The Reform Club's Lively Parade a Political Event.

The Reform Association, of the First ward, paraded through the central thoroughfares of the city last night, with an accompaniment of red-fire and rockets. About 300 were in line, the procession being closed by several carriages. Every man carried in one hand a large broom, symbolic of political purity; and in the other a rocket-stick, from which were hurled globule after globule of flery green and red. A tremendous crowd thronged Fifth avenue to see the parade pass, and the approach of the Reform Club was greeted with loud and prolonged outbursts of greeted with loud and prolonged outbursts of cheering.

In a second-floor window on Fifth avenue sat W. A. Magee, radiant with victory. As the procession passed a special salute of fireworks was given in his honor, and the Cathedral Band, engaged for the occasion, halted and played a lively serenade. Mr. Magee threw his hat into the air and joined lustily in the cheering, while the many colored rockets crashed against the windows around him on every side. The parade then continued its triumphal march down Fifth avenue toward the First ward.

DEMOCRATS DISAGREE.

Great Crowds Witness an Ugly Row Between

Pattison Supporters.

An unfortunate dispute disturbed the current of Pattisonian rejoicing last evening. About 7:30 a jubilant band of Democrats was standing outside the County Democracy beadquarters on Smithfield street. Among those present were W. J. Brennen, Dr. Wiley and the Jiles brothers. An argument regardng the elections had arisen, when Mr. William D. McAuliffe joined the party. Mr. McAuliffe disagreed upon some question with Mr. John Jiles, who had accused him of "selling out to Quay." agreed upon some question with Mr. John Jiles, who had accused him of "selling out to Quay."
The weil-known labor leader retorted that he had always been for Quay and Delamater. Hot words followed, resulting in a fight between Jehn Jiles and McAuliffe. After a tussic the latter fied, declaring that he would not be caught fighting on the streets. Both John and William Jiles followed, and for some minutes there was an exciting chase up and down Smithfield street. A crowd gathered, as crowds will on such occasions; and as a report had spread that Mr. McAuliffe was an escaped pickpocket, everybody joined in the pursuit. Mr. Jiles fell three times in the race, scattering his watch and other valuables over the pavement. Finally Mr. McAuliffe sought sanctuary on the steps of City Hall, But even here the Jiles brothers followed, and as the crowd had closed round the combatants, a fight was imminent, had not Inspector Mc-Alcese, Assistant Superintendent Roger OMara, Detective Denmel, and a number of policemen precipitated themselves into the mob and seized both John and William Jiles, and the object of their wrath, Mr. W. D. McAuliffe. All three gentlemen were conveyed to Central station, an immense crowd following; and behind prison hars they were allowed to ruminate until the mystic hour of midnight, when they were again liberated. W. J. Brennen and Dr. Wiley tried to bail out their friends, but without avail.

TELLING THE STORY. Figures Which Show the Way Allegheny County Voted.

DELAMATER'S SMALL MAJORITY.

Candidate Stewart Gets Close to the Usual Republican Vote. DALZELL WINS A VERY EAST VICTORY

The official figures of Allegheny county, returned to the Prothonotary, are given below. The totals give Mr. Delamater 33,530, while Mr. Pattison received 32,258 votes. These figures give Delamater a majority in the county of 1,272, which may be swelled somewhat by the returns from those districts not yet in. The peculiar feature of both State tickets was that those candidates furthest from the head came very near to receiving the usual party vote, showing that cutting and stickers were playing an important part in the Gubernatorial contest. Mr. Dalzell had an easy victory over Mr.

Brennen in the Twenty-second Congressional district, and despite some talk of re-have suffered to any extent. Mr. dates f

J. M. Guffy, the oil man, and Democrat, said: "This election to me means several things. First, a clean Executive for the next four years and the retirement of Grover Cleveland. ISO2 Pennsylvania is as great a State as New York, and why shouldn't we have a President? Another thing I notice. Outside of Pennsylvania, where the tariff will always carry an election, but I understand the situation thoroughly this time, the McKinley tariff bill has proved a Jonah and the rock of destruction for the Republicans. The party has met with defeat everywhere, and the next House is Democratic. It simply means that the people at large have repudiated the Republican high tariff ideas. All the Congressional fights have been made on this basis, and the Democrats have won.

