PETECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 PHILADELPHIA, October 27 .- Charles H. Heustis, editor of the Inquirir, appeared before Magistrate O'Brien at 3 o'clock this afternoon to answer a charge of criminal libel preferred by ex-Governor Robert E. Pattison. Mr. Heustis was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Mr. Pattison this morning, and at the same time warrants were also issued for the arrest of James Elverson, President of the Inquirer Company; Clayten McMichael, editor and proprietor of the North American, and W. F. Jordan and J. J. McLaurin, editors and publishers of the Harrisburg Call, who were charged by the ex-Governor with the same

The charge of libel is based upon the simultaneous publication in the papers in oness on on Saturday, October 25, purportby Mr. Pattison when he was Governor of the State of measures which had passed the Legislature, known as the South Penn Railroad hills-tour in number.

The Charges Against Pattison. In the three papers mentioned there was published on Saturday morning an article which charged that Governor Pattison had been bribed by the Vanderbilts to sign what were known as the South Penn bills of 1883, and that the Governor sought out and retained ex-Judge Jeremiah S. Black to write a veto message, and having received it, with the understanding that it was to be sent to the Legislature, he changed his mind by the next morning, and without notice to Judge Black, approved the bills, and that Judge Brack denounced Governor Pattison for his alleged deception and severed all amicable relations with him. The article also charged that $30,000 in stock had been paid to Governor Pattison and Attorney General Lewis J. Cassidy for the signing of a bill chartering a Pittsburg natural gas

When the hearing began the little office in which Magistrate O'Brien holds court, at Fifteenth and Ridge avenue, was filled. Lawyers Shakespeare and Heverin were on hand to look after the interests of Messers, Houstis and Elverson, while Mayor Sulzberger, assisted by Richard P. White, conducted the case for Mr. Pattison. The only other prominent men present were ex-Secretary of the Commonwealth William S. Stenger and Judge James Gay Gordon. In introducing the case Mr. Sulzberger read several extracts from the article complained of as published in the Inquirer and offered a copy of the paper of Saturday last in evi-

to help you come to a decision regarding the South Penn bills?" "I never did. He came to me to offer objections to their passage just as any other citizen might do." When questioned as to the date of Judge Black's visit Mr. Pattison said: "It was the first part of the last week of May, 1883, I think on Monday." Counsel then asked: "What was his posi

"I was in favor of them from the first and so stated to Judge Black, I was in favor of them the same as I would be in favor of any half-dozen other lines which by offering competition would benefit the citizens of Ex-Secretary of State Stenger was next called and stated that he was always in favor of the passage of the bills, as the South Penn Railroad would be a benefit to the Southern tier of counties in which he lived. He said that he had no knowledge of any invitation to Judge Black from Governo Pattison for a conference on the measure He was present at the argumen; on the las day, Thursday, and saw the paper which Judge Black had prepared. I trust that I may not be considered an alarmist, and I do not wish to be understood as considering the present state of excitement so alarming as to apprehend any immediate upising or serious outbreak, but I do feel it my duty to report the present craze and nature of the excitement existing among the "Sitting Bull" factions of Indians over the expected "Indian millennium," the annihilation of the white man and supremacy of the Indiaus, which is looked for not later than next spring. They are promised by some members of the Sloux tribe, who have lately developed into medicine men," that the Great Spirit has promised them that their punishment by the dominant race has been sufficient, and that their numbers having now become so deci-mated will be re-inforced by all Indians who the last time I saw him, but I received a are dead.

Further, they say the dead are all returning to re-inhabit this earth which belongs to the Indians; that they are driving back with them as they return immense berds of buffalo and as they return immense herds of bullalo and elegant wild horses to have for the catching; that the Great Spirit promises them that the white mon will be unable to make gun powder in future: that he will cover the earth with 50 feet of additional soil, well sodded and timbered, under which the whites will all be smothered.

bered, under which the whites will all be smothered
"Sitting Bull" is the high priest of this latest Indian absurdity; in a word, he is the chief mischief maker at this agency, and if he were not here this craze so general among the Sioux would never have secured a foothold at this agency. He has been a disturbing element here since his return from confinement as a military prisoner in the spring of 1883, but has been growing gradually worse the past year, which is partly to be accounted for by the presence of a lady named Mrs. C. Weldon, from Erocklyu, who came here in June, 1889, announcing herself as a member of Dr. Bland's society, the Indian Defense Association, and opposed to the Indians ratifying the act of March 2, 1889.

