Dr. Talmage's Seventh Sermon in His Palestine Tour Series.

ALIEN CAPITAL IN HOME BREWERIES

BROOKLYN November 9 .- To-day Dr. Talmage preached the seventh of his course of sermons on his recent tour in Palestine. During the six meetings thus far held in New York, 90,000 people have endeavored to to hear Dr. Talmage preach. Of these 35,000 have been admitted and 55,000 have been turned away for lack of accommodation. Following are extracts of the sermon from the text: "So I lifted up mine eyes the way toward the Norta." (Ezekiel 8.5.)

At 1 o'clock on a December afternoon.

At 1 o'clock on a December afternoon, through Damascus gate we were passing out of Jerusalem for a journey northward. In traveling along the roads of Palestine I am impressed as I could not have otherwise been, with the fact that Christ for the most part went afoot, We find him occasionally on a boat, and once riding in a triumphal procession, as it is some-times called, although it seems to me that the ssannas of the crowd could not have made a ide on a stubborn, unimpressive and funny reature like that which pattered with Him into Jerusalem very much of a triumph. But we are made to understand that generally He walked. How much that means only those walked. How much that means only those know who have gone over the distance traversed by Christ. We are accustomed to read that Bethany is two miles from Jerusalon. Well, any man in ordinary health can walk two miles without fatigue. But not more than one man out of a thousand can walk from Bethany to Jerusalem without exhaustion. It is over the Mount of Olives, and you must climb up among the rolling stones, and descend where exertion is necessary to keep you from falling prostrate. Yet Christ walked it twice a day.

During the light, the ruffians of the neighborhood conputed together, and surrounded the house and elt the woman dead on the doorstep, and the musband, to rally in revenge the 12 tribes, cut be corpse of the woman into 12 parts and sent twelfith of it to each tribe, and the fury of the auton was aroused and a peremptory demand ation was aroused and a peremptory demand as made for the surrender of the assassins, out the demand refused, in one day 20,000 peo-e were left dead on the field, and the next ay 18,000. Wherever our horse to-day plants is foot in those ancient times a corpse lay, and the roads were crossed by red rivulets of troate.

EIZPAR'S CHILDREN.

Now we pass on where seven youths were put to death and their bodies gibbeted or hung in chains, not for anything they had themselves done, but as a reparation for what their father and grandfather, Saul, had done. Burial was senied these youths from May until November. inpul, the mother of two of these dead boys, points herself as sentinel to guard the seven tiznah rises, her long bair flying in the wind, and, swinging her arms wildly about, shoes away the bird of prey until it retreats to its eyrie. At night she rests under the shadow of is. At night she rests under the shadow of tent and sometimes falls into a drowsiness half sleep. But the step of a jackal among dry leaves or the panting of a hyena arouses and with the fury of a maniac, she rushes upon the rock crying, "Away! Away!" and sexamining the gibbets to see that they keep their burden, returns again to her till some swooping wing from the midhisky or some growling monster on the k again wakes her.

WATCHING MOTHERS.

Right here in these three cities by the American sea coast, there are a thousand cases this moment worse than that. Mothers watching boys that the rum saloon, that annex of hell, has ginbeted in living death. Boys hung in chains of evil habit they cannot break. The father may go to sleep after waiting until 12 o'clock at night for the ruined boy to come home. But mother will not go to bed. It is 230 when he comes staggering through the hall. Bo you say that young man is yet alive? No; he is dead. Dead to his father's entreaties, bead to his mother's prayers. Dead to the family altar where he was reared. Dead to all the noble ambitions that once inspired him. Twice dead. Only a corpse of what he once the noble ambitions that once inspired him. Twice dead. Only a corpse of what he once was. His father is asleep, his brothers are asleen, his father is asleep, his brothers are asleen, his sisters are asleen, but his mother is watching him, watching him in the night.

And what are the political parties of this country doing for such cases? They are taking care not to hurt the feelings of the jackals and the buzzards that roost on the shelves of the grigshops and hoot above the dead. I am often asked to what political party I belong, and I now declare my opinion of the political parties to-day. Each once is worse than the other, and the only consolation in regard to them as that they have putrefied until they have no more power to rot. Oh, that comparatively them is that they have putrefied until they have no more power to rot. Oh, that comparatively tame scene upon which Rizpah looked! She looked upon only seven of the slain. American motherhood and American wifehood this moment are looking upon 70 of the slain, upon 700 of the slain, upon 70,000 of the slain.

