Sensational Collapse of the Noted O'Shea Divorce Case at the Opening.

PARNELL FAILS TO APPEAR,

And Mrs. O'Shea's Counsel Deserts the Fair Respondent.

THE IRISH LEADER BADLY SCORED

By Captain O'Shea's Counsel and the Testimony of Plaintiff.

SOME DAMAGING CHARGES MADE

LONDON, November 15 .- The O'Shea divorce case was called for trial to-day in the Divorce Court before Justice Butt and a special jury. Neither Mrs. O'Shea nor Parnell, the co-respondent, were present.

Mr. Lockwood, for the respondent, stated that he did not intend to cross-examine any of the witnesses catled for the petitioner. He would not call any witnesses on behalf of Mrs. O'Shea, nor take any part in the Sir Edward Clark, of counsel for Captain O'Shea, said that Mr. Lockwood's announcement had seriously altered the position, as neither Mr. Parnell por Mrs. O'Shea would take any part in the case, therefore it was an undefended case.

Continuing, he said that in the interest of his client it would be necessary to prove the petitioner's case by sufficient evidence. The petition for a divorce was, he said, filed in December last. Mr. Parnell had then put in a simple denial of the charge of adultery. Mrs. O'Shea did not content herself with a denial, but made counter charges against her husband, alleging that he had committed the offense with a number of differ-ent persons, including her own sister, Mrs. She also charged him with cruelty and with having connived at her adultery for a period extending over a series of years. The plea almost amounted to a confession of

The bushand was cruelly annoyed at the defendant's charges, but would be able ab-solutely to disprove every possible sugges-tion against him. He could show that the charge of connivance was groundless.

BAD CHARGES AGAINST PARNELL. In 1882, after Parnell had been released from Kilmainham jail, he renewed his visits to Eithum, and almost habitually slept there. Captain O'Shea wrote to his wife remonstrating against these visits, and declaring his intention of vacating his seat in Parliament. Furious scenes occurred between him and his wife. On one occasion he had found a portmanteau belonging to Mr. Parnell at his house, and carried it off, throwing it out at a railway station.

Sir Edward Clark further said that the same night an angry scene occurred between O'Shea and his wife, and the former leaving Wanherst Lodge, where they were staying, walked to London. The following day he went to Mrs. Steele's house and told her of what had happened. It was then he chal-lenged Parnell to a duel, but the quarrel was arranged through Mrs. Steele's assur-ances. In April, 1883, Mrs. O'Shea and r family went to reside in Bedford Square, Brighton. Her husband used to go there from time to time. When he was not there a strange gentleman was a constant visitor. Mrs. Dawson, who kept the house, and two servants would tell the jury who the stranger was, and would prove that the pair were sometimes locked in Mrs. O'Shea's room together.

KEEPING OUT OF O'SHEA'S WAY. At another house Parnell also visited the respondent. He was careful always to keep out of the way of O'Shea, escaping by way of a back balcony to avoid the Captain and afterward going to the front of the house and presenting himself as having just ar-

O'Shea went abroad ill, and during his absence, Parnell lived at Eltham. Rumors reached O'Shea about his wife and Parnell and he wrote to Mrs. O'Shen for an explanation. He also wrote to Parnell, saying: "You have behaved very badly to cause scandal by your continued visits."

To this Parnell replied: "I don't know any reason or any cause for scandal." Mrs. O'Shea also wrote to her husband, pointing out that the children's chance of inheriting the property of their aunt, Mrs. Woods, would be damaged by a scandal. This occurred in 1884. O'Shea's suspicions were luffed asleep, and the pair seemed more confident as to what they could do Eitham. After that a new room was built for Parnell, with access to the respondent's

DENIALS FROM MRS. O'SHEA.

