in diamster. The balls to be set up in pyramid form, using a larger triangle than at present; rules to govern, the same as in the present game. Ward is of the opinion that the game will prove to be a great success if it only has a fair trial. He claims that the chances for brilliant plays will be increased with the 21 balls, and that the player who now pockets all the balls with but little effort, will find the task a much more difficult one with 6 additional balls on the table. Mr. Ward's idea is not original with him. Continuous pool is so called from the system of pionship race says:

"All I have to say is that the five men in the final heat were standing perfectly steady when the pistol was fired. Owen was the first to get game is continual until all the balls in each game is continual until all the balls in each frame have been pocketed, and the game may consist of any number of balls or points which may be agreed upon. Albert Frey, who, up to te time of his death, two years ago, was regarded as invincible as a pool player, invented the game of continuous pool. His idea was the formation of a game that would be a better test of skill than 8-ball pool, which was the one ex-clusively played at that time, to decide matches clusively played at that time, to decide matches and tournaments.

Frey's original idea was a game with 21, or even 28, balls to play on, and he often spoke of making the experiment with a view to adopting such a game if the change proved successful. He was forced to abandon the idea, however, as the billiard room keepers were opposed to it, on the ground that it would increase their expenses and not swell their receipts in proportion. Frey then gave his attention to the continuous pool game, and, as this game met with the approval of the room keepers, on account of the quickness with which it could be played, it was adopted, and has ever since been popular.

Ward's revival of Frey's project has caused considerable discussion among billiard and pool experts, both amateurs and professionals, and many arguments in favor of and against the proposed change, in which its advantages and disadvantages have been freely discussed, have taken place. The main objection to the change seems to be the cost of the six additional balls. The price of ivory pool balls has very much increased in the past year, and a set of 16 regulation balls, which cost a year ago but $70, cannot now be bought for less than $100, while a set of 21 would cost about $140. This increase in the price of ivory balls is due to the fact that the supply is not equal to the demand, and that ivory is growing scarcer and more difficult to produce every year.

Charles H. Manning, the present champion at continuous pool, is not in favor of the change, and regards it as an impracticable and unnecessary one. Albert Powers, the ex-champion, is on the fence, and says he would have to see the game played before he would venture to give an opinion. Bully Sexton is opposed to Ward's idea, and thinks the game as it is now played is plenty long enough and a sufficient trial of skill. "They had better standy and Ward's revival of Frey's project has caused played is plenty long enough and a sufficient trial of skill. "They had better study and endeavor to perfect the rules," said Sexton, when spoken to on the subject. "They are faulty, defective, and admitting of more than lauty, defective, and admitting of more than one interpretation as they now read. When they have been corrected so that one can understand them it will be time enough to add new ones." Maurice Daly thinks the present game of continuous pool is sufficient as a trial of skill, and that 21-ball pool would not prove a success. J. R. Heiser did not think the idea worthy of consideration.

The prospects of consolidation are extremely hright. It is now definitely known that an informal meeting of the capitalists of the Players' Lengue and the National League was held late last evening in A. G. Spalding's room in the Hoffman House. Those who met were President A. G. Spalding and C. H. Byrne, of the National League, and Messra E. B. Talcott, Albert L. Johnson and F. H. Robinson, of the Players' League. President John B. unable to be present. A. C. Anson was also present.

The Players' League men called on the National Leaguers, so it is said, to apologize for the way the latter had been treated relative to the action of the Brotherhood of Baseball Players in refusing to allow them to keep their agreement as explicitly made with the National League that no player would be allowed on the committee. They said they had acted in perfect good faith and that they were powerless to go ahead and act as they had at first promised, although through no fault of theirs. The National League men recognized the position in which the members of the Players' League committee were placed and saw that they had been perfectly sincere in all their doings.