AMERICAN BREWERIES. My only consolation on this subject is that foreign capitalists are buying up the American breweries. The present owners see that the doom of that business is coming as surely as that God is not dead. They are unloading upon foreign capitalists, and when we can get these broweries into the hands of people living on the other side of the sea our political parties will cease to be alraid of the liquor traffic, and at their conventions nominating Presidental candidates will put in their platform a plank as big as the biggest plank of the biggest ocean steamer saying: "Besolved, unanimously, that we always have been and always will be oposed to alcoholism."
But I must spur on our Arab steed, and here

But I must spur on our Arab steed, and here we come in sight of Beeroth, said to be the place where Joseph and Mary missed the boy Jesus on the way from Jerusalem to Nazareth. I bear down on you to-day with a mighty comfort. Mary and Joseph said: "Where is our Jesus?" and you say, "Where is John? or where is Henry? or where it George?" Well, I should not wonder if you found him after awhile. Whore? in the same place where Joseph and Mary found their boy—in the temple. What do I mean by that? I mean: you do your duty toward God and toward your child and you will find him after awhile in the kingdom of Christ. Will you say: "I do not have any way of influencing my child." I answer you have the most temmendous line of influence open right before you. As you write a letter, and there are two or three routes by which it may go, but you want it to go the quickest route, put on your want it to go the quickest route, put on your wishes about your child, "via the throne of God." How long will such a rood wish take to get to its destination? Not quite as long as the millionth part of a second. I will prove it. The promise is, "Before they call, I will answer." That means at your first motion toward such prayerful exercise the blessing will come, and if the prayer be made at 10 o'clock at night it will be answered five minutes before 10. ntit to go the quickest route, put on vo

But we must harry on, for the muleteers, and baggage men have been ordered to pitch our tents for to-night at Bethel. It is already getting so dark that we have to give up all idea of guiding the horses, and leave them to their own sagacity. We ride down amid mud cabins and into ravines where the horses leap from depth to depth, rocks below rocks, rocks under rocks. Whos! Whos! we dismount in this place, memorable for many things in Bible history, the two more prominent a theological seminary, where of old they made ministers, and for Jacob's dream. The students of this Bethel Theological Seminary were called "Sons of the Prophets."

TWICE-NOTED BETHEL.

I thank God that from these theological semnaries there is now coming forth a magnificent erop of young ministers who are taking the pulpits in all parts of the land. Many of our pul pits are dying of humdrum. People do not go church because they cannot endure the technicalities, and profound explanations of

But most distinguished was Bethel for that famous dream which Jacob had, his head on a collection of stones. He had no trouble in this rocky region in finding a rocky pillow. There is hardly anything else but stone. Yet the people of those lands have a way of drawing their outer garment up over their head and face, and such a pillow I suppose Jacob had under his head.

Well, that night God built in Jacob's dream a long, splendid ladder, the feet of it on either side of the tired pilgrim's pillow, and the top of it mortised in the sky. And bright immortals came out from the castles of amber and gold and put their shining feet on the shining rungs of the ladder, and kept coming down and going up, a procession both ways.

MEMORABLE DREAMS.

I suppose they had wings, for the Bible almost always reports them as having wings, but this was a ladder on which they used hands and feet to encourage all those of us, who have no this was a ladder on which they used hands and feet to Jerusalem without exhaustion. It is over the Mount of Olives, and you must climb up among the rolling stones, and descend where exertion is necessary to keep you from falling prostrate. Yet Christ walked it twice a day.

JESUS WALKS.

Likewise it seemed a small thing that Christ walked from Jerusalem to Nazareth. Butti will take us four days of hard horseback riding to do it this week. The way is mountainous in the extreme. So, all up and down and across and recrossing Palestine, Jesus walked. We rose down through the valley and then up on Mount Scopus, and, as our dragoman tells us that this is the last opportunity we shall have to looking at Jerusalem, we turn our horse's bead toward the city and take a long, sad and thrifting look at the religions capital of our planet. This is the most impressive view of the first sight of the city threw themselves on their faces in worship. Here most of the besieged armies encamped the night before opening their volleys of death against Jerusalem.

CLIMBING LIFE'S LADDER. Nearly all those who are to-day great in mer chandise, in statesmanship, in law, in medicine in art, in literature, were once at the foot of in art, in literature, were once at the foot of the ladder, and in their boyhood had a pillow as hard as Jacob's. They who are born at the top of the ladder are apt to spend their lives in coming down, while those who are at the loot, and their head on a boulder, if they have the right kind of dream, are almost sure to rise. That night at Bethel, I stood in front of my tent and looked up and the heavens were full of ladders, first a ladder of clouds, then a lad-der of stars and all up and down the heavens of ladders, list a ladder of clouds, then a ladder of stars, and all up and down the heavens were angels of beauty, angels of consolation, angels of God, ascending and descending.

I knew it not," But to-night God is in this place, and I know it!

RARE GOOD MANNERS.

Anecdote Proving Lord Rosebery a Perfect Gentleman.