QUAY A SHREWD MAN. Timothy J. O'Leary, Jr., said: "Senator Quay he has met his Waterloo. The plank in the Republican platform indorsing Quay has wrecked the party. Like Napoleon, the people wrecked the party. Like Napoleon, the people have sent him to the Island of St. Helena, and in my opinion he will stay there. Mr. Magee has greatly strengthened his position, and is the commig Republican leader."

Pat Foley said: "Magee is at the top of the heap, of course, and Quay has received a black eye from which he may not recover. It will be a nip and tuck fight. I don't believe that Mr. Magee asked a man to vote against Delamater, but through his paper his friends knew how he stood. If Magee had not laid down in this fight. "But I look at the result also from another standpoint. If you will notice, Allegheny and Philadelphia counties, the great manufacturing and moneyed centers of the State, have given Delamater a majority of 24,000 votes. It was the rural counties that elected Pattison, and I take this as a vindication of Grover Cleveland's tariff-reform doctrine. Pattison will make a strong Governor. He was a mere boy when he was Governor before, but he returns to power with the experience of one term and the weight of years added."

As Mr. Scull was only nominated three days before the election, Mr. Hicks' break could not be renaired in so short a time, though he went to work manfully to do it.

Concerning the effects of the election, Mr. Scull said: "Quay will certainly have an up-hill fight from this time out, and I think he will organize hir forces to make the battle for prestige in this city. PROMINENT POLITICIANS DISCUSS THE RESULT FREELY. Congressman Bayne Thinks There Will be a Reaction-Ex-Judge Kirkpatrick Predicts Pattison for 1892-Glorious Old Tom Marshall Tells How It Was Done.

EXCEPTING TO COOPER'S CLAIMS. "Tom Cooper knows better than that. He knows that Delamater never had 10,000 in Philadelphia, but they stole 10,000 votes, and counted him in for 20,000. They thought 10,000 would put Delamater in, or they would have stolen more. Quay's estimate of 30,000 was made for the purpose of giving them a chance to count him in. But the constant dripping here and there all over the State was too much for them. They expected a big rush from some one locality, and thought they could overcome it by a gobble of 10,000 votes in Philadelphia. The Republican party has been taught a lesson now that will leave a lasting impression on them. They may be a little more careful in the future."

Ex-Judge Kirkpatrick was little short of desperate over the result. "It's a perfect outrage," said he, "Let me show you what the people who thought they were Independent Republicans (very sarcastically) have done. They have made Pennsylvania the skirmish line for 1892 and strengthened the chances for Democratic success in the next Presidental campaign. A Democrat who is allowed through sheer nonsense to carry a State like Pennsylvania twice for Governor ounted him in for 20,000. They thought 10,000 to see the error of his way, and there are a good many men in Pennsylvania right Low who are destined to look upon that error and all the horrors that are to result from it, and for which they are responsible. Mr. Magee had better go to some other than the Republican party for his favors in the future."

Rev. E. R. Donehoo was asked to contribute an expression on the general result. He does not make politics a special study, but he has an opinion of his own with reference to bossism and it was upon this that he talked. "I believe every party must have a leader and Mr. Ones and it was upon this that he talked. "I believ every party must have a leader, and Mr. Qua made an excellent leader in 1888, but I do no made an excellent leader in 1888, but I do not believe in any one man usurping the powers of his party and dictating to such Republicans as we have in Pennsylvania who they shall elect as Governor. I take the result as a zimple rebuke to that one act of Mr. Quay's, that of saving he wanted to experience how it telt to 'own a Governor.' I think this is but the beginning, however, of a terrible struggle in Allegheny county, and especially in Pittsburg, for political supremacy. Quay has already gained a foothold. Mr. Magee will lose some for his action in the present fight. These, of course, will go to Quay, and although he has lost this time the next fight will be all the more intense. The Foley-O'Leary fight will be as a farce when compared to what is in store for the Republicans."

And there is another thing: Some people are going to learn that there is a judgment day before death, and it will take all the money they got from New York and elsewhere to hold their own. I cannot swallow the theory of sacrificing success to settle a party dispute. Within the party lines, should be adjusted all differences. I am not prepared to say what will be the effect of this election in the city. It will take time to decide that."