In 1886 a paragraph in the papers de-scribed a carriage accident that happened to Parnell at Eitham. O'Shea saw the paragraph, and telegraphed to his wife, asking her its meaning. Her reply, which was couched in affectionate terms, said: I haven't the slightest idea of what it means, unless it is intended to get a raise out of you. It has been made up by Healy and company. It is better not to retailiate, for it is as fighting with a sweep—you are sure to get dirty. She also sent her husband a letter, which she alleged she had received from Parnell, which was talse and invented. That letter was concected purely for the purpose of being shown to O'Snea. In it Parnell wrote that he had a couple of horses at Bexley out at grass, and that he was sorry if any an-novance had been caused by the paragraph. It would be shown that Parnell slept at Eltham that night. He was in a brougham when the accident occurred. Afterward the respondent and Parnell went to the stables and removed the borses and harness, lest O'Shea should come home and see them.

A SCENE AT CARLSBAD. Sir Edward next told of a scene that occorred at Carisbad while O'Shea was stay-ing there. A lady who was reading a paper, gan to read aloud a paragraph in which O'Shea's name appeared, when suddenly she stammered and was unable to proceed and everybody of course became curious The paragraph referred to the immoral relations of the respondent and Parnell dur ing the absence of her husband. O'Shea wrote to his wife, mentioning the incident and telling how the paper narrated the story of Parnell's suburban retreat with his Aspasia at Eltham and how he had put the best face on things by exclaiming against the introduction of the worst features of American politics into English public life. Another paragraph appearing in a Brighton local paper to the effect that Parnell was staying with Mrs. O'Shea at Eastbourne with her husband's knowledge, O'Shea wrote to his wife concerning the She replied that she knew nothing of Parnell's movements. O'Shea always received specific denials of this kind. Soon atterward O'Shea returned to London and met his son, who, unwilling to cause trouble, old his father that Parnell was not at Eltham.

KNOWN TO HER SON. The son, himself, although making this statement, took action, with the result that the respondent gave her son an understanding not to have Parnell at Eltham. How ly untrue were her declarations to her husband that she knew nothing of Parnell's movements. For 19 weeks in 1886 they occupied a house together in St. John's, Eastirne. After this they occupied a house in St. Avely road, Eastbourne, at which Campbell, Parnell's Secretary, was a visitor. This occurred before November, 1886, that the respondent's promise to her son gentleman calling himself Fox went to the man afterward changed his name to Clement Preston. This man was Parnell.

Mrs. O'Shea was frequently at the house, calling herself the sister of the occupant. The house was within easy distance of Eltham. The next house was taken by Mrs. O'Shea at York Terrace, Regent's Park. She gave as reference Clement Preston, of Brockley, [laughter], and Mr. Parnell, of the House of Commons, two gentlemen in one. These facts proved that the pair commons of the House facts proved that the pair common land the latest and the latest cealed their intimacy to the last, and cleared O'Shea of the charge of connivance. The respondent and Parnell used this house together from 1887 till 1889, she calling herself the sister of Clement Preston. All this would be proved in evidence and would surely enable the jury to return a verdict that would liberate Captain O'Shea from a marriage that he now looked upon as shame-ful bondage.

CAPTAIN O'SHEA'S TESTIMONY. At the conclusion of Sir Edward Clarke's address, Captain O'Shea took the witness stand and was examined by Mr. Inderwick. He said:

He said:

I married Miss Katherine Wood on the 24th of January, 1867. There were three children of the marriage. After my election to Parliament, I was introduced to Mr. Parnell by O'Gorman Mahon. After that I invited Parnell to Thom's Hotel, and introduced him to Mrs. O'Shea. I had an angry quarrel with Mrs. O'Shea on account of the visits of Parnell to Eltham, of which I knew nothing until I found it out myself. I wrote Parnell afterward on July 13, 1881.

I wrote Parnell afterward on July 15, 1881.

Mrs. O'Shea gave me assurances to such an exteat that there was a reconciliation. I was convinced by Mrs. Steele that there was nothing wrong. The arrest and confinement of Mr. Parnell took place after that.

As on his release, he was not in good health, I myted him to Eitham. Mrs. O'Shea after that went to Bedford Square, Brighton. I did not know Mr. Parnell visited her there. I had a house sensition after in Medium Terrace. did not know Mr. Parnell visited her there. I had a house sometime after in Medina Terrace, Brighton, but I certainly did not know that Mr. Parnell visited or slept in that house. In 1884 I was in Lisbon. On my return I heard vague rumors that Parnell had been seen in Ettham. I wrote to Parnell, who answered, denying that there was any ground for the scandal that then existed. On the same day I got a letter from Mrs. O'Shea. She demed absolutely that there was any truth in the rumors then prevailing.