The entire situation was thoroughly discussed, and the Players' League capitalists fully agreed that something must be done to save the reputation of the game. The National League magnates forcibly reminded the Players' League capitalists that they, the National League people, had been fooled, inasmach as the original agreement of the Conference Com-mittee hadn't been lived up to. It is under-stood that both parties agreed on a plan by which negotiations for a settlement can be re-sumed. Everybody, except a few hotheads, wants a consolidation.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCEL! CONNELLSVILLE, PA., October 24 .- The activity of the coke region Socialists continues to increase. Their meetings are being held with great regularity. On Sunday alternoon there was a large mass meeting held at Trotter, where the speeches of the leaders were most enthusiastically received. There were many spectators present outside of the devout disciples of Herr Most, and the leaders say there were many conversions, On Wednesday evening a similar meeting was held at Broad Ford, with equally flattering results to the speakers.

This movement is of but recent date. Last August, A. Jonas, a prominent Socialist, was here and formed lodges at Scottdale, Pennsville, Everson and Hawkeye, each odge numbering but 20 to 30 members. Since Jonas' advent the local leaders have been justling and have organized 14 new lodges and say they have a total membership of 2,500, while conservative people say their number rather exceeds than falls below that number. rather exceeds than falls below that number. A very enjoyable reception was tendered Rev. Nevin Woodside and family, at their two or three well directed shots. This was all that they hoped to do with the battery. The well continues to burn, however and last night the great flame, a dozen miles to the south of this place, shot up into the sky and made a brilliant light on the streets of Waynesburg.

As this place is suffering somewhat from the scarcity of gas it was rather a tantalizing sight to the many consumers to see the great waste of millions of cubic feet of the coveted fuel. The fire will no doubt cause the temporary shut-down of a number of oil wells which are being drilled in the immediate vicinity of the Worley, as their boilers were heated by gas from that well.

(PREPARED FOR THE DISPATCH.) The storm increased in violence on Thursday night because of the resistance of the high discussed and voted down. A resolution was passed asking the State Legislature to pass more stringent laws regulating the sate of liquors by druggists. The alliance emblem ad pted is a small white looped cord, to be worn on the corsage or shoulder. When the final benediction was bestowed this afternoon, the members of the alliance convention embraced each other, and congratulations were bestowed on the President and other State officials. The national convention of the alliance will meet next month, and Pittsburg will undoubtedly be selected as the place of meeting. pressure over the North Atlantic, which increased the barometric gradient and rotary velocity and at the same time prevented a rapid advance of the center. At 8 A. M. to-day the center was just off the New Jersey coast and passed over New York City about 10 A. M., when the barometer rose slightly and by noon the wind was fluctuating etween north and northwest, becoming steady from the latter quarter in the afternoon. Heavy rain continued to fall in the New England States, with snow in Vermont and light rain in the Middle Atlantic States and the lower lake region. Elsewhere over the SCOTTDALE, October 24.—The Knights of Labor convention adjourned this evening. A scale committee, composed of Messrs. Wise, Barrett, DeHaven, Keegan and Kane, was apcountry the weather was generally fair. It was slightly cooler in all the States west of the Alleghenies with temperatures generally below freezing in the Northwest. The storm is traveling northeast in the ocean steamship path, and will be dangerous to incoming vessels. Dense fog pre-

Yesterday a telegram was received by the girl, a rather unusual thing for Lizzie Salow, and when her mother made an effort to secure it she burned the message. The brother-inlaw, who had recently moved to Meadville, soon followed the telegram in person. At an early hour this morning Lizzie Salow was missing from her sister's side, and the heavy-hearted father and brother reached the depot just in time to frustrate an elopment. Bluim was arrested and locked up, but the foolising rilescaped from the depot, and, after making circuitous tour, reached the bay and ended the chapter with a tragedy. Before her deaf body was found, Bluhm had succeed in getting a release upon promises. The feeling is so intense against him that he has flown, for it is as yet not clearly demonstrated that the girl destroyed herself without his presence. -T. W. "IF WE ONLY HAD CHILDREN!" But few words are needed to tell this tale. Two apparently perfect beings are brought together for life. They are surrounded with all that wealth can purchase. Every blessing has been showered upon them, save one, and cheerfully would they relinquish all for that blessing -

Sterility is often the result of carelessness, or, to put it stronger ignorance. Nine out of ten cases are curable, if treated understandingly. The action of the Vegetable Compound in this direction has been phenomenal, and many a home, once desolate, has now "a baby."