Fred W. Kiefer, the insurance agent, said:

"A great dissatisfaction was the cause of the whole thing, and I do not believe that there will be any great injury to the Republican party through the result."

Ex-Master Workman I. N. Ross, of D. A. 3. K. of L., said; "I think the Republicans did very well this time under the circumstances, and the result clearly shows that were Mr. Magne to ever run for an office in Pennsylvania he would not get the support of Allegheny

BLUE IN ALLEGHENY.

REPUBLICANS WHO WOKE UP MUCH DIS-

APPOINTED. The Result of Pattison's Election as Viewed by Business Men and Politicians-Different Meanings Put Upon It by Various Persons. The Republicans of Allegheny City were rather blue yesterday. Most of them went to bed Tuesday night with the full satisfaction that Delamater had carried the State. Some who remained in Pittsburg until the wee hours of the morning were better posted, but they were in a very small minority. Midnight returns had made the greater portion of the people from across the river glad, and they went home feeling happy. The morning papers put a new phase on the situation. Then self-satisfaction turned into discontent, and there were but few who took with good grace the question, "What do you think of the elec-Naturally enough the Democrats were well pleased, despite that most of them recognize the fact that with a little hard work and good the fact that with a little hard work and good management they could easily have carried the city for Pattison. They all thought that the defeat of Delamater would intensify the fight in the county between Quay and Magee, and that as a consequence they would have an opportunity at the next election to secure some nice flums for their own party.

"Why it's a landslide," remarked a well-known Republican. "We have not only been defeated in this State, but the result in other sections of the country is astounding. Probably beyond our loss of this State the thing that hurts us most is the defeat of Major McKinley. Still there is no use being discouraged. The Republicans of Pennsylvania have been taught a lesson that I hope will do them some good."

PAYING ELECTION BETS. Bets were being freely paid yesterday, but there were many who refused to "ante up" until the official returns were made. One of the most unique bets was that between Perry Glein, Democrat, and Joseph Blattner, Republican, on the State ticket. It had been agreed that the man who lost should ring a bell in front of the place of business of both the day after election. Biattner, of course, lost, and he started in yesterday morning to fulfill the bet in front of Glein's place. He soon attracted a crowd, but he kept up the ringing for about 10 minutes and then gave it up in dis-There were but few business men in Alle-There were but few business men in Allegheny who were willing to be quoted as to what they thought of the result of the election. Most of them thought that silence was the best policy. What some business men and men who are in politics say, is given below:

Common Councilman Frank Curry, of the Third ward—I was never more surprised in my life. I went to bed Tuesday night feeling that Delamater would be the next Governor of Pennsylvania. I suppose that the people are tired of Quay's methods. Of course Magee is responsible for it. I am afraid that the result will have the effect of widening the breach between the two factions in Allegheny City. The fight will continue with more butterness than ever and to the manifest advantage of the Democrats.

J. P. Leonard, reuern saves green, sult pleases me.
R. H. Boggs, of Boggs & Bubl—The result has completely surprised me. I was sure of Delamater's election when I went to bed. What the effect will be in the county I do not know. The longer a party is in power the more corrupt it will become, It looks to me as if the defeat of Delamater will have the effect of bealing the breach in the ranks of the party in Allegheny county.

Roland T. White, Clerk of Select Council— It is too bad, but it seems to me that the action of Magee will widen the breach in the Republic of Magee will widen the breach in the Republican party in this county. It is bound to be a more bitter fight than ever. Quay is still a power in State and National politics.

Postmaster Gilleland was not satisfied with the result, and thought that it would take the official count to decide. He was proud of what Allegheny City had done, but did not feel disposed at present to discuss the effects of the

A well-known business man on Federal street, A well-known business man on Federal street, below Diamoud, and one who has always voted the Republican ticket, said that Pattison's election suited him. He considered it a rebuke for Quay and his methods. It showed that the people were tired of the domination of the junior Senator, and that they proposed to put a stop to it. That it would end Quay's power in the State. The result was a pointer for 1892, and the Republican managers in Pennsylvania should take warning.