STANDING FOR PARLIAMENT.

I first stood for the Exchange Division of Liverpool, and afterward for Enalway. I was opposed by Mr. Healy and Mr. Biggar. I heard statements about Mr. Parnell and Mrs. O'Shea during the contests. I remonstrated with my wife, but she said her acquaintance with Par-nell was for political purposes. Mrs. O'Shea told me that she knew that Parnell had been ecretly married.

At that time I had no idea that Parcell was a

At that time I had no idea that Parcell was a constant visitor at Eltham. After that some paragraphs appeared in the papers about Mr. Parnell's visits to Eltham, and I wrote expressing annoyance at the circumstance. I never knew that Parnell had horses at Eltham until I was told so by my son. There was a conversation about taking criminal proceedings against the newspapers, but as it was thought that would only make the scandal worse, the idea was abandoned. I simply wrote to the editors about the matter. In April, 1887, I received a letter from my son, Gerald. On April 181 saw Mrs. O'Shea and had a long and painful interview with her. I showed her my son's letter. WANTED TO WHIP PARNELL.

The letter referred to was then read by Mr. Inderwick. It communicated matters relative to the visit of Parnell to Mrs. O'Shea. The writer said he had heard the voice of "that awful scoundrel, Parnell," talking to the dog. He further said he should have liked to have knocked him down, but he did not wish to upset his mother, who had told him that Parnell had only come to dinner and would soon be gone. "Perhaps," the letter continued, "I ought to have kicked him. You, however, know more about these things than I do. But if you wish me to kick him it shall be done at the first opportunity." TESTIMONY OF THE DOMESTICS.

There was no cross-examination and Captain O'Shea leit the witness box. Two photographs of Mr. Parnell and Mrs. O'Shea were then handed in as evidence. Harriet Bull, who was formerly in the Brighton, was the next witness. She remembered Mrs. O'Shea staying there some five or six years ago. O'Shea came there, as did also another gentleman, who she identified by a photograph as Mr. Parnell. He would come every day and at all times, and sometimes slept there.

Caroline Pethers, a widow, residing in Cheltenham, testified that toward the end West Brighton, which she let to Captain and Mrs. O'Shea. Parnell slept frequently at the house when O'Shea was not there. He was in the drawing room one time with Mrs. O'Shea, when O'Shes was not there. with the door locked, when O'Shea rang the front-door bell. Parnell escaped from the house, and then went to the front door, rang the bell and asked to see O'Shea.

A SENSATION CREATED. The refusal of Mrs. O'Shea to make any efense in the action for divorce brought against her by her husband, and the failure of Mr. Parnell to appear in court to refute the charges made against him in the matter have caused an immense sensation. The utter collapse of the defense is tantamount to an acknowledgment of guilt to the Court, and will result in Mr. Parnell being condemned to pay the costs of the divorce proceedings.

STATEMENTS OF SURVIVORS.

seamen of the Serpent Tell How the Great Disaster Occurred. BY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY.

LONDON, November 15.-The British gunboat Lapwing has taken on board the survivors of the Serpent disaster and will convey them to Cornnna, where they will be transferred to the Troopship Lynne, bound for England. Many of the bodies that have come ashore from the wreck are unrecog-nizable, having been frightfully mutilated by being dashed by the waves upon the rocks that line the shore.

The Admiralty has received a statement made by the survivors of the wreck. From this it appears that the Serpent struck the rocks at 10 o'clock at night. She was then steering south by west, and was proceeding at the rate of nine knots an hour. The weather was thick and wet and the wind was blowing hard. There was a very heavy swell and the vessel, after striking, thumped helplessly upon the rocks for about half an hour, when she slipped off into the deep water and sank to the bottom. The officers remained on the bridge to the last. The crew, by order of the captain, took to the Just before she sank a tremendous sea struck the vessel and threw her on her beam ends. The survivors were mem-bers of a lifeboat's crew and wore life belts. They were washed overboard, and after a desperate struggle succeeded in reaching the land. The staggered and crawled two and a half miles to Camarinas. The men are able to state nothing further accurately.