MINEY FOR SITTING BULL. While here she bestowed numerous presents upon Sitting Bull, considerable being money, which had a demoralizing effect upon him, in-flating him with his importance.

The woman is now located on the north bank of Cannon Ball river, just outside of this reservation, and about 25 miles north of the agency. Sitting Bull has been a frequent visitor to her house, and he has grown more insolent and worthless with every visit he has made there, her lavish expenditure of money and other gifts upon him enabling him to give frequent feasts and hold councils. feasts and hold councils.

On the 9th instant, upon an invitation from Sitting Bull an Indian named Kicking Bear, belonging to the Cheyenne River Agency, the chief medicine man of the ghost dance among the Sioux, arrived at Sitting Bull's camp, on

Upon learning of his arrival there I sent a detachment of 13 policemen but they returned without executing the order, both officers being in a "dazed" condition and fearing the powers of Kicking Bear's medicine. Sitting Bull was very insolent to the officers, and made the threats against certain members of force, but said that the visitors would leave the tollowing day. INDIAN INSOLENCE. On the lith I sent the Lieutenant and one man back to see whether the party had left, and to notify Sitting Bull that his insolence and that the great dance must not be continued.

The Lieutenant returned yesterday, and reported that the party had not started back to Cheyenne before his arrival there on the morning of the 15th, but left immediately upon his ordering them to do so, and that Sitting Bull told him that he was determined to continue the "Ghost Dance," as the Great Spirit had sent a direct message by Kicking Bear that to live they must do so, but that he would not have any more dancing uptil after he had come to the agency and talked the matter over with me, but the news comes in this morning that me, but the news comes in this morning that me, but the news comes in this morning that they are dancing again.

Desiring to exhaust all reasonable means before resorting to extremes I have sent a message to Sitting Ball by his nephew One Bull that I want to bee him at the agency and I feel quite confident that I shall succeed in allaying the present excitement and put a stop to this absurd craze for the present, at least.

The Husaboe Breach of Promise Suit Argued Again.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] SCRANTON, October 27 .- The breach of promise suit brought by Miss Annie H. Husaboe against the Rev. Peter Roberts had another airing in court this morning in the shape of an argument for a new trial. Counsel for the recreant minister, Mr. Edwards, argued that the action of Mr. Pitcher, counsel for the plaintiff, in taking the stand and revealing the confession which the minister made to him was unpro-fessional and should not have been permitted. Mr. Pitcher swore that the min-ister confessed to him the promise of marriage. This, with the clergyman's damaging letters, led to his conviction.

Counsel for Mr. Roberts also alleged that Miss Husaboe had once brought a suit against a man in Wisconsin for a similar case in all respects. Mr. Colborn, counsel for Miss Husaboe, challenged the proof of this last statement, and hinted that had Miss Husaboe so desired she could have produced evidence which would have produced evidence which would have blasted the reputations of others who were students of Yale.