A characteristic story is told of this most popular Scotch peer. Lord Rosebery listened without moving a muscle, tasted the stuff, thanked his in-formant, and said he would speak to the cook. Then he whispered to one of the attendants, came back with a relieved face, and told the honest farmer, "It's all right. They tell me this is a new sort of pudding that is frozen on purpose." There is probably no more perfect instance of really good manners on record.

THE TRADE OUTLOOK.

Hides Keep Drifting to a Lower Level and Leather Slow.

THE MARKETS DOWN TO HARD PAN

Spring Patent Flour Down to Its Lowest Point This Season.

PROVISIONS ARE WEAR AND SLOW

OFFICE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCH, SATURDAY, November 8, 1890. The hide market is unchanged, but weaker. It was the general view of dealers a few days ago that prices would be reduced by the powers that be before this time. While there has been practically a reduction in prices, nominally the old rates prevail. The difference between green and salted hides ordinarily is about 11/2c per pound. At this time, for some reason that cannot be explained, there is practically no difference. Present price of buff hides is 6c per pound, which is close to the lowest point which is close to the lowest point reached last spring, when prices were lower than at any time since the war. The season is now here when country people do their killing, and as a result the offerings of country hides are unusually large. There is very little life to the hide trade, but the general view of dealers and tanners is that prices are down to hard pan and that future changes will be toward a higher level. Harness leather is quiet but prices are well maintained. Tan-ners report some accumulation of stock, but are not at all uneasy, as this is the rule at this season of the year. Tanners have more points to watch than others engaged in the hide and leather industry. to watch than others engaged in the hide and leather industry.

The butcher has always a ready market for his hides and calfskins at some price, while the tanner has to watch the hide, leather and bark market all the time, and if he does not watch these markets very closely these times of close margins and small profits he is very likely to be left.

The following is from the current number of the Shoe and Leather Review as to the situation of the rubber trade:

tion of the rubber trade:

"A specially active movement in rubber goods is reported in the East. The companies are behind on their orders. The demand still centers on light goods, of which the mills are out of stock and unable to fill orders promptly. Considerable quantities of warm lined goods and lumbermen's boots are in stock awaiting the call which will come with the advent of severe weather. There has been a good deal of wet weather all through the fall in nearly all sec-tions of the country. This has stimulated the sales of light-weight rubbers. There has been a slight fall of snow in Chicago during the week, which has served to accentuate the week, which has served to accentuate the hopes of the trade that the coming winter will prove a good selling season for rubber wear. All accounts agree that heither retailers nor jobbers have anything like large stocks on hand. Altogether the outlook is fairly auspicious."

Flour Situation. One of our leading jobbers of flour had this to say of the situation: "Stock of old spring patents are well nigh exhausted, and new stock is getting into condition, and will soon be as good as the old. Prices are now close to botgood as the old. Prices are now close to bot-tom. Within the next ten days flour will, no doubt, reach its lowest figure for this season. Stocks in hand of our wholesale flour dealers are light, and it is hardly possible that any lower prices will prevail. The recent break in the wheat market in the Northwest, which lowered prices from 3 to 4c per bushel, has had the ef-fect of staying any upward movement in flour."

Our country is big, and it is next to impossible for speculators to boost prices for any length of time. While crops may be short in one section, they are large at other points, and it is demonstrated that there is bread enough and to spare in the land. Provisions.

Prices in this line remain as they have been for a few week's past. Receipts of hogs at Chi-cago for the first five days of November were cago for the first ave days of November were the largest on record. The average was about 35,000 head daily. Top prices for the past few days have been $4 10 to $4 15 per hundred.
Hams and lard are likely to go higher before they go lower. The advancing price of feed induces stockmen to push stock on the market as fast as possible, and for this reason live stock is a drag and likely to continue so for some time to come.

Break in the Chicago Wheat Pit-Corn Scores a Gain-Oats Were Steady-Pork Unsettled.

CHICAGO-Wheat-There was good speculative trading to-day, and the feeling was again nervous and unsettled. The money market is no doubt having considerable influence on the market, for, after a steady opening and a slight appreciation in prices here, the report that the New York bank statement made an unfavorable showing, coupled with the decline in stocks, had a depressing feeling, and prices were carried to the lowest point,

The opening was firm at about yesterday's closing to a shade above, advanced to a point 14 @%c over yesterday's closing, then eased off slightly, held steady for awhile and then broke off rapidly to a point 2c lower for December and 136c lower for May than the top figure reached early in the morning, recovered on shorts cov-ering and some export buying at the seaboard, and prices were advanced 3/@lc, ruling quite firm, and closed about 3/c lower for December and 1/21/2c lower for May than closing figures

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Prices Take a Downward Move-Bears Pay Particular Attention to Reading-Important Final Changes Prove Losses-Weak Tone.