THE POPE IS FRIENDLY.

Archbishop Croke Says Ireland Will Not Suffer at His Hands.

I BY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY, 1 DUBLIN, November 15 .- Archbishop Croke returned to Thurles to-day after his visit to His Holiness, the Pope. The train was met at the station by an immense crowd of the prelate's flock, which escorted him to the Cathedral. Speaking from the pulpit, the Archbishop said: "The Sovereign Pontiff, I rejoice to say, is in excellent health. His Holiness was more to me than I had dared to hope. He was kind, considerate, fatherly and sym-pathetic. He loves Ireland, and takes the deepest interest in everything Irish. He is sure that the Irish people must soon get their rights, and is anxious for the consumterest as Ireland. If the sovereign pontiff ssued any declaration the Archbishop was convinced, and he wanted his people to be convinced also, that these declarations were intended not to injure but to serve the Irish people and their own use and benefit. There-fore they should look to the Pope as their father, protector and friend.

'BY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANT. ROME. November 16 .- His Holiness, the Pope, is dreadfully chagrined at Cardinal Lavigerie for having the "Marseillaise" played at the dinner given to the French officers at Algiers, as it is feared the unwise musical selection may result in Germany becoming less willing to make concession to the Vatican.

A BAD COLLISION.

Probably Two Lives Lost and a Fireman Badly Injured. PERCHAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

NEWARK, November 15 .- News of a bad collision between a helper engine, Thomas Burke engineer, and a Baltimore and Ohio freight engine, engineer John Watson, reached headquarters of the B. & O. here this morning. The accident happened on the Central Ohio division, at Clairsville Junction. The freight engine was hauling a westbound train. The helper was returning from helping the first section up the hill when the accident occurred.

Both were running at a good speed and crashed together with great violence. The result was that John Watson, the engineer, was badly scalded, and is in a dangerous condition, while his fireman, John Flesher, was frightfully burned by escaping steam, dying from his injuries a few hours later. Both reside here. The fireman of the helper is also burned severely. Both engines were badly damaged, and one car of ache and can of machine were demalished. coke and one of machinery were demolished. Just where the blame rests has not been

WALL STREET GOES WILD. THE BIG COLLAPSE CAUSES INTENSE AC-TIVITY FOR A TIME.

Then the Beaction Came and the Street Seems to be in Pretty Good Shape-Exact Statement of the Condition of Baring

Bros. & Co. and Their Agents.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEW YORK, November 15 .- So much of sensational character has been printed about Wall street the last ten days that the statement that the financial community was startled to-day for the first time may seem surprising to many people. Yet that is the fact. There has been a great deal of suppressed excitement in and about the Stock Exchange ever since the election, and there have been developments, notably the collapse of the North American Company, speculative blind pool which dragged a stock brokerage firm down with it, that have served to make life in Wall street more interesting than usual. "But when thel news came from London this morning that the great commercial house of Baring Bros. & Co. was embarrassed and had been assisted by a syndicate formed by the Bank of England, a very large proportion of the people who deal in stocks experienced a decided shock. The fact that the firm had been guaranteed for three years by the syndicate referred to, did not for the moment seem to carry much weight,

PEOPLE WENT CRAZY. To tell the truth, a great many people ap-peared to lose their heads for about an hour, during which period they played havoc with the prices of stocks. Without being conscions of it, Wall street has been discounting the misfortunes of Baring Bros. & Co. for two months past, and more particularly during the last week. The undertakings of the Barings in the Argentine Republic have been the talk of the financial world ever since they were made, and it has been free! predicted, especially since the collapse of enterprise and speculation in that part of South America, that all of the large foreign houses, including the Barings, would have to pay dearly for their South American

Until recently, however, very few people suspected that so old and conservative a concern as the Barings had been betrayed by errors of judgment into making ventures that jeopardized its credit. Such proves to have been the case. The action of the Bank of England averts the insolvency of the firm and enables it to liquidate its Argentine Republic ventures at its leisure or rather as a market may develop for them.