IMPORTANT EVENTS ACROSS THE OCEAN

IBY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY.1 LONDON, October 27 .- Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Stanley started at noon to-day for Liverpool, on their way to America. A large party of friends accompanied them to Euston station in order to bid farewell to the couple, and a crowd also assembled and cheered the illustrious traveler and his wife as they entered the station. The Globe, one of the leading afternoon papers, in referring to the recently issued ography of Major Barttelot, says: The book is not only the vindication of a rave soldier and gentleman who died at the post of duty but it is also a formal indictment efore the court of public opinion of another Englishman whom Englishmen hold in honronor, which, if the indictment is well founded, must be gravely tarnished and impaired. The question is how far Stanley is answerable for the fate of his second in command, and whether or not he endeavored to blacken his Lieutenant's reputation to save his own. Stanley, according to Barttelot's biographer, left stores at Yambuya under Barttelot in order to divert the Arab plunderers from impeding his own advances and deluded Barttelot into the belief that he expected Tippoo Tib to assist in forwarding them. He left instructions he knew to be impracticable and virtually abandoned his rear-guard, either from indifference or intention. Stanley's written instructions stand to prove that Barttelot was not to sur without all the stores, otherwise he would ruin the whole expedition. Barttelot obeyed under a strong sense of duty. He was on rear guard duty against his will; for 13 months he was left to rot in Yambuya, a martyr, beyond question, to duty and discipline. SECRETARY NOBLE SAYS NO.

He Cannot Grant New York a Rec Her Population. WASHINGTON, October 27 .- Secretary of the Interior Noble to-day rendered a decision denying the application of Mayor Grant for a renumeration of the population of the city of New York. In his decision the Secretary says: It thus appears that the Mayor bases his application on the fact, as he alleges, that the municipal census shows many more inhabita to have been in New York in October than the United States census shows to have been there in June, that the Secretary finds the municipal census was not taken under any supervision by the Census Bureau, or anyone representing it, and no such information has been sent the bureau or department as enables it to deter-mine that the United States census was faulty and should be retaken; that a faulty United States census must be shown by proof that the States census must be shown by proof that the excess now claimed were inhabitants of the city in June and not then enumerated; that the National census has been so well taken that the body of the people are content with it, and that it should not be abandoned. No such reasons are here shown to exist, and the appli cation is not allowed.

ucation, and says: "I am in favor of com-pelling every Indian child of suitable age and health, for whom accommodations are provided, to attend school ten months out of 12. A general law, however, could not now be applied for the simple reason that school accommodations are provided for less than half the children of school age."

Italian lodging house on High street, this city, and left for Steubenville yesterday morning, taking with him Gallo, for whom he had promised to find employment. The men reached Steubenville about noon and finally crossed the river. They strolled together to a comparatively unfrequented spot, and there, without any quarrel between the men, Caruze pulled his revolver and fired two shots at Gallo. Both builets took effect in Gallo's body, one penetrating the left Warre county on whom the notice of aplung. Physicians say that he cannot repeal was served in open court immediately ing, started for Wheeling Junction. He made no attempt to rob his victim, who had considerable money on his person, and it is largely due to this fact that the shooting is believed to be either an assassination or-dered by the Mana, or the outcome of an vendetta imported from Italy. Caruze took a train on the Panhandle Railroad, saying he was going to Lock Haven.

The Steubenville authorities notified Inspector McAleese to look out for Caruze, but up to a late hour last night no trace had been found of him, although the police were working diligently. Caruze has a white cast in one eye and is well known to the police here, having been in trouble he-RUDYARD KIPLING has written a fasci

APIA, SAMOA, October 7 .- Although nearly half of the term of three years for which the treaty was arranged between the United States, Germany and England has expired, the Chief Justice, for whose appointment provisions were made in the the delay of the great powers in attending to Samoan affairs.

There is a chance of the whole Samoan question being reopened on the expiration of the treaty. In fact, the Germans resident here openly boast that this will be done. SEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 TROY, October 27 .- "Cal" Wood was comvicted in Caldwell, Warren county, last month, of murder in the first degree for the killing of his tather-in-law, Leander Pasco, and Judge Fish sentenced him to be executed in the State prison at Dannemora during the week commencing November 3. Judge Whiteman, counsel for the prisoner, served notice for appeal. This should have acted as a stay of sentence, but the Warren county authorities seem to have disregarded the notice of appeal, for Wood was taken to the prison at Dannemora. Judge Whitman began an investigation and learned that no notice of the appeal had been taken. Then he wrote to Warden Fuller, of Dannemora prison, advising him of what had been done. On his arrival in Troy to-day from his home in Sandy Hill Judge Whitman was surprised to find in his mail a letter, of which the following is a