NEW YORK, November 8,-To-day's stock market was merely an annex to that of yester-day, and weakness was still the great character-istic of the dealings, prices being still lower this evening. Advices from London were rather more favorable this morning, and the recent novements in the railroad world looking toward a better and more harmonious state of affairs received more attention, and the disposition was to look for any improvement in prices providing the bank statement should give any assurance that a squeeze in money rate would not compel the throwing overboard of purchase within a reasonable time. The general expecta tion was that the statement would show either an improvement or only a slight change, and the traders were disposed to cover their shorts in the early trading with the help of some buying for foreign account. The opening under these circumstances was made at prices which were from 1/4 to 3/4 per cent better than last evening's figures, but notwithstanding the buying the pressure to sell was still heavy, and declines in the Grangers and some others were very material in the first half hour's trading. nois Central dropped 2 per cent, St. Paul and Chicago Gas 114, Lackawanna a like amount, Western Union 1% Sugar and Louis-ville 1% and others I per cent and less. The pressure was then abated, and comparative dullness was accomplished by considerable of reaction in the list when stagnation in price succeeded. The bank statement when issued showed reduction in the surplus reserve of about $3,500,000, and there was immediately another rush to sell for both sides of the account and another sharp break followed in which particular attention was paid by the bears to Reading, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, and St. Paul preferred, each dropping away about 2 per cent, while lesses of 1 per cent, and under were numerous. The pressure showed no abatement up to the close, although some stocks had not lost all of the reaction from the lowest prices of the first hour. Others, however, reached still lower figures than were touched yesterday and the close was active and weak at or about the lowest prices of the day. As compared with last evening, Reading is down 1½: New England, 1½: Lackawanna, Northern Pacific preferred and New York Central, each 1½: St. Paul and Louisville and Nashville, each 1½: Illinois Central and Burlington and Quincy, each 1 per cent, and others fractional amounts, while Pullman is 1½ higher and Pacific Mail 1 per cent.

The following table shows the prices of active reduction in the surplus reserve of about cline of ½c, as offees are strong enough.

MOVEMENTS IN STOCKS.

Trading Very Light and Values Apparently Without Recuperative Power.

Although local stocks at present prices are generally considered a good purchase, there is marked indisposition to invest in them. This feeling was very conspicuous the past week, and the consequence was a dull and declining market. Sales were 852 shares against 1,588 the previous week. There was no demoraliza-

Causes for the depression are found in the usual let-up of speculation at the end of the year, and fears of tight money abroad, if not at home, symptoms of which are cropping out in England, as shown by the unexpected advance in the interest rate by the Bank of England to restrain the flow of specie abroad. There is nothing really alarming in this, however. Money is more actively employed than usual at this season of the year, and earnings are phenomenally large. The yearly settlements are not far off, when large sums will be released for investment. Altogether, the situation is assuring, and the threatened stringency, if it comes at all, can have no serious effects, as it cannot be of long duration. if not at home, symptoms of which are

A gorgeous costume flashed beneath the brilliant lights of a ball-room; 'a queen of society is radiant to-night."

The nervous hands of a weak woman have toiled day and night, the weary frame and aching head have known no rest — for "the dress must be finished in time."

To that queen of society and her dressmaker we would say a word. One, through hot-house culture, luxury, and excitement, and the other, through the toil of necessity, may some day find their ailments a common cause. The Vegetable Compound will enable both to meet the demands of society.

Mr. Fred Hahn, Sharpsburg. many years—not finding any relief from the 20 doctors he had employed. He suffered from belching of gas from his stomach after eating, sour taste and often felt like vomiting his food. His appetite was poor, and as his liver was much enlarged it gave him great pain. In fact, he would often be taken with such sharp cramps and pain across his stomach and bowels it seemed as if he could not live. He had palpitation of the heart, dizziness, weakness and tation of the heart, dizziness, weakness and paim across the small of his back, and a numb, lifeless feeling in his limbs. He could get but lifeless feeling in his limbs. He could get but little sleep, and as every change of weather gave him a cold, he took on a lingering cough. His breath became short and he felt pain and soreness in his lungs and under his shoulder blades. Night sweats woakened him very fast, and he gradually grew worse until he lost 30 pounds of flesh. Many of his friends thought he had consumption, and that he must die from that terrible disease. On calling on the catarrh specialists he was told he could yet be cured. Although he had but little faith, he resolved to try once more, and after taking a course of treatment, he says: "The above history of my disease and cure is true in every respect. I had received treatment from 20 physicians, yet gradually grew worse, and for one year before beginning treatment with these physicians! was scarcely able to do any work.

ment with these physicians I was since I became to do any work.

"It is now over five months since I became cured and not one of the above symptoms have returned. I work hard every day, feel well and strong, and words do not express the joy I feel that my life has been spared and health restored.