CONDITION OF THE BARINGS. The condition of the firm is briefly stated to be as follows: Its total liabilities are estimated at £15,000,000 or about $75,000,-000, while the assets of the firm at their present depreciated value, show a surplus of £4,000,000 or $20,000,000. The guarantee syndicate has subscribed a fund of £11,000,-000 or $55,000,000. The Bank of England subscribed £7,000,000 and private bankers £4,000,000. The first news of this important transaction came to hand on Friday night, but definite information was not obtainable until to-day, when a number of private cables were received on Wall street and others by the news agencies. As the figures relating to the firm's affairs, as well as the amount of the guarantee subscription, were made public, the street seems to have had a sudden appreciation of the calamity that had been averted, which for half an hour at least, produced quite as bad an effect upon the stock market as if the firm had actually suspended

A PANIC SETS IN.

The street's second thought appeared to be of the agents of the Barings in this country, who are Kidder, Peabody & Co., of this city and Boston. For the first time since the present heavy liquidation set in, the market became panicky, but that condition did not last long. Large buying orders came into the market at a decline, The bears were only too glad to take advantage of the spasm of alarm to secure greater profit than they had ever dreamed of, and toward the close of business the weekly bank statement appeared, showing a decided improvement in the condition of the banks during the week

The recovery was as rapid as the decline had been, and probably if the Stock Ex-change had remained open until 3 o'clock the early losses would have been pretty much recovered. A few prices will suffice to show the extraordinary fluctuations of the entire list: Chicago, Burlington and Quincy dropped from 87 to 80, and recovered to 84 at the close. Atchison, in which it was assumed that the Barings or their agents here might have a large interest, broke from 29 to 23%, and recovered to 25%.

IT'S AN ADDITIONAL STRAIN. As no delivery of stocks is made on Saturday, and very little is done in money, it was impossible to discover how the Stock Exchange community will bear the additional strain which was put upon it during the last two days of the week. Rumors were current, of course, but they referred to one or two small concerns. The suspicion, which was hardly disguised, that Kidder, Peabody & Co. might be embarrassed by the troubles which have overtaken their London correspondents, was promptly dis-posed of by that firm. Its members did not hesitate to tell its business associates exactly how they stood.

The firm is loaning between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 in the street and has a large amount of cash on hand. It is asserted by those in a position to know that the firm has been shaping its affairs so as to be in the strongest possible position to meet any demands that might be made upon it in co sequence of to-day's developments in Lon-

PREPARING FOR THE PRESSURE. It was reported in the afternoon that a number of the down town banks would on day take ont round amounts of clearing ouse certificates not because they need them but in order to give greater accommodations to their customers in case they might require them but could not be substantiated. The general feeling of the street after the close of business was one of great relief because it is now known what was hanging over the market. Very great stress was laid by bankers upon the point that in spite of their embarassment, Baring Bros. & Co. remained solvent. They are really stronger to-day than ever before, because they have back of them the Bank of England, which is the next thing to the British Government, the Rothschilds and all of the other powerful banking houses of London.

NO DANGER HERE.