DALZELL'S BIG VICTORY. The Little Congressman is Returned by a Handsome Majority. John Dalzell is returned to Congress from the Twenty-second district with a majority over W. J. Brennen of 6,884 with several boroughs to hear from. His previous majority was over 9,000 and he may reach that figure this time. In the city proper he defeated Brennen by 5,272; on the Southside by 684 and in the country dison the Southside by 684 and in the country dis-tricts by 928.

In Brennen's old ward, the Twenty-fifth, on the Southside, Dalzell had a majority of 170, while in his present home, the Fourteenth, where the great fight was made on Senator Quay, the Democratic candidate was defeated by 806 votes.

In the last Senatorial election Mr. Rutan carried this district by but 2,382 votes, and in the Presidental year Mr. Harrison had 5,282, with a much larger vote out.

R. R. CARNAHAN'S SUCCESSOR.

The Nineteenth Ward Sends a Representa tive to Common Council.

A rather tame contest came off on Tuesday, in the Nineteenth ward, for the successor o the late R. B. Carnahan, E.q., in Common Council. There were three candidates, Messrs. George Williams, William Murback and George McWilliams, Mr. Williams was elected by a majority of about 300. Murback was second and McWilliams last. The successful candidate is a stock dealer in East Liberty.

The Cold Water Vote. The Prohibition vote was exceedingly light, owing to the interest which centered in the race between Pattison and Delamater. Mr. Gill, who allowed his name to be used as the candidate for Governor, was distanced long be-fore the quarter mile was passed, and none of the candidates received anything like encour-aging support. The great bulk of the Prohibi-tion vote was cast for Pattison.

Quiet on the Southside.

The result of the election did not stir up any

Ex-Congressman Oscar L. Jackson, of New Castle, was in the city for a short time last evening. Mr. Jackson said: "Undoubtedly the present State management will have to take a back seat. As soon as he heard of the result he telegraphed to the ex-Senator that he was vindicated and his judgment had proved correct. master McKean said as he walked from the depot: "As far as I am concerned I feel I have done my duty by the party. That we should have been defeated is due to causes not easily understood; the issues have been fair and square, and the people, no doubt, know what is best for them."

"The tale has been told," said Marshal Harragh, "and the people who have brought about the result by their votes are to be credited with knowing what they wanted." JARRETT RETURNS TO ENGLAND. John Jarrett shook the dust of Pittsburg off his feet for the last time, when he boarded his train last evening. He was on his way to train last evening. He was on his way to Washington, thence to New York to take passage by the Etruria for England on Saturday.

"The result of the elections has been a surprise to me," he said. "I knew we should have a tough fight, but did not think we should come out as we did. I am more sorry for McKinley's defeat than for anything else. I fear the effect on the country for the election of '92, and I may say that I have abandoned all intention of embarking in business in this country, and will feather my nest as best I can while I have the opportunity."

James B. Scott was also a passenger on the fast line. Mr. Scott thinks that one of the effects of the elections will be in delaying the investment of capital in enterprises, given some assurance of protection under the tariff act. He thinks that the loss to the country in this direction will be large, and that the Welshmen who had contemplated embarking in the making of timplate in this country, will be encouraged to remain as at present in the chance of sending plates in here free of duty.

Christopher Megee, Jr., and George Von Bonnhorst were at the Eastern express seeing some friends away.

FLINN'S NICE MAJORITY.

He Carries the Forty-Fourth Senatorial District With Ease. William Flinn demonstrated that he could manage a whole campaign for the State of Allegheny and be elected to a seat in the Sen-ate at the same time. He didn't have much ate at the same time. He didn't have much trouble carrying the Forty-fourth district with James A. Clark, Democrat, in the field against him. In the city wards that are included in the district Flinn led Clark by a vote of 3,677 to 1,511, giving him a majority of 2,166.

The returns are incomplete from the townships, none at all having been received from Mifflin, but Senator Flinn will have at least 4,000 of a majority in the district. Probably the largest percentage in the State was given to Mr. Flinn in the township of Elizabeth, where the vote was 198 to 1 in his favor.

The only township carried by Mr. Foster was Reserve, while in West Deer he only received 38 votes, against Stone's 181. Stone's majority in the district will probably be 7,000,