but No Alarm Felt-Stock Brokers Do Not Lose Confidence. The financial flurry in New York, foilowed by the temporary embarrassment of the Baring Brothers, has made local business men exceedingly careful. "I propose to go slow," remarked a coal man vesterday, "until I know where the country stands, or to what extent these monetary failures will reach out. There is no use denying that manufacturers here are wor-ried." Captain Steele, of Cramp & Sons, the Philadelphia shipbuilders, is at the Anderson. The Captain's brother is the agent for Baring Bros. in San Francisco. "The Bank of England," he said, "will never allow that firm to go to the wall. If it does it will involve England in a financial panic, and there is no telling where it would end." W. R. Thompson, the banker, stated that the effect of the embarrassment could not be determined before to-morrow or Tuesday. If their liabilities are less than their assets, then there can't be much trouble after their debts are liquidated. Mr. Thompson does not believe that legitimate trade in this country is endangered, but he says there is financial unrest in Berlin, Paris, Spain and in some of the South American States. He thinks people have been going at a rapid pace. The banks have been loaded up with securities, and the line must be drawn somewhere. The New York importers also have tied up considerable money in imports to get ahead of the McKinley bill, and this burden will have to be carried awhile longer. Stock brokers in this city did not appear to be greatly exercised regarding the com-plications of Baring Bros. George I. Whitney, of Whitney & Stephenson, while admitting that the failure if absolute could not help being far reaching in disastrous consequences, referred to the recovery in the New York stock market as a hopeful indication of a return of confidence. He referred to the strain that had been put on the great English firm by the upheavals in South American repub-lics and spoke of Berlin being the initial point of the last disturbance, in letting go on the Villard stocks. While the failure of Baring Brothers would be colossal be-side that of Jay Cooke, yet it would have the same effect in this country that the latter had. Robinson Bros. seemed to regard trouble much in the same light as did Mr. Whitney, and several others spoken to appeared to think that to down Baring Bros, would be next to swamping the British Government, a thing not to be regarded seriously at present.

I like the rules and principles of the Republican party, and so long as we can have clean candidates I cannot do too much for them, but when the Government is to be run in the interest of one man, it is time to call the turn. All day yesterday and to-day Democratic State Chairman Kerr devoted his time to answering a large accumulation of corre-spondence, and when he left on an afternoon train for Washington, he had succeeded in clearing up his desk for the first time in several months. Mr. Kerr passed a great deal of time during the week at Clearfield, where he is interested in mining associations, one company having become involved in a suit, which has consumed considerable of his time.

Before leaving for the national capital
Mr. Kerr was asked whether he was a candidate for the Secretaryship of State, and he immediately replied: "I am not a candidate for the office."

BOOM FOR CLEVELAND.

Bay State Democrats Vell The Hoarse Over the Ex-President. (SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.)

BOSTON, November 15 .- The Bay State Democrats held a big love feast and jollification to-day in honor of the great political victory of November 4. The successful candidates were given a rousing reception at a banquet given by the Bay State Club at the | dral, about midnight. A companion of the American House, and incidentally there was a big boom for the renomination and reelection of Grover Cleveland as President of the United States. This feature was not made evident until after the enthusiasm over local successes had been sounded. Governor-elect Russell gave the signal, when, in responding to the greeting of his fellow-Democrats, he attributed the tremendous overthrow of Republican Congressional candidates all over the country to the wise suggestions and sound policy of Grover Cleveland.

The effect of this boom was electrical. The great crowd sprang to their feet and cheered again and again. One gentleman yelled: "Three cheers for our next President —Grover Cleveland!" Then the cheers were redoubled. Soon after that Dr. William Everett gave Mr. Cleveland another boost toward the Presidency. Then there was another cheer. The crowd was evidently pledged to "Cleveland and Reform," but that fact only increased the general jubilation.

Not in eight years have the Democrats of Massachusetts had a chance to let off steam in celebration of an overwhelming political victory, but they did so to-day with un-limited enthusiasm. Their cheers were mingled with the popping of champagn corks, but the cheers predominated.

The children soon became attached to her, and Mrs. Bateman congratulated affectionate girl to take care of her children

Last spring the Batemans went to Europe for the summer in their yacht Coronet, tak ing the nurse and the children with them. They returned to New York last Sunday. Mr. Bateman experienced some bad effects from the long voyage, and was compelled to take to his bed. He did not occupy his own room, which is on the second floor of the Fitth avenue house, but was in a room on the third floor which contained a tall, beautifully inlaid chiffonnier, with locks of unusual strength in the drawers and compart

Mrs. Bateman's diamonds were set in two ecklaces and a pendant containing in all 45 stones, all of which were of excellent quality and of considerable size. The pendant was especially beautiful. While the value at ordinary sale would not be more than $12,000 yet the cost of such jewels would be much more than that. Mrs. Bateman valued the jewels especially because many of them were heirlooms, while many more were wedding presents. Sunday night Mrs. Bateman put the diamonds in the topmost compartment of the chiffonnier.
